Red House School Ends Year With Play And Picnic

The Red House Elementary School held its annual Play Day and picnic on June 1. The day's events were coordinated by Tom Bosley, physical education resource teacher. Teachers, assistants, and parents coordinated the individual events and, in many cases, participated themselves in the activities. All students were recognized with ribbons.

Following the picnic, a recognition program was held in the cafetorium. Pre-kindergarten students were each presented with a preschool diploma. Mrs. Lindsay Stanton named first graders Amy Herrington and Beth Herrington as best overall achievers; Jeremy Blamble, best oral reader; Amanda Hinebaugh and April Layton, most helpful students; Daniela Gregory, most improved student; Patrick Murphy, extra effort award; and Patrick Schrock, Jody Uphold, Nathan Martin, and Beth Gaither, most improved readers.

Mrs. Cheryl Smith recognized several second graders: Bridgett Miller, spelling; Christina Schrock, most improved worker; Jamie Grubb, math award; Joni Thomas and Victoria Ackerman, science and social studies honors; Jennifer Reckart, art; Jennifer Friend, language; and Jeremiah Shelton and Michael Rohrbaugh, most enthusiastic workers.

Third and fourth graders receiving awards presented by teacher Sherry Taylor were: Nicholas Rohrbaugh, reading; Kimberly McBride, math; Heather Wolfe, spelling; Jerri Crosco, extra effort; Ary Bosley, most improved; Lori Evans, "Reach for the Stars" for overall academic excellence.

Fourth and fifth grade teacher Patricia Martin recognized: Jeremy Rohrbaugh for math; Nanette Stahl, spelling; Samantha Philyaw, most improved; Shaun Tabler, handwriting; and Ray Cummings and Julie Paugh, best workers.

Gary Galloway, principal, presented Presidential Academic Fitness awards to Kristina Shiffy, Maria Tasker, Holly Stoner, Nanette Stahl, Shaun Tabler, and Jackie Tasker. Nanette Stahl was also the recipient of the Woodmen of the World American History Award. Perfect attendance certificates were awarded Maria Tasker, Jennifer Reckart, and Jeremy Rohrbaugh.

District Court Cases Noted

Numerous cases were heard during the last week by Judge Jack Turney in Garrett County District Court.

A young Oakland woman was sentenced to one year in the Department of Corrections for a charge of making a false statement to a police officer.

The judge then suspended the sentence for Tamela C. Michaels, 22, placing her on 18 months supervised probation and fining her $150. Judge Turney had ordered a pre-sentence investigation after finding Michaels guilty of the charge in May.

A second false statement count was not prosecuted by the court.

The charges were filed by Tfc. R.C. Resh of the Maryland State Police following a February 25, 1988 incident involving the report of a rape.

In another case, the judge found Francis E. Resh, 48, Accident, to be guilty of an assault charge, sentencing him to six months in the Garrett County Jail.

The sentence was then suspended, and Resh was placed on 12 months unsupervised probation and fined $25.

Resh was found to be not guilty of charges of disorderly conduct on the land of another and a trespassing charge.

The complainant was Jessie M. Resh, Accident, who filed the charges following an April 19 incident there.

James E. Maule, 58, Oakland, was sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail for a charge of disorderly conduct in a public place. The sentence was then suspended, and Maule was placed on 12 months supervised probation and handed a $50 fine.

Judge Turney had ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Maule after finding him guilty of the charge in May.

The charge was filed by Detective L.E. Gnegy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department following an April 1 incident on the Crellin Underwood Road. According to court documents, Maule was standing in the middle of the road, yelling and cursing.

The judge ordered probation before judgement for John P. Beitzel, 27, Accident, for a charge of battery, placing him on one year supervised probation.

Beitzel had originally been found guilty of the charge in March, when a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

The charge was filed by David H. Ringer, Accident, following an October 29, 1987 incident there.

A charge of misdemeanor theft against Paul T. Everly, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was placed on the stet docket.

The charge was filed by Linda D. Rexrode, Mtn. Lake Park, following a February 9, 1988 incident at the Video Connection. According to court documents, Everly failed to return a tape which he had rented from the establishment. He was ordered to pay late charges of $126.

Also placed on the stet docket was a charge of theft against Edward J. Rockwell, 29, Mtn. Lake Park. The charge was filed by Kathryn Pensinger, Mtn. Lake Park, following a May 23 incident in Oakland.

A charge of theft filed against Pensinger by Rockwell was also placed on the stet docket. The charge stemmed from a May 21 incident in Oakland. Pensinger was represented by Robert C. Hesson.

A charge of non-support of a spouse against Carroll W. Deem, 56, Mtn. Lake Park, was also placed on the stet docket. The complainant was Mary A. Deem, Deer Park, who filed the charge following a May 25 incident there.

Two charges of alcoholic beverage intoxication against Diane M. Hebb were placed on the stet docket. The complainant was Sheriff's Deputy Jeffrey D. Murphy, who filed the charges following an April 27 incident at Highview Apartments, Oakland. Hebb was represented by Hesson.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS!

When you decide to buy a home you can expect a lot of questions and answers. In fact, the more questions your agent asks, the more likely you are to have a pleasant and rewarding homebuying experience.

But, just as your agent can simplify the buying process with the answers you give, you will be getting answers to your important questions too.

Expect your agent to ask you about your income, debts, and the source and amount of your down payment. The agent will also want to know about the size home you want, as well as any special features or special neighborhoods you prefer. These questions are not asked out of curiosity, but for the specific purpose of helping you focus your home search in order to find just the right home for you and your family. Make a list ahead of time which highlights the desired amenities and features you would like to find in a home.

Then it's your turn to ask questions! In advance, make up a list of important questions to ask your agent. Perhaps you will want to know about the construction of certain homes, who built them, and the annual property taxes on them. Since there are many new mortgage loan programs available, ask about adjustable rates, closing costs and how to qualify.

Be prepared to ask as well as answer questions. You will be more informed and your home purchase will proceed smoothly.

If you need information to help you solve a real estate puzzle, call us at 387-5303. We'll be happy to share our knowledge with you at no cost or obligation.

Junior Woman's Club Convenes

The Junior Woman's Civic Club met July 7 at the home of Candy Parsons for a covered dish dinner. The agenda for the evening was the planning of the next year's meeting and topics. Also discussed was the preparation and scheduling of the pizza booth at the Garrett County Fair.

The next meeting is scheduled for August 4 at the home of Glenda Newcomb.

Seaman-Smith Couple To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. David A. Seaman, McHenry, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Darlene Denise (Dee-Dee) to Melvin E. (Chip) Smith Jr., son of Melvin E. Smith Sr., Oakland, and Lois Brenneman, Kitzmiller.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, July 30 at 2 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, McHenry. A reception will follow the ceremony at the home of Jerry Humberson in McHenry.

Miss Seaman is a 1987 graduate of Northern High school. She is presently employed at Will o'the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Mr. Smith, a 1984 graduate of Southern High School, is employed as the manager of The Perfect Touch, McHenry.

Senior Citizens Take Two Trips, More Scheduled

Garrett County senior citizens traveled to Old Beford Village, Bedford, Pa., on June 30. The village, where craftsmen re-live the American Heritage, is in the heart of the Southern Alleghenies. The seniors had lunch and toured the village, then stopped for dinner in LaVale.

Those attending were: Evelyn Kahl, Liz Watkins, Betty Beitzel, Anna Petersheim, Hilda Winters, Margaurite Wotring, Gwendalyn Sanders, Nel Browning, Mary Browning, Mildred Savage, and Mildred White, Oakland; Wilda Snyder, Mary Zinkan, Cora Bowser, and Kathleen Wentz, Accident; and Gladys Bentley and Burnice Cloar, Friendsville. Barbara Hornyak acted as chaperone.

The local seniors had lunch and saw "Arsenic and Old Lace" at the Mountain Playhouse at Jennerstown, Pa., on Friday. Attending were: Evelyn Kahl, Daisy Cogley, Anna Petersheim, and Betty Beitzel, Oakland; Martha Vandall, Kathleen Wentz, Hazel Margraff, and Cora Bowser, Accident; Laura Turner, Anna Marie Huff, Esther Durst and Lula Brown, Grantsville; and Maxine and Charles Ross, Finzel.

These activities were sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging, a non-profit organization providing services to seniors. The Agency is currently planning a chicken dinner at the Garrett County Fair on August 19 at noon. Tickets will be on sale at the Agency office and all the "Eating Together" sites.

On September 1, seniors may travel to Timonium for Senior Appreciation Day at the Maryland State Fair. For more information on this and other activites being planned, persons may call the Area Agency on Aging, 334-9431, ext. 238.

Homecoming Set For Burlington Children's Home

A special Alumni Homecoming Day has been set for Sunday, August 28, at 1 p.m., for the Burlington United Methodist Home for Children and Youth, Inc. on the Home's main campus at Burlington, W. Va. Attempts are being made to contact and invite all of the former residents and staff members of the facility which is celebrating its 75th consecutive year of ministries to children, youth, and families.

"We are hoping to make the Homecoming an annual affair," says Gary K. Wilson, the Home's administrator. "In our 75-year history we estimate that the Home has probably cared for more than 3,000 youngsters, but we don't have records on everyone dating back to the beginning in 1913. So, we are just not able to contact all of our alumni directly. We could have 400 or more people for our first Homecoming."

"We are trying to get the word out to all of our former residents and staff through all of the channels available to us," says Rev. I. Lynn Beckman, the Home's development officer. "We hope the media will help us, and we are counting on the present and former staff and the present and former residents to pass the word along to others they may know about or those with whom they have continued to maintain some contact. We just simply do not know the whereabouts of all of those people," Beckman said.

According to Wilson, the Homecoming Day will begin with a picnic-style covered dish luncheon promptly at 1 p.m. to be followed by a brief worship service and program.

"The hardest part of this whole undertaking," Beckman commented, "is trying to determine how many we should be prepared to host this first time. We are asking everyone who is planning to come to be sure to let us know by August 15 that they will be here on the 28th and how many family members will be coming with them. It will help a lot if folks will call us at 289-3511 or write to us at P.O. Box 96, Burlington, West Virginia 26710."

According to Les Ulm, the Home's director of program services, the Home presently serves some 69 children and youths in three major programs.

"We want this Homecoming to be our 'big' family reunion," Beckman concluded.

Mr. And Mrs. Leon Ball To Be Honored For 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ball will be honored by their children for their 50th wedding anniversary with an open house at the Aurora Memorial Building on July 23 from 4 to 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball were married at Red House on July 12, 1938.

They are the parents of three children, Mrs. Frank (Bernadette) Arnett, Oakland; Mrs. Richard (Byrldene) White, Radnor, Ohio; and Bernard Ball, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va.

The couple has 8 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

The couple requests that no gifts be given.

The Family Of

wishes to thank all of our friends, neighbors, relatives and the Elk Garden Rescue Squad for their special acts of kindness, for the food, flowers and cards received at the death of Kenneth. A special thanks to Rev. Juris Reneslacis, his wife Earlean, and Rev. Paul Poland for being there when we needed them so much. Also to David A. Burdock for his kindness and consideration at this time.

With heartfelt gratitude,
The Kenneth G. Knotts Family

BITTINGER-GLADES

CHURCH NEWS

David Terlizzi, of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, was a guest speaker at all three churches of the Bittinger Parish on Sunday. He is working with the group known as "Common Bread" and Mary Beth Johnson accompanied him and sang for the congregation. Mr. Terlizzi and his wife are active in youth projects in the county.

Pastor Louise Knotts noted that a full-time pastor has been called to serve St. Johanne's in New Milton. Rev. James Dobner was installed there Sunday evening.

It was also announced that Lutheran Brotherhood Branch #8483 is sponsoring a project for their Challenge Fund. Large-print Bibles, tape players, tapes and Christian music are needed by area nursing homes. Lutheran Brotherhood will match funds up to $1,000. Envelopes will be provided for those who will give. They are to be returned to Lisa Broadwater.

Martha Glotfelty entertained the residents of the Goodwill Nursing Home with a half-hour of piano music on Saturday evening.

BETHESDA NEWS

The Bethesda Women's Fellowship met Thursday at the home of Shirley Shultz with five in attendance. They will be making hoagies as a fund-raiser. Anyone wishing to order may do so at 245-4481 or 895-5065.

Revival services will be held at Bethesda July 18-22, with Dan Brakeal as speaker. Music will be provided by Dave Martin and Cliff DeWitt, Monday; Tuesday, Wiley Ford Church of the Brethren; Wednesday, Joyce Miller, Grantsville; The love feast and Communion services will be at the church on Sunday, July 24, at 7:30 p.m.

The Bethesda Faith singers sang at the Goodwill Mennonite Home on Sunday evening. They will be singing at the Loch Lynn Church of the Brethren Grantsville on Friday evening.

ZION'S WOMEN MEET

Mrs. Alice Resh, Mrs. David Durst and Becky Durst joined six members of Zion's Women of the ELCA for an afternoon at the church on July 5, spent in a mini-retreat. Leota Baker introduced the retreat program "Stewardship of Self."

The program endeavored to provide a Biblical understanding of the topic, and provide opportunities for the women to examine their lifestyles and share their needs, hopes and concerns with others. The afternoon was spent in reflection, Bible Study, hymn singing, role playing and prayer.

Judy Stanton opened the business meeting by leading the group in the Lord's Prayer.

A birthday offering was presented by Shirley Yommer. A gift offering has been received from Mrs. Herman C. Meyers, a former member of Zion's organization.

A quarterly offering for the Bible-A-Month program was sent to the American Bible Society. A love offering will be sent for the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synodical women's convention which will be held August 5-6.

Subscriptions for the devotional "Light for Today" are due in August. The meeting adjourned with the missionary benediction and Mrs. Alta Broadwater leading the group in singing.

The next meeting is scheduled for August 2.

TOWN GOVERNMENT NEWS

At the regular monthly meeting on Monday, June 27, the Mayor and Town Council officially approved the 1988-89 fiscal year budget.

The Mayor and Council noted appreciation to all who participated in the Flag Day ceremony. A special thanks was extended to Jason Paugh, Virginia Keller, Reverend Juris Reneslacis and Michael Brady.

The community building rent has been set at $40, effective July 1, 1988. Interested persons should contact Councilman Daniel Paugh.

The Mayor and Council will be conducting a street light survey in town to determine whether there is adequate lighting provided by existing lights.

The engineer site plan for the proposed park was discussed and reviewed.

The park planning committee met on June 30 to review the site plan and discuss application procedures and budgeting. The next meeting is set for July 15.

Space Weeks Are Offered At FSC

Dr. Bob Doyle, Frostburg State University Planetarium director, will once again be offering the summer course "Space Week" in August for area students. However, Dr. Doyle noted this summer the course will be extended for two weeks, one for students in the upper primary grades and the other for middle school students.

Dr. Doyle said the two courses of Space Week are set in August to help the student begin thinking about school again. The Space Week courses will involve reading, listening, decision-making and problem-solving.

Space Week I, offered from August 8-12 on the FSU campus, is designed for students in the upper primary grades. To be eligible, a student must have completed at least third grade with a B average in math and reading. The student must also possess and be able to operate a simple calculator.

Students will be required to purchase a text book for the course, Moche's Astronomy Today, which can be ordered through local bookstores. It should be bought prior to attending the course, Doyle said.

Students will have daily activities in the Planetarium, work in the computer lab, view a space movie, and participate in hands-on learning experiences.

Units for the planetarium study include "How the Sky Works," "The Sun and the Planets," "The Earth and the Moon," "Mars and Beyond," and "Star Zoo."

Space Week I will cover the basic space objects, how to spot them at night and simple measurements of the night sky.

This is the first year the course has been open for students on the primary level. Previously it was offered to middle and high school students.

Space Week II, from August 15-19, will feature two all-day trips to the astronomical research centers of the National Radio Astronomy Observatory in Green Bank, W. Va., on Tuesday, August 16, and the Goddard Space Center, Greenbelt, on Thursday, August 18.

This week-long course, which is designed for middle school students, will focus on the sun, star types and the planets. A reference book, Moche's Astronomy: A Self Help Guide, is required for the course and can be bought at the FSU Bookstore.

To enroll, a student must have completed at least fifth grade with a B average in reading and math and have a scientific calculator that he or she knows how to use.

Planetarium units will be taught three of the days on "Probing the Stars," "Locating Different Types of Stars and Space Objects," and "Big and Small Planets."

Space Week II students will also have daily hands-on learning experiences, computer lab time and review sessions.

Dr. Doyle, associate professor of physics, has regularly visited the Allegany County primary schools with the Starlab Planetarium. He also writes a Sunday astronomy column for the Cumberland Times News. He has taught many primary and secondary level Saturday morning classes at FSU, along with teaching university level courses.

Space Week I is limited to 20 students, while Space Week II is limited to 15 enrollments. Interested students are urged to apply as soon as possible to insure a place in the course. Enrollment deadline is August 1.

For additional information about either course or for a brochure, persons should call (301) 689-4231.

Kepple Appointed Young Farmers State Vice Pres.

At their most recent meeting, the Maryland Farm Bureau Young Farmers announced the appointment of Criss Kepple to fill the 1988 term of state vice chairman.

Formerly secretary of the state-wide group, Kepple has served on the executive committee for two years.

Kepple replaces Jeff Griffith, who having served as vice chairman, is now chairman of the organization.

Griffith and Kepple assumed their positions upon the resignation of former state chairman, Chuck Coles, who now serves as vice president of the Maryland Farm Bureau.

Griffith and Kepple now sit on the Maryland Farm Bureau State Board of Directors along with Farm Bureau county presidents, state women's committee president and vice president, and the president and vice presidents of Maryland Farm Bureau.

Kepple is a senior agricultural economics major at the University of Maryland, College Park Campus, and is the daughter of Howard and Bernice Kepple.

New CRP Incentive Program Signup Period Begins

The next Garrett County Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) signup period is set to begin July 18 and end on August 5. A new additional incentive to attract possible participants will be offered. The incentive is an additional annual rental payment amounting to $20 per acre if all eligibility criteria are met. This additional money is coming from the newly legislated State of Maryland CRP "piggyback" program.

Participants must bid and be accepted in the federal CRP program before being eligible to participate in the state CRP porgram. The federal CRP program operates independently of the state CRP program and a participant may be enrolled only in the federal program if so desired.

Eligible land must be either located within the Maryland Chesapeake Bay Critical Area or meet water quality improvement criteria to be placed in vegetative filter strips on any land outside the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area. Bids will be accepted on a first come, first serve basis in order to allocate funds.

Farmers may contact the Garrett County ASCS Office for further eligibility information concerning this new CRP incentive program.

Proposal Would Regulate Farm Animal Wastes

Maryland agriculture officials are considering a plan to begin regulating animal wastes from farms to help curb long-standing Chesapeake Bay pollution problems.

The effort would require inspectors to tour farms and check waste management practices. Farmers rearing cattle, chickens and pigs would have to follow more restrictive practices.

A permit process and a new building code also are among the measures being considered, "The Capital" reported Monday.

If permits become mandatory, Maryland would be one of the first states to take such a rigid stance on on animal waste.

Environmentalists praised the proposal, saying animal waste is a big pollution source that has gone unchecked for years.

Farmers, however, described the action as another example of government intrusion and another financial burden for them to bear.

In addition, some officials argue that there is little evidence proving that animal waste is a major bay pollutant. They questioned whether regulation would be worth the time and money.

Conservation Leaders Meet In Ocean City

The Maryland Association of Soil Conservation Districts will hold its summer meeting Wednesday, July 13, through Friday, July 15, at the Sheraton Fontainebleau Inn in Ocean City.

Representatives of the state's soil conservation districts, U.S. Soil Conservation Service, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Cooperative Extension Service and other resource agencies will discuss resource issues facing the state. An information session will feature Delegate Robert Flanagan concerning legislation at the state level. Pearlie S. Reed, state conservationist, will give an update on SCS operations. Among other topics to be addressed are: erosion and sediment control, cost-share program update, agriculture effects on ground water resources, soil conservation districts and where they need to be in the year 2000, chemical pollution prevention and forest harvesting in critical areas.

Ernie Shea, executive vice president, National Association of Conservation Districts, will be the speaker at the luncheon today.

Awards will be presented for outstanding service in a number of categories. The winner of Maryland's Conservation Teacher-of-the-Year contest will also be announced.

Directors Prepare For '88 Garrett County Fair

Final plans for the fair were made at the regular meeting of the Garrett County Fair Directors on July 5. This year's fair will be held from August 14 through 20. The directors reported that there have been more black topping and other improvements completed to made the fair more enjoyable for everyone.

Livestock

Directors decided that livestock exhibitors should preregister animals before opening day. All market livestock must be entered on Monday, August 15, from 2 to 8 p.m. Other livestock may be entered that day also.

Demo Derby & Mud Bog

A few changes have been made in this year's fair schedule. Instead of holding a Demolition Derby on Monday night, as has been done the last few years, it will be held on Saturday, August 20, beginning at 7 p.m. On Monday, August 15, there will be a Four-Wheel Mud Bog beginning at 7 p.m.

Baby Crawl

This will be the second year for the Baby Crawling Contest. The categories will be: seven months or younger, eight to nine months, and 10 to 12 months. The child must not be walking yet. The winner will receive money and all contestants will receive a ribbon. Mothers interested in entering their babies should contact Helen Glotfelty, Box 25, McHenry, MD 21541, or call 387-6910. The deadline date for entries is August 10. The contest will be held on Wednesday, August 17, around 3 p.m. on the stage.

Entry Fee

Pay-one-price will be in effect again this year with each person paying $4 to enter. Exhibitors do not need to pay on days set aside to enter exhibits. Fair directors advise that exhibitors show the gate men their exhibits and they will be permited to enter. This does not include a whole family and/or friends, say directors. A small child can come in with an exhibitor, however, if that child wants to ride rides that day, he will need a ticket from the gate. For more information, call 245-4488.

Eglon Farm Service Plans Annual Meeting

Elections of local board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee members, along with operations reports, will be among the highlights of the annual membership meeting from Eglon Farm Service, Inc., Eglon, W.Va., on Wednesday, July 27, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at Farmers' Wild Life Park in Horse Shoe Run, W.Va.

The theme of the meeting will be, "Southern States: Together We Set The Standard."

Robert Strawser of Amboy, W.Va., will serve as chairman of the local meeting.

James E. Collier of Huntington, W.Va., Southern States Cooperative's district manager, will report on Southern States supply and marketing operations for the most recent fiscal year. The report will also include a slide/tape presentation entitled "Southern States: Together We Set The Standard."

Local operations and services rendered to agriculture in the community will be discussed by Ronald Bishop, manager of Eglon Farm Service.

There will be a special recognition ceremony for local board and Farm Home Advisory Committee members who retire this year.

Nominees for the local board are: Gerald Nestor, St. George; Jackie Snyder, Aurora; and Alan Wilt, Eglon.

Women nominated for the Farm Home Advisory Committee are: Mrs. Mary Rembold, Eglon; Mrs. Marcia Rumer, Amboy; and Mrs. Charlotte Strawser, Horse Shoe Run.

Committee chairman assisting with the meeting are:

Greeting and Ribbons Committee: Carl Bachtel and Mrs. Cynthia Bachtel, Horse Shoe Run.

Bush Proposes Ag Summit

Speaking to the U.S. Agricultural Communicators' Congress, Vice President George Bush told the group that he would like to make agriculture the "main focus" of next year's economic summit. "Given my experience in dealing with trading partners in Europe and in Asia, I believe I can help improve our access to their markets," he said.

The USACC, sponsored by the Department of Agriculture, brings together members of agriculture public relations firms, communications heads of state agriculture departments, and journalists.

Bush, who said the United States must gain access to foreign markets he said were lost during the Carter administration, said, "As president, I will work to level the playing field, knock down trade barriers, and I will relentlessly pursue negotiations to end subsidies that distort markets and restrict trade."

The last economic summit, last month in Toronto, was in part devoted to President Reagan's proposal to phase out agricultural subsidies, a plan that met some opposition.

In further outlining his administration's plans if elected president, Bush said he would expand domestic farm markets through the use of alternative fuels. Bush said Detroit was ready to make cars that could run on any combination of gasoline and alcohol, including ethanol, which can be made from corn and wheat.

Bush also talked about the drought, which according to Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng, who also addressed the congress yesterday, is most severely affecting the area from the Great Lakes through the central and eastern Corn Belt to the northern Mississippi Delta.

"At this point, we still don't know the full extent of the drought's damage," Bush said. "But everyone knows it's very, very severe."

Hereford Show Set For July 29

The Fayette County, Pa., Fair Association will host the annual Mason Dixon Polled Hereford Association Show July 28 through 30, with the show taking place in the indoor arena at 2 p.m. on Friday, July 29.

Arrival at the fairgrounds would be no later than 4 p.m. on Thursday, July 28, with departure time at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 30. Barns and washing facilities are available, but exhibitors must furnish their own bedding.

Entry fee is $1.50 per animal. Health papers must accompany cattle and will be checked prior to unloading. Entry forms should be received by the Fair Board no later than July 15. Send to Fayette County Fair, P.O. Box Drawer A, Uniontown, Pa. 15401, Attention: Roland Herring.

The Golden Delicious Apple's Origin Is Traced To West Virginia

The year 1987 marked the centennial of the Hatch Act, legislation passed by Congress and signed into law by President Grover Cleveland on March 2, 1887. The Hatch Act provided a national system of federally funded state experiment stations in Land Grant Colleges.

That act entitled each state's experiment station to $15,000 a year from the federal government. These experiment stations were to conduct research having direct bearing on the agricultural industry of the United States.

During 1987 the centennial of this legislation was observed, and a national celebration was initiated with a symposium and a reception. Also in 1987, the Smithsonian Museum of American History opened a permanent exhibit, "Search for Life" which demonstrates how agricultural research has transformed agriculture and made a significant contribution to American well-being.

The 1987 annual report of the West Virginia Agricultural and Forestry Experiment Station contains short historical reviews of experiment station research in several areas of study during the past century, and is available to any resident of West Virginia in response to a written request to Mailing Room, Communications Building, West Virginia University, Morgantown, WV 26506.

The following article from the annual report written by Steve Blizzard and Tara Auxt Baugher presents the history of the Golden Delicious Apple.

The Golden Delicious Apple

West Virginia's most famous contribution to horticulture — the Golden Delicious apple — was not a result of experiment station research. Yet over the years, pomologists at the station's Kearneysville Experiment Farm have led in improvement, development and testing of Golden Delicious strains and crosses which have been adopted around the world.

In the autumn of 1905, on a small farm in Clay County, Anderson Mullins noticed a precocious seedling with large yellow apples, unlike any variety he had seen before. Little did this humble hillside farmer realize that his discovery would one day change the course of apple production around the world. The golden apple tree, located on a hill near Porter's Creek, has since become the ancestor of millions of such trees.

For nine years after he first observed the tree, Mullins harvested an abundant crop annually, even when other trees in the family orchard were barren. The apple kept in good condition in the Mullins's cellar until April. He called his discovery "Mullins Yellow Seedling."

In the spring of 1914, Mullins sent three apples by parcel post to Stark Brothers Nursery, Louisiana, Missouri, modestly describing the observations he had made of the bearing habit of the tree and the quality of the fruit. When Lloyd Stark opened the small package of fruit, he was not very excited, because yellow apples had never been beg sellers. Nevertheless, Lloyd and his brother Paul decided to sample a slice of one of the apples. The apple which had been stored in Mullins's cellar all winter was still firm. But what was even more impressive was the spicy flavor.

Paul Stark, an aggressive pomologist, set out on a journey that would later be called "The Trail of the Golden Apple." He told of this visit to West Virginia in a story often printed in his catalogs:

". . . he found he could reach Odessa only by a narrow-gauge railroad, and at the end of the line he would have to travel by horseback. Stark rode on through the mountains and finally spotted a mailbox with the Mullins name on it. He knocked at the cabin door, but nobody answered.

"He was about to give up when he decided to have a look around. There was a small neglected orchard back of the house with gnarly apples, but high up on the mountain back of the house, his eye caught a glint of golden yellow. He scrambled up the rocky slope, and there was the original tree loaded with big golden apples.

"He was biting into one when a mountaineer appeared from nowhere. Stark identified himself, saying, 'That's some apple.'

"'Name's Mullins,' the man said, 'I sent you some.'"

Stark found what he was looking for — an exciting new apple that would become a standard in the fruit industry. "It just growed there," Mullins told him. The naturally occurring chance seedling was later identified to have sprung from a Golden Reinette, pollinated from a Grimes Golden. The Grimes is another West Virginia discovery, probably originally planted by Johnny Appleseed (John Chapman).

Stark Brothers paid $5,000 for the tree and 900 square feet of hillside around it. To protect their valuable real estate, they put up a woven-steel cage around the tree. A battery-powered burglar alarm wired to a bell inside the Mullins home was set off only once, by a family cow who strayed too close to the compound.

For 30 years, the Starks employed Bewel Mullins, Anderson's nephew, to maintain the tree. For $100 a year, he made sure it was properly fertilized and sprayed, and kept written and photographic records of its growth, paying close attention for any signs of weakness.

The new yellow cultivar had all the characteristics of a "winner." The American Pomological Society awarded the Wilder medal to the Golden Delicious in 1921.

Unlike the Red Delicious, which took over a decade to gain renown, the Golden Delicious was immediately acclaimed and soon became a leader cultivar in the United States and abroad. Over 1.5 billion pounds of Golden Delicious apples are grown annually in the U.S., and at least this many in the rest of the world. The apple is popular both for fresh and processing uses.

Research by H.E. Knowlton at the station showed that the Golden was equal to the old Ben Davis and Grimes as a pollinizer for other varieties. The female element is as virile as the male side. Fruit is borne on one-year twigs and terminals in addition to fruit spurs, and record fruit loads are produced two to three years after planting.

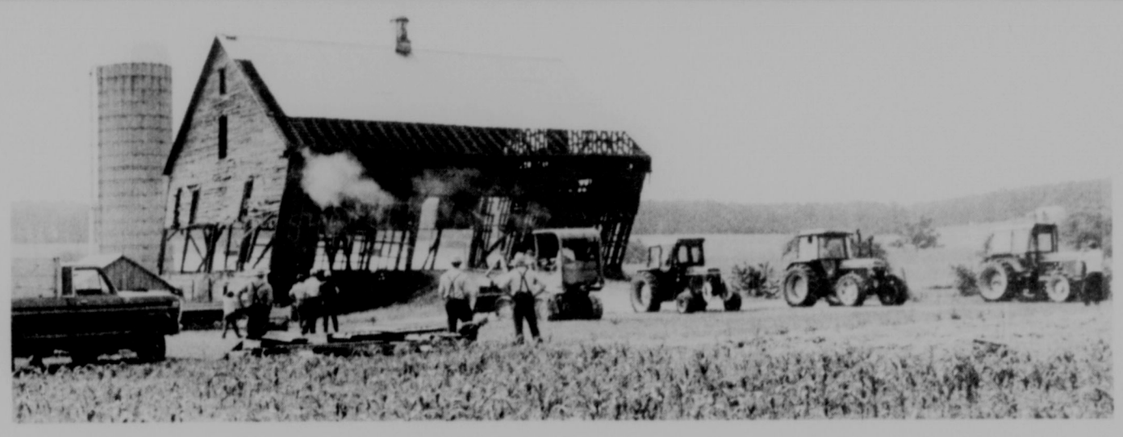

The tree is easy to manage and is adaptable to a wide range of soils and climatic conditions. The original tree bore high quality, heavy crops for 50 years. These attributes make the Golden Delicious a popular breeding parent. Mutzu (Crispin), Jonagold and Gala are some of the successful crosses.

The primary weakness of the Golden Delicious is that the skin tends to russet in humid climates. West Virginia orchardist Henry W. Miller Jr. offered a $5,000 reward for the discovery of a russet-free Golden, but no claims were ever made. Research at Cornell University shows that Smoothie (Gibson) has the least russet of any of the currently available strains.

Edwin Gould, for many years the superintendent of the University Experiment Farm at Kearneysville considered the discovery of Golden Delicious the most important event in the history of the apple-growing industry in West Virginia. "Perhaps there have been other areas of greater importance, such as the progress that has been made in the control of our insect and disease problems, but no one single factor has had as great an impact on our industry as the discovery of this one variety of apple."

For nearly 40 years, the Kearneysville Station has worked with the development and testing of spur type Golden, as well as crossing the Golden with other leading varieties such as York, to produce the variety Nittany. Out of this work came the Ed Gould Golden, a leading strain in France. The Kearneysville Station is currently involved with extensive system trials in an attempt to further increase the merits of this great apple.

The original Golden Delicious tree died in the humble obscurity in which it sprouted. Several station scientists returned to the Clay County hillside in 1958, but found only a dead stump and the rusted remains of the Stark Brothers' fence. Today, the remnants of the cage are obscured by dense underbrush. However, the millions of progeny planted on every continent assure that wherever apples are grown, a little bit of West Virginia's horticultural heritage survives.

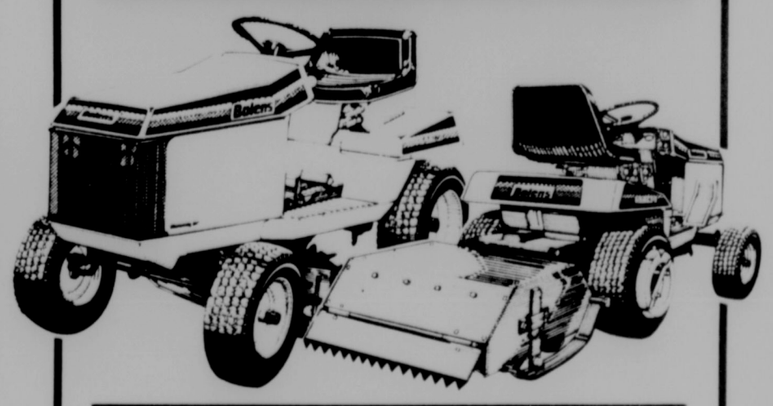

AND THE BARN CAME DOWN! — It's not unusual for farmers in the Gortner area to gather for a barn raising, but last week many of them gathered for a "barn lowering" at the Harvey C. Yoder farm. According to Yoder, the barn, which was built by Will Friend in 1910, was too high (40 feet to the peak on the inside) and too dangerous to repair, so it was decided to pull it down. Yoder reported that after the crash, several "shatter-proof" pigeons flew out of the ventilator on top of the barn unharmed. Some young pigeons were also removed later. As the remains of the old barn are being removed in order to build a new barn for "the young generation," Yoder says the pigeons are still looking for their home in the old barn.

MDA Offers Free Nitrate Testing For Drought-Stressed Crops

For the second successive year, the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service and the state Department of Agriculture have teamed up in a drought-related free testing service for Maryland farmers.

The test determines if levels of nitrates in drought-stressed forage crops are sufficient to present health danger to livestock.

Actual testing is being conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Maryland's Wye Research and Education Center on the Eastern Shore.

The program is being funded by the Maryland Department of Agriculture as a part of Governor William Donald Schaefer's plan to assist drought-stricken farmers. It began July 7 and is expected to run for about 10 weeks.

Dr. Lester R. Vough, Extension forage crops specialist at College Park, commented that drought conditions typically cause dangerous buildups of nitrate in the stalks of corn and other forage crops such as sudangrass and sorghum.

High nitrate levels in feeds can poison livestock by interfering with the blood's ability to carry oxygen, Dr. Vough explained. This causes an animal to literally suffocate.

Symptoms of nitrate poisoning include blue gums and mucous membranes, rapid pulse and breathing, muscle tremors, staggering and blindness. The malady causes animals to go off feed; pregnant animals often have miscarriages. In severe cases, animals die within three or four hours after eating nitrate-contaminated feed.

Kevin M. Morrissey, a faculty research assistant for the University of Maryland, suggests that farmers with drought-stressed forage crops should also check the nitrate level in the water which their livestock drink.

He explained that even relatively small levels of nitrates in water could cause a problem when combined with relatively high levels of nitrates in livestock feed.

Morrissey advised farmers to submit forage and water samples to the testing laboratory in quart-size jars or plastic bags.

Eastern shore farmers are asked to bring their samples directly to the testing laboratory at the Wye Research and Education Center near Queenstown. Farmers west of the Chesapeake Bay may mail samples to the Wye REC, P.O. Box 169, Queenstown, Md. 21658.

The Wye Research and Education Center is located 3½ miles south of U.S. Highway 50, on Carmichael-Wye Neck Road. Watch for the Cheston Lane entrance about ½ mile beyond the Carmichael Methodist Church.

Office hours at the testing laboratory are Monday to Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The telephone number is (301) 827-8056. Farmers can expect to have nitrate test results phoned to them within 24 hours. In emergency situations, the turnaround time can be reduced to 10 hours.

Drought Update

Senator Sarbanes Introduces Drought Relief Legislation On Capital Hill

Senator Paul S. Sarbanes has joined in introducing the "Emergency Agricultural Relief Act of 1988," legislation aimed at addressing the needs of farmers as drought conditions worsen in Maryland and other states around the nation. The bill, which contains provisions for income protection, water projects and credit, has been referred to the Senate Agriculture Committee for immediate hearings in an effort to speed the bill's progress.

"The drought this summer raises the need for timely action to soften the financial impact on farmers already struggling to make a decent living," Senator Sarbanes said. "Our proposed legislation would make farmers eligible for assistance regardless of prior participation in federal crop insurance programs and protects those farmers who have already received deficiency payments on their crops."

In the 1985 Farm Bill, farmers' eligibility for assistance was linked to participation in crop insurance programs, yet only five to ten percent of Maryland's farmers have such insurance and the vast majority would therefore be ineligible for federal relief funds. The deficiency payment provision attempts to address the inflated market value of grain brought on by drought-induced shortages. Forty percent of this payment is advanced to the farmers participating in U.S. Department of Agriculture programs to defray planting costs. Because this payment is tied to the price of grain, it is possible for a farmer to owe back more than the initial advance. This is eliminated in the legislation, which also provides for direct assistance to producers of non-program crops.

ready feeling the effects of the unusually dry summer," Senator Sarbanes noted. "Chicken, livestock and dairy producers are paying higher prices for feed, while some corn crops have been lost. I am pleased that the committee has moved quickly to initiate hearings and I hope that we will have legislation on the Senate floor as soon as possible to ease the financial impact on the farm community."

Moisture Declines Even More As Heat Persists

During the week ended July 3, soil moisture continued to decrease dramatically. Topsoil moisture averaged 90 percent, very short and 10 percent short, across Maryland. Subsoil moisture averaged 50 percent, very short and 50 percent short, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. All seven days were potentially suitable for fieldwork last week, but many farmers have delayed further plantings until moisture is received. The condition of pastures was 70 percent poor and 30 percent fair. The supply of hay for immediate needs was adequate, but farmers were concerned that at the current rate of use the supply of hay could be depleted.

The condition of field corn was 60 percent poor and 40 percent fair. Soybeans were 30 percent poor and 70 percent adequate. The highest concentrations of corn and soybeans in poor condition were in Middle Eastern Shore counties and Southern Maryland. Farmers had planted 75 percent of the 1988 soybean crop, 15 percent less than the 5-year average. Some farmers have postponed the planting of doublecrop soybeans until they get some rain.

Wheat, barley, oats and rye were in good condition overall. Wheat was 65 percent harvested, 10 percent more than the 5-year average. Barley was 95 percent harvested, five percent ahead of normal.

The second cutting of alfalfa for hay was 60 percent complete, 10 percent more than average. On July 3 the second cutting of clover and other hays was 10 percent complete, 15 percent less than normal. Leaf hoppers were present in Central Maryland, and spider mites were present in scattered counties. The condition of apples and peaches was 80 percent good and 20 percent fair.

WEATHER

Maryland's weather for the week ended July 1 was cool and dry. Precipitation averaged a mere 0.02 inch, with only Patuxent NAS and Snow Hill reporting any rainfall. Temperatures averaged 70.4 degrees, 3.3 degrees below the normal of 73.7 degrees. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the mid 40's to mid 50's with Oakland dipping to 33 degrees. Maximum temperatures were mostly in the low 90's, but Western Maryland maximum temperatures were in the mid 80's.

DROUGHT HOTLINE

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with other federal agencies has established a toll-free telephone hotline to answer questions about federal government services available to citizens in drought stricken areas. The toll-free number is 1-800-541-3375. Telephones will be staffed on weekdays 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Food Shortages For Impoverished Nations Foreseen

The crippling drought hitting the United States and Canada is expected to reduce world grain stocks to levels that may cause food shortages in many poor countries, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization reported Monday.

The agency projects world cereal production in 1988 to total 1.7 billion tons, only two million tons more than last year's level, which was already below the expected production.

The high grain prices resulting from a lower supply would hit poor, food-importing countries the hardest, the U.N. agency warned.

AFBF Calls For Direct Drought Aid, Not Farm Bill Changes

Disaster aid legislation must be in the form of short-term, direct relief that will help any farmer or rancher hurt by the searing weather conditions plaguing the country, American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) President Dean Kleckner told television audiences last week.

"The key is that the drought is temporary and we need to have temporary relief," Kleckner said in a national satellite television broadcast where he was interviewed by eight major independent and network television stations.

Kleckner emphasized that drought assistance legislation must not be used as a vehicle for changing the 1985 farm bill. "The drought is a non-partisan issue," he said. "We don't need a lot of political promises. We don't need long-term changes in the farm bill in reaction to the short-term, very severe emergency."

Kleckner praised the actions taken so far by the Agriculture Department and the concern shown in Congress to ease the pain farmers and ranchers are feeling. "I think USDA and the Congress to this point have been very responsive. It's mainly been kept out of politics," Kleckner said.

However, he urged caution in the writing of any drought relief legislation. "We're saying, let's do what's necessary, but try to do it in direct drought relief rather than changing the whole farm bill under the guise of drought relief.

"I think it is really kind of crazy to be saying that the drought is showing the lack of a good farm bill, or these things wouldn't have happened if we had a different type farm bill. That's hogwash. The farm bill has nothing to do with the drought. It's not raining and it's very hot, that's what the problem is."

Some lawmakers are, however, feeling pressure to act before the national party conventions. House Agriculture Committee Chairman Kika de la Garza (D-Texas) has indicated that his committee will pass legislation this week that will likely feature forgiveness of advance deficiency payments and aid for producers of both program and non-program crops.

Farm Bureau will testify this week at a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing on the drought situation.

As of July 8, 1,880 counties in 37 states were eligible for emergency haying and grazing on set-aside acres and for 30-day hay-cutting of conservation reserve program lands. In addition, 492 counties in 11 states are eligible for the emergency feed programs.

CROP NOTES

At last! Rain. The recent rainfall sure perked crops up. There are a couple of items you should be aware of that have developed due to the drought. First of all, a lot of the grasses and legumes have gone to early maturity due to the lack of water. If this is the case, you should harvest the crops soon as possible. If there is not enough to harvest I would still clip the crop. Cutting the plants activates new buds and growth. Secondly, make sure you provide adequate nutrients for optimum growth. Push hard for the third and fourth cuttings.

We have certainly lost some valuable growing time for corn. Again, don't forget the second application of nitrogen. The frost demaged corn has shown a lot of improvement since the rainfall.

WARNING — FEED DROUGHT STRESSED CROPS

Be careful when feeding crops that are under drought stress. There is always a possibility of a build-up of nitrates in the plant which can be very toxic. For the next ten weeks the University of Maryland will provide free testing of feedstuff for nitrates. The crops in our area that could potentially be high are corn, sorghum and sudangrass.

GARRETT COUNTY HOLSTEIN SALE

The Garrett County Holstein Association will be selling 41 top-notch Holstein animals on Friday, July 22, at 7:30 p.m. at the fairgrounds in McHenry. If you are in need of some excellent animals this is your chance. Food and beverages will be sold by the Friendsville 4-H Club.

OUR NEIGHBORS FROM THE EAST

If you recall three years ago when all the counties in Maryland except our county were suffering a severe drought, we donated several loads of hay to farmers down east. Well, the farmers in Baltimore County heard about our frost and drought damage and have offered 2,000 bales of hay. Delegate George Edwards informed me that the hay could be made available to any farmers who are suffering a feed shortage for their animals. If you are in this situation, you may contact my office or Delegate Edwards.

Farmers In Three States Find Insurance Company Unable To Pay

The Associated Press reports that a New Jersey insurance company has drawn the ire of drought-suffering farmers and state regulators who say the insurer appears to be backing off an offer to provide drought insurance.

Insurance officials in at least three states — Minnesota, Indiana and Ohio — are looking into the policies offered during a six-week period in May and June by Federal Insurance Co., a subsidiary of Chubb Group Insurance Cos. of Warren, N.J.

"People are in a panic out here," Keith Kendall, an administrative officer for the Indiana Insurance Department, said this week. "They were lined up around the block to buy this stuff."

The company is offering to return premiums to farmers, saying sales of the policies exceeded its coverage capacity. But officials in Minnesota and Indiana warned that Chubb could possibly lose its license to do business in those states if it did not provide the coverage.

Essentially, the policy offers coverage for crop damage due to below-average rainfall. Depending on the policy, the less rain that falls, the more money is aid.

Chubb said the poilicy is a variation on the type of coverage offered to outdoor-event promoters insuring against a rain-out.

Chubb said that only about 40 policies actually had been issued out of thousands of applications filed May 1 to June 17. The company said Federal's insurance agent, Good Weather International, which developed the policy, was authorized to provide only up to $22.5 million in coverage in the Farm Belt states.

Shortly before the enrollment period expired, news stories about the drought and Good Weather's marketing brought on a flood of applications, Chubb spokeswoman Mary Lu Korkuch said. About 8,000 to 9,000 applications had come in since June 17, she said.

State regulators said Chubb promised to underwrite hundreds of millions of dollars in policies. The company would not give a figure, but Kendall said Chubb had $50 million in Indiana policies alone.

Chubb sent out letters to insurance agents over the weekend offering refunds to farmers who sent in premiums in exchange for canceling the contracts, Korkuch said.

Kendall criticized the company's stance that it had no obligation to provide insurance to applicants. He noted that the period covered by the policies was limited to June, July and August and said that to offer refunds five weeks after the beginning of the period was unfair.

"We're going to get Federal to stand behind all applications solicited in the state of Indiana," he said.

The state's insurance commissioner, Harry Eakin, said over the weekend that about 1,700 Indiana farmers had signed contracts for the coverage, paying $15 million to $20 million in premiums for coverage. He set a hearing for July 26 to determine whether Good Weather or Federal acted unfairly or deceptively.

In Minnesota, officials said Chubb should issue drought policies to about 1,000 farmers there.

A 1987 state law says that if a farmer's premium check is cashed, as happened in most Minnesota cases, the policy cannot be canceled by the company or farmer, officials said. State and company representatives in Minnesota plan to meet to discuss the issue.

An Ohio insurance official said, "We're looking at the situation in Ohio at the present time."

Chickens Die From High Heat, Humidity

The Delmarva Poultry Industry Inc. reported this week that 40,000 chickens, valued at about $2 each, died because of the high heat and humidity over the weekend.

William Satterfield, a spokesman for the poultry industry trade group, said the weekend loss was on top of between 30,000 and 40,000 birds that died from the heat on June 21 and 22.

During one particularly hot stretch last July, the industry lost more than one million chickens over a three-day period.

FB Lobbies Against Minimum Wage Bill

Maryland Farm Bureau reports that a Congressional vote on the Minimum Wage Bill rescheduled for July 11 was not taken on that date. Farm Bureau members have been hard at work urging representatives to vote against the measure that would call for three 40-cent increases over the next three years, culminating at $4.55.

Farm Bureau opposes the hike because it would reduce the number of entry-level jobs available, it would not alleviate poverty, and only half of all minimum wage workers are employed full time.

Farm Bureau finds there is a "real lack of support" for the bill among representatives, and thinks the bill might possibly be held until after the November election.

Genetic Pesticide Is Field Tested At Beltsville

The Associated Press reports that scientists injected a genetically engineered microbe into the stalks of 2,000 corn plants last week, in the first field test of a biological pesticide designed to combat the European corn borer.

The Cxc-Bt experiment is the second federally approved field test of a genetically engineered pesticide.

The test at the federal agricultural experiment station is the first of a "plant vaccine," said Peter Carlson, chief scientist of Crop Genetics International, which developed the product. Cxc-Bt also was injected into an acre of corn on the Eastern Shore owned by Crop Genetics, a company spokesman said.

"I think the result could be reduced use of chemicals for crop protection," Carlson said, which would be "good for farming, good for the environment and good for the food supply."

The corn borer, a moth larva introduced to the country in 1908, is one of agriculture's most destructive pests, and attacks about 200 plant species, company officials said. The pest costs American farmers $400 million a year.

Environmental groups did not oppose the limited field tests, which were approved by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Agriculture.

While noting the microbe being tested has not been shown to kill the corn borer outright, officials of the Audubon Society and the Environmental Defense Fund said if their questions are answered with more tests, they may support the final product.

The important question for environmental groups is whether there will be adequate testing and regulation because Cxc-Bt is the just the beginning of a rush of dozens, perhaps hundreds, of similar products, said Maureen Hinkle, the Audubon Society's director of agriculture policy.

Cxc-Bt combines the protein in the biological pesticide Bt, commonly used for gypsy moth eradication, with Cxc, a bacterium found in a grass. The protein attacks the alkaline stomach of the caterpillar, giving it ulcers, but is not harmful to humans, other mammals or birds, Mr. Carlson said.

The crucial issue in the test is whether Cxc-Bt will spread to other plants, he said. The test will also show how effective the product is, he said.

Jeremy Rifkin, president of the Washington-based Foundation on Economic Trends, said the pesticide hasn't been shown to work in greenhouse tests.

Rifkin also said the Cxc host for the Bt lowered corn yields during some tests.

"The only destructive effect it has is on corn. From their own data from field trials in three states, they put the bacteria into corn and it significantly stunted corn yield — 17 percent in one state, another state six to eight percent and, the third state, two percent," Rifkin said. Those results came from tests in Maryland, Louisiana and Florida, he said.

Waklemar Klassen, director of the Beltsville experiment station, said the low yields were in corn raised in drought conditions and more tests will show what caused the low yields.

However, Carlson said that out of 44 field tests in the U.S. and France, the overall yield was not different between the control and the colonized plants.

Only one other genetic crop protector, Frostban, a microbe altered to fight frost, has been approved for field testing by the EPA.

Baltimore Bank For Cooperatives To Consolidate

Stockholders of the Bank for Cooperatives (BC), the lending arm of the Farm Credit System that provides capital to farmer cooperatives recently voted overwhelming to consolidate.

The Baltimore BC and seven other district BCs will merge to form the National Bank for Cooperatives. Other districts voting to merge were: Columbia, Louisville, St. Louis, Omaha, Witchita, Texas, and Sacramento.

"The National BC will provide the Baltimore branch with many new opportunities," said Gene L. Swackhamer, president of the Farm Credit Bank of Baltimore. "As a branch office of the National BC we will have the ability to make loans and provide a full range of banking services to cooperatives," he continued.

Porter C. Little, vice president, BC Credit, will head up the Baltimore branch of the National BC.

Operations for the new National BC will begin January 1, 1989. Selection of a National BC President is expected prior to the January 1 start-up date.

Voted in by stockholders on June 30, the plan to form a National BC was developed by a special committee and required approval by a majority of stockholders in eight district BCs by both number and equity. The four districts voting not to consolidate — Springfield, Jackson, St. Paul and Spokane — will remain as independent banks.

The recent vote was required by the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987.

The Baltimore BC currently has approximately $225 million in long and short term loans to over 80 farmer cooperatives.

Atlantic Joins Effort To "Stop" Additional Price Cuts For Milk

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has joined with other cooperatives throughout the nation in a campaign to stop additional cuts in the support price for milk.

Spearheaded by the National Milk Producers Federation (NMPF), the campaign to "stop the price cuts" is aimed at avoiding further reductions in the support price program. Immediate attention is being given to a possible price cut on January 1, 1989.

Under current farm bill legislation, the Secretary of Agriculture has the authority to lower the support price by 50 cents each year if government purchases of surplus milk are expected to exceed five billion pounds. For 1988, purchases have already reached the seven billion pound mark.

As part of its campaign plan, NMPF has coordinated a national drive to collect 150,000 signatures on petitions. The petitions will be sent to Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng, urging him not to implement another 50-cent cut.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative is participating in this program and plans to circulate petitions among members during its summer picnics. "Our goal is to send a message from the grass roots to Washington, D.C. that enough is enough," said Dr. Paul E. Hand, Atlantic's general manager.

According to NMPF estimates, another price cut will cost dairy farmers more than $700 million in lost income. Pennsylvania would be among the hardest hit states, with an estimated $53 million loss in income.

"When you see projections like these, it becomes clear why dairy farmers cannot afford further price reductions," Hand said. "It is imperative that we do all we can to prevent such action."

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative represents 4,000 dairy farm families in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Spring District Show Is Held At Fairgrounds

The 1988 District Spring 4-H/FFA Livestock Show held recently at the Garrett County Fairgrounds drew a considerable number of animals and exhibitors from Allegany and Garrett counties. The annual event is sponsored by the University of Maryland Extension Service and the Maryland State Fair Board.

Twenty sheep were exhibited by 10 exhibitors. Grand Champion in Fitting and Showing was Tammy Holler, Oakland; and Reserve Grand Champion, Jennifer Weller, Bittinger. Grand Champion Ram was exhibited by Tammy Holler, Oakland; and Reserve Champion, Bridget Miller, Oakland. Bridget also had first place ewe lamb, pair of ewe lambs, and one two-year old ewe lamb. Randy Lucas, Oakland, had the best pair of ewes for a first place. Bridget had the first-place flock. Jody Friend, Bittinger, placed first in light weight market lamb class, while Kim Miller, Swanton, placed first in the medium weight class; and Tammy Holler, first in the heavy weight class. Tammy had the Champion Market Lamb with Jennifer Weller, Bittinger, Reserve Champion. Other participants in the sheep show were Adam and Chris Herbert, Swanton; Alex Lowery, Bittinger; and Carla Miller, Swanton.

There were 18 youth who exhibited their market beef animals, plus one breeding entry. Fitting and Showing Junior Champion was Tommy Holler, Oakland; and Senior Champion was Tammy Holler, who was also selected Grand Champion Showman. Paul Miller, Accident, exhibited the first-place Hereford; Tommy Holler, first-place Exotic; and Jamie DeBerry, first-place Charolais. Overall champion was Tommy Holler with Ty Miller, Oakland, reserve champion. Tammy Holler had the champion heifer. Others showing beef were Danielle DeBerry, Oakland; Eddie Friend, Swanton; Bonnie Lohr, Swanton; Allen Mason, Oakland; Monica Miller, Oakland, Steven Sweitzer, Swanton; Sam Wright, Swanton; John Wright, Swanton and Charles DeBerry, Oakland. The judge for the beef and sheep shows was William Curry of the University of Maryland Animal Science Department.

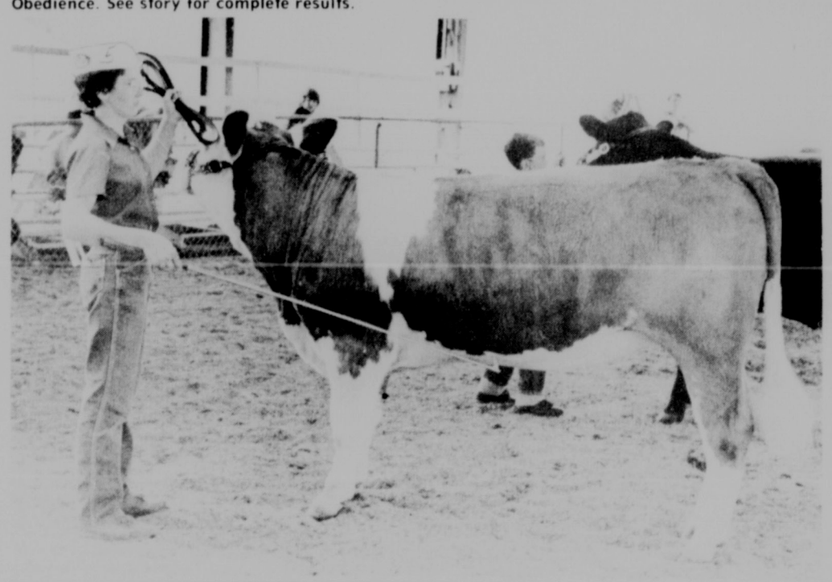

Entered in the Dog Obedience Show were six contestants. Tammy Eisentrout, Oakland, was the Junior Champion in Grooming and Handling and Champion in Sub-Novice Obedience class. Miranda Marple, Oakland, place first in the Fun Class. Other participants were Janelle Fogt, Swanton; Jamie Moe, Oakland; Lisa Murray, Oakland; and Michelle Stahlman, Cumberland. The judge for the Dog Show was Vicki Hedrick of St. George, W.Va.

Over 30 rabbits were shown by six exhibitors. First place rabbit exhibitors were: Junior Buck, Mike Stahlman, Cumberland; Junior Doe, Kara Orndorff, LaVale; Senior Buck, Tammy Holler, Oakland; Senior Doe, Lauren Orndorff, LaVale; Pen of Three-Meat Division, Kara Orndorff, Lavale; Fur Class, Kimberly Holler, Oakland. Best Rabbit of the Show was exhibited by Lauren Orndorff. Other exhibitors were Tommy Holler, Oakland; Michelle, Mary Beth and Mike Stahlman, Cumberland. The judge was Irmgard Kosciel-niak, home economist, Extension Service of Garrett County.

Dairy goats were exhibited by four members with Junior Champion Fitting and Showing going to Timothy Wallace of Bedford, Pa. Senior Champion Fitting and Showing went to Christopher Ewing of Cumberland, who was also selected Grand Champion. Nubian Junior Champion exhibitor was Christopher Ewing, who was Senior Champion and also Grand Champion. Alpine Junior Champion was Robby Wallace, Bedford, Pa., and Grand Champion and Reserve also went to Robby. Recorded Junior Champion was Topper Wallace, Bedford, Pa. who was also Grand Champion. Best of Show went to Christopher Ewing, whose goat also exhibited the Best Udder of Show. Best Baby Doe went to Topper Wallace. Judge for the event was Criss Kepple, University of Maryland student and Summer Assistant with the Garrett County Extension Service.

Theodore A. Sprangel, Garrett Extension Service, was in charge of the event with Alice Hevner, Garrett Extension agent Sharon Diehl, Allegany Extension agent; Norris Diefenderfer, Washington Extension agent assisting; along with Ralph Miller, chairman of the Beef Show; Glenna Miller, chairman of the Sheep Show; and Becky DeBerry, chairman of the Goat Show.

Delmarva Pulls Together

Officials from the State Departments of Agriculture of Maryland, Delaware and Virginia met in Richmond, Virginia, on June 1 to explore joint opportunities to enhance cooperative marketing and promotion of agricultural products from the entire Delmarva region.

Discussions included the development of a Farmers Market Network in Virginia, with particular emphasis on the Shipping Point Market at Accomack on Virginia's Eastern Shore. Farmers in the region will be kept informed as plans develop for this new marketing opportunity.

Joint efforts to promote supplemental crops were discussed, including organically grown fruits and vegetables for the Southern Maryland and Northern Neck Virginia regions.

Market research will continue as the tri-state organizers seek to determine the feasibility of producers and processors from Delaware, Maryland and Virginia attracting export business by participating in international food shows.

MARYLAND STATE DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT HAZARDOUS AND SOLID WASTE MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION

Public Hearings on Applications for State Discharge Permits.
PUBLIC NOTICE NO.: MD 2553
ISSUE DATE: July 14, 1988

The Hazardous and Solid Waste Management Administration (HSWMA) has made tentative determinations for State Discharge Permits listed below and has scheduled public hearings as indicated. Persons who wish to present information about these tentative determinations may speak at the hearing and/or submit a written statement to HSWMA no later than five days following the hearing. All comments will be considered in HSWMA's final decision concerning these applications.

Any person who feels adversely affected by the following tentative determinations and wishes to contest these determinations may request that contested issues be adjudicated. Each request must be in writing to the address given below, must contain the name, address, telephone number of the requesting person; the specific rights, duties or privileges of the individual which are adversely affected by the tentative decision, the name of the other party whom the requester represents, the issues proposed for adjudication, and must be received by HSWMA within fifteen days immediately following the public hearing. The Secretary for the Department of the Environment will decide whether a request presents valid issues for adjudication, notify all parties of his decision, and may schedule a pre-hearing conference.

Significantly altered determinations would initiate further opportunity for adjudication.

All information concerning permit applications and tentative determinations is on file at the Department of the Environment (201 West Preston Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201) and may be inspected Monday through Friday between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Facilities for obtaining copies at a reasonable cost will be available.

Written requests for information or adjudication concerning Industrial Discharge Permits may be addressed to Mr. Ronald Nelson, Director of the Hazardous and Solid Waste Management Administration at the above address. Telephone requests should be made to Ms. Gail Castleman at (301) 225-5649.

The Department will provide an interpreter for the deaf or hearing impaired persons provided that a timely request is made for such service.

A public hearing on the following tentative decisions will be held:

Monday, August 15, 1988
At 10:00 a.m.
Maryland Bureau of Mines
69 Hill Street
Frostburg, Maryland 21532

Discharge Permit Modification Application No. 86-DP-1716A (NPDES No. MD0058238A): The G & S Coal Company, Inc., P.O. Box 185, Bloomington, MD 21523 operates a surface coal mine 1.5 miles east of Swanton, MD. The two additional outfalls of runoff from this mine will discharge about 50,000 gpd into the Right Prong of Three Forks Run (Basin Code 02.14.10.05, Stream Class III).

Tentative Decision: Issue modification with limitations on pH, total suspended solids, turbidity, total iron, and total manganese. These effluent limitations are chosen to protect the quality of Three Forks Run.

Discharge Permit Application No. 88-DP-2569 (NPDES No. MD0063533): Buffalo Coal Co., Inc., P.O. Box 282, Bayard, WV 26707 plans to operate a surface coal mine two miles northwest of Lonaconing, MD on the north side of Koontz Run. The discharge will consist of approximately 21,000 gpd of treated runoff from this mine which will flow intermittently to Koontz Run (Basin Code 02.14.10.04, Stream Class III). This discharge will enter Koontz Run below the water supply reservoir for Lonaconing.

Tentative Decision: Issue permit with limitations on pH, total suspended solids, turbidity, total iron, and total manganese. These effluent limitations are chosen to protect the quality of Koontz Run.

Orr (Liber 487, Folio 395); thence, three lines with Orr, South 85 degrees 59 minutes West, 23.97 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; South 85 degrees 59 minutes West, 209.88 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; South 05 degrees 13 minutes East, 209.83 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; thence, South 86 degrees 12 minutes West, 2110.82 feet to a drill hole in a rock at the corner of Mon Valley Coal & Lumber Co.; thence, South 00 degrees 37 minutes West, 620.48 feet to the centerline of AT&T's right of way; thence, six lines with said centerline, South 83 degrees 10 minutes West, 198.91 feet; South 81 degrees 33 minutes West, 534.17 feet; South 81 degrees 22 minutes West, 202.39 feet; South 66 degrees 53 minutes West, 151.13 feet; south 67 degrees 17 minutes West, 138.34 feet; North 87 degrees 54 minutes West, 155.82 feet to the center line of the Youghiogheny River; thence, upstream with the meanderings of said river to the nexus of the Little Youghiogheny River; thence, upstream with the meanderings of the Little Youghiogheny River to the centerline of the Rosedale Bridge and in the existing corporation limits of the Town of Oakand; thence, 13 lines with said limits, North 28 degrees 14 minutes East, 187.70 feet; North 24 degrees 31 minutes West, 129.65 feet; North 15 degrees 42 minutes West, 339.84 feet; North 18 degrees 18 minutes West, 1,252.70 feet; North 18 degrees 19 minutes West, 177.00 feet; North 37 degrees 04 minutes East, 445.32 feet to a found concrete monument; North 37 degrees 51 minutes East, 431.00 feet; North 45 degrees 03 minutes East, 3,259.30 feet to a point in the easterly margin of the Oakland Sang Run Road; thence, five lines with said margin, South 10 degrees 34 minutes West, 367.79 feet; South 20 degrees 27 minutes West, 503.78 feet; South 25 degrees 14 minutes East, 381.67 feet; South 01 degree 02 minutes West, 417.37 feet; South 0, degree 42 minutes West, 232.13 feet to the beginning, containing 341.55 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban Residential (SR), and that there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban Residential, and inasmuch as the definitions of Suburban Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial difference between the definitions and features of Suburban Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and development plan, and Suburban Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED THIS 11th day of November, 1988.

Linda Everd, Town Clerk

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 11th day of November, 1988.

Robert E. Watson

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban Residential (SR), and there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use designations therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban Residential, and inasmuch as the definitions of Suburban Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial difference between the definitions and features of Suburban Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and Development Plan, and Suburban Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 28th day of June, 1988.

Linda Everd,
Town Clerk

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 24th day of June, 1988.

Robert E. Watson
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, and the annexation, on the 9th day of August, 1988, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 109 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 at 7:00 p.m.

By Authority of Mayor and Town
Council of Oakland
By its Town Counsel,
Robert E. Watson

PROGRAMMER TRAINEES

If you like number problems and math, or if you're particularly good in music, we'd like to talk to you about your future. The area's only advanced computer software development firm is looking for a few exceptional people to train as computer programmers. No experience is required, but if you've worked with computers, it's a plus. Only a high school diploma is needed. If you have the aptitude we're looking for, we'll pay you while you learn the languages of computers. You'll be learning skills that will put you into a challenging and rewarding technical career with an unlimited future. To schedule an aptitude test, please call Kim at 746-5888.

EXPERIENCED 'C' PROGRAMMERS

If you're a talented 'C' programmer looking for new horizons, consider joining the team at Micro-Integration. We're looking for a few experienced and exceptional individuals to join us in our communications software development group. You'll enjoy big-company benefits and a small-company spirit, with unlimited opportunities for personal growth and recognition. To qualify, you need at least two and preferably five years' experience writing structured 'C' code, hopefully in an engineering or scientific environment. Real-time or communications programming experience is a plus. You need to be a top-notch programmer, with an excellent record of on-time in-budget delivery of projects. We'll provide you with an environment where the bureaucracy doesn't get in your way, all the tools you need are available, and your talents are appreciated. Please call Kim at 746-5888 to schedule an interview.

W.Va. Man Dies In Local River Mishap Saturday

A young Elk Garden, W.Va., man died Saturday afternoon shortly after he slipped on a bank and struck his chest on a rock ledge along the Potomac River near Kitmzmiller.

Charles Dawson Jr., 23, was pronounced dead at Cumberland Memorial Hospital after the 5:30 p.m. mishap, according to Walter May, Department of Natural Resources Police Officer, who investigated the accident. May reported that the cause of death was severe chest trauma.

Dawson was reportedly swimming and diving with several other people, and was climbing down the river bank when he apparently slipped, struck a rock, and fell into the river. He was pulled to the shore by his brother, Russell Dawson, who was swimming with him.

Dawson was flown to Cumberland Memorial by State Police Medevac helicopter. The body was taken to Baltimore for an autopsy, according to a hospital spokesman.

A native of West Virginia, Dawson was a son of Charles William Dawson Sr., and Barbara (Solomon) Dawson.

Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Dorothy (Knox) Dawson; a son, Charles William Dawson III; three daughters, Julie Ellen, Tracy Lynn and Barbara Ann Dawson, all at home; three brothers, Jerry Dawson, Terra Alta, W.Va.; Earl Dawson and Russell Dawson, Elk Garden; paternal grandparents, Harry and Virginia (Dunithan) Dawson, Elk Garden; and maternal grandmother, Mrs. Alta Hoffman, Erie, Pa.

Friends were received at the David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Kitzmiller. A service was conducted Tuesday at Elk Garden Assembly of God Church by the Rev. Donald E. Marple. Interment was in the IOOF Cemetery.

A WALL OF WATER IS CREATED by one of the best slalom skiers and barefooters in the country, Garrett County's own Dale Carpenter, who was among the many competitors this past weekend in the Deep Creek Lake Slalom and Barefoot Championships. Carpenter took third place in the open class of the slalom, second place in the men's open barefoot tricks class, and was the champion in the men's open barefoot endurance competition. Lake Development Company Pledges $50,000 To Hospital's Campaign

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital received another tremendous financial boost this week when Penn Point Associates, a development firm based at Deep Creek Lake, pledged $50,000 to the hospital's Capital Campaign.

Gary A. Daum, Richard Lyons, and Bart Shakarian, all Pittsburgh natives and owners of the firm, have been part-time residents of Garrett County for the past 12 years. The company owns Penn Cove Properties, Paradise Cove, and The Blakeslee. In making their pledge to the campaign, they commented on the importance of health care in any community.

"Any person in business down here has to give as well as take," Lyons said. "In our situation, the businesses, the community, and the people have been very good to us and we feel that we need to give back to the community. We can't think of a better use of money that for wellness and the cure of diseases. We are thrilled to have the opportunity to contribute to such a good cause."

The Penn Point gift brought the total pledges in the $1 million campaign to over $730,000.

"We believe that the hospital is a vital part of the community and just as important to the vacation community at Deep Creek Lake as to the fulltime residents of Garrett County," Daum said. "You can't choose the time when you or your children get hurt or when you may have a vascular problem. It can very well happen on the weekend and it is just as important to have the local hospital well-equipped to take care of your medical needs as your hospital in the city."

The purpose of the Capital Campaign, according to Rob Sharps, general chairman, is to create an endowment fund for the hospital foundation that can be utilized for equipment purchases not possible via the hospital's regular budget.

Karen Spiker, chairman of the Leadership Gifts Division of the campaign, and many other volunteers have been soliciting community businesses and individuals for pledges, and will continue to do so until the campaign ends in early August. The hospital staff has identified a list of nearly $2 million in needed equipment.

"This equipment list is not a 'wish list,' but a need list," Shakarian noted.

"I am really thrilled with the support these gentlemen have given to the entire hospital foundation drive," Ms. Spiker said.

Correction On Hospital Story Noted Once More

In an article that appeared in the June 23 issue of The Republican concerning the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, it stated that the average cost per day for housing and treatment at the hospital was $1,998. It should have stated that this was the average cost per STAY at the hospital, which is well below the state and national average.

Although the above correction appeared in the June 30 issue of The Republican, according to a hospital spokesman, it was apparently not seen by a number of readers who have made inquiry concerning the statement.

Local Man Gets Six Years For B And E Charge

An Oakland man was sentenced to six years in the Department of Corrections for a breaking and entering charge by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer in Garrett County Circuit Court last Thursday.

David E. Liller, 26, pled guilty to the charge in May. The judge then suspended five years of the sentence, with one year to be served in the Garrett County Jail.

A pre-sentence investigation had been ordered for Liller after he pled guilty to the charge. Charges of theft and conspiracy were not prosecuted by the court.

The charges stemmed from the December 11, 1987 theft of alcoholic beverages and cigarettes from the Oak Grove Tavern in Crellin.

Liller was represented by John R. Toston, Public Defender.

Indiana Woman "Serious" After Vehicle Mishap

An Indiana woman remains in "serious" condition in the intensive care unit at Cumberland Memorial Hospital following a single-vehicle accident near Finzel yesterday.

Marie R. Marzen, Indianapolis, Ind., was transported to the hospital by Medevac helicopter following the 4:16 p.m. accident on U.S. Route 48.

Michael Marzen, also of Indianapolis, who was a passenger in the vehicle, was treated and released from Cumberland Memorial following the mishap.

According to Maryland State Police at McHenry, Marzen was traveling east in the right lane when her car dropped off the road onto an uneven shoulder. The car continued along the shoulder for about 50 feet.

As Marzen attempted to return the car to the road, it

Grey Seal Puppets Next Offering Of Garrett Lakes Arts Festival

A program to delight audiences of all ages will be the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival offering when the Grey Seal Puppets present their "Tangle of Tales" this Friday, July 22, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, July 23, at 10:30 a.m. in the air-conditioned auditorium of Garrett Community College. A free workshop, "Creating and Teaching with Puppets," will be conducted by members of the company at noon on Saturday.

Billed as "a taste of the familiar, and a touch of the new," the "Tangle of Tales" is based on three favorite folk tales from around the world — "The Frog Prince" from Germany, "Three Billy Goats Gruff" from Scandinavia, and "The Three Little Pigs" from England.

Each story is told in a different style, using a variety of puppets, including hand, rod, and hand and rod. Along with these familiar tales, the Grey Seal Puppets present a whole menagerie of zany characters. A skinny ant dances a lively jig; "blockheads" learn to get around; and the zaniest creatures of all, "The Wobblies," open the show with a ballet choreographed to Kabalevsky's "The Comedian Suite."

The Grey Seal Puppets, who are known nation-wide, give frequent performances in New York, Detroit, Philadelphia Atlanta, and other cities. The troupe was organized 12 years ago by Don Devet and Drew Allison who also act as artists in residence of the Children's Theater in Charlotte, N.C.

The Garrett Community College art gallery, currently featuring the paintings of Sophia McDonald and the pottery of Madeline Collins, will be open before and after the puppet performances.

Tickets for "Tangle of Tales" are available at the door for $5 for adults and $2 for children and students. Funding for the free Workshop has been made possible through a grant from the Maryland Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for Humanities.

ANOTHER $50,000 PLEDGE to Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Capital Campaign was received this week when Penn Point Associates, a Deep Creek Lake development firm, joined the effort. The gift brought the total pledges to over $730,000 toward the $1 million goal of the campaign. Presenting the pledge card to Karen Spiker, chairman of the Leadership Gifts Division of the campaign, was Bart Shakarian, of Penn Point Associates. Also representing the firm at the presentation were, left to right, Richard Lyons, Gary Daum, and Mary Jo Lyons. All are Pittsburgh natives who have made Deep Creek Lake their second home. See story for details.

An arraignment was held Friday in Grant County, W.Va., Circuit Court for Paul William Ferrell, who was indicted last week for first-degree murder by a Grant County Jury.

Prosecuting Attorney Dennis DiBenedetto reported that Ferrell's bond was continued at $100,000 after he was given a copy of the indictment. He is charged with enticing away kidnapping, first-degree murder, and third-degree arson in connection with the disappearance of 19-year-old Catherine Denise Ford, of Gorman.

Ferrell's attorney, Ross Maruka, Fairmont, W.Va., requested sufficient time to file any motions. Any filed motions will be heard in Grant County Circuit Court on September 7 at 9:30 a.m., according to Judge C. Reeves Taylor, who conducted the hearing.

Also arraigned was Mary Faye Craft Sadler, who was also indicted by the grand jury. Her bond was set at $100,000, which she posted following the hearing.

Sadler is charged with the April 9 shooting death of her husband, retired Air Force General Robert Sadler.

Commissioners To Reconsider SHS Renovation Funding Proposal

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with the Board of Education to review the final proposal for funds for the Southern High School renovation project. The commissioners said they would reconsider the proposal.

Last week, the commissioners unanimously voted to fund the county share of the project at $2.2 million. Shortly thereafter, the Board of Education requested another meeting with the commissioners to plead their case for an additional $3 million for renovation and new construction.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, told the commissioners that the full amount requested was necessary, according to the project architect. "Anything less would simply be a band-aid approach," said Ryscavage, "and it's our opinion that it wouldn't be worth the inconvenience to the students."

The Board of Education initially requested $425,000 in October '84. In October '86, that total was reduced to $387,000. The total was upped to $1,196,000 in October '87. Because the state funding formula changed in April of this year, the board requested $2,388,000.

In May, the board requested an auditorium be added, making the total $3,588,000. The commissioners turned down the auditorium and in June, the Board sought $3.7 million to include additional square footage. The board now says it needs $4,921,000.

"We will reconsider the Board's most recent request," said Commissioner John G. Braskey, "but frankly I don't see how we can, in good conscience, find the money to fund what they are requesting without long-term indebtedness to the county."

Braskey continued, "The entire project comes down to a matter of affordability. If we float a bond, that's over $500,000 a year for the next 20 years. I felt our allocation was fair, and, so far, I haven't changed my mind."

"We haven't decided if the money would be wisely spent to do the project piecemeal or if we should delay the project and attempt to accumulate funding to do the total renovation the way it should be," stated Commissioner Ernest Gregg.

When asked if he felt that $6 million ($2 million from the county, $4 million from the state) could successfully renovate Southern High School, Commissioner Elwood Groves II responded, "There's something wrong if $6 million would not make a significant difference. It might not be what they really want, but in the real world we must often compromise ideals for what we can afford."

Commissioner Braskey agreed that $6 million "would have to make an impact. We have to remember that some of the space they are requesting is not state-approved and therefore not eligible for funding. We have to ask ourselves why the state is not approving it. They obviously feel it is not necessary."

The Board of Education is requesting over 20,000 square feet

Board Of Education Views Possible Alternatives For SHS Renovation

Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage reported on the progress of the Southern High School renovation project at the monthly meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education last Thursday. Ryscavage stated that, since the Garrett County Commissioners can support the project only on a limited basis, the board must begin to look at alternatives.

Ryscavage said, "If the commissioners' position holds, we have a band-aid approach to a problem, and we won't do the total job that is needed. The only way to improve the facility is with a project that does a complete job."

Ryscavage stressed a need to "seriously question" whether the disruption involved in the project would be worth the effort.

The Garrett County Commissioners allocated a budget of 2.2 million dollars for the renovation project. However, Ryscavage noted that, in order to complete the project according to the third set of schematic drawings, a total of $4,921,318 is needed.

The state has approved a total of 100,270 square feet of renovated space for the project, as well as 7,310 square feet of new construction. However, the newest set of drawings by architect Kent Gandee proposes 122,000 square feet of renovated space and 19,500 square feet of new construction.

Based on the state formula, the total project would cost $5,691,000, with the state share being $4,269,000, or 75 percent, and the local share being $1,422,000, or 25 percent.

However, since the plans for the project call for an additional 22,000 square feet of renovated space and 12,200 square feet of new construction, additional funding of $2,161,318 is needed to complete the total project.

This additional cost would be added to the local share of $1,422,000, as well as $800,000 for equipment and furniture and $538,000 for architectural and equipment fees, for a total local cost of $4,921,318.

Ryscavage noted the need to review the strong needs of the project, and stressed the importance of a meeting with the Gar-

GLAF To Host Partners Dance Company For Concert, Workshops

An art form new to the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival will be seen on the stage of Garrett Community College on July 30 when Partners: Martynuk/McAdams Dance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, presents its world premier performance of "Circadian Rhythms" at 8 p.m.

Three participatory workshop-lecture/demonstrations will be conducted on days preceding the performance by members of the Partners Dance Company who will be in residence in Garrett County during that week.

"Circadian Rhythms" is a multi-event collage piece choreographed by Nusha Martynuk and Carter McAdams, co-artistic directors of Partners Dance, featuring group movement and dealing with themes of cycles of time, nature, and rites of passage. Vivid lighting and simultaneous computer animation enhance the dance.

The company's unconventional use of text and props yields an unusually theatrical dance experience. Striking visual design and dramatic movement set to music reveal a unique expression of dance as theatre.

Dance Magazine recently said of Martynuk . . . "She hurls herself into strange rapid turns and plunges at precarious angles. She moves through the middle of her body with a rare flexibility . . . compact and powerful . . . she reveals an enjoyment of her dancing powers that is easy to share."

Martynuk holds a master's degree in dance performance from Temple University and has danced with the Zero Moving Dance Company in Philadelphia and the Nikolais Dance

Bill And Hazel Meyers Are Elected Officers Of State DAV And DAVA

A local couple, Wilfred "Bill" and Hazel Meyers of Friendsville, were elected officers of the Maryland State Disabled American Veterans (DAV) and the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary during the DAV State Convention, June 17, in Hagerstown.

Hazel Meyers, who was elected DAVA State Commander, is the first Garrett County woman to be elected to that highest state office. Bill, who was elected Fourth Junior Vice Commander of the men, will serve under State Commander Edward L. Grandy Sr.

The Meyerses have been residents of Garrett County since 1982, and joined Mt. Top Unit No. 29 DAV and DAVA in 1983. Since becomming members, Bill, who is retired from the armed services, has served as local commander for five years. Hazel has held the local offices of commander from 1984 through 1987 and adjutant for the 1987-88 term.

Hazel has held state offices since 1983, when she was elected to serve a three-year term on the Finance Committee. She held the office of Second Junior Vice Commander in 1986-87; and Senior Vice Commander in 1987-88. She will hold this position for the 1988-89 term.

The couple is involved in, and volunteers much of their time to, organizations such as the Garrett County Special Olympics, The Martinsburg, W.Va., V.A. Hospital, and the Garrett County Mental Health Advisory Board, plus spending much of their time with residents of local nursing homes. They are a couple who try to live up to the chapter's motto, "Volunteer," and the unit's motto, "We care when no one is looking."

The Meyerses are the parents of two daughters, Deborah Meyers Witt and Tina Meyers, and have four grandchildren.

Bambacus Lauds Whitewater Effort, Urges Plan For Stimulating Growth

State Senator John N. Bambacus, who serves as president of World Whitewater Championships, Inc., has issued a "thank you" to Maryland officials, combined with a call for the systematic pursuit of similar programs in Maryland.

On the heels of the recent announcement from Annapolis concerning a sports marketing commitment from Marriott Corporation and Pepsi Cola to sponsor the 1989 World Whitewater Championships, Bambacus praised Maryland's commitment to the event. Through the Department of Economic and Employment Development, Maryland provided major funding for the 1988 Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic.

The 1988 event received national print and television publicity and exceeded all expectations for both spectator attendance and participation from the world competition whitewater community. Over 20,000 people watched paddlers from 21 countries, making the Maryland International one of the biggest whitewater events in U.S. history.

Bambacus said, "We must learn from this example and continue to invest our State's money in those activities that will stimulate growth and fuel the fire of capitalism within our borders." He urged the State to "bottle the success formula of the Savage" in order to create an incisive plan for repeating the process during the decade ahead.

Since last fall, Bambacus has promoted a series of such initiatives that are being viewed as the template for a "New Capitalism" movement in state economic policy and has received both journalistic and academic interest in the process.

In a November letter to Governor William Donald Schaefer, the District One State Senator suggested that Maryland develop a long term economic game plan designed to increase state revenues without raising taxes. Bambacus specifically requested consideration of job creation programs including event promotions, direct product development funding for Maryland firms, small business incubation centers, a non-metro infrastructure bank, and stimulation of direct private research and development funding at Maryland universities designed to speed up commercial applications of breakthrough research.

Attached to the letter was a three-page draft focusing on the need for a long term policy of job creation, business climate enhancement and targeted education designed to ultimately fund infrastructure and entitlement programs expected to be downsized by Federal budget cutting. Bambacus contends that increases in State revenues as a result of successful economic development could be the basis of a "New Capitalism" forged by the Schaefer Administration.

Bambacus pointed to the early success of Schaefer policy in Western Maryland as a mandate for a 10-year plan. According to the second term Senator, the plan should encourage business start-up and retention using aggressive recruitment as well as investments in rural infrastructure and education, "... that could possibly become the greatest Schaefer legacy of all. There is nothing to prevent Maryland from becoming a model of how state governments can foster economic growth in the global marketplace."

Bambacus thinks the job is too important to be done incrementally, one General Assembly session at a time.

Conceding the right and obligation of each elected body to set its own budget priorities, he feels the need to have long term goals in job creation. "There are many precedents. I think clearly defining the relationship between our State government and Maryland's economic climate is equally important to multi-year national initiatives like physical fitness, landing a man on the moon or deficit reduction.

"Schaefer has pioneered the idea that timely public sector investments can be directly returned to government through the tax base. Shouldn't we carve a ten year plan to invest in our future through economic development and education, creating sources of funding for transportation, public safety and entitlements in years to come?

"The 'New Capitalism' is somewhat the opposite of Gramm-Rudman in one sense. Instead of outlining what government will no longer do, I would hope Maryland could outline what it will do, in terms of economic policy," added Bambacus. "Just like a corporate business plan that projects a return from a specific expenditure, State government could develop an economic plan that outlines new policies and ways to assess our level of return through increased employment and taxes."

PADDLES PRESENTED — Senator John N. Bambacus, right, handed out paddles recently at a news conference in Annapolis where it was announced that Marriott Corporation and Mountain Dew will be corporate sponsors for the 1989 Whitewater World Championships in Garrett County. The corporations will jointly contribute $675,000, estimated to be about half the cost for the 11-day international competition. Receiving the paddles were, left to right, Ed Backus, vice president of Pepsi-Cola Company, bottler of Mountain Dew; Bill Marriott, chairman and president of Marriott Corporation; and Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Stock Dividend Announced By First United

Richard G. Stanton, president of First United Corporation, announced the declaration of a 5% stock dividend by the Board of Directors at its meeting of July 13, 1988.

This stock dividend will be payable to shareholders of record August 1, 1988, with the certificates and cash payment for fractional shares to be mailed to shareholders soon thereafter.

On July 1, 1988, First United Corporation paid a cash dividend of $.43 per share, representing an increase of 16.22% over the July 1, 1987 cash dividdend.

"This stock dividend further exemplifies the corporation's good earnings and growth performance during the first half of 1988," said Stanton.

First United's second quarter 1988 earnings showed a significant increase over the same period last year. Net income for the quarter was $1.03 million, up 24% over last year's $.83 million. Earning pershare of common stock rose to $.69 per share versus last year's $.56 per share. Year-to-date earnings are up 27% to $1.37 per share, compared to $1.08 per share for the same period last year.

Stanton cited the region's stable economy and the strong demand for consumer credit as the primary reasons for the higher level of earnings. Other significant contributors to income performance were the containment of operating expenses and the improvement in operating income, according to Stanton.

"Much emphasis continued to be placed upon quality during the first half of 1988 — quality assets, quality growth and quality service to our customers. The results of this increased emphasis are beginning to show in our performance figures," said Stanton.

On May 2, 1988, The First National Bank of Piedmont became a wholly owned subsidiary of First United Corporation, boosting the holding company's assets to $300 million and its capital resources to $25.6 million, or $17.23 per share, at the quarter's end. The corporation has 1,704 shareholders, and 1,488,656 shares outstanding. It employs 242 persons.

Bloomington Area Youth Injured By Homemade Bomb

A Bloomington teen was injured Monday when his homemade bomb exploded in his hands.

Jason Zais, 14, was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital following the 12:30 p.m. incident, where he was admitted overnight and discharged following treatment and tests.

According to Zais' mother, Jennie Sudine, the youth learned how to make the device by watching the television show, "MacGyver."

Sudine reported that in a recent episode of the show, the star improvised a bomb by using common materials, and used it to escape his captors.

Zais reportedly found similar materials in his home and created an explosive device with black powder and a glass vial. The device exploded when the youth touched it with a hot needle.

Zais suffered flash burns on both hands, and his stomach area was peppered with glass fragments in the explosion.

Bob Thomas, deputy chief state fire marshal and spokesman for the State Fire Marshal's Office in Baltimore, reported that the remaining quantitiy of black powder at the youth's home was turned over to bomb squad technicians for disposal.

Thomas stressed the fact that no one should experiment with explosive devices. He said, "Use of explosives on television is performed by professionals or trained individuals in a very controlled environment." He noted that citizens should never attempt to imitate what they see on television.

The mishap was investigated by Deputy Fire Marshal Guy Carola. Bloomington Firemen also responded to the incident.

LOVING MEMORIES
Your gentle face and patient smile with sadness we recall,
You had a kindly word for each and died beloved by all.
The voice is mute and stilled, the heart that loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part from one so good as you.
You are not forgotten, loved one, nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last, we will remember thee.
We miss you now, our hearts are sore, as time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face, no one can fill your vacant space.

Groundbreaking Held By Garrett Mine Service

Garrett Mine Service of Oakland broke ground Tuesday to begin construction on an 8,000-square-foot manufacturing/distribution facility at the Southern Garrett Industrial Park, located just east of Mtn. Lake Park off State Rt. 135.

Garrett Mine Service markets its underground mine and industrial service and supply business throughout West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, and Western Maryland. It has been in operation since 1983, operating out of a building along Oak Street in Oakland.

Owned and operated by Courtland Helbig and Steve Tressler, both of Oakland, the company currently employs nine and it is anticipated that four or five more employees will be added within the next two years.

Helbig, who is in charge of marketing for the firm, stated that business has "expanded nicely" with the recent upswing in the area's economy, including mining activity.

"We look forward to being able to better serve both our existing and new customers in the region with our new expanded facilities," he said.

Tressler, partner in charge of production and distribution operations, remarked that much of the success Garrett Mine Service has experienced during the past five years is directly related to a "great group of employees."

"The self motivation we find with these employees is really what makes the difference in the profitability of this type of small business," Tressler said, who also commented on the choice of location for the new facility.

"We shopped around, especially in nearby West Virginia because most of our current customers are north and west of here," he said. "However, we found that the combination of liberal financing, reasonably priced industrial sites, and tax breaks made the Southern Garrett Enterprise Zone a tough deal to beat."

Helbig added, "Both of the Oakland banks (First United and Garrett National) have also been very supportive of our company since our start. Without their confidence in us it would have been difficult to make it."

John Braskey, chairman of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners, welcomed Garrett Mine Service as the second occupant in the Southern Industrial Park, and stated, "This firm is a good example of a home-grown business which brings a substantial amount of revenue into our community that otherwise would go to similar companies outside of the county."

County Commissioner Elwood Groves said, "Garrett Mine Service has been a steady small employer in the Oakland area for the past five years, and with the recent brighter outlook, especially in mining, we can look forward to more jobs from this company."

Commissioner Ernie Gregg congratulated Helbig and Tressler, and added, "It is incredible that any new business so dependent on coal mining was able to survive, let alone expand, during the past few years. It is a real tribute to the management skill of these gentlemen and their employees that we are able to be here (at the ground-breaking) today."

Local Thefts, D.O.P's Under Investigation

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week are investigating several theft reports and destruction of property incidents.

Gilbert Wilhelm, Avilton, reported that three chainsaws were removed from a storage barn on his farm sometime between 4:30 p.m. July 9 and 6:15 a.m. July 11. Tfc. G.R. Chaney is investigating the report.

Three residences on the Twin Churches Road, near Grantsville, were broken into last Friday. Police said nothing was removed from the homes of Blaine Shunk and Joseph McGeady. However, several items were removed from Paul L. Hetrick's residence, including a bow with arrows, coins, and a camera. Tfc. L. Rosage is investigating.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger is investigating the theft of gasoline from Walt's General Store, McHenry.

According to police reports, 215 gallons of unleaded gasoline and 182 gallons of unleaded supreme were taken from the gas pumps during the night of July 11.

Tfc. P.R. Brown is investigating a breaking and entering theft at the Railey Realty office. According to police reports, someone entered the building last Saturday night and removed $35 in change and 100 cancelled checks. A window was also damaged in the break-in.

The department is investigating the report of numerous mailboxes being damaged in the Deer Park area. The damage occurred during the night of July 14 when someone smashed the boxes with a baseball bat. One mailbox was reportedly ruined by an explosive device.

GCC Begins New Summer Program

Wake Up Summer Stimulators is a new program being offered by Garrett Community College aimed at local residents and vacationers who want to enrich the pleasures of summertime with healthy activities for mind and body.

According to a GCC spokesman, the program will include outdoor sporting activities, dance, mime, and theatre. All classes will meet from 9:30 to noon. The courses are aimed at adults, but some will also admit children. Maryland senior citizens will be required to pay only $2 per course to participate.

Theatre Workshop, slated for July 25-29 for persons age 16 and over, is an introduction to scene design, lighting, sound, and other technical aspects of theatre production. Ben Sincell, instructor of theatre at GCC who will teach the course, is an accomplished set designer and technician. He co-directed the recent production of "Blithe Spirit" for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

Students will work with the instructor to prepare the stage, lighting, and sound for the Partners Dance Company performances scheduled for next weekend as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival.

Golf for Beginners, a five-morning course set for August 1-5, will teach the fundamentals of golf, including proper swings, terminology, and golf etiquette.

Angling, taught by tournament fisherman Tom Meadows, will cover the proper gear, baits, and lures, as well as the best spots to make big catches. Students will fish different places on Deep Creek Lake and learn about the different underwater terrains and fish habitats. Slated for the week of August 8-12, the course is open to beginners and experienced anglers. Children age 10 and above are welcome, if accompanied by an adult.

Meadows was one of Maryland's top 30 fishermen in 1987 competition and represented the state at the BASS Eastern Regional competition. The Baltimore Sun recently carried a photo of Meadows and an eight-pound largemouth bass he landed at Deep Creek Lake.

Movement and Mime will blend dance, creative movement, and mime August 15-18 and will include a Thursday evening performance on August 18. The course is designed for persons age 16 and over who want an opportunity to exercise to rhythm or to pursue a secret desire to be a dancer, mime, or clown. Children 10-15 are also welcome to enroll if accompanied by an adult.

The instructor will be Dr. Gail Herman, who holds master's degrees in theatre and aesthetics education, as well as a doctorate degree in gifted education. She is a lecturer at conferences and workshops throughout the United States and is a professional storyteller who uses dance and mime in her performances.

The cost for the courses, which are worth one college credit hour, is $28 ($2 for senior citizens). Non-residents will be required to pay a nominal additional charge. Other fees will be assessed for those courses requiring special materials.

The courses may also be taken on a non-credit basis.

Persons interested in registering for one or more of these courses or obtaining more information should call the college at 387-6666 and ask for the Student Assistance Center.

SHS Class Of '73 Schedules Meeting

Members of the Southern High School class of 1973 will hold a special meeting this Saturday afternoon to make plans for a class picnic. The meeting will be held at the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland at 2 p.m. All class members are urged to attend and bring their suggestions for this event, marking the 15th anniversary of their high school graduation.

Two Arrested By City Police

The Oakland City Police Department this week reported the arrest of two Deer Park women on theft charges.

Molly K. MacMurray, 24, and Mary K. Wood, 35, were arrested Monday night by Officer Gary Kroll. The charges stemmed from the theft of gasoline from a vehicle owned by Lenora Taylor, Oakland.

MacMurray was released on $250 bond, while Wood was released on $500 bond.

MacMurray was also charged with driving without current tags, operating an uninsured vehicle, and operating an unregistered vehicle.

SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE

A Big Endorsement . . .

Last week's announcement of a $675,000 endorsement of the 1989 World Whitewater Championships, to be held on the Savage River next June, was, for several reasons, fantastic news for Garrett County.

The money itself, which represents probably the largest non-governmental financial award ever made in Western Maryland, will go a long way in helping Whitewater World Championships, Inc., cover the many costs associated with making the event a successful reality.

Perhaps more significant than the money itself, however, is the fact that it is being provided by two international corporate giants — Pepsi Cola and the Marriott Corporation, the largest hotel organization in the world. People the calibre of William Marriott, president of Marriott, Inc., have taken an interest in this event here in little ol' Garrett County and, more importantly, they believe in us and our capability to pull off such an event in grand style. Apparently, this is the first time Marriott has taken such an interest in a sporting event. This is a great credit to the many local persons who did such a tremendous job with the Maryland International Classic last month and are continuing to work toward an even grander event next year.

With these endorsements, the Whitewater Championships will be receiving publicity all over the world, which should significantly boost attendance at the Worlds. We all know that the number of dollars flowing into Garrett County at that time will be in direct proportion to the number of people present.

Who knows, we may even end up with a Marriott hotel some day here in Garrett County.

There are scores of persons to thank for this wonderful gift, besides Mr. Marriott and the Pepsi officials. These include all of those volunteers who did such a bang-up job last month at the Classic. Had that event flopped, such major support would have done likewise. Specifically, we believe Governor William Donald Schaefer should be credited, because he is a friend of Mr. Marriott and sources tell us he really pushed for this endorsement. Randall Evans, the secretary of economic development for the state, was also apparently instrumental in this effort, as was our own state senator, John Bambacus.

Another exciting idea of Governor Schaefer is to invite as many ambassadors of the foreign nations that will be represented in the Worlds next year to ride the train with him to the Savage River site and enjoy the races. That would truly be an impressive entourage.

The races are still 11 months away, but the thrill of it all is already growing by leaps and bounds.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's note: A letter appeared in this column last week from Debbie Workman, secretary of the Garrett County Day Care Providers' Association. The letter voiced the Association's great concern over proposed regulations that, if passed, will result in a great financial burden on their day care operations and could lead to the termination of their services. An address where persons may write to voice similar concerns was to have been included in the letter, but was inadvertantly omitted. The address is as follows: Office of the Governor, State House, Annapolis, MD 21404 Re. Family Day Care.

To the Editor:

Maryland has the fourth highest abortion rate in the country, but the abortionists in this as in all other states are on the defensive.

The abortionists continually exploit the uneducated who do not understand that every abortion necessarily involves the taking of a human life. They lie about abortion being "safe," just as they lied about abortion being only a "Catholic" issue. The abortion of a child can and usually does leave the mother with not a temporary, but a permanent, and most frequently overwhelming grief.

We propose to save the present generation of Garrett County pre-born children from abortion, as they have the right to life as our forefathers set forth in the Declaration of Independence and should grow into useful citizens of our towns, cities, county and state.

We ask middle-aged and senior citizens how much less Social Security will they receive if there are not more younger citizens to pay into Social Security?

Garrett Countians will have an easy opportunity to join or contribute to our organization by stopping at our booth at the Garrett County Fair.

For the sake of the unborn Garrett County babies, come see us at the outdoor booth and don't forget your checkbook.

Jerome Walter Cox
Chairman
Right To Life of Maryland
Garrett County

To the Editor:

I recently fired off a "Letter to the Editor" to the Cumberland Times-News referring to a recent article in their Sunday edition (July 17) regarding the condition of the volunteer rescue squads in Allegany and Garrett County.

In conversations I have had with present and former rescue squad members, it appears to me that the time has come for us to seriously think about paid rescue squad services in the Northern and Southern Garrett County areas.

I know, I know . . . tax dollars. Yes, it's gonna cost. And the argument might be made that "We just don't have that kinda money available in our budget."

And I'm not pretending to have all the answers either. It appears, from a layman's perspective, that this county has a high potential for a large population increase over the next five years. The lake area is expanding at a logrithmic rate and that means that the tourist trade is up. More people. More potential need for a full time rescue squad service.

The rescue squad (as well as other public service agencies) is a service we can't do without. It carries a tremendous responsibility for human life and for immediate emergency medical care that can mean the difference between life and death. They do a great job but the demand can outstrip the manpower available.

Maybe this short missive will prompt those involved in the rescue squads and other concerned citizens to ask our local government officials and politicians about invoking a paid rescue squad service. The time has come. And how can you put a price on a human life?

Theatre in New York. McAdams, a graduate of Princeton University, has appeared with the Pilobolus Dance Theatre and the Nikolais Company. Martynuk and McAdams are artists in residence in the Department of Theatre and Dance, Trinity College, Hartford.

The three workshops and lecture/demonstrations have been scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, July 26, 27, and 28, at 11:00 a.m. each day. The first of these, on Tuesday, will be a participatory movement workshop and lecture demonstration for children held in the college gymnasium. Children who participate will experience the fun of sharing in creative dance. It is open to all children, whether or not they have had previous dance experience.

The second workshop will be a participatory workshop and lecture/demonstration on computer animation and dance. This workshop for adults is scheduled in the auditorium.

In the third workshop, also for adults, Martynuk and McAdams will demonstrate how the dance "Circadian Rhythms" was created. This non-participatory workshop is scheduled for the auditorium.

A nominal fee of $2 will be charged for each workshop, with registration at the door. Persons desiring further information about the workshops may call 387-6666.

Tickets for the performance of "Circadian Rhythms" will be available at the box office the evening of the performance. Reservations are recommended, by calling 387-6666, 334-9455, or 387-5300. Seats will be held for persons making reservations until 7:45 p.m.

The performance of "Circadian Rhythms" and the workshops by the Partners Dance Company have been made possible in part through funding by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland Arts Council.

State Officials Say That Maryland Escaped Severe Gypsy Moth Damage

State officials have found that damage by gypsy moths was not as severe as predicted this year because of a cool, wet spring and efforts by individual property owners.

"We're not seeing any spectacular areas of defoliation in the state," said Robert H. Tichenor Jr., chief of the spraying program for gypsy moths.

Tichenor said he had expected the caterpillars to munch through 100,000 acres this year, but preliminary surveys show about 76,800 acres were defoliated.

In the Baltimore area, 60 percent of property owners opted out of the aerial spraying program because of fear of the chemical pesticide Dimilin. According to Tichenor, however, the area still escaped severe defoliation. About 7,000 acres of 12,000 acres planned for spraying were exempted after residents protested.

Aerial surveys of defoliation statewide are still underway, but the caterpillars have finished eating leaves and are turning into short-lived adult moths. The females will be laying their eggs within the next few weeks.

In addition to a cool, wet spring, Tichenor said there was "a lot of individual control effort" by the property owners in areas not sprayed by the state.

Many property owners banded trees with burlap and removed the caterpillars by hand.

Tichenor said, though, that just because the gypsy moths weren't as bad as expected this year, doesn't mean the population won't surge in 1989. He said he expects that acreage to be sprayed will increase next year.

By the time the $1.2 million statewide spraying program was completed in Garrett County May 31, 166,700 acres had been treated for the gypsy moth caterpillars, up from 142,406 acres last year and 91,500 acres in 1986.

The pest has been advancing steadily through Maryland from New England, where it was accidentally introduced from Europe in 1869.

Based on spot counts of egg masses last fall, Tichenor and other state entomologists estimated a fivefold increase over 1987 in gypsy moth populations in the Baltimore area alone.

Caterpiller damage can kill the trees, particularly if they lose more than half their foliage and put out a second set of leaves in late summer. Such refoliation drains critical food supplies needed for winter survival and can result in death a season or two later.

Many of the Baltimore residents whose properties were scheduled for aerial spraying objected to the state's use of Dimilin, a widely used chemical pesticide approved by the federal government for control in residential areas but considered potentially hazardous to human health and the environment by opponents.

An alternative pesticide, Bacillus thuringiensis, or B.t., a naturally occurring bacteria fatal when ingested by the caterpillars, was reserved for spraying near streams and tidal tributaries of the bay because Dimilin can hurt the development of crustaceans, such as the blue crab.

But B.t. was not offered as an option to those who objected to Dimilin, in large part because the spraying schedule had already been set by the time opposition surfaced in late March, Tichenor said.

B.t. is not as effective as Dimilin in killing the caterpillars, Tichenor said and the decision whether to spray with B.t. or Dimilin will be made on a case by case basis next year.

State statistics show that only 15 percent of areas treated with Dimilin require respraying the next year, compared to 50 percent to 55 percent of areas sprayed with B.t.

In 1987, Dimilin reduced egg masses in heavily infested areas by 86 percent, B.t. by less than 60 percent.

Dimilin is also effective over a longer part of the caterpillar's life span, state officials said.

Friends Of Ruth Enlow Library

by Joan Sprangel
Literacy Council of Garrett County

If you look around the Ruth Enlow library in Oakland, you'll realize you can check out puzzles, records, cassettes, VCR tapes and paintings. If you use the term loosely, you can also "check out" your very own tutor if you need assistance with basic reading and writing skills.

The Literacy Council of Frederick County conducted the first Laubach Tutor Training Workshop in October, 1986. The initial texts and supplementary materials were supplied by the Division of Library Development and Services of the Maryland State Department of Education. From that was born the Literacy Council of Garrett County. Its primary goal is to offer one-to-one tutoring to those adults (16 and up) who read at a 0-3rd grade level. Tutoring is provided by trained volunteers and is free and confidential.

From the very beginning, the Ruth Enlow Library system has cooperated to make this program a reality. All the librarians act as liaisons — outfielding questions, referring calls from students, and accepting applications from those interested in becoming tutors. The Oakland library provides the council with tutoring and storage space.

The library director, Edith Brock, was instrumental in obtaining a grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission. Among other things, that grant provided almost 500 high interests, low level books to be distributed to county libraries. These books are available to the tutors and students and to anyone needing interesting and varied adult reading materials written on a very easy level. They will supplement similar materials distributed earlier by Project Read.

The volunteers prefer to tutor, not to keep records. But at a very minimum, records indicate 658 hours of actual tutoring time donated for the ten month period ending March 31. Add in lesson planning, and the total is more than 1,000 hours. There were then 23 students being tutored, eight on the inactive list and four waiting. Today we have six on the waiting list.

Just as you can become a Friend of the Library for $2, you are welcome to join the Literacy Council for $2. (Either group will accept more, of course, but you could become a member of both for just $4)! You can choose among many options: fund raising, public speaking, communications, typing, even that old bugaboo, record keeping. Or you can be an inactive member and offer encouragement through your financial support. But the most rewarding is to make the commitment to tutor for a year, take the 12-hour training, and experience the joy as YOUR student learns to read.

Right now place a container of some kind next to the library book you are currently reading. Each time you realize you are reading something — anything — put a coin in the container and thank God that you already have that skill. When you return your library book, bring your coins with you and become a member. Your librarian will also be glad to provide an application to become a Laubach tutor. If you're from out of the county, the council will advise you of your nearest LLA affiliate.

Commissioners of renovation and 12,000 square feet of new construction over and above what the state has approved.

"It is not a question of impact," argued Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr., "but rather the position of the Board of Education that the money would not be well-spent if the project is not done in its entirety. School schedules would have to be disrupted over a longer period of time if the work is done piecemeal. That would greatly affect the students and others as well."

Commissioner Gregg pointed out that there was little time for delay because of certain time constraints.

The commissioners did agree that the timing for the project was inappropriate because of other "big money" projects in which the county is currently involved — the state-mandated landfill, the Glendale Bridge and the county airport.

"It still comes down to a matter of affordability and equity when the final decision is made," said Commissioner Groves.

The commissioners said they expected to make their final decision next Tuesday.

Our Turn

A Wee Footnote
by Susan Alvarez

Aye, laddie. Aye (oops!) I, too, have had the good fortune to travel to the beautiful country of Scotland. Several (ahem) years ago I was selected as an exchange student to Scotland. Having been a devoted admirer of the bagpipes, I decided early on that one of my "must sees" on the trip would be a real-life Scottish bagpiper in action.

Once ensconced in my small Scottish village of Portsoy, I quickly became absorbed in doing "touristy" things. I walked on the moors and searched vainly for Bronte's Heathcliff (oh, that's right; he was on the moors in England). I wiggled my toes in the cold lochs hoping to catch a glimpse of Nessie (never saw him). I was constantly teased about watching for the haggis, a fictional national bird and favorite joke to play on unsuspecting tourists. (They knew an American turkey when they saw one).

I stood in great stone churches, on great stone castle ruins and on great stone cliffs. And yet as the weeks flew by, I still did not see a live bagpiper. I did see a cardboard cut-out one, advertising a bagpipe extravaganza coming the week after I was to leave. It seemed like everywhere I went I had just missed them. The Scottish lassies in my dormitory tried to make up for my disappointment by giving me a bagpipe-playing lesson. This is not an easy instrument to play, I might add. My trip was fast drawing to a close and I lived in mortal fear that I would be the only American tourist who returned to the States without having seen a single piper.

Alas, the night before we were to leave, the American students were invited to a soccer match in Aberdeen. What I didn't know was that there was a performance scheduled before the match. No sooner had we taken our seats when the lilting strains of "Scotland the Brave" came wafting toward us from the far end of the field. It was the pipes! I looked up to see a large band of pipers, slowly, regally, moving toward us. Kilts swaying, ceremoniously marching in unison, the band created a vision that epitomized Scotland. As I watched, I was taken by the moment — the tartans, the clans, Macbeth (well, he was a Scotsman). Then as the pipers drew closer to our end of the field, I suddenly realized that every single member of the band, all in tams, was Japanese.

I don't remember if I ever asked anyone what a group of Japanese bagpipers was doing on a soccer field in Aberdeen on a cool, misty July evening. And I didn't really begrudge them for stealing away my "Scottish moment" since their playing was so beautiful. I often wonder, though, if there could possibly be a Gaelic word for sushi.

Sayonara and cheerio.

Six Years

In another case, Ernest M. Durr, 31, Oakland, was sentenced to three years in the Garrett County Jail after a jury found him to be guilty of indecent exposure.

Two years of the sentence were then suspended, and Durr was placed on two years supervised probation.

The charge stemmed from a March 25, 1988 incident at Swallow Falls State Park. According to court documents, Durr exposed himself to two female campers.

The charge was filed by Ranger William Thomas of the Department of Natural Resources Park Service.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation update for David W. Welch, 25, Oakland, after he pled guilty to a charge of daylight housebreaking. Welch's bail was also revoked.

A charge of theft was not prosecuted by the court. The charges were filed by Detective Larry E. Gnegy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department following a January 18 incident in Oakland.

Oakland Update

by Mayor Asa McCain

If you missed the Fourth of July celebration and the band in the park on July 16, you missed two great events. Thanks to all those who participated.

The items of interest this month are:

Broadford: New paddle boats ordered.

McDonald's: Ground breaking in August.

Sewer: Installation of liner the week of July 25 — last major item before completion of plant.

Water: Oakland has an ample supply.

Upcoming events:

Public hearing — Third Street annexation at the City Hall, Tuesday, August 9, at 7:00 p.m.

Public hearing — Leighton Addition/Country Club Acres annexation at the City Hall, Monday, August 22, at 7:30 p.m.

The next Council Meeting will be held Monday, August 1, at 7:00 p.m. in the City Hall.

Deadline for placement on the agenda is Monday, July 25.

Clan Campbell Pipe Band, Highland Dancers To Be Presented By GLAF

The sound of pipes will echo through the Garrett Community College gymnasium on Friday, July 29, when the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival presents the Clan Campbell Pipe Band and eight Highland dancers in concert at 8 p.m. Preceding the concert at 7 p.m., a free seminar on "The Origin and Evolution of the Great Highland Bagpipe" will be conducted by The Honorable Judge Fred A. Thayer.

Based in Columbia, the Clan Campbell Pipe Band is directed by Pipe Major Robert Mitchell and Drum Major Dave Ricklis. The band has taken numerous prizes for band competition at Highland Games and has established itself as a successful competition band as well as a show band.

The Clan Campbell Pipe Band originated in 1979 as the MacAlpin Band when Mitchell decided to form a band of some of his private bagpipe students who enjoyed playing together. The next year, drummers who formerly played with the Denny and Dunipace Pipe Band of Washington, D.C., joined the band and efforts to recruit additional experienced pipers and drummers were intensified.

The band began playing in parades and festivals, many of which have developed into annual engagements. In its second year of public appearances, the band began competing as a Grade IV band.

In 1972, negotiations were completed with Clan Campbell of America for partial sponsorship of the band. As the only American band to be affiliated with this major Scottish clan, the band decided to carry this identity permanently, and to wear the tartan "Ancient Campbell of Argyll."

Founder of the band, Robert Mitchell, has played in pipe bands for more than 20 years and has competed in bands that have won major championships in the United States and Canada. He spent a year in Scotland under the tutelage of a world champion piper and has won every major prize in the United States for solo piping. Drum Major Dave Ricklis formerly served in that capacity with the Denny and Dunipace Pipe Band.

Dancers from the Columbia School of Highland Dancing, under the direction of Bonnie Wylie, will perform traditional dances of Scotland during the program.

The Honorable Judge Fred A. Thayer, who will conduct the seminar on the bagpipe, is pipe major of the Ali Ghan Highlanders and founder of the Garrett Highlanders. Funding for the seminar has been provided in part by a grant from the Maryland Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for Humanities.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the door at $5 for adults, $2 for children and students.

FRIEND FAMILY ASSOCIATION GENEALOGICAL LIBRARY — Ima Hicks(pictured above), librarian for the Friend Family Association, reports that a man from California, visiting Friendsville, asked where the Friend Cemetery was located and where Thomas Casteel was buried. "He was sent to the Friend Family Genealogy Library, where he spent four hours learning about his ancestors, the Casteels. Excited over the information he had added to his family tree, he announced that he had found more in Friendsville than in the big city libraries he had visited." The Friend Family Association's Museum and Genealogical Library are for everyone to use and enjoy, says Hicks. They are supported by membership dues and contributions. Anyone can be a member, but it is not necessary to be a member to visit or use the library. Contained in the library are books, notebooks and files about the history of the Friend family (and related families) in America, from 1648 to the present. There are also books and many files on other families. There are also nearly 500 genealogical reference books covering records from most of the states, in addition to a collection of books about the history and culture of American Indians, placed in the library by the Youghiogheny River band of Shawnee Indians. Tours for school children are offered, in an effort to instill a sense of local history. The museum and library, at First and Maple Streets in Friendsville, are open Wednesdays and Saturdays from noon to 4 p.m. For out-of-town people who cannot visit at the regular hours, appointments can be arranged by calling 746-5615. Both the museum and library will be open from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Friendsville Day, August 6. At the same time, beginning on August 5, the National Biennial Friend Family Seminar and Reunion will be in progress. A registration form is in this issue of The Republican.

CARD OF THANKS
The Family Of

would like to extend our sincere thanks for the many kind acts extended to us during the illness and following the death of our loved one.

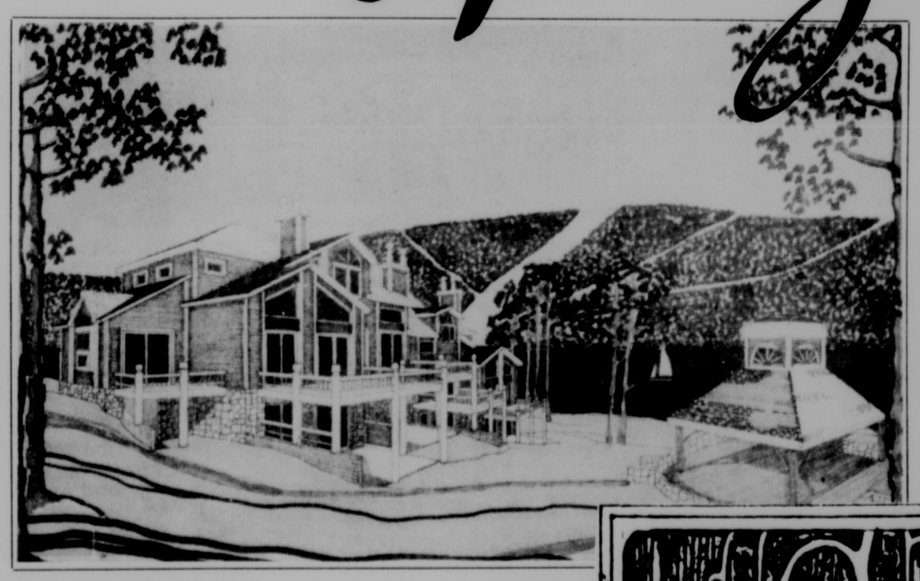

We would especially like to thank the second and third floor staff at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Drs. Lewis, Domenick, Campbell and Fedde; also Durst Funeral Home. We want to thank all those friends who visited Pete, those who prayed for him, those who sent flowers to the funeral home, those who prepared food, the donations made to the church, and to Rev. Montgomery and Rev. Teets for their kind words.

Lastly, we wish to thank David Burdock for all his support by helping to ease the burden in this difficult time.

We shall never forget all your kindnesses.

May God bless you all.

FIDDLERS' CONTEST WINNERS — A total of 16 fiddlers from four states competed in the 24th Annual Old-Time Fiddlers' Contest last Saturday night in Friendsville. Prizes and trophies were awarded in two categories: age 59 and younger, and age 60 and over. Winners of the contest, sponsored by the Friendsville Rotary Club, were: left to right above, 59 and younger category, Phil Birkby, Grantsville, first place; Alan Birkby, Grantsville, second place; and Slim Harrison, Eylers Valley, third place. Below, left to right, are winners of the 60 and over category: Ellinor Condon, Frostproof, Fla., first place; Grover Broadwater, LaVale, second place; and Lester Hare, Belle Vernon, Pa., third place. The Mountaineer Square Dancers and the Fisher Family Band provided additional entertainment during intermission. Organizers of the contest felt that this year's contest was the biggest, in numbers of both contestants and spectators, that the town has had in the past eight or 10 years.

West Virginia

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

Landfill Firm Signs Agreement In Tucker County

The five-week battle between Tucker County, W.Va., residents and a Georgia landfill firm ended last week when the firm's co-owners signed an agreement with the Tucker County Commissioners.

The agreement releases the commission from an earlier bargain which allowed the company, Byrson Associates, to run the local landfill and accept garbage from New York and Philadelphia.

In the new agreement, the firm promises never to bring another load of out-of-state garbage into Tucker County.

However, the company noted that public sentiment may not be as strong in other areas of the state. Co-owner Rick Byrd said, "We have found out about other people in West Virginia that need help with their landfills."

Tucker County residents protested the original landfill contract with a 24-hour picket which allowed only trucks carrying local garbage to enter.

Aurora-Eglon

ICE CREAM FESTIVAL

An old-fashioned ice cream festival will be held July 30 at the Amboy Church pavilion. Serving of food begins at 5 p.m. with chicken and ham dinners, sandwiches, cakes, pies and homemade ice cream. There will be string music entertainment.

JUBILATORS AT MAPLE SPRING

The Jubilators Quartet will present a gospel concert July 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. This well-known quartet from Cumberland, Md., has made many appearances in this area and everyone is invited to attend.

FARM SERVICE MEETING

The annual meeting of Eglon Farm Service, Southern States Corporative, will be held at 7:30 p.m. at the Farmer's Wildlife Park on July 27. Those attending are asked to bring a main dish and either a salad or dessert.

VFD FUND-RAISER

Pictures of This, Inc. (formerly Heritage Studios) of North Carolina will again be offering portrait sittings under the sponsorship of the Aurora Volunteer Fire Department. Members of the department are presently contacting the community to set up appointments.

Recent donations made to the Aurora VFD have been from Kenneth Evans and Claude and Pauline Wilhelm.

They also wish to remind the community to be vigilant in fire safety at this extremely dry time. There are few sources of water for fighting a fire should one break out, so persons are asked to avoid outdoor burning, be sure that all home grills are operated in safety with coals completely out, and not toss any burning cigarettes or other objects to the ground.

TEETS SECOND AT HERSHEY MEET

Nicole Teets placed second in the 100-meter dash for girls 13-14 at the state meet of the Hershey Field Trials held Saturday, July 16, in Buckhannon. She also participated in the standing long jump, where she placed 7th. Nicole is the daughter of Leland and Sandy Teets, Eglon, and was taken to Buckhannon by her mother and brother, Nathan.

YOUTH AT 4-H CAMP

At the conclusion of Preston County Older 4-H Camp, Mark Utterback received his tribal loyalty award and Emily Lewis her green and white felt award. Julie Lewis, who served as chief of the Cherokee Tribe, was awarded a blue and gold felt award, her charting pin, and was named Spirit of Camp. They are all members of the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club.

Attending from the Aurora Pioneer 4-H Club was Joe Hauser and he was recipient of his tribal loyalty felt award.

Klink-Miller Vows Exchanged In June 18 Double-Ring Event

Maxine A. Klink and Jeffery T. Miller were united in holy matrimony on June 18. The 5:30 p.m. formal, double-ring ceremony was held at the Meyersdale Church of the Brethren, with the Reverend Richard M. Hanley officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Gretchen Minick of Salisbury, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Miller, Springs, Pa.

Guests were greeted by Miss Lori Warne, guestbook attendent, and also welcomed with classical vocal selections performed by Mrs. Paula Kretchman and instrumental selections performed by Don Stoner, organist.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Paul F. Shultz, and the marriage was blessed by the families of the bride and groom.

The bride wore a Mendiccino gown of bridal satin, adorned with antique applique, irridescent sequins, pearls, and crystal beading. The Victorian neckline, fitted bodice, and Gibson sleeves were heavily beaded with tiny pearls and sequins. The full skirt was accented with antique lace applique, embellished with pearls and beading. The gown featured a full cathedral train.

To complement the gown, the bride selected a headband of braided pearls, and beading, accented with tiny pearl and crystal sprays. The fingertip veil of imported French illusion had a full pouf of illusion accented with tiny pearls. For her bridal bouquet, she carried a delicate cascade of japhet orchids and miniature white roses, complemented by ivy and lace ribbon.

Mrs. Melinda Walker served as her friend's matron of honor. Also serving as attendants of the bride were friends Mrs. Bonnie Yommer, Mrs. Tammy Shomo, Mrs. Debra Showalter, and sister of the groom, Miss Jennifer Miller.

The attendants' gowns were especially designed by Alyce to complement the bridal gown and were created in a matching bridal satin of soft petal pink. Each gown featured a fitted bodice covered with matching irridescent sequins and off-the-shoulder puff sleeves. In harmony with the bride's bouquet, each attendant carried a single delicate cattelaya orchid surrounded by delicate greenery.

Flower girls Miss Brandi Yommer and Miss Katharine Koon showered pink rose petals along the bride's path. Each was attired in a floor-length gown of white lace, designed by Jessica McClintock. Satin trim and a hint of pink accented the gowns.

The groom and his groomsmen chose black tuxedos accented with shawl collars, designed by Bill Blass. Shawn Brown served as best man. Ushers included John Houser, Timothy Walker, Richard Pasinski, and cousin of the bride, Todd Gilkerson.

William Hanley, ring bearer, was attired in a white suit featuring an Eton jacket, satin bow tie and cummerbund, and short trousers, He carried a white heart-shaped ring pillow, created by the bride, and hand-trimmed with antique lace and pearls.

The newlyweds were chauffered to Majestic Gardens in Frostburg, where a reception for 265 guests followed. Entertainment was provided by "Windfall" as the bridal party and guests danced in the grand ballroom.

The traditional bridal cake was adorned with fresh flowers, including pink roses, white freesia and ivy.

Prior to Mr. and Mrs. Miller's departure, Miss Jennifer Miller received the bridal bouquet which was thrown from a balcony overlooking the ballroom. Scott Wable caught the bride's garter.

Following a two-week Fletchers' Escorted Tour of the Hawaiian Islands, including Oahu, Maui, Kauai, and Hawaii, the couple established residence in Grantsville.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Salisbury-Elk Lick High School and holds a bachelor of science degree, awarded summa cum laude in 1984, and a master of education degree awarded in 1986. Both degrees were conferred at Frostburg State University. She has been employed by the Garrett County Board of Education as a teacher of mathematics and English at Southern High School in Oakland for the past three years.

The groom, also a 1981 graduate of Salisbury-Elk Lick High School, is an electrician working in conjuntion with his father, Gary Miller, electrical contractor.

Prior to the wedding, a bridal shower was given by the attendants at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Walker. The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held at Penn Alps Restaurant, Grantsville.

Guthrie Couple Celebrates 25th

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Guthrie, Frostburg, were honored recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. A reception was held at the Woodmen of the World Hall, Lodge 41, Grantsville, and was hosted by their children.

The couple was married May 11, 1963, at the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, Star Route, Frostburg. The late Rev. Emory McGraw was the officiating clergyman.

Mrs. Guthrie, the former Lillian S. Durst, is the daughter of Mary E. (Carr) Durst, Frostburg Village Nursing Home, and the late George C. Durst. Mr. Guthrie is the son of Grace P. (Sisler) Guthrie, Meyersdale Road, Grantsville, and the late Glenn Guthrie.

Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie are the parents of three children: Sgt. Dale E. Guthrie, Neuberg, Germany; Cheryl A. (Guthrie) Emmart, LaVale; and Sgt. James F. Guthrie Jr., Seoul, Korea.

They also have three grandchildren.

The couple renewed their wedding vows with the Rev. Joe Uphole officiating.

The food was prepared by Cheryl Emmart, daughter of the couple, and Janis Pope, a friend.

It was served by Donna Spiker and Cathy McGowen, nieces of the couple, and Mrs. Pope. The cake was baked by Shelly Gable.

Mrs. Guthrie is employed by Flushing Shirt Mfg., Grantsville, and Mr. Guthrie is employed by Gary and Susie Kamp.

The couple received numerous gifts and cards.

Approximately 150 people attended the celebration. Out-of-town guests were from New Jersey, Delaware, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Baltimore.

Alexanders Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Luther "Hoop" Alexander, Terra Alta, W.Va., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 15. The couples' eight sons and two daughters gave them a surprise dinner and presented them with gifts and cards.

Their children are: Violet Lewis, Larry Alexander, Lee Alexander, Wayne Alexander, James Alexander, Kenneth Alexander, Ernest "Mole" Alexander, Phyllis McRobie, Jerry Alexander and Terry Alexander.

They also have 22 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Morrises Celebrate Golden Event

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Morris, 322 N. Third Street, Oakland, was celebrated recently at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Terry Dornburg, in Springs, Pa.

The couple's children, Virginia Grove, Mtn. Lake Park, and Richard Morris and family, Bowie, were hosts for the family event.

Mr. Morris and the former Dorothy Gundy were married July 9, 1938, at the First Baptist Church in McKeesport, Pa., by Rev. Arthur B. Strickland.

The couple has six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Rebecca Upole, Timothy Glotfelty Exchange Vows During May Ceremony

Rebecca Mae Upole and Timothy Wayne Glotfelty were united in marriage in a double-ring ceremony on May 21, in St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland. Rev. Allen Ridenhour officiated. Organist was Lillian Reckner and vocalist was Jody Welch.

The bride is the daughter of Harold H. Upole, Deer Park, and Nancy L. Upole, Mtn. Lake Park. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Glotfelty Jr., Mtn. Lake Park.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a white taffeta gown featuring a fitted front bodice with sequins, simulated pearls and Venice lace trim, a sweetheart neckline, a deep V-back trimmed with Venice lace, a full pick-up skirt which fell from a basque waist, trimmed with satin bows and lace, and a lace trimmed chapel-length train.

JoAnne Bauer, Middletown, served as matron of honor. Tonia Glotfelty, Deer Park, served as bridesmaid and Michelle Glotfelty, Crellin, was the flowergirl. Both are nieces of the groom.

The best man was Rob Sebold, Mtn. Lake Park. Ushers were Doug Upole, Mtn. Lake Park, brother of the bride, and John Mellinger III, Swanton, brother-in-law of the groom. J.D. Mellinger, Swanton, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Cathy Snyder served the cake. The food and refreshments were prepared and served by Vicki Glotfelty and Deb Glotfelty, sisters-in-law of the groom.

The bride is a graduate of Southern High School and is employed at Garrett Construction Services, Inc., Deer Park.

The groom is also a graduate of Southern High School and is employed at All Season's Motor Sports, Inc., Deer Park.

The couple has established residence along the Oakland–Deer Park Road.

Frostburg Rips Oakland Little League Seniors

The Oakland Senior Division Little League all-stars once again made it to the finals of the District I Championships this season, but were embarrassed by defending state champion Frostburg, 19-0, Sunday afternoon at Frostburg State University.

This is the fourth straight year that Frostburg has won the title for the district, which consists of teams from Garrett, Allegany, and Washington counties.

John Cutter allowed only one hit by the Garrett County team.

Greg Carter led off the first inning of the game for Frostburg with a single and was brought home on a double by Shannon McKenzie. Mike Beasom then scored McKenzie with a single to give Frostburg a 2-0 lead.

Frostburg added six runs in the second frame, three in the third, seven in the fifth, and one in the sixth to dominate the contest. The seven runs recorded in the fifth frame came on five walks, an error, and just one hit.

Frostburg will now face Thurmont at Frostburg State in a best-of-three series this Friday, Saturday, and, if necessary, Sunday.

Oakland Little League Team Fighting For Spot In State Finals

It's all tied up in the Maryland State semi-finals of the 13-year-olds Senior Division Little League Championships, and the team representing the Oakland Little League is still in contention for the state title.

Oakland, the District I champion, is currently involved in a best-of-three series at Westminster with the District 2 winner, composed of players from Taneytown, Emitsburg, and Thurmont. Oakland won the first game on Tuesday, 2-1, but dropped the second contest last evening in extra innings, 11-7. The rubber game is slated for 5:30 p.m. today, with the winner advancing to the state finals.

In Tuesday's contest, Oakland's Gary Upole went the distance and yielded only two hits, as he struck out five and allowed just one walk.

District 2 scored its only run in the first inning on a single, an error, and a fielder's choice.

Oakland tied the score in the top of the second when Joey Ashby walked, stole second, moved to third on a fly by C.J. Getson, and came home on a single by Upole.

Then in the third inning, Jeremy Bosley came home to score the winning run after he reached on a double, moved to third on a fly out, and came home when the third strike against Sonny Livengood was dropped, allowing him to reach first base.

Oakland got an outstanding defensive play from Shane Skipper in the seventh inning when he caught a fly in center field and one-hopped the ball to home where the tying run was tagged.

A five-run effort by District 2 in the top of the eighth inning led to Oakland's defeat last night.

District 2 went on top 2-0 in the top of the first, but Oakland came back for three runs in the bottom of that frame, as Jeremy Crosco hit a two-run single and Billy Bittinger added an RBI single.

District 2 added three runs in the top of the second and Oakland tied it at 5-5 in the third when Skipper and Crosco singled, Eric Eiswert followed with an RBI fly out and Bittinger rapped an RBI single.

After District 2 made it 6-5 in the fourth, Upole reached on a fielder's choice in the bottom of the fourth, stole second, and was singled home by Skipper. The score remained at 6-6 until the top of the eighth when District 2 scored five runs.

Oakland came back with one run in the bottom of the eighth when Crosco and Jeff Spencer walked, and Joey Ashby hit into a fielder's choice that sent Crosco home.

Bosley, who tossed seven and one-third innings, was the losing pitcher.

In today's 5:30 p.m. game, Coach Rich Skipper and Manager Brad Frantz are expected to send Gary Upole to the mound.

Naylor Leading By Wide Margin In Ladies' Event

The Ladies Golf Association of the Oakland Country Club held the first round of its club championship tournament last Thursday. The tournament will continue through July 28.

In the championship flight, Marianna Naylor is currently leading with a low gross of 86, nine strokes ahead of the second-place finisher, Karen Browning.

Alice McGreevy and Judy Johnson are tied for first place in the first flight division with 95s, while Phyllis Helbig is in second with a 100.

Tied for first place in the second flight with 100s are Martha Lou Ashby and Jerry Smith, one stroke ahead of Carolyn Sleightholm.

Leading third flight is Betty Humberson with a 112, followed by Norma Nelson, 113.

Rita Humberson is in front in the fourth flight with a 121, four strokes ahead of Nancy Helbig.

Low putts was won by Judy Johnson and Mary Pollack with 31 each.

Local Swimmers Earn 11 Wins In Saturday Meet

Oakland Edged By Tri-Towns Before Sweeping A Pair From Buckhannon

Oakland improved its record to 9-7 Sunday afternoon in Pen-Mar Baseball League standings, as the Oaks rolled over Mount Savage in both ends of a doubleheader, 15-4 and 11-4. The double win followed a 5-3 loss to Tri-Towns Saturday afternoon at Valley High School.

Mt. Savage held a brief lead in the first game until Oakland scored four runs in the bottom of the third inning and 11 more in the fourth to put the contest away.

Highlighting the 11-run frame was a three-run homer by Dwayne Hedrick. Craig Cumberworth went the distance on the mound for Oakland.

Hedrick added a double and a single, while Steve Zumpano rapped a triple and a double, Lawrence Nesselrodt hit a double and a single, Jon Reneslacis and Charlie Wilson each contributed two singles, and Phil Carr smacked a two-run double.

Tom Wolfe finished with a homer and a double for Mt. Savage, while Donnie Strain, Denny Skidmore, Rick Winebrenner, and Steve Eisentrout all doubled.

Paul Wilson pitched all seven innings of the second contest for Oakland, yielding just five singles. Reneslacis led Oakland's hitting with an RBI double and a single. Cumberworth doubled twice for three RBIs and Steve Sites added a run-producing double.

Mt. Savage's Rick Winebrenner hit two of his team's five singles.

In other Pen-Mar action, Tri-Towns took first place away from Hyndman by sweeping the Pennsylvanians in Sunday's other doubleheader, 2-1 and 14-2. Tri-Towns is now 14-2 on the season, while Hyndman dropped to 12-3.

Tri-Towns' Wendell Spitzer held Oakland to just three hits on Saturday afternoon and struck out 11 batters, while his team recorded 14 hits off Oakland's Steve Sites.

Myrle Grose led Tri-Towns' offense with a triple and a double, while Craig Rotruck added a triple, double and a single. Phil Cook and Brian Cueva each rapped a double and a single, while Spitzer and Mark O'Reilly each finished with two singles.

Hedrick smacked a home run and a triple and Nesselrodt recorded Oakland's third hit, a single.

Reneslacis, Carr Players of the Week

By virtue of their outstanding performances for Oakland in a doubleheader sweep of Buckhannon on Sunday, July 10, Jon Reneslacis and Phil Carr were named Pen-Mar Players of the Week last week.

Reneslacis, Academic All-American at St. Andrew's Presbyterian College and former standout for Southern High School, went six-for-nine against Buckhannon, with a double and five singles. He also scored four runs and drove in three.

Carr, former star of Northern High School, Garrett Community College, and Frostburg State University, accounted for 10 runs on the day by driving in seven and scoring three. He hit a double and three singles in eight at-bats.

Also nominated for the weekly Pen-Mar honor were Oakland's manager/player Terry Helbig and Craig Cumberworth, who each hit a home run, a double and two singles in the doubleheader against Buckhannon.

Garrett Loses Three Straight In Legion Play

After being down 10-0, the Garrett County team in the Mountain District Junior Legion Baseball League made a furious rally in the late innings, but fell a few runs short, as Victory Post 155 of Westernport held on for a 10-8 win last Thursday at Garrett Community College, McHenry.

Troubles continued for the local team on Saturday, as they dropped a doubleheader to Cumberland Post 13, 16-7 and 8-7, also at GCC. Garrett's second-season record is now 3-3.

Post 155 scored six runs in the first inning and added single runs in the second, third, fourth, and fifth frames to take the 10-0 lead in last Thursday's game.

Rocky Reed led off Post 155's first inning with a double and Jeff Johnson and Chad Jeffries added doubles later in the inning. Johnson hit another RBI double in the fifth.

Garrett County destroyed Jeff Shimko's quest for a no-hitter in the bottom of the fifth when J.R. Bosley smacked a fly ball to right center field that was chased down by Mark Liller. However, right fielder Jackie Snyder, who was also in pursuit of the ball, collided with Liller and the ball was dropped, allowing Bosley to reach third base. Both Liller and Snyder were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released. Liller sustained a laceration over his eye and Snyder had a cut on the back of his head.

Garrett recorded three runs in the fifth, two in the sixth, and three more in the eighth to complete the scoring.

Bosley finished with a triple and a single, while Roger Bittinger added a double.

Chris Miller spearheaded Victory's hitting effort with a double and three singles, while Reed doubled and singled and Dick singled twice.

Shimko allowed seven hits and only four earned runs while striking out 12 batters. Bucky Riggleman took the loss on the mound for Garrett.

A 10-run sixth inning highlighted Cumberland Legion Post 13's win in the first game over Garrett County on Saturday, as Shawn Cesnick led Cumberland's hitting in both games.

Cesnick hit a double and two singles in the first game and four singles in the second game. He also scored five times.

Brian Grose doubled, singled, and scored twice, while Danny Anderson contributed two singles for Cumberland.

Pacing Garrett County's hitting in the first game were Allen Selders, who stroked a double and a single. Bucky Riggleman hit a double and a single and Sean Jones added a solo homer.

Leading the offensive effort of Post 13 in the second game were John McKenny, who doubled and singled, and Seth Whitacre, who singled twice.

J.R. Bosley rapped a two-run homer for Garrett, while Aaron Zumpano and Bo Butler each doubled, and Selders and Ryan Harmon each singled twice.

Garrett County held a 4-1 advantage after two innings in the nightcap, but Post 13 answered with four runs in the top of the third, three more in the fourth, and then held on to win after Garrett added two runs in the bottom of the fourth and a single run in the fifth.

League Slates Softball Tourney

The Mt. Top Softball League will sponsor a Class D tournament this weekend, July 23-24, on the Oakland area fields.

It was reported last week that the entrance fee for the tournament was $100 per team; however, the correct fee is $80 and four Dudley softballs.

Persons interested in registering or obtaining more information may call John Sharpless at 334-8618 or Dick Williams at American Burger Center, 334-2407.

Western Maryland Tennis Tourney Set August 3-7

The 67th playing of the Western Maryland Tennis Championships, the mid-Atlantic's oldest sanctioned tennis tournament, has been scheduled for the Mt. Lake Park Tennis Club from Wednesday, August 3, through Sunday, August 7. There will be competition in men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, mixed doubles, senior singles (35, 45, 55 and 65) and senior 45 and 60 doubles, according to Earle Palmer Brown, tournament director. This year will also feature women's doubles 35.

The tournament was first played in 1915 and has been held annually since then with time out for two world wars. A highlight of the full schedule of social events is the 32nd annual corn roast to be held on Friday of tournament week between two 1880 vintage "cottages" in the park.

Play begins in men's singles on Wednesday morning with other events starting on Thursday. Finals will be played on Sunday, August 7. Entries should be sent to Mrs. Manning SMith, 25 G Street, Mt. Lake Park, MD 21550. Housing and camping information is available from the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550, telephone (301) 334-1948.

Admission to the tournament is free and a food stand will be operated by local Garrett County tennis players. More than 100 persons are expected to participate this year and bring substantial income to Garrett County merchants and lodging facilities, according to Club President David DeGrafft.

"MARYLAND & GARRETT COUNTY YOU ARE BEAUTIFUL"
CITIZEN RECOGNITION

We are looking for Maryland's Beautiful People — those special people whose inner beauty compels them to actively love their neighbors. We want to make Marylanders aware of the great things their fellow citizens are doing. The "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Citizen Recognition Ceremony celebrates and honors individuals or groups from each county and the City of Baltimore who make Maryland beautiful. Each county will select one special individual or group to be honored as "Maryland's Most Beautiful" at a private reception with the Governor and in a public awards ceremony in Annapolis scheduled for November 16, 1988. This event will be free and open to every Marylander, with entertainment provided by talented groups from every corner of the state.

The individual or group chosen for Garrett County will be recognized at the commissioners meeting on November 1, 1988.

Grantsville Drops Two In Bi-State

A pair of losses this past week dropped Grantsville into second place in the Bi-State Pony League standings, as the local hurlers' record now stands at 11-6 while Westernport improved to 12-5.

Meanwhile, Central Garrett County continued to struggle, dropping a 12-0 decision to Salisbury on Saturday at Salisbury.

The first Grantsville loss came at the hands of Ellerslie Saturday evening, as Rick Burley led both the offense and defense for the winners. Burley fired a three-hitter and aided his own cause with a home run, a double and a single to lead Ellerslie to an 11-3 win.

Eric O'Neil contributed a double and two singles for Ellerslie, who avenged an earlier season loss to Grantsville. Terry Gibbner finished with a double and a single, Joe Shimko singled twice, and Scott DeHaven added a triple to Ellerslie's 14-hit performance.

John Houser, who was relieved by Mark Beals in the fifth, took the loss on the mound for the Garrett County team.

Grantsville's second defeat of the week occurred Monday at Westernport, as the home team rallied for two runs in the bottom of the seventh to take an 8-7 victory.

Dave Nash scored the winning run from second base after Paul Wilson's infield grounder was thrown away at first.

Wilson and Buck Lough led Westernport's six-hit effort with two singles apiece, while Lee Holloway and Mark Beals did all of Grantsville's hitting with two singles each. Holloway scored four of Grantsville's runs and Beals accounted for three RBIs.

Grantsville will wrap up its regular season this Friday by hosting Keyser.

At Salisbury, Heath Bodes tossed his second straight one-hitter to lead his team to an easy win over Central Garrett.

Bodes fanned 12 batters and yielded no walks in the game, which was called after five innings because of the 10-run rule. The only hit by Central Garrett was a double by Doug Brenneman.

At Ellerslie

Grantsville	100	020	0	3	3	3
Ellerslie	340	310	0	11	14	2

John Houser, Mark Beals (5) and Lee Holloway; Rick Burley and Eric O'Neal.

At Salisbury

Central Garrett	000	00	0	1	3
Salisbury	401	70	12	15	0

D. Brenneman and L. Wakefield; Heath Bodes and Shawn Hutzel.

At Westernport

Grantsville	101	130	1	7	4	5
Westernport	020	310	2	8	6	4

Lee Holloway, John Houser (5) and Houser, Holloway (5); Buck Lough, Rich Goldsworthy (6) and Dave Nash.

"OH, JUST WORMS."

Eric Swauger rapped two doubles and a single for Salisbury, while Shawn Hutzel and Resley Tressler each finished with three singles. Mike Seibert added a triple and a double and Tim Yoder smacked a pair of singles during Salisbury's 15-hit attack against losing pitcher, Brenneman.

began to slide and skidded across the eastbound lanes. The car struck a metal sign pole with a concrete base, then spun around, coming to rest in front of the post. Police said the vehicle was apparently traveling around 55 or 60 mph when the accident occurred.

Firemen from both Garrett County and Frostburg extricated the driver from the vehicle.

Police said at least two accidents involving drivers losing control of their vehicles on the uneven shoulder have occurred in the same area. That section of the road is being repaved, resulting in the uneven shoulder.

A Brownsville, Pa., man is listed as "stable" at Cumberland Memorial Hospital as a result of injuries he sustained in a single-vehicle accident Tuesday on Route 48. The accident resulted in the driver being charged with DWI.

Keith A. Davis, 18, was taken to the hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad following the 1:15 a.m. mishap.

According to police, Davis was operating a 1976 Ford Pinto when it ran off the left side of the road, struck an embankment and shrubbery, continued on for about 200 feet and overturned, coming to rest on its top.

Tfc. D.K. Williams, who investigated the accident, reported that Davis was charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and not wearing a seat belt.

Two passengers in the vehicle, James E. Elby, 20, also of Brownsville, and Sherry L. Hannen, 17, Monessen, Pa., were treated and released from Cumberland Memorial following the mishap.

A single-vehicle accident occurred Saturday on U.S. Alternate Route 40.

Police said Michael J. Andres, 29, Grantsville, was operating a 1976 Ford pick-up truck around 1 a.m. when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The vehicle ran off the left side of the road into a wooded area and struck a tree.

Andres was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by a private vehicle, where he was treated and released according to a spokesman.

The incident was investigated by Tfc. D.K. Williams, who reported that Andres was charged with failing to keep to the right of the center line.

No one was seriously injured when a tractor trailer loaded with logs overturned on U.S. Route 48 on Monday.

Police said Davy R. Jordan, 26, Peebles, Ohio, was operating the truck when it dropped off a ten-inch shoulder, went out of control, and overturned. The load of logs fell from the trailer, causing some damage to the guardrail.

Tfc. D.K. Williams charged Jordan with negligent driving.

Board Of Ed.

rett County Commissioners. He said, "We have to request a reconsideration of their position. It very well may take some time, but I would rather have them support the project to where it should be and wait than not proceed at all."

Ryscavage suggested that the board ask the commissioners to suppport the present scheme and seriously consider bonding the project.

In other business, Luther Parrack, Director of Secondary Education, reported that class rank qualifications for high school seniors will be changed. Only those students in the merit program will qualify, and the criteria will not be based on only the student's grade point average.

Parrack noted that, with the merit program, class rank could no longer be determined with the weighted system that was used before.

The board voted to approve the revised school bus contract, which resulted from three meetings and correspondence with the school bus contractors.

An informational report was given on the needs assessment study in the middle schools. Concerns included the improvement of the sequence in the band program from elementary to middle to high school, library media personnel, articulation between elementary and middle school in the areas of grading, homework, textbooks, and evaluation of students, reassessment of the activity period, and articulation with secondary schools in the area of industrial arts.

Several Charged By State Police

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week reported numerous arrests on various charges, including child abuse and indecent exposure.

Ronald James Kohler, Grantsville, was arrested Monday by Tfc. R.C. Resh on a charge of child abuse/sexual offense. Resh reported that Kohler was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail pending a bond hearing.

The incident allegedly occurred in April, 1987, and involved a female juvenile.

George R. Gumro, Republic, Pa., was arrested Tuesday for indecent exposure.

The incident reportedly occurred around 2 a.m. at Keyser's Ridge Auto Truck Stop, near Grantsville. According to police reports, Gumro was disorderly in the restaurant, and exposed himself to a waitress in the parking lot.

The arrest was made by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, who reported that Gumro is awaiting a bond hearing in the Garrett County Jail.

Michael H. Sechrist, 18, Ruffsdale, Pa., Wayne L. Madonia, 19, Madison, Pa., and a 17-year-old male juvenile from Sutensville, Pa., were arrested Tuesday for possession of marijuana.

The arrest was made by Tfc. G.R. Chaney, who reported that suspected marijuana was found in the boys' vehicle during the investigation of a theft report.

Robert D. Pennell Jr., Swanton, was arrested July 14 for battery. The incident reportedly occurred in the parking lot of B.J. Whistler's, Swanton, around 10:25 p.m. The arrest was made by Sgt. D.P. Moore.

Storeblock For March Of Dimes Termed "Success"

The local March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation's "Storeblock" on Friday, July 15 at Browning's Foodland in Oakland was termed a success, as area residents contributed over $300.00 to help the March of Dimes in its fight against birth defects.

Members of the Shepherds 4-H Club participated in the event by "manning" the storeblock. The event featured a coin drop, where people had a chance to drop a quarter in a small glass (that was surrounded by water) and win a one-liter container of Coke or Sprite. The Coke products were donated by the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Oakland.

Winners of the coin drop included: Mary Layton, Alma Snyder, Edie Sines, Steve Ramey, Shirley Simmons, Rusty Strubin (age 5), Casey Brown, Cathy Jasper, Susannah Kurtz, Jeremy Dean, Heather Marconi, Nancy Railey, Lee Railey, Edward G. Kennard, Louise Rodeheaver, Nicky Gangler (age 4), Joey Brown, (age 5), Carol W. Miller, Bridget Miller, Leonard Beeman, Kathy Lohr, Monica Miller, Ty Miller, Kristen Moran (age 4), Willy Larew, Becky Larew, Joyce Skidmore, Holly Shaffer (age 5) Mrs. E. M. Glotfelty, and Amy Moats.

Proudfoot's Pharmacy donated helium for the balloons that were used as decoration. Farmers' Market provided the signs for the event.

Persons who desire more information about the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, or would like to volunteer, should contact the office at P.O. Box 311, Oakland; telephone 334-3429.

DEMOCRATS MAKE LIBRARY ENDOWMENT — An endowment fund of $200 was recently contributed to the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library by the Garrett County Democratic Club and the Central Committee of Garrett County. Presenting a check for $100 to Sull McCartney (center), president of Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library, is Sherry Friend, president, Garrett County Democratic Club, and also presenting a $100 check is Dave Beard, chairman, Democratic Central Committee of Garrett County. Each year a book will be purchased from this fund in the memory of a Garrett County Democrat who has died. Money contributed to the permanent book endowment fund, established by the Friends of the Ruth Enlow Library, will be deposited in an interest bearing account and the interest will be paid to the library once a year. This yearly payment will go to the library's book fund to purchase books on behalf of the donors, one book a year for each endowment. The donor may specify a particular type or subject of book and may also have the book given to a branch library. A book plate will be place in each book giving the name of the donor and/or the name of the person in whose memory the book is given. The donation needed to fund an endowment is $200. This can be given in a lump sum or installments of $50 or $100. An endowment in the name of a family member or friend can also provide a lasting and useful memorium. To make donations or for more information, interested persons or organizations may write to: Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library Endowment Fund, 6N. Second St., Oakland, MD 21550.

WE NEED YOUR HELP!

Southern High School Students And Voters

Southern High School must be renovated so our children can be in a safe structure (asbestos must be removed), and so our children can receive the quality of education they deserve, as set forth by the State of Maryland and Garrett County guidelines for education.

The Board of Education requested a reasonable and necessary amount of money to structurally/educationally improve Southern High School, and to safely remove asbestos from the building. The Commissioners have approved partial funding toward the total monies necessary.

Call and/or write the Commissioners today and say: "I ENCOURAGE YOU TO FULLY FUND THE RENOVATION COSTS FOR SOUTHERN HIGH SCHOOL AS WAS FIRST REQUESTED BY THE BOARD OF EDUCATION."

The amount requested by the Board is only 25% of the total renovation costs plus architect's fee and educational equipment. The State of Maryland will fund 75% — if we act now while the school is next in line for State funding.

The Commissioners will decide July 26. If this isn't approved, then no repairs or changes will be made and Garrett County might ultimately be faced with costs for a totally new school by the time Southern High School comes up on the State list again for available renovation money.

Please call now:

Mr. Ernest Gregg, 334-4398
Mr. Elwood Groves, 334-1332
Mr. John Braskey, 826-8186
Commissioners' Office, 334-8970

Garrett County is the best and we deserve the best.

Call now, please!

Paid for by concerned voters for a better Garrett County.

Library Awarded Set Of Classic American Lit.

The Ruth Enlow Library has been awarded a 60-volume set of The Library of America, the series that American Heritage magazine called "The most ambitious effort ever undertaken to put the best of American literature into the hands of the general reader."

The Library is receiving the award after submitting an application to The Library of America and obtaining a pledge of $500 from Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library. Ruth Enlow is one of more than 1,000 across the country that have already acquired this collection of American literature with funds from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and matching funds pledged in their local communities. Each $500 raised locally is being matched by $500 from the Mellon Foundation grant as part of a national program to help libraries acquire the Library of America series.

Books Shipped as Available

The local library will receive the 36 volumes already published in the Library of America, which contain over 46,000 pages. Thereafter, the remaining 24 volumes will be sent in regular shipments over the next five years for an average total of five volumes a year. Each volume will have a bookplate acknowledging the generosity of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and Friends of The Ruth Enlow Library. Certificates will also be sent to the library for display and for presentation to its donors.

The Library of America is a nonprofit publishing program that began in 1982 in an unprecedented effort to restore America's literary heritage by publishing the collected works of America's major authors in a uniform, hardcover series. Seed money for the program was provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Ford Foundation.

Each volume in the series includes a number of works by a single author and contains between 1000 and 1600 pages. In many cases, an author's complete writings will be published in as few as three or four compact volumes. The books are printed on acid-free paper and have sewn bindings covered in cloth. Texts are accurate, unabridged, and authoritative.

The Library of America volumes are generally sold through bookstores at $27.50 per volume, except for the Jefferson, Parkman and Franklin volumes which are $30.00 each, and by subscription for $21.95 per volume. All volumes in the series include a detailed chronology of the author's life and career, a brief essay explaining the choice of texts and some useful notes for the general reader.

Republican Group Schedules Meeting For Chairpersons

The regular meeting of the Republican State Central Committee was held July 12 at the residence of Brenda Butscher, where a cook-out was held.

The group scheduled a meeting for district chairpersons for July 28, 1988, at Penn Alps at 6 p.m. The business meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

Helen Bentley has accepted the committee's request to speak at the Lincoln Day Dinner on March 18, 1989, in Grantsville.

The next meeting of the Republican State Central Committee will be held September 1 at the residence of William Crawford Jr., Deep Creek Lake, beginning at 6 p.m.

Good Food and how to prepare it!

Bite into Blueberry Bliss

BLUEBERRY BISCUITS

2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoons salt
⅓ cup melted butter
¾ cup water
½ tablespoon cinnamon
½ cup blueberries
3/8 cup milk

In a bowl combine flour, baking powder and salt. Blend in butter. Beat until mixture is coarse in consistency. Blend in blueberries, gradually add water. Place portion of dough on a floured board. Knead. Roll out to a ⅓-inch thickness. In a cup combine cinnamon and milk. Brush over dough evenly. With a sharp knife, cut dough into 3-inch circles. Place biscuits on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 400° for 15 to 20 minutes until brown. Remove to a rack. Use a metal spatula or knife to remove biscuits from sheet. Serve immediately with butter. Serves 6.

MELON BLUEBERRY CUP

1 cup cubed cantaloupe or honeydew melon
1 cup blueberries
1 cup pineapple chunks
½ cup sugar
Syrup or fruit dressing

In a bowl combine fruits lightly. Chill for 30 minutes in iced cups. Sprinkle with sugar. Top with syrup or fruit dressing. Serves 6.

BLUEBERRY PIE

Pastry for two-crust pie
4 cups blueberries
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry. In a bowl combine blueberries, 1 cup sugar, tapioca, salt and cinnamon. Place in pie shell. In a bowl combine butter, remaining sugar and lemon juice. Sprinkle over pie filling. Cover with slit pastry. Seal edges. Bake at 400° for 45 minutes. Yields 1 9-inch pie.

BLUEBERRY SAUCE

1 cup fresh blueberries
¼ cup water
¼ cup sugar

In a pot combine ingredients, stirring constantly. Bring mixture to a boil. Crush berries. Cook slowly for 2 to 3 minutes longer. Serve immediately. Yields 1 cup.

BLUEBERRY ICE CREAM MUFFINS

1 cup vanilla ice cream, softened
1 cup self-rising flour
1 cup fresh blueberries

Combine ice cream and flour, stirring just until moistened. Fold in blueberries. Spoon batter into paper-lined miniature muffin pans, filling two-thirds full. Bake at 350° for 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 1½ dozen muffins.

FRESH BLUEBERRY CRUNCH

4 cups fresh blueberries
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
¾ cup all purpose flour
¾ cup regular oats, uncooked
½ cup butter or margarine, melted

Place blueberries in a 2-quart baking dish, spreading evenly. Combine remaining ingredients, and sprinkle over blueberries. Bake at 350° for 45 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

PEACHY BLUEBERRY PANCAKE SAUCE

1 cup sliced fresh peaches
1 cup fresh blueberries
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup unsweetened apple juice
Dash of ground nutmeg

Combine ½ cup peaches, ½ cup blueberries, and remaining ingredients in a small saucepan. Bring to a boil; then reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 15 minutes. Add remaining fruit, stirring well. Serve warm over pancakes or waffles. Yield: 1½ cups.

NOTE: Also good served chilled over ice milk or vanilla low-fat yogurt.

BLUEBERRY SOUR CREAM PANCAKES

1⅓ cups unsifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 beaten egg
1 cup sour cream
1 cup milk
1 cup blueberries
2 teaspoons oil
¼ cup melted butter

In a bowl combine dry ingredients thoroughly. In another bowl combine egg, sour cream, oil and milk. Blend into flour mixture until lumpy. Mix in blueberries. With a large spoon or ladle drop onto hot greased griddle. Cook until bubbles appear on the surface. Turn, cook until brown. Remove from griddle. Brush each pancake with melted butter. Serve with hot syrup. Yields 10 to 12 pancakes.

BLUEBERRY SWIRLS

1½ to 2 cups canned or frozen sweetened blueberries
1 cup sifted flour
4½ tablespoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons oil
6 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
1½ teaspoons quick-cooking tapioca

Thaw blueberries, drain. Reserve liquid. In a bowl combine flour, baking powder, 1½ teaspoons sugar, and salt thoroughly. Blend in oil. Add milk gradually to form a soft dough. Place dough on a lightly floured board. Roll out to a ½-inch thick rectangle. Brush with butter, spread evenly with berries, sprinkle with remaining sugar. Roll up from longer side. With a greased knife cut dough into six slices. In a pot combine blueberry liquid and tapioca. Bring to a boil. Cook for 2 minutes, stirring often. Pour into baking pan. Top with slices. Bake at 425° for 25 to 30 minutes until browned. Serves 6.

BLUEBERRY PUDDING

¼ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
4 cups bread cubes
2 cups blueberries
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Heavy cream

In a bowl combine butter and sugar. Slowly add remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Pour into a greased baking dish. Bake at 375° for 35 minutes. Serve hot with heavy cream. Serves 6.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

1 cup blueberries
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 beaten egg
¾ cup milk
¼ cup oil

In a bowl combine flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. In another bowl combine egg, milk and oil. Add egg mixture to flour mixture. Blend in blueberries Grease 2 muffin tins liberally. Pour in batter to fill ⅔ of each cup. Bake at 375° for 35 minutes. Use a toothpick to test for doneness. Remove tins to a rack. Let stand for 5 minutes. With a greased knife cut around each cup. Invert and tap to remove muffins. Serve immediately with softened butter. Serves 6.

BLUEBERRY COBBLER

2 pints fresh blueberries
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon tapioca
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup water
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup unsifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons oil
6 tablespoons milk

In a pot combine blueberries, sugar, tapioca, cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt, water and butter. Cook slowly until blueberries are softened. In a bowl mix flour, baking powder and ¼ teaspoon salt. Blend in shortening. Gradually add milk to form a soft dough. Place dough on a floured board. Roll into an 8x10-inch rectangle. With a sharp knife cut dough into ½-inch slices. Pour blueberry mixture into a greased baking pan. Place slices on top. Bake at 400° for 20 to 25 minutes until brown. Remove to a rack. Let stand for 5 minutes. Cut into squares. Serves 6.

FIRST STEPS . . .

Have you ever watched a baby learning to walk? Its first steps are hesitant. It often falters, but, slowly gains more confidence. Soon, mother can no longer keep up.

First steps of spiritual growth are like this, too. Our faith, at first, is quite uncertain, but as we become more certain of God's love, we gain more confidence. Soon our faith plays a part in every decision we make. Faith in God becomes the guiding principle of our whole life.

You can help others to take their first steps toward God. Help them to understand that God can make a difference in their lives, too. Invite a friend to visit your church or synagogue with you. This could well be their first step toward God.

TAKE GOOD CARE OF YOUR PRECIOUS EYES

Nature has done everything possible to protect them, but sometimes they need help. If you are subject to re-occuring headaches, or your arms are too short to hold what you are reading, have your eyes examined.

Prescriptions for eye medicines require expert compounding. Solutions or eye drops must be free from foreign particles, no matter how small. Some must be sterile. We welcome the opportunity to use our compounding skill should you need any eye medication.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN SOMETHING'S "TOO HEAVY"

July 24, 1988

Background Scripture: Exodus 18
Devotional Reading: 1 Corinthians 12:4-11

I'm sure that Moses was shocked at the response of his father-in-law, Jethro. Undoubtedly, he had assumed that his father-in-law would be impressed with all that he did in a day's time. Surely Jethro would be proud and have nothing but praise for his son-in-law!

Instead, Jethro demanded: "What is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you sit alone, and all the people stand about you from morning till evening?" (18:14). Still certain of his position, Moses replies: "Because the people come to me to inquire of God; when they have a dispute... I decide between a man and his neighbor, and I make them know the statutes of God and his decisions" (18:15).

INDISPENSIBLE

Before we consider Jethro's reply, let us think for a moment and ask ourselves if Moses' retort doesn't strike a familiar chord with us. Are there not times when we too think that we have to do it all by ourselves? If someone needs to lift up the world, we assume that we have to carry it on our shoulders alone.

When we assume that kind of an attitude, whether we realize it or not, it is a challenge to the authority of God. For, what we are saying is, that, unless we do it all alone, it won't be done, or at least not correctly. Actually, it is an arrogant rejection of our need for God. It proceeds from our assumption that we are indispensible. In reality, only God fits that description.

What Jethro said to Moses, he might just as rightly say to some of us: "What you are doing is not good" (18:17). Then he goes on to conclude: "You and the people with you will wear yourselves out, for the thing is too heavy for you." The only thing that is damaged when we admit something is too heavy for us is our false sense of self-sufficiency.

MOSES GAVE HEED

In church we usually find that people fall into two categories: those who don't want to do anything and, those who want to do it all by themselves. Perhaps one of the reasons many people don't want to do anything is the ready availibility of those who want to do it all alone. We may think we are doing others a favor when we carry their share of the load, but usually we are hurting them, keeping them from realizing and accepting their own responsibility.

Moses, we are told, "gave heed to the voice of his father-in-law and did all that he had said" (18:24). And when something is too heavy for any of us, we too need to learn to accept advice and help from sources beyond our own strength.

Sarah Jessica Parker: Kay in 'A Year in the Life'

By Jerri Hicks

"Kay's got spunk and life to spare. She goes from gutsy to giddy," says Sarah, who can relate to these qualities in her character.

Sarah Jessica Parker.

BIRTHPLACE: Nelsonville, Ohio
BIRTHDATE: March 25, 1965
EYES: Blue
HAIR: Blonde
HEIGHT: 5'4"
WEIGHT: 98 lbs.
RESIDENCE: Los Angeles, Calif.

Sarah Jessica Parker is the talented actress who plays Kay Ericson Gardner, the bright, socially aware free spirit who married conservative Sam Gardner in NBC's A Year in the Life. Like her character, Sarah says "passive" is not a word in her vocabulary. Although the young actress relates to a lot of Kay's qualities, she does not approve of her character's prochivity for pot-smoking and rock concerts.

One of eight children, Parker was raised in Cincinnati. The daughter of a truck driver and a "household engineer," she studied ballet for four years with the Cincinnati Ballet Company, and appeared in its productions of The Nutcracker, Firebird, and others.

At age 11, she moved to New York with her family after she and her brother answered an ad to audition for—and won roles in—the Broadway production of The Innocents, directed by Harold Pinter. That led to the title role in Annie on Broadway and the lead in To Gillian on Her 37th Birthday. She also danced at the Metropolitan Opera in La Sylphide with Mikhail Baryshnikov.

Although she studied with the American Ballet Theatre from ages 12 to 16, she chose to concentrate on acting over dancing. "I had to decide if I wanted to be Natalia Makarova or Ruth Gordon." However, she has applied her dance training in many projects, including the feature film Footloose.

Sarah has three sisters and four brothers, and with four of her siblings she appeared in a production of The Sound of Music, starring Shirley Jones, that toured eight cities.

In the television series Square Pegs, Sarah starred as Patty Greene, a bright newcomer to a high school where she was determined to be popular. Although Patty was never as popular as she hoped she would be, the series was quite a success. Sarah's television movies include My Body, My Child, in which she starred as Vanessa Redgrave's daughter, and in Disney's Flight of the Navigator.

Her most recent theatrical credits include two plays for the 1986 Eugene O'Neill Theater Conference and April Snow off-Broadway.

Having grown up without television, Sarah spent her time reading, dancing and frequenting museums and concerts, and continues to enjoy those activities.

'Alive from Off Center' offers two bold new works

By Linda Sparkman

Alive from Off Center, an innovative summer music series, showcases two new avante-garde works— "Men Die Sooner" and "Endance"—Monday, July 25, on PBS.

"Men Die Sooner," a satiric monologue by performer/writer Tom Cayler, brilliantly caricatures the secret fears of American manhood. Cayler delivers an audacious one-man performance of a contemporary Everyman who is anxious over why men die younger than women.

Hailed in its stage presentations over the past year, this TV adaptation of "Men Die Sooner" is a funny and sometimes angry "lecture" about male rebelliousness. Cayler brings a fresh, comic urgency to current theories of male biochemistry and psychosocial behavior.

In "Endance," former choreographer Timothy Buckley offers an unconventional video "memoir" in which he articulates the many reasons he has quit the institutionalized dance world, and reflects on what it means to be an artist in the 1980s.

Collaborating with John Sanborn, Buckley presents a unique visual synthesis of archival dance and performance tapes, interviews and personal commentary, along with excerpts from several videos. American pop, jazz and street styles are skillfully blended into the idioms of post-modern movement.

Roger Moore, as James Bond, makes a dangerous acquaintance of Lois Chiles, a mysterious woman, in Moonraker, airing Sunday, July 24, on ABC.

CBS signs Eddie Murphy to three-year contract

By Steve McGaw

CBS has signed Eddie Murphy to an exclusive (and unbelievably lucrative, I imagine) three-year contract for all of Murphy's video ventures. This includes programs produced by mogul Murphy's production company, as well as three annual specials featuring Eddie himself. Another one-man cottage industry...

Calling a spade a spade: Sylvester Stallone's next dizzyingly intellectual romp will be titled, enticingly, The Executioner...

You say you have an insatiable appetite for the adventures of displaced Kryptonians? Then be of good cheer. You can look for an all-new, syndicated Superboy series this fall...

Highway to Heaven fans, take heart. Thirteen hours of the show have been ordered for television movies and specials for the fall...

This sounds interesting. Rumors say that Marlon Brando may take the title role in the screen version of The Phantom of the Opera. I hope it's true. Brando has been absent from the screen for too long (although he recently completed filming a movie in Africa with Susan Sarandon)...

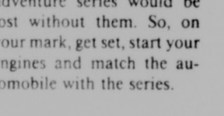

Yea! They've finally gotten the ball rolling on the screen version of Torch Song Trilogy, starring Matthew Broderick. Broderick is also slated to star opposite Sean Connery in Family Business...

THINK BACK

Go on, take it for a spin

By Donna Gooch

It's just a mode of transportation; a logical means of getting from one place to another. Why then are we so hung up on them? I'm speaking of cars, of course. The mechanical marvels that bestow prestige or shame upon the owner are staples in TV land. And action-adventure series would be lost without them. So, on your mark, get set, start your engines and match the automobile with the series.

Miss Teen USA Pageant sets California theme

Dick Clark hosts with Tracy Scoggins

By Anne Wheeler

They'll wish they all could be California girls—the 1988 Miss Teen USA Pageant contestants that is.

On CBS Monday, July 25, 51 contestants will vie for the title. Taking as its theme the song "California Dreaming," this year's pageant will be presented in the form of a 1988 version of the California beach movie musicals of the '60s. The show aims to display the vibrance and diversity of lifestyles, music and fashions of California's contemporary teens. Where are Frankie and Annette when you need them?

Dick Clark, Emmy Award-winning television personality and television and motion picture producer, will host along with actress and former international model Tracy Scoggins. The ceremony will be presented live from the Orange Pavilion on the grounds of the National Orange Show in San Bernardino, Calif.

On hand to relinquish the crown and perform the show's big musical number with this year's contestants will be Kristi Addis, Miss Teen USA 1987. They will sing and dance to the 1960s hit "I Saw Him Standing There," recently re-recorded as a hit single by Tiffany.

Contestants in the Miss Teen USA Pageant range in age from 15 to 18, and represent each of the states in the Union plus the District of Columbia. They will be going not only for the title, but also for the $150,000 in cash and prizes that accompany the honor.

Electronic fan club brings celebrities closer to admirers

By Austin Travis

Ever wondered what your favorite celebrity would tell you about themselves if given the opportunity? Well you can find out with Blair Entertainment's weekly half-hour series Fan Club.

Hosted by Olympic gold medalist Mitch Gaylord, the series spotlights celebrities from the worlds of music, sports, television and film.

Gaylord, a 1984 gold medalist in gymnastics, said being on the other end of an interview as host of Fan Club has given him a new respect for reporters and journalists.

The celebrity features are more than magazine format star interview segments, however. Fan Club utilizes the first ever interactive electronic video format that puts the audience in direct contact with favorite stars. That means fans can live out their fantasies by appearing on the show alongside the celebrities they most admire.

Each segment is tailored to the individual personality of the star—with many of the celebrities designing their own feature segment. In fact, when they are approached to appear on the series, celebs are asked if there is anything they have wanted to tell their fans but have not had the opportunity to say. This approach opens up the stars to discuss the more personal and private aspects of their lives, according to executive producer Ron Ziskin.

Daly News

Actor Tim Daly is following in the illustrious footsteps of his father, James Daly, and his sister, Tyne Daly. Does that mean that acting talent is a hereditary trait? "I wouldn't call it that exactly," he said. "I think of it more as a genetic disorder."

Creatures of the sea explored

By C. Carpenter-Wilson

In an attempt to save the humpback whale, The CBN Cable Network presents a fascinating episode of Oceans: The Last Frontier. To air Friday, July 29, "To Save a Whale" finds Canada's Foundation for Ocean Research traveling to Newfoundland to stop the killing of humpback whales, which are known for unusual songs. The humpback is not only the noisiest whale, but the most playful, loving to fly high into the air and flopping back into the sea with a loud smack! Unfortunately, the humpback's playful habits make them an easy target for hunters.

The dramatic focus on both gentle and fierce creatures of the sea continues on The Discovery Channel. Animal Aliens tells the story of one man's quest to photograph and study the many animals that have arrived in this country from other parts of the globe. This adventurous special premieres Monday, July 25.

Join Olivia Newton-John as she celebrates the 200th anniversary of her homeland Saturday, July 29. In her very own musical special, HBO World Stage: Olivia Newton-John in Australia, Olivia takes you to the most exciting and exotic spots on the island continent. On the beaches and in the Outback, the three-time Grammy winner performs such sparkling numbers as "Old Fashioned Man," "Big and Strong," and "Love and Let Live."

HOROSCOPE

July 24 through July 30

LEO

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
Concentrate on setting aside ill-will toward another. Relatives play a key role. Keep close tabs on finances. Look at long term.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
Spend time enjoying nature or outdoor activities. Look at all resources before abandoning an improvement project. Settle old debt.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
Encouragement from a friend or family member instills a long-needed sense of worth. Tackle new tasks or goals enthusiastically.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
News from afar is welcomed. Long-held beliefs may seem unimportant now. Splurge a little to see new places. Romance is highlighted.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
New adventures are in store. Associate's actions may threaten your security. Use care in sorting and determining priorities.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
An inexpensive favorite pastime comes into focus. Careful wording is of utmost importance now. You prosper by a short excursion.

VIRGO

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
Look for local means of entertainment. Concentrate on your own well-being despite other obligations. Stick to accepted routine.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
Learn to take things in stride, but put an end to situations which have proven fruitless. An important relationship is strained.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Make use of all resources. Stress results when a long-held secret is let out. A new interest helps rekindle an old friendship.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Discard items no longer used. Set aside time for renovation projects. Pleasant correspondence brightens spirits. Maintain values.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Fresh air and outdoor recreation give you a new perspective. Sample new activities. You can now afford to spoil yourself a little.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Creativity plays a key role in activities. Performance is at peak levels. Renewed enthusiasm spreads to those around you.

'Tour of Duty' actors as diverse as characters

Series returns to front in fall

By Mary Ann Townsend

Tour of Duty, airing this fall on Saturdays at 9 p.m., focuses on a diverse group of infantrymen serving a one-year tour of combat duty in Vietnam.

Like the characters, the actors who play them are diverse—especially where their career beginnings are concerned.

Playing Cpl. Danny Percell is Tony Becker, who had an easy, if not expected, entrance into the profession. His mother, Patricia Kane, had her own repertory theater company, and his father, Ken Becker, was an actor who later became an audio engineer. Tony soon became active in series and feature films.

At 7 years old, Stephen Caffrey knew he wanted to become an actor when he saw one of his older brothers in a school play. Caffrey, who plays Lt. Myron Goldman, was in numerous high school productions, and after graduation by-passed college in favor of acting.

Likewise Joshua Maurer, who plays Pvt. Roger Horn, enjoyed acting from an early age. He toyed with the idea of skipping college, but went instead. Majoring in political science, he wrote his senior thesis on Vietnam. Ironically, after graduation he spent eight months in Paris, and within two weeks of his return to the States, was cast in Tour of Duty.

Steve Akahoshi, who plays "Doc" Randy Matsuda, was also sure of what he was going to be, but it wasn't an actor. Akahoshi set out for a career in sales and marketing. One day though, he said, "I just woke up and decided I wanted to be an actor, and applied all my sales techniques to the acting business."

Stan Foster's bashfulness about admitting he wanted to become an actor led him to study a similar field—law—instead. Then one day while strolling to class, he passed a theater where Robert Redford was holding a reading for Ordinary People. Foster got a chance to read and was inspired when Redford complimented him on his performance. He never went back to class.

Stan Foster was encouraged to pursue acting after reading for Robert Redford.

It was another star who impressed Ramon Franco, who plays Pvt. Alberto Ruiz. A fan of The Donny and Marie Show, Franco decided to become a singer when he was a youngster. Having had little success, however, he concentrated on acting and obtained his first job at 14 in the feature film Boardwalk with Lee Strasberg.

Eric Bruskotter, Pvt. Scott Baker, tried acting to earn a few extra bucks in college. He and his identical twin brother, Karl, were encouraged by a friend of a friend who was an agent, and soon had roles in Mr. Belvedere as well as in feature films.

Miguel A. Nunez Jr. came into acting through the back door, so to speak. While working as a physical therapist, he sneaked into various Hollywood studios, trying to observe and meet people. He struck up a conversation with actor Ernest Thomas, who got him a job as an extra on the series What's Happening?, and has been building his experience ever since.

Dozen games on lineups of basic cable stations

By Jerry Jorgensen

Baseball junkies are in for a big treat this week as cable outlets TBS, WGN and WWOR will combine for more than a dozen individual game broadcasts.

A highlight of this feast will occur Tuesday, July 26, when TBS will carry both games of a scheduled doubleheader between the Braves and the Reds. The SuperStation plans to do the same thing next Sunday for a twin bill between the Braves and Giants. The Braves may be hopeless, but the Reds and Giants are no slouches as attractions.

Also next Sunday—and gosh, this is exciting—ESPN will carry the Baseball Hall of Fame Induction ceremony live from Cooperstown, N.Y. The lone inductee will be Willie Stargell, former great with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Now this hasn't been the best of years for Willie. First, he was booed by Pirate fans at Willie Stargell Day in Pittsburgh because he supposedly wanted money to appear. Then he was fired from his coaching job with the Atlanta Braves.

Maybe his induction will make it a good year after all. It's not a bad start.

Seoul Brother

Actor Lorenzo Lamas is spending his summer vacation touring the country promoting a favorite sport. Lamas is the official spokesman for the U.S. Men and Women's Volleyball teams which are scheduled to compete in the Summer Olympic Games in Seoul, Korea. A volleyball player himself, Lamas admits to playing with the U.S. team once or twice, an experience he describes as "awesome."

You'll wind up singing it, but name that tune

By John Haakenson

At one point or another, it happens to everyone. There'll be a series on television that you cannot stand, but you're unfortunate enough to see at least one episode of said show. And, throughout the evening, the next day—and for possibly days on end—the show's theme song sticks with you. You can't get it out of your head.

See if you can match the following musical theme lyrics with the shows from which they came:

1. "People let me tell you 'bout my best friend, He's a warm-hearted person who'll love me till the end ..."

2. "Come ride the little train that is rollin' down the tracks at the junction ... Forget about your cares, it is time to relax at the junction ..."

3. "Some trails are happy ones, Others are blue. It's the way you ride the trail that counts, Here's a happy one for you..."

4. "Mister Trouble never hangs around, when he hears this mighty sound. Here I come to save the day ..."

5. "There's a man who leads a life of danger. To everyone he meets he stays a stranger. With every move he makes, another chance he takes. Odds are he won't live to see tomorrow..."

6. "One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight! Shlemeel, shlemazel, hasenfeffer incorporated. We're gonna do it! Give us a chance, we'll take it. Read us any rule, we'll break it. We're gonna make our dreams come true, doin' it our way..."

7. "Here's the story of a lovely lady, who was bringing up three very lovely girls. All of them had hair of gold like their mother, the youngest one in curls..."

SHOWS:

a.) The Roy Rogers Show; b.) Mighty Mouse Playhouse; c.) The Brady Bunch; d.) Secret Agent; e.) Laverne and Shirley; f.) The Courtship of Eddie's Father; g.) Petticoat Junction.

Garrett County Receives Highway Safety Award

On behalf of Governor William Donald Schaefer, Richard Trainor, Secretary, Maryland Department of Transportation, recently presented awards to the winners of the first phase of the Governor's Highway Safety Competition for Counties. The competition, in which Maryland's 24 political subdivisions (23 counties and Baltimore City) participated, was a "people-to-people grassroots" highway safety program aimed at reducing death, injury and trauma on Maryland roads. Garrett County was awarded an honorable mention for their participation in the competition.

Designed by the Maryland Association of Women Highway Safety Leaders, in co-sponsorship with the Maryland Committee for Safety Belt Use, the Maryland Department of Transportation, Region III of the NHTSA and the Maryland State Police, the competition was a result of Governor Schaefer's challenge to the citizens of Maryland to join forces and make Maryland the "Showcase for America."

Terry Spear, the county coordinator, appointed by the Garrett County government, served as the leading force to organize businesses, civic and service organizations, medical groups, churches, schools, colleges and universities to develop innovative and creative programs to promote safety belt use.

"The program was a tremendous success, thanks to the citizens of Maryland who have taken such an active interest under the leadership of the county coordinators," said Barbara Beckett, executive director, Maryland Committee for Safety Belt Use.

"In the end, everyone was a winner because safety belt use increased statewide and lives have been saved. Additionally, many of the programs which were started as part of the competition have become institutionalized and will continue to save lives and reduce injury and trauma," she continued.

The first phase of the Governor's Highway Safety Competition for Counties ran from October 1, 1987, to March 30, 1988. In the next three years, the four-year competition will focus on education, enforcement and engineering.

Offices Of The Comptroller To Stay Open Longer

Allegany and Garrett County residents will have an extra half-hour a day to take advantage of services provided by the Cumberland branch of the State Comptroller's Office, at 9 Market Street, Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced. The telephone number for Garrett County is 334-8880.

"All of our branch offices are now staying open 30 minutes later, from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, to make it easier for Marylanders to call for information or visit to transact business," Goldstein added.

Individuals and businesses can go to the branch office to make payments of any of the taxes the Comptroller's Office collects, such as income and sales taxes.

State tax experts can answer questions, help taxpayers prepare tax returns, and refer citizens to other state agencies if necessary. The branch also stocks a supply of tax forms and imformative pamphlets to help business and individual taxpayers.

"People starting new businesses can also pick up a central registration application, which allows them to establish accounts for employer withholding, sales and use taxes, unemployment insurance and is the initial registration for other taxes," the comptroller said.

The comptroller has 15 offices located throughout the state of Maryland.

Peck Clan Holds First Reunion

The first family reunion of the John and Carma Peck clan was held at Herrington Manor pavilion on Saturday, July 16.

There were nine children in the John Peck family, nine of whom are still living.

A family spokesman said that "with little planning there was still a nice crowd." They are planning to hold a reunion again next year at the same place but on the last Saturday of July.

This year relatives attended from Fairfax, Va.; Elk Garden and Terra Alta, W.Va.; Frostburg, Accident and Oakland.

Terry Peck was responsible for organizing the reunion this year.

Drought Causing Difficulties At Yough River Lake

Because of the recent dry weather, the water level at Youghiogheny River Lake is dropping quickly, according to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. As of July 13, the lake, located near Friendsville, was 10 feet below normal summer pool level and will continue to drop unless significant rainfall occurs.

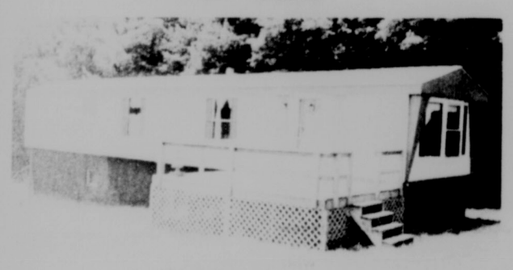

Because of the low water, the boat launch at Mill Run and the front launch at the dam are closed. Boaters can still launch at Jockey Hollow, Somerfield North, and the back launch at the dam. The swim beaches at Tub Run and Mill Run are now out of the water.

As the water level drops, hazards to recreational users increase. Lake users should be aware that gravel bars, tree stumps and other objects normally deep in the water are now obstacles just below the surface, especially at the Maryland end of the lake. Also, the lake becomes much narrower as the water level drops, creating boater congestion.

The Corps invites boaters, skiers, swimmers and those fishing to continue visiting Yough Lake.

For a recorded message on current lake conditions, persons may call (814) 395-3166.

Laura J. Sines Is Recipient Of ACC Scholarship

The Allegany Community College Foundation announced recently that Laura Jean Sines, Friendsville, has been named recipient of the Margaret H. Zembower Secretarial Science scholarship.

While a student at Northern High School from which she graduated in June, Laura was co-captain of the school volleybal team, a member of the 1985 State Championship Volleyball Team, vice-president and president of the Girl's Varsity Club, a member of the School Improvement Committee, and the Student Activities Committee. She was also secretary of the National Honor Society, a three-year recipient of the Academic All-American Award, and was an honor roll student.

Ms. Sines, daughter of R. Eugene and Lois Sines, plans to enroll in the Secretarial Science/Medial Option curriuculum in the fall at ACC, Cumberland.

Cherry Grove Women Sponsor Birthday Party

The women of Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren held the July birthday party for the residents of Goodwill Mennonite Home, Grantsville, on Monday, July 11. All residents who have a birthday in July, including Minnie Merrill, who is a member of Cherry Grove Church and will be 96 on July 24, were presented with corsages.

A program of songs, poems, and prayers was presented. Ice cream, cup cakes, punch, and coffee were served, with the assistance of the Goodwill Mennonite staff.

Attending from the church were Mary Durst, Sandy Yoder, Mildred Durr, Dorothy George, Martha Mimna, and Rose Wilhelm.

A closing musical program, "Fly Like an Eagle," will be presented on Sunday, July 31, at 7:30 p.m.

TELEPHONE PIONEERS CREATE QUILT — Active and retired members of the Mountain Council of Telephone Pioneers of America met recently to create a quilt that will be raffled off as a fund-raising activity. Quilting frames were set up at the C&P Telephone Service Center along U.S. Route 219 just north of Oakland where council members made the Dresden Plate pattern quilt. Pictured left to right, front, are Alice Plank and Nina Callis, Mountain Council president. In the back, same order, are Bea Miller, Joan Raynovich, and Carolyn Metz. Others participating were Ethel Ridder, Helen Schroyer, Freida Iden, and Doris Groves. The Telephone Pioneers are community-service oriented and the membership consists of active and retired C&P employees and their spouses. They have participated in various activities that benefit local service organizations and individuals. Fund-raisers such as raffles permit the Pioneers to make donations, such as the new electric typewriter given to Hospice of Garrett County last year. Raffle tickets for the quilt will be available soon.

Former Oakland Attorney Becomes Firm Partner

Weinberg and Green, Attorneys at Law, has announced that nine of its lawyers have been elected partners of the law firm.

D. Robert Enten, a member of the firm's Banking and Commercial Law Department, and formerly of Oakland, has been elected a general partner.

Karen S. Koenig of the Real Estate Department, Ernest B. Crofoot and Jonathan M. Genn of the Corporate Department, Steven M. Caplan, Sherry H. Flax, William K. Meyer and Deborah G. Shortridge of the Litigation Department, and Eileen D. O'Brien of the Estates and Trusts Department have been elected limited partners of the Firm.

Enten, 41, specializes in general corporate law, banking law and governmental relations. Following graduation from the University of Maryland School of Law in 1973, he served as assistant labor commissioner for Baltimore City. For a five-year period beginning in 1976, Enten practiced law in Oakland as a partner in the general practice of Janes & Enten. More recently he was associated with the firm of Ottenheimer, Cahn & Patz and joined Weinberg and Green in 1985 when the two law firms merged.

Weinberg and Green, one of the largest law firms in the State of Maryland, traces its roots to 1918. The Firm is now comprised of more than 120 lawyers and maintains offices in Baltimore and Columbia.

Turney Sentences Two W.Va. Men For Drug Charges

Two West Virginia men were sentenced by Judge Jack Turney for drug charges last week in Garrett County District Court.

Richard G. Eubank Jr., 26, and Michael L. Tridigo, 38, both of Wheeling, were found to be guilty of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance, and each was sentenced to 10 days in jail. The judge then suspended the sentences, placing the two men on one year unsupervised probation.

Charges of drug paraphernalia use and possession with intent to use were not prosecuted by the court.

The charges were filed by Karl E. Christensen, park ranger, following a June 5 incident at Swallow Falls State Park.

According to court documents, Christensen observed the men with suspected marijuana cigarettes, and a search revealed more controlled dangerous substances.

Placed on the stet docket were charges of indecent exposure against Cherie L. Hewsdill, 21; Julie A.M. Przybyla, 21; William F. Slowikowski, 25; and Brian J. Kyne, 24, all of Baltimore.

The charges were filed by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputy Denver C. Welch, following a May 29 incident on the Fingerboard Road. According to court documents, the four Baltimore residents were standing naked beside the road, drinking beer and waving to passing cars.

Judge Turney found Carrie Browning, Mtn. Lake Park, to be not guilty of a battery charge.

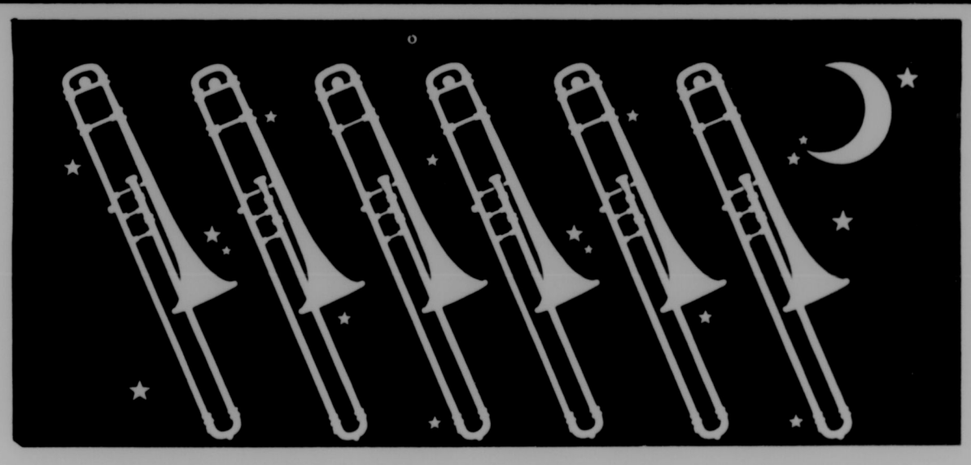

The charge was filed by Jeffrey V. Browning, Deer Park, following a May 27 incident there. Browning was represented by Suzanne Conger.

NOTHING TO SNEEZE AT

In the interests of polite social behavior, many cold sufferers stifle the urge to sneeze. Although this is a considerate gesture, it may not be a wise health decision. A sneeze is a natutral reflex that is intended to clear the nose much in the same way that a cough clears the throat. Sneezing is the action of expelling an irritant and mucus from the nose. During a cold, the sneeze expels viral particles, mucus, and sloughed cells. If the sneeze were to be stifled, these same viral cells may be forced into the eustachian tube, leading to possible ear infections. Instead, a sneeze should be allowed to take its natural course. By all means, cover a sneeze with a handkerchief, but allow it to exit via the nose.

Whatever the cause of hearing deficiency, the solution may well be at ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES. We offer the hearing instruments that assist in returning the world of sound to one's everyday life. Come in and let us fit you to the instrument that will address your hearing deficiencies.

The eustachian tube leads from the back of the nose to the middle ear.

Oakland Class Of 1938 Holds 50-Year Reunion

Fifty members of the 1938 Class of Oakland High School, pictured above, celebrated their 50-year class reunion on June 18 at Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake. A total of 91 attended, including three former teachers.

Classmates were greeted by John and Wilma Sharps, Fred and Vera Tichnell, and Harley and Betty Wildesen. Following the fellowship hour a class picture was taken.

Fred Tichnell gave the welcome, followed by the invocation by Mary June (Custer) Harvey. A sit-down dinner was shared. Tablecloths and napkins were of the school colors, red and white. A birthday cake was made and decorated by Terri Rodeheaver with a likeness of Oakland High School covering the top of the large sheet cake. It was cut and served following dinner.

Each class member introduced him/herself and his/her guest. A special welcome was extended to former teachers, Carl Everly, Mrs. Dorothy Frame and Col. and Mrs. Luman, who related several memories.

A clock, made and donated by a classmate, was won by Margaret (Rudy) Niles. A second door prize was a set of pillows made by another classmate and won by Mr. Everly. Several other prizes and gifts were presented. Each class member received an oak leaf pin made by Lucille (Wolfe) Shobe.

A memorial service was conducted by Nina Keefer. A candle was lit for each of the 13 deceased classmates: Oliver Bowers, Arvin Hauser, Paul Hauser, Mildred Lantz Castilow, Wayne Lewis, Carl Liller Jr., Genevieve Murphy Henderson, Arthur Pysell, Hilma Rodeheaver, George Sukow, Mary Elizabeth Townshend Jennings, Mildred Whitehair Shaffer, and Harry Wolfe.

Rev. Dale Bittinger gave the benediction, which was followed by a time of fellowship. Classmates and their guests attending were: Clifford Bachtel and wife, Grace; Bernice (Miller) Beckman and husband, Edgar; Dale Bittinger and wife, Vivian; Norris Crites and wife, Loretta; Thea (Thomas) Crowe; Ross Crowe and wife, Opel; Ann (Baker) Deberry; Roberta (Bailey) Decker and husband, Russell; Marguerite (Carskadon) Duling and husband, Clyde; Russell Elliott and wife, Hulda (Fitzwater) Elliott; Wilda (Mellinger) Fazzalori and granddaughter; Helen (Sanders) Fike and husband, Emerson; Laura Susan (Butt) and husband, John; Paul Frazee and wife, Virginia; Iva (Wildesen) Goodrich and husband, Douglas; Mary June (Custer) Harvey and husband, Ellis; Farrell (Welch) Harvey and husband, Bruce; Gerald Hamill and wife; Donald Helbig and wife, Margaret; Robert Henline and wife, Helen (Shaffer) Henline; Loretta (Ashby) Hoopengardner and husband, Joe; Ruth (Ridder) Jackson; Mary Louise (Thayer) Jones; Nina (Gnegy) Keefer; Rita (Lawton) Kimmerle and daughter; Mary Della (Johnson) Martin and friend Herbert Grass; Kenneth Martin and wife, Hazel; Mary Frances (Rowan) Mielnicki; Betty (Ashby) Mina; Glen Moon and wife, Sadie; Chester Mosser and wife, Mary; Margaret (Rudy) Niles and husband, Nathan; Helen (Pysell) Page and husband, Roy; Beatrice (Hauser) Rhodes and husband, Mike; Jane (Fraley) Robinson and husband, Robbie; Dwight Schenk and wife, Velma; Stella (Leighton) Shaffer and husband, Nordeck; John Sharps and wife, Wilma; Reid Shipley and daughter, Reta Moss; Lucille (Wolfe) Shorb and husband, Joseph; Lucille (Harvey) Sines; Ervin Smith and wife, Mary Lyle; Tom Stevenson; Claude Sweitzer and wife, Rosalind; Betty (Mayle) Thrasher; Fred Tichnell and wife, Vera; Mary (Foley) Tucker and husband, David; Louise (Harvey) White; Harley Wildesen and wife, Betty, and Josephine (DeWitt) Wolf.

REUNION

The 16th annual Reckart-Sines-Uphold reunion will be held on Sunday, August 7, with a covered dish dinner at 1 p.m. It will be held at the Fisher Pavilion located at the intersection of the White Rock Trap Run Road near Friendsville, Md. All relatives and friends are invited to attend.

St. John's Church Schedules Special Worship Service

The public is invited to a special outdoor worship service at St. John's Lutheran Church, Addison, Pa., this Sunday, July 24, at 2 p.m. in celebration of the 175th anniversary of the church.

Pastor Russell R. Kerns Sr., a former pastor at St. John's (1958-1962), will be the guest speaker.

Following the service, there will be a covered dish picnic at the home of Catherine and Marshall Augustine. Meat and beverages will be provided.

Orendorf Reunion Set For Aug. 6

The 36th annual Orendorf Reunion will be held at the Bittinger Fire Hall Pavilion (behind the fire hall) on Saturday, August 6. The meal will be served at 1 p.m. promptly. Plans include a visit to the cemetery and the Christian Orendorf homestead.

DWI Cases Heard By Judge Turney In District Court

Numerous cases involving charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol were heard recently by Judge Jack Turney in Garrett County District Court.

Paul Beckman Jr., 28, was found to be guilty of the charge and sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail. He was also fined $500 and placed on 18 months supervised probation. Turney ruled that the jail time will be served on work release.

Donald R. Myers, 29, was found to be guilty of the charge and sentenced to six months in the Garrett County Jail. The judge then suspended five months of the sentence, fining Myers $500 and placing him on two years supervised probation.

The judge found Ronald Ray DeWitt, 36, to be guilty of DWI, fining him $200 and sentencing him to 30 days in jail. He then suspended 24 days of the sentence, and placed DeWitt on one year supervised probation.

Jeffrey Ervin Cosner, 20, was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The judge then suspended the sentence, placing Cosner on six months probation and fining him $150.

Thomas Philip Tweedlie, 24, was found guilty of the charge and fined $500. Tweedlie will be refunded $300 upon the completion of DWI school. He was also placed on 12 months unsupervised probation.

Judge Turney found Steve Edward Frazee, 29, to be guilty of the charge, fining him $500. He then suspended $300 of the fine and placed Frazee on 12 months supervised probation.

A bench warrant was ordered for Charles Leroy Guthrie, 28, when he failed to appear for his trial. Bond was set at $500.

The judge granted motions to revise the sentences of Floyd Stanton Henry, 46, and Michael Charles Hatton, 27. In both cases, the charge was changed from driving while intoxicated to driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Ms. Rexrode Earns Scholastic Award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Cheryl Rexrode has been named a United States National Collegiate Award winner.

Ms. Rexrode, who attended Garrett Community College, was nominated for this National Award by Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Dean of Academic Affairs. Her name will appear in the Academy's Collegiate Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the recommendation of professors, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, and motivation to learn and improve.

Cheryl is the daughter of Alva and Wilma Rexrode, Accident.

Tracy Umstot To Attend Wesleyan

Tracy Martin Umstot, daughter of Jay and Judy Umstot, Oakland, will attend West Virginia Wesleyan College in the fall, announced Dr. Barbara Richardson, academic dean. She plans to major in the study of adult fitness.

A 1988 graduate of Southern High School, she was a member of the National Honor Society and ranked third in her class of 223. She was named Science Student of the Month, Social Studies Student of the Month, Society of Distinguished American High School Students, Who's Who in Music, Who's Who Among American High School Students, and the Maryland Distinguished Scholar. She was also a member of Southern High School Band and Colorguard.

West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buckhannon, is a four-year, coeducational institution that offers more than 50 academic majors in the liberal arts and career-related fields of study. Affiliated with the United Methodist Church, Wesleyan College has an enrollment of approximately 1,300.

New Unemployment Insurance Laws Now In Effect

New unemployment insurance laws passed during the 1988 legislative session by the Maryland General Assembly are now in effect with the new fiscal year and will benefit both employers and claimants, according to J. Randall Evans, Maryland Secretary of Economic and Employment Development.

One law has increased the maximum weekly benefit amount from $195 to $205 per week for eligible claimants. The increased benefits will be issued only to claimants whose new benefit year is established on or after July 3, 1988. "Those claimants whose benefit year was established before July 3 will continue to be paid at the old rate," explained Secretary Evans.

Other legislative action increased dependents' allowance from $6 to $8 per week per dependent. The allowance is limited to four dependents per claimant and the maximum payment cannot exceed the claimant's maximum weekly benefit amount.

As of June 26, 1988, vacation and holiday pay must be deducted from unemployment insurance benefits if the claimant is given a definite date to return to work on or before the actual separation date. However, vacation and holiday pay are not deducted if a vacation is imposed and is not a part of the initial employment agreement.

Social Security benefits will no longer offset unemployment insurance benefits for those claimants establishing a new benefit in the new fiscal year.

Another law specified that employers who have discharged an employee for reasons interpreted as gross misconduct will not be charged for the unemployment insurance benefits paid that employee.

Many of these new laws align Maryland's Unemploymet Insurance Laws with the Federal Unemployment Tax Act.

Bus Inspections Slated August 2-5

School bus inspections will be held August 2-5 at various schools in the county, according to Michael G. Sines, supervisor of pupil transportation for the Garrett County Board of Education.

The schedule for inspections is as follows: Tuesday and Wednesday, August 2-3, 8:30-11:30 a.m., Southern High School; Thursday, August 4, 8:30-9:30 a.m., Northern High School, and 10-10:30 a.m., Friendsville Elementary School; and Friday, August 5, 8:30-10 a.m., Grantsville Elementary School.

Each bus has been assigned a specific location for inspection, Sines said.

Sines emphasized that license plates of buses will be suspended if major problems involving things such as tires, king pins, steering, and the exhaust system are discovered. He also requested that drivers have their operator's license and bus registration card visible to the inspectors, and added that first aid and emergency equipment should be clean and displayed on the front seat behind the driver.

Ground Control Conference Set In Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W.Va.-Dr. David Forshey, associate director of research, U.S. Bureau of Mines, will present the keynote address, "New Initiatives of Bureau of Mines Research," at the seventh International Conference on Ground Control in Mining to be held at the Sheraton Lakeview Resort and Conference Center in Morgantown, W.Va., August 3-5.

Dr. Forshey, who joined the Bureau of Mines in 1961, has extensive professional and managerial experience with both field and headquarter assignments in explosives and fire prevention research, mine health and safety research and mining technology research. In addition, he serves as a consultant to numerous foreign countries on these subjects.

Co-sponsored by the U.S. Bureau of Mines, the U.S. Mine Safety and Health Administration and West Virginia University, the ground control conference is designed to promote closer communication between researchers, consultants, manufacturers and mine operators by focusing on problem-solving in mine operations.

The schedule includes 34 paper presentations by coal operators, government researchers and regulators, mining consultants and university professors. Topics include prediction and monitoring of surface subsidence due to longwall mining, chain pillar design for longwall mining, coal bumps, low coal ATRS system, mining under streams and valleys, portal stability, longwall recovery and REAP programs.

A special session will be devoted to a presentation of research results by the West Virginia University longwall team, comprised of nine professors from civil and mining engineering and geology. The team will discuss findings from research conducted over the past three years on surface subsidence and dewatering due to longwall mining, support selection and panel layout.

For further information about the conference, persons may contact Alice Kerns, Department of Mining and Engineering, College of Mineral and Energy Resources, West Virginia University, P.O. Box 6070, Morgantown, W.Va. 26506-6070; (304) 293-5695.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of WALTER L. KAMP, who passed away July 22, 1968.

A loved one lives forever,
In the hearts of those who cared.
A loved one lives forever,
In the memories that were shared.
We'd like to think when our life is done,
Wherever Heaven may be,
That you'll be standing at the door
Waiting there to welcome us.

Buildings, Grounds and Cemetery, Mary Lou Stemple, chairman; Jay Moyer and Richard Gibson; Golf and Recreation Committee, Jay Moyer, chairman; Mary Lou Stemple and Bob Boal; and Sewage Committee, Bob Boal, chairman; Terry Helbig and Richard Gibson.

Legal Aid Bureau Announces August Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc., will be available to discuss legal problems with persons in Oakland on August 2 and August 16 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Community Action Center, Liberty Street.

The Legal Aid Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Bureau is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to Bureau officials.

Sheriff's Dept. Investigates Local Theft

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week is investigating a local theft and two destruction of property incidents.

A theft was reported by Keystone Paving, Inc., Friendsville. According to police, someone entered the company's construction site on Route 495 near Swanton during the night of July 12 and removed three traffic diversion barrels and one metal traffic device, all with flashing yellow lights. Total losses reached $480.

Police said the culprits also upset a portable toilet, dumping its contents in or near a stream. The incident is under the investigation of Deputy L.E. Gnegy, who reported that there are no suspects at this time.

Two mailboxes along the Harvey's Run Road were damaged last Thursday night or early Friday morning.

Police said someone used a club or baseball bat to damage the mailboxes of Betty J. Gorman, Swanton, and Aubry R. Johnson, Deer Park. Gorman's mailbox was valued at $20, while Johnson's was valued at $30.

Boat Excise Tax Law Is Changed

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources reminds boaters, when principally using a boat in Maryland, to make sure they are aware of Maryland's Boat Excise Tax law.

This 1986 law combined Maryland sales, use and titling tax on boats into a Boat Excise Tax assigning collection authority to the Department of Natural Resources. The Maryland Boat Excise Tax is levied at the rate of 5% of the "total purchase price" or "fair market value" of the vessel. Tax is due on a vessel when the vessel is purchased to be principally used in this state or brought into Maryland for principal use.

Beginning July 1, 1988, a change in the Boat Excise Tax law provides tax reciprocity to vessel owners who principally use Maryland waters for vessels acquired on or after July 1, 1986, to avoid being taxed twice on the same purchase. The tax amendments are applicable to any vessel owner entering Maryland for principal use in Maryland and thereby incurring a liability for Maryland's Boat Excise Tax.

Boat tax paid to another jurisdiction will be honored by the Department provided all of the following conditions are met:

1. the vessel must have been titled or numbered in another jurisdiction and principally used in that jurisdiction; or federally documented and principally used in that jurisdiction; and
2. the current owner must have paid a sales or excise tax on the vessel to the other jurisdiction; and
3. that other jurisdiction must have a reciprocal agreement for Maryland residents paying taxes in that jurisdiction.

If the tax rate paid to another jurisdiction is less than the rate paid in Maryland, then the boat owner pays the difference.

The Department will require the taxpayer to submit satisfactory proof of the payment of a tax to another jurisdiction and the rate of tax paid and, where applicable, evidence of principal use of a federally documented vessel in another jurisdiction.

Penalty and interest will continue to be assessed by the Department for failure to remit Boat Excise Tax within 30 days from the date the vessel is purchased or brought into Maryland for principal use if it is determined that a tax liability does exist. Penalty will be assessed at the rate of 10% of the tax due plus 1.5% interest per month. A 100% penalty may be imposed if tax is due to any attempt to defraud.

More information regarding Maryland's Boat Excise Tax law is available by calling the Department of Natural Resources' Licensing and Consumer Services Unit, toll-free, at 1-800-492-1138.

COVE

The Cove Homemakers Club will meet Monday, July 25, at 8 p.m., at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri synod, with the hostess being Mrs. Chester Otto. The demonstration, "Small Appliances," will be presented by Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Extension agent, home economics. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, ELCA, went to Jennerstown, Pa., on Friday to have lunch at the Green Gables Restaurant and to attend the play, "The Music Man," at the Mountain Playhouse. The society will go to the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville, on Monday, July 25, to entertain the residents and serve refreshments.

The State Line United Methodist Women's Group entertained with a party at their last meeting to honor Mrs. Elsie Tissue Shaffer, who recently observed her 85th birthday anniversary. The next meeting will be Wednesday, July 27, at the church at 7 p.m., where a covered dish dinner will be served and there will be an exchange of gifts in honor of everyone's birthday.

A Friday overnight guest of Mrs. Alfreda Friend was Miss Nancy Friend, Frederick, who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, Friendsville, until Monday, when she returned to Frederick. Mrs. Friend was an additional guest of the Robinsons on Sunday for dinner and supper. The entire group were Saturday luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Fint, Aurora, W.Va., where they were joined for lunch by Elmer Hanft and Mrs. Virginia Fike, Confluence, Pa., and were all in attendance at the wedding of Miss Teresa Cassidy, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., and Scott Bittinger, Aurora, W.Va., at the Lutheran Church, Red House. Mrs. Gerald Glass, Accident, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft also joined the guests at the wedding and reception on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. John Brenneman, Accident, Mrs. Gerald Glotfelty, McHenry; Mrs. Gertrude Glass, Mrs. Elsie Glass, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Reichenbecher were at the funeral home at Westernport on Monday following the death of Mrs. Anna (Schlossnagle) Glass. She and her husband, the late Francis (Dick) Glass, were both born and reared in this community. The funeral was held at the funeral home on Tuesday and attended by relatives from this community. Burial was at St. Paul's Lutheran Cemetery, Accident. Lunch was served at St. John's Lutheran Church social room, ELCA, by the ladies from the church.

Monday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock were Miss Marjorie Kirkham and Grace Fitzpatrick, Miami, Fla.; Jeff and Steve McClintock and Matthew Bach. Mr. and Mrs. Edward McClintock and daughters, Kimberly and Kristin, from the Thistlewood area of Houston, Tex., and Miss Meta Storm, of Denmark, were sightseeing at Washington, D.C., and other places of interest and were Friday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deise, Baltimore. The seven of them were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock, where additional Saturday and Sunday supper guests were Misses Olila Mackelroy and Liz Sisler, Friendsville; Miss Donna McClintock, McHenry, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary McClintock and sons. A formal family portrait was taken at the McClintock home on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Edward McClintock and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Gary McClintock and Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock were all Sunday afternoon visitors of the latter's mother, Mrs. Elsie Newcomer, Stoystown, Pa., at the Somerset, Pa., Community Hospital. The Edward McClintock family and Meta Storm left on Monday to go to Glendale, W.Va., to visit with Mrs. Edward McClintock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sievertson, for a few days before returning to Texas.

Tuesday overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Richter were Mrs. Mary Richter, Laurel, and her sister, Mrs. George Schuler, Orlando, Fla., who is spending the summer with her. Thursday evening visitors were granddaughters, Katie and Allison Richter, Oakland, and a daughter, Mrs. Richard Travis, Oakland. Sunday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Richter, Belle Vernon, Pa. The four of them had lunch at the Hilltop Restaurant, Grantsville. The Vernon Richters were among evening visitors of Mrs. Margaret Richter, Accident. Their son, Jim Richter, Baltimore, continues to recuperate successfully from his recent heart surgery and said he is appreciative of the cards and mail he received from the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were Tuesday visitors of Harvey Speicher Sr., near Oakland, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. They were evening visitors of Mrs. Margaret Beckman, Swanton, where a guest for a vacation is Mrs. Melrose McClintock, Finleyville, Pa. Mrs. Beckman observed her birthday anniversary on Wednesday, July 13. The Hanfts also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Beckman, Swanton. They had lunch on Wednesday in Baltimore with Juanita Johnson and daughter and Elizabeth Sabre, and were afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer, Timonium. They were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harman, Oakland, and Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Wilburn, Hoyes. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kolb, Mt. Lake Park, and Mr. and Mrs. Hanft had lunch together at Hilltop Restaurant, Grantsville, on Sunday. The Hanfts were among the afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowman, Pocahontas, Pa., and were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Baker, Somerset, Pa., and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft, Addison, Pa. Country Time Adds Sales Persons

Tony Oliverio

Alan Skidmore

Winston Hershberger

Country Time Realty, Century 21, announced this week the addition of three new real estate salespersons: Tony Oliverio, Alan Skidmore, and Winston Hershberger.

Oliverio is a graduate of the Long and Foster Institute of Real Estate. He has already completed the four-day listing and sales training course required by Century 21 Regional Headquarters in Vienna, Va., and a training course on the Century 21 Centurynet Computer System. He will work in all aspects of general real estate for Country Time Realty.

He is a graduate of Southern High School and holds an associate of arts degree with honors in business administration from Garrett Community College. He is a decorated veteran with eight years of service in the U.S. Air Force, from which he was honorably discharged in 1984 at the rank of E-S staff sergeant.

Oliverio resides in Kitzmiller with his wife and two sons.

Skidmore successfully completed the real estate course at Garrett Community College taught by Barbara Kirkham, broker of Country Time Realty. He recently applied for membership in the Garrett County Board of Realtors and will be inducted at the joint board meeting to be held in Cumberland in August.

Skidmore is a graduate of Northern High School and holds an associate in arts degree from Garrett Community College and a bachelor of science degree from West Virginia University. He is a school teacher at Friendsville Elementary School and was the coach of the Northern junior varsity basketball team this past year. For the past three summers he has served as a ranger for the Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Skidmore resides in Friendsville with his wife, Becky, and son Matthew.

Hershberger, a native of Garrett County, successfully completed the Maryland Requirement for Real Estate Licensure in the spring of 1987 and just recently completed Century 21's sales and listing procedures course. He was licensed with Elliott-Mackay Agency and joined the Cumberland Board of Realtors. He will be joining the Garrett County Board of Realtors in August.

Hershberger resides in Grantsville.

POSSESSION IS NEGOTIABLE!

When you purchase a home, when can you move in? On the surface, you might assume that once you close the transaction, you are free to take possession.

The actual possession date is determined long before closing. In fact, it is one of the items which is included in the negotiations before even signing an agreement to purchase your home.

Generally, there is a customary possession date which varies from city to city. I can give you that information for this area. But, nothing is set in concrete when it comes to a possession date. The date must be one agreeable to both purchaser and seller and becomes a firm part of the signed agreement to purchase.

There are three basic variations: 1) possession at closing, 2) posession before closing, or 3) posession after closing.

Possession at closing simply means that the seller will vacate the property before the date and hour of closing making it possible for the purchaser to have control at the time of closing.

If the purchaser is allowed possession before closing, a landlord/tenant relationship is created, and that agreement should be reduced to writing defining the responsibilities of each.

If the seller remains in the home after closing, a reverse landlord/tenant situation is created which should also be in writing.

If you need information to help you solve a real estate puzzle, call us at 387-5303. We'll be happy to share our knowledge with you at no cost or obligation.

Antietam Bill Hearing Slated

U.S. Representative Beverly Byron has announced that her bill to preserve Antietam National Battlefield will be the subject of a Congressional hearing and mark-up on August 5.

The bill, H.R. 4554, is designed to allow the National Park Service to purchase additional land and scenic easements from willing sellers within the Park boundary. At present, nearly 1,200 acres of land within Antietam's boundary are unprotected from potential development.

"I am delighted to announce that the National Parks and Public Lands Subcommittee has taken this significant step," said the Sixth District Representative. "The announcement of the hearing and mark-up are a demonstration of Chairman Vento's interest in moving quickly to resolve the problem of encroaching development."

Following mark-up, the bill will be referred to the full committee, Interior and Insular Affairs, for consideration, and then to the floor of the United States House of Representatives.

In a related development, the Senate version of the legislation, introduced by Senator Paul Sarbanes and co-sponsored by Senator Barbara Mikulski, will be the subject of a Senate hearing on August 3.

"Some of Antietam's unprotected lands are of great historic significance," said Byron. "A lot of preparation has gone into bringing the bills this far. I look forward to these hearings and the subsequent action."

United States, Soviet Whitewater Exchange Planned

The American Canoe Association (ACA) has announced that a U.S. - Soviet exchange in whitewater slalom will take place in August, 1988 and 1989. This is the first canoeing exchange of any type between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The first phase of the exchange consists of six American athletes and support personnel traveling to Moscow and subsequently to Kutaisi, Georgia, in the Caucasus Mountains in August, 1988. The second phase entails a Soviet group of similar size coming to the United States some time in 1989.

The Americans going on the trip to Georgia are: Cathy Hearn Haller, three-time world champion in the one woman kayak class (K-lw); Jon Lugbill, nine-time world champion in the one-man canoe class (C-1); David Hearn, five-time world champion in C-1, and brother of Cathy Hearn; Lecky Haller, world champion in two-man canoe (C-2), and husband of Cathy Hearn; and Jamie McEwan, Olympic bronze medalist in C-1 and silver medalist in C-2 with Lecky Haller. All of them competed in the Maryland Classic International pre-world races in the Savage River in Garrett County last month.

Rounding out the athlete delegation will be Richard Fox, seven-time world champion in one-man kayak (K-1) from Great Britain. U.S. Team Coach Bill Endicott and his wife Abigail, a member of the International Canoe Federations Promotion & Information Committee, will lead the group.

The exchange caps a five-year effort by Endicott, who speaks Russian, to secure an exchange agreement. "In 1983, I first approached the Soviets about doing an exchange with us in slalom, but they said no, not right now," Endicott said. "I submitted two other proposals before the idea was finally accepted. I'm thrilled."

The Soviets have indicated that they will send a delegation to the United States in 1989 but exact dates have not been set.

Olympic status was recently conferred on whitewater slalom, and according to Endicott, "this is probably the main reason the Soviets accepted the exchange idea even though they accepted it before the official announcement that slalom would be Olympic. The head of the International Olympic Committee subcommittee that made the Olympic decision was a Russian. When I heard the Soviets had accepted my exchange proposal, that's when I thought we were probably going to get in the Olympics."

The American Canoe Association is dedicated to water safety and to the promotion of the various forms of canoeing as sport and recreation. The ACA, through its National Activities committees, sanctions and governs all types of canoe and kayak racing in the United States, as well as selecting U.S. teams for International Competition.

COUNTRY KIDS 4-H CLUB
by Barbara Browning, reporter

The June meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was called to order by Vice President Heidi Hauser, who also led the pledges. Danielle DeBerry gave the secretary's report, and Jamie DeBerry gave the treasurer's report.

Under old business, Chris Hinebaugh reported on the hoagie sale at the Highland Festival.

New business consisted of a discussion of a fair booth theme, with Paul Browning giving a general explanation of the booth for new members.

Other members attending the meeting were Mike Weeks, Mike and Jeff Greene, Barbara Browning, Joshua Valentine, and Chris Snyder.

Ernest Strobel Is Commander Of Mt. District

Ernest Strobel, McHenry, was elected Commander of the Mt. District (Garrett and Allegany counties) for the American Legion at the state convention held in Ocean City, July 12-14.

His wife, Alice, was elected president of the Mt. District American Legion Auxiliary.

Elected to the department state executive committee were Dayton Alexander, Guy Tuel and Tom Bittinger.

Friendsville Visit Of Bloodmobile Nets 29 Pints

A recent visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile to Friendsville resulted in the collection of 29 pints of blood. Thirty-three persons presented themselves, four of whom were deferred for various reasons, and there were four first-time donors.

Mary Friend gave her eighth pint of blood to become a one-gallon donor.

Volunteers who assisted with the visit included Rose Frazee and Mary Frantz, admissions; Peggy Bowser, temperatures; Kathy Swartzentruber, finger sticks; Esther Benedict and Pauline Faucett, histories; Mary Teats, bags; and Amy Platter and Kelli Thomas, walkers and canteen.

There is a need for a new chairman to coordinate the fall, spring and summer visits scheduled for this year, according to current chairman, Esther Benedict, who suggested a local service organization may wish to take on such a project as part of its community involvement. Interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Benedict at 746-5744 or 334-2155.

KITZMILLER

Jerry Stacey and Pammy Malavec, Wheaton, and Jimmy Lubbus, Olney, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Beulah Malavec. Pammy is spending some time with her grandmother, Beulah.

Lillian Harvey returned home from the Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Eileen Fitchet and children recently returned from Hawaii. They are spending some time with their grandmother, Edith Evans.

State Park Summer Programs

NEW GERMANY

"A Taste of Honey," a campfire program on beekeeping will be presented Saturday, July 23, at 8:30 p.m. by Dan Folk of Frostburg. Following the program participants may sample some honey ball snacks.

The campfire program for Wednesday, July 27, is "Mad About Mammals." Howard Ward of Frostburg will present a program about food chains inside the Nature Center.

New Germany State Park offers various natural, cultural and historical programs daily. The public is invited to attend. Every Wednesday and Saturday evening during the summer, there will be a campfire program. The programs are held at the Old Schoolhouse Nature Center on McAndrews Hill Road. Flashlights are recommended.

The programs during the week include: Junior Ranger, discovery hikes, nature walks, nature awareness games and crafts. The featured program this week is the Junior Ranger Workshop. While learning more about the outdoors, children 7 to 14 years old can become Junior Park Rangers. Youngsters can earn free patches in basic, advanced and expert phases of the program.

For further information, and a schedule of events, persons may contact Ellen Dow, park naturalist, at 301-895-5453.

DEEP CREEK LAKE

Featured this week at Deep Creek Lake State Park will be a program on "The Black Bear in Maryland." Al Bourgeois, wildlife biologist, will present the program at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 23, at the amphitheatre.

A slide show on building nest boxes for birds will be given on Wednesday, July 27, at 8:30 p.m. in the amphitheatre. Following the slides, those attending will be permitted to view the sky through a telescope.

HERRINGTON MANOR/SWALLOW FALLS

The interpretive program schedule for the park for July 23-29 is as follows:

Saturday, July 23 — 3 p.m., nature walk, meet at Swallow Falls office; 8:30 p.m., campfire plus nature movie, Swallow Falls amphitheater.

Sunday, July 24 — 1-2 p.m., orientation, Herrington Manor office; 2 p.m., Junior Ranger Program sign-up, HM office; 7 p.m., movie, "The Chipmunks' Adventure," HM office.

Monday, July 25 — 9 a.m., nature walk, meet at HM office; 1-2 p.m., nature center open, basement of HM office; 5 p.m., sports; 7 p.m., movie, "The Money Pit,", HM office.

Tuesday, July 26 — 7 p.m., movie, "Willie Wonka and the Chocolate Factory," HM office.

Wednesday, July 27 — 2 p.m., scavenger hunt for ages 6-12, HM office; 7 p.m., movie, "Crocodile Dundee," HM office.

Thursday, July 28 — 1 p.m., sawmill demonstration, HM park office; 2-3 p.m., Junior Ranger Program check-out, HM office; 8:30 p.m., campfire with nature movie, HM park office.

Friday, July 29 — 1-2 p.m., nature game, HM office; 7 p.m., movie, "Old Yeller," park office.

"I HAD THE MOST AWFUL NIGHTMARE LAST NIGHT."

St. Jude's Names McCollister As Poster Patient

St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital announced this week that Brian McCollister will be this year's Bike-A-Thon poster patient and that Brenda Marucci, Oakland, has agreed to be the coordinator for the Oakland area.

St. Jude's was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict children. The hospital is non-sectarian, non-discriminatory and provides total medical care to all patients.

A spokesman for the hospital said, "At St. Jude's, scientists and physicians are working side by side seeking not only a better means of treatment but also the causes, cures and prevention of these terrible killers."

Findings and information gained are shared with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Because of their findings, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The program this year is dedicated to Brian McCollister, a native of Louisiana, who was diagnosed with leukemia in October, 1984. Since that time, he has gone to St. Jude's every six weeks for treatment and every 12 weeks for a bone marrow test and spinal tap to see if his cancer is still in remission. He receives oral medication daily.

"Brian is a living example of the research, patient care and educational programs of this internationally recognized hospital," said the spokesman.

The spokesman continued, "We sincerely appreciate the concern that Brenda Marucci has for our work. We hope the citizens of Oakland will support the Bike-A-Thon this fall to help provide the funds needed to preserve the world's greatest asset — our children."

Aerobic Diehards Perform At International Event

The Aerobic Diehards recently traveled to Anaheim, California, where they performed at the International Dance—Exercise Association's fifth annual convention. The event was sold out with 3,000 fitness experts and enthusiasts from across the United States and 45 countries.

The Aerobic Diehards were formed three years ago by their coach, Brenda Brosnihan of Brenda's Body Shop.

A top competitor in the Crystal Light National Aerobic Championship for the past several years, Mrs. Brosnihan shared her thoughts, "Competitive aerobics seems to be here to stay. The National Aerobic Championship has now expanded to the international level with more and more countries being added each year. Experts someday anticipate competitive aerobics becoming an olympic sport. Like any other world class sporting event, training begins very young."

The Diehards are currently the only organized youth group in the world to be gaining knowledge and training that may enable them to someday be top competitors, said Brosnihan.

Since the team's origination, they have shared many "character-building" and performance highlights, according to their coach. They have travelled to Pittsburgh, Virginia, New York and California.

"No strangers to hard work and dedication, the team earns money for everything they need — from costumes to traveling expenses," said Brosnihan. "I feel the fund-raisers are also educational and build character. They establish goals that require planning, hard work and group cooperation. They have earned each trip; therefore, they have a much greater appreciation of their accomplishments."

While in California, the Diehards stayed at the Anaheim Hilton where they enjoyed many of the hotel's features. The convention provided two days of lodging expenses. The group also visited Disneyland.

The purpose of their trip to California was to perform at the convention's awards ceremony. On the day of the performance, the Diehards took part in a long, exhausting dress rehearsal. They learned a feature routine and a group finale.

"The rehearsal was very difficult," said Brosnihan. "We are extremely proud of the way the girls handled the pressure. Although fatigue and frustration were setting in, the girls held together for what was to be their best performance ever. The rehearsal ended two hours before the actual show, just enough time to take care of all the final preparations."

Other featured entertainment acts were the Dancin' Grannies, a group of women aged 50-67 who performed an energetic routine, and the Crystal Light National Aerobic Champions. The theme for the event was fitness evolution and how the industry came into being.

"The Dancin' Grannies were wonderful," said Brosnihan. "They were truly an inspiration for leading a healthy lifestyle. A very special relationship developed between them and the kids."

Awards were given to those individuals who had contributed the most to the field of aerobics. The Diehards had the honor of meeting and being photographed with the winner of the lifetime achievement award, Dr. Kenneth Cooper. He is recognized as one of the pioneering forces in physical fitness. He has authored several top-selling books on aerobics and wellness. He is currently the director of the Aerobics Center in Dallas, which includes a medical examination facility, a fitness development center and a research organization.

Brosnihan described the Diehards' performance. "The Diehards took the stage with confidence and grace. The feelings for the parents and myself were those of incredible anticipation. Three years of various obstacles were overcome to enable these kids to finally be on this stage. Behind the performers above the stage were three 15'x25' screens. The production company projected close-up images of each group as they performed. It was such an exciting attraction that the Oakland crowd decided that since they had seen the routine numerous times they would watch the screens and enjoy the act from another perspective.

"The Diehards began their routine with slow movements that captured everyone's attention as they displayed their strength and flexibility. Then they progressed to their high-energy aerobic routine. The crowd instantly supported them by clapping to the beat of the music. As many times as I have watched the Diehards, I felt as though I was seeing them for the first time — the energy, the execution and especially those 13 incredibly happy, smiling faces. Captivating? That's an understatement. Not one of the Oakland Diehard fans took their eyes off the group long enough to view any of the special effects. As the Diehards struck their final pose during a lengthy standing ovation, there wasn't a dry eye among the Oakland fans."

After the awards ceremony the Diehards were invited to the VIP party. "After their outstanding performance and the overwhelming response to it, the girls' confidence was amazing. It was so much fun to sit back and watch them talk and mingle with such poise and professionalism," said Brosnihan.

Since her return home, Brosnihan has received calls from instructors from San Diego, New York, Florida and several other states. They were seeking information on how to begin and train a youth group. Magazine editors are also eager to do a story on the Diehards.

Brosnihan and her husband, Pete, are currently consulting with a firm in Baltimore on producing a training video for instructors of youth teams. "I am also preparing a presentation about our experiences that I hope to give at one of the various instructor seminars held around the country," Brosnihan added.

Brosnihan said the Diehards would keep practicing, performing and setting even higher goals. "Who knows?" mused Brosnihan. "Maybe a T.V. appearance or a trip to the White House."

Farming In Maryland.....

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Garrett County Approved For Federal Emergency Feed Programs

Yesterday, Garrett County received approval on its application to take part in federal emergency feed programs after crop loss from drought conditions. These conditions continue even though spotty rains fell in most areas of the county.

The county became eligible after reporting an 85 percent loss of corn for grain, a 66 percent loss of corn for silage, and a 50 percent loss of oats. County farmers who qualify are eligible for two federal programs: The Emergency Feed Assistance Program (EFAP) and The Emergency Feed Program (EFP) (Feed Cost-Sharing Program.

The Emergency Feed Assistance Program (EFAP) provides for the sale of CCC-owned grain at 75 percent of the basic county loan rate to livestock producers whose feed production has suffered because of drought, or excess moisture. Eligible livestock producers must have insufficiant feed available to preserve and maintain their foundation livestock.

Producers in approved counties should apply at their county ASCS offices. Producers must pay for grain to be received by certified check, cashier's check, or money order payable to CCC at the county office where their application is filed. The CCC-owned grain will be made available to eligible producers either at a location in the designated county or in a county that is contiguous to the designated county. In the case of Garrett County, however, the closest CCC-owned grain is located in Hagerstown, Washington County.

The Emergency Feed Program (Feed Cost-Sharing Program) pays eligible livestock owners a portion of the cost of feed purchased to replace that which is normally produced on the farm and which is also purchased in quantities larger than would normally be made because of an emergency.

To be eligible for assistance, a livestock owner must have suffered a 40 percent loss of feed production on the farm because of a natural disaster which resulted in a need for purchases of feed in quantities larger than normal for eligible livestock. Eligible livestock are cattle, sheep, horses, mules, swine, goats, and poultry which have been owned at least six months; or, if owned less than six months, are either offspring of eligible livestock or were purchased as a normal operation and not to obtain additional benefits.

The maximum quantity on which assistance is provided is 10 pounds of grain equivalent per day per animal unit not to exceed the amount of feed the livestock owner has on hand on the date of application. As ASCS Manager Mike Kozier says, "This is only a survival program, not one to make money on."

The dollar amount of assistance is 50 percent of the cost of feed purchased not to exceed five cents per pound of feed grain equivalent.

Producers in approved counties which have suffered at least a 40 percent loss in feed production should apply at their local ASCS offices. The Garrett County ASCS Office is located in the Courthouse, Oakland, phone: 334-1901. Producers cost-share payment will be made by check.

OFF TO INDIANA — A load of hay was collected by Pleasant Valley farmers and hauled to a very distressed area of Southern Indiana last week. Indiana had received no rain and farmers there were facing disposal of their cattle. Although a reduced price was paid for the hay and the hauling, the farmers who baled the hay donated their time to help those in need. According to Emanuel Miller, requests have come from Indiana for six more loads of hay, and one will leave on Friday. "We'll try to help as much as we can," he said, speaking for all who participated.

Crop Conditions Deteriorate More

During the week ended July 10, the few thundershowers that were received across the state were not sufficient to prevent the further deterioration of most crops. Topsoil moisture remained 90 percent very short and 10 percent short across Maryland. Subsoil moisture decreased to 80 percent very short and 20 percent short, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. The number of days suitable for fieldwork was 6.9, but many farmers have delayed further plantings until moisture is received. The condition of pastures was 90 percent poor and 10 percent fair. The driest areas were hurt irreparably and will not be able to fully bounce back even under ideal conditions.

The condition of field corn deteriorated to 80 percent poor and 20 percent fair. Two percent of the corn had silked, most of it prematurely. Corn borer was present in scattered counties. Most irrigated corn was in good condition, but the water level in most ponds and wells was decreasing rapidly. Soybeans were 50 percent poor and 50 percent fair. Farmers had planted 80 percent of the soybeans, 15 percent less than the five-year average. Some farmers have further postponed the planting of soybeans until they get some rain.

Wheat, barley and rye were in good condition overall. Wheat was 85 percent harvested, 10 percent more than last year. Barley was 98 percent harvested, one percent less than the five-year normal. Rye was 65 percent harvested, 10 percent less than average. The condition of oats was 60 percent good and 40 percent fair. Oats were 10 percent harvested, compared to the normal of 35 percent.

The second cutting of alfalfa for hay was 85 percent complete, 15 percent more than normal. On July 10, the second cutting of clover and other hays was 45 percent complete, equal to the average pace. The third cutting of hay had begun. Leaf hoppers were present throughout Central Maryland.

The harvest of sweet corn was 15 percent complete, the same as last year on this date. Many vegetables were under stress even though most of them are irrigated. The condition of apples decreased to 50 percent fair and 50 percent good.

Weather

Maryland's weather for the week ended July 8 was hot and dry. Precipitation averaged 0.04 inch with significant rainfall only in Salisbury and Snow Hill which received 0.38 and 0.32 inch respectively. Temperatures averaged 76.1 degrees, 1.4 degrees above the normal of 74.7 degrees. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the mid to upper 50s, except in Western Maryland where minimums dipped to 36 at Oakland and the 40s at Hancock and Cumberland. Maximum temperatures reached in the low 100s in Western and North Central Maryland and the mid 90s elsewhere.

Drought Hotline Numbers Established

The U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with other federal agencies has established a toll-free telephone hotline to answer questions about federal government services available to citizens in drought stricken areas. The toll-free number is 1-800-541-3375. Telephones will be staffed on weekdays from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

In Garrett County, a cooperative listing of those who need hay and those wanting to donate hay is being developed by the Garrett County ASCS Office and the Extension Office. Calls are being accepted at both offices; ASCS, 334-1901; Extension, 334-1990.

Ag Secretary Lyng May Propose To Avert Jan. Milk Support Price Cut

Wire service reports out of Washington, D.C., last week indicated Secretary of Agriculture Richard Lyng no longer favors the support-price cut of 50 cents tentatively scheduled for January 1, 1989, called for in the 1985 farm bill.

The potential cut is one of three outlined in the farm law. Each hinges on U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates of the level of surplus dairy stocks the government's Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) will purchase in the years 1988, 1989 and 1990. If the annual estimate exceeds five billion pounds on a milk equivalent basis (the so-called trigger level), the law calls for a 50-cent reduction.

Last December, USDA forecast that surplus purchases in 1988 would total 7.2 billion pounds and Lyng announced the reduction — to $10.60 a hundredweight for milk of average butterfat content — in January. The impact of that cut has yet to be fully reflected in the prices received by local dairymen, who are insulated by, among other things, local over-order pricing efforts. Nevertheless, for the year as a whole, local producers should realize 25-30 cents less than they did a year ago, according to Jim Fraher, an economist for Atlantic Dairy Cooperative.

If the reports are accurate, it is the first indication that Washington bureaucrats are reconsidering the policy that, if left unchanged, would lead to a repeat of the January 1, 1988, price cut again the first of next year.

Lobbyists for the National Milk Producers Federation, a Washington-based trade organization that represents most of the nation's dairy cooperatives, are not celebrating yet, however. The federation, which in May launched a campaign to avert the cut, is continuing its efforts, according to a spokesman.

The drought, and rising feed prices, are beginning to curtail rising milk production, but a sluggish sales picture should mean that supply will continue to outpace demand in 1989, economists say. Thus, in the absence of some kind of intervention, Lyng should again have the authority to cut the support price January 1.

In May, the federation proposed that Lyng use authority available under the farm bill to implement another temporary whole herd buyout or diversion program as an alternative to cutting the support price. Although that is still a possibility, talk now focuses more on simply cancelling the 1989 cut, the spokesman said.

The proposal is one of a number of drought relief measures gaining attention in Washington this presidential election year. However, most of the other proposals would benefit farmers who sell grain for a living.

USDA has begun implementing its emergency feeding program in drought-stricken areas, a program that provides cost-share assistance to livestock farmers who grow only a fraction of their normal feedstuffs. But this type of relief will not ease what is expected to be the most damaging effect of the drought on dairy farmers nationwide, including those who have received adequate rainfall: skyrocketing feed costs.

In the past couple months, prices for soybean oil meal, a staple commercial supplement, have risen more than 30 percent and most analysts foresee further increases. Federation econnomists estimate that a 15-percent rise in feed costs has the same impact as a 50-cent decline in milk prices on dairy farmers' wallets. Producers already have absorbed one such rise; they cannot afford another, the federation spokesman said.

Farmers Can Sign Up For Conservation Reserve Program Now

Tree planting is one of the most effective and inexpensive ways to improve water quality. Foresters and wildlife biologists from the Department of Natural Resources' Forest, Park and Wildlife Service are reminding farmers that the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP) is one of the best ways to get a buffer or filter strip planted.

CRP enables a farmer to get cost-sharing for the planting and annual rental payments for establishing filter strips that are 66 feet or 99 feet in width, regardless of soil erosion. The filter strip can be planted in any combination of grasses, trees or shrubs, depending upon the farmer's choice.

"Many owners are planting trees and shrubs for wildlife habitat, even if they originally planted grasses. The whole idea of the program is to take land out of crop production," emphasized Terry Clark, chief of resource protection for Maryland's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service. He notes, "So far the Conservation Reserve Program has reduced erosion from Maryland farmland by 91,356 tons per year. CRP has given a big boost to the Chesapeake Bay clean-up."

Farmers may sign up with CRP until Friday, August 5, at their local county Agricultural Stabilization Conservation offices. In Garrett County, the phone number is 334-1901. Sign-ups began on Monday, July 18.

Alpine Lake — a great place to play; an even better place to live.

A GOOD BEGINNING — Ron and Debbie Fulk recently donated a registered Hampshire ewe lamb to the Garrett County 4-H Program. The lamb was to be given to an interested 4-H member who didn't have a sheep available for a breeding project. The member was to write a one-page essay saying why they would like the lamb and the facilities they had available to raise and keep the lamb. Debbie Fulk is pictured above with the winner of the lamb, Kista Kay Knox, the daughter of Roger and Donna Knox, Accident. Kista is eight years old and this is her first year in the Grantsville 4-H Club. She is anxious to show her ewe lamb at the Garrett County Fair. Kista is also carrying a market lamb as a 4-H project.

Drought Legislation Praised By American Farm Bureau Federation

The drought-relief packages moving through Congress "will help ease, in a compassionate and fair manner, the disastrous losses faced by farmers and ranchers," according to the American Farm Bureau Federation in the July 18 issue of "Farm Bureau News."

AFBF President Dean Kleckner said the bills developed by the two agriculture committees generally follow Farm Bureau's recommendations for drought relief. "We're pleased that the committees have developed proposals to help livestock producers and growers of program and non-program crops as well," Kleckner said.

Although the panels approved bills last week, both will discuss several provisions and possibly make some changes when they reconvene July 26. Both bills should pass by early August.

In general, the proposals would provide aid to both program and non-program crop producers who suffer a 35 percent or more loss of production. For program crops, payments would equal 65 percent of the target price or loan rate for crops without deficiency payments. For non-program crops and soybeans, payments would equal 65 percent of the average market price of the last three out of five years. Livestock producers would receive assistance to obtain feed and to compensate them for their losses.

Kleckner said the panels adopted the right approach. "The committees resisted the temptation to delve into unrelated areas of farm policy, promote special interests and make fundamental changes in the 1985 farm bill. It would have been a grievous mistake for the industry's long-term health and would have slowed needed drought assistance."

The farm leader acknowledged that the bills "aren't perfect" and need some fine-tuning. "During the week-long recess for the Democratic convention, Farm Bureau will evaluate the basic provisions of the drought-relief bills to ensure that farmers receiving benefits under these programs are treated fairly and equitably. Farm Bureau will be working with the committees' staffs to make certain the good intentions of the bills' authors are transformed into a workable, compassionate and fair drought assistance effort."

The bills would limit assistance to $50,000 for livestock producers and $100,000 for crop growers. The proposals are estimated to cost $5-8 billion; the Senate's is more costly, in part because of more generous livestock feed assistance programs.

Both bills would forego the 50-cent cut in dairy price supports next January 1, and allow program crop producers to shift some acreage into soybeans, oats and sunflowers. An attempt to raise the dairy support by $1 is expected during House Agriculture Committee consideration next week. Farm Bureau opposes the increase.

The House bill would require producers who receive drought assistance payments to buy federal crop insurance during the next two crop years. The Senate committee rejected an identical proposal.

The Senate bill includes a program to allow ethanol companies to purchase government-owned grain at a reduced price; the House bill does not. At least three ethanol plants have shut down because of rising corn prices.

The drought, which Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng called the "worst ever," continued as a priority for top government officials last week. A delegation of national and state Farm Bureau leaders met with President Reagan at the White House to express concerns over worsening drought conditions across much of the nation. Kleckner later accompanied Reagan and Lyng on a visit to a drought-stricken area in southern Illinois.

Reagan expressed support for the drought-relief packages being developed by Congress and left little doubt he will sign a bill when it reaches his desk.

"Our administration is committed to taking any action that is necessary to protect American farmers," said Reagan. "We've already taken several actions. Needless to say much more needs to be done, particularly through legislation to help those farmers who have suffered substantial losses."

The president outlined the guidelines his administration will follow in implementing drought relief. "First relief should go to those who need it most. Creating windfalls for some will mean less for the truly deserving. Second, many of our farmers purchased federal crop insurance, a sound business decision. They sould not be penalized relative to farmers who did not act with such prudence. Third, this legislation should not force farmers to do unreasonable things. No program should, for example, include any incentive for farmers to plow under their crops."

Reagan also said drought aid must fall within budget guidelines and should not change the 1985 farm law.

Kleckner told Reagan: "The nation's farmers are faced with serious drought problems and the worst crop and livestock conditions in most people's memory. Parts of all states are affected. The most serious drought problems are occurring in 30 states. Many farmers will harvest no crops, for many others the crops will be greatly reduced.

"At this time farmers need to know the kind of relief they can logically expect and who will be eligible," Kleckner said. "They don't need to know specific amounts, but they need to know with certainty that there will be assistance and that there will be fairness involved and that decisions won't be made across the board by specific state and county boundaries. Droughts don't conform to specific state and county boundaries," he added.

Kleckner praised the efforts of USDA and the bipartisan support from Congress. "This is not a partisan drought, we're all affected."

CHICKEN FOR DINNER! — These two children are watching one of the grim realities of farm life — the harvesting, either for sale or for the table, of a crop which has been raised on the farm — in this case a chicken. These children, though, will grow up with a spiritual value of the animals which produce their meat and for the soil which grows their grain and vegetables. How sad it is that all children can't gain such an understanding, instead of thinking of the animals raised on a farm as being totally unconnected to the food which magically appears on their table. (It comes from the grocery store, of course!)

June Hog Inventory Up

Inventory of all hogs and pigs in the U.S. on June 1 is estimated at 56.2 million head. This is eight percent above a year ago and 15 percent above June 1, 1986. This is the highest June 1 inventory since 1983. The breeding inventory, at 7.53 million head, is seven percent above last year and 17 percent above two years ago. The market hog inventory, at 48.7 million head, is eight percent above a year ago and 15 percent above two years ago.

The December 1987-May 1988 U.S. pig crop was 46.6 million head, eight percent above last year and 15 percent above two years ago. Sows farrowing during this six-month period, at 6.0 million were eight percent more than the previous year and 14 percent above two years ago. U.S. hog producers intend to farrow 6.20 million sows during the June-November period, and increase of seven percent from the same period in 1987 and 14 percent above two years ago. These intentions do not reflect conditions after the June 1 survey date.

CROP NOTES

I probably sound like a broken record reminding you in each Farm-O-Gram to control the potato leafhopper in your alfalfa. I still see a lot of leafhopper damage. With the plant already under serious drought stress the leafhopper could deliver the death blow.

Again, I will remind you that nitrate poisoning can occur when animals are fed drought stressed crops. We are offering free nitrate testing. Bring approximately one quart of the material to my office. Make sure you take a good random sample.

In my judgment the average oats yield may be down as much as 25 to 30 percent this year due to the drought. The grain is small and very light. Water was not available at the critical time. Corn has also been dealt a serious set back. We will be extremely lucky to have much "picking" corn.

COUNTY FARMERS — HAY FOR SALE

So far I have only had three farmers call me who have hay for sale. They are: Everett O'Brien, 387-5486; Adam Lucas, Sr., 334-4441; and Joe Swartzentruber, 334-9254.

GRAIN MARKET ANALYSIS BY JIM RUSSELL AND JIM HANSON, UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

Rain in the midwest over the last weekend demonstrated the extreme sensitivity of the markets. The rain last week was not enough to break the drought. But with the recent high prices, traders are nervous and react quickly to any news concerning rain. Most weather forecasters do not foresee the drought being broken at least in the near future. As traders realized the rain was not sufficient to break the drought, prices rebounded. On Tuesday, USDA's production report estimated this year's production for corn at 5.2 billion bushels, (down 29 percent from June), soybeans at 1.65 billion bushels (down 12 percent), and wheat at 1.84 billion bushels (down 13 percent). A number of private analysts are predicting even larger declines in yields. In Maryland, all counties have been declared disasters and eligible for emergency assistance. It is too early to tell the form of the emergency assistance. However, it does appear likely that crop insurance will not be a requirement to receive assistance. It appears most likely that prices will continue up unless unexpected weather patterns develop.

Grains In Storage Are Below Levels In Previous Years

Corn stored in all positions on June 1 in the United States is estimated at 5.83 billion bushels, eight percent below the June 1, 1987, level of 6.33 billion bushels. Old crop wheat stored in all positions June 1 is estimated at 1.27 billion bushels, down 30 percent from June 1, 1987. This is the lowest June 1 total since June 1, 1982, when 1.16 billion bushels were on hand.

Soybeans stored in all positions on June 1 totaled 655 million bushels, down 22 percent from June 1, 1987, and 23 percent below June 1, 1986. Old crop barley in all storage positions on June 1 was 321 million bushels, four percent less than June 1, 1987, stocks of 336 million bushels.

MEMORIAM

In loving memory of ARTHUR RESH, who passed away July 20, 1979.

Even death has a wonderful mission,
Though it robs us of the one we love.
It draws us from our earthly homes,
To long for the meeting above.

No matter how many our losses,
No matter how great our despair,
Heaven seems nearer and brighter,
To know we have loved ones up there.

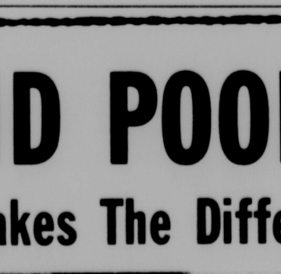

Beyond the gate our loved one
Finds happiness and rest.
And there is comfort in the thought
That a loving God knows best.

Maryland State Fair Runs From Aug. 27-Sept. 5

The 107th Maryland State Fair opens Saturday, August 27, and runs through Monday, September 5, at the Timonium Fairgrounds. This 10-day celebration will feature a wide variety of food, agricultural, dairy, livestock, arts and crafts and 4-H exhibits as well as midway thrills. Anyone who would like to enter a favorite quilt, horse, apple pie, giant pumpkin, flower, or steer can obtain the rules and regulations for each department from the Maryland State Fair Administration offices. The deadlines are as follows:

Home arts — For all entries except flowers, baked goods and candy, Thursday, August 25, noon to 9 p.m. and Friday, August 26, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Flowers — First flower show, potted plants and arrangements, Friday, August 26, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; second flower show, horticulture, gladiolus and dahlias, Wednesday, August 31 from 5 to 8 p.m.; third flower show, roses, dahlia baskets and arrangements, Sunday, September 4 from 8 to 9:30 a.m.

Baked goods and candy — First baking show; apple pie contest, children's baking, teens' baking, cookies and candies, Thursday, August 25, from noon to 9 p.m. and Friday, August 26, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; second baking show, breads, rolls, quick breads and cakes, Tuesday, August 30, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Farm and garden — Grains, eggs, hay and silage corn, fruits, honey and wax, honey wine, fruit wine, maple products, meat and dairy products, tobacco, vegetables and a new dairy products section that includes homemade hard cheese, cottage cheese and butter, Thursday, August 25, from noon to 6 p.m. and Friday, August 26, from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Christmas trees — All trees must arrive Saturday, August 27, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Livestock — Dairy cattle, beef cattle, swine, sheep, dairy goats, horse and pony, horses, ponies, equitation and children's. All entries must be made before August 1 on the form provided by the Maryland State Fair. This includes 4-H and Future Farmers of America exhibitors who wish to show in open classes. The required forms are available through the Maryland State Fair Administration Office, P.O. Box 188, Timonium, MD 21093.

Horse pulling — Teams must be on the grounds by 3 p.m. the day of the pull so they can be weighed and declared officially in the contest. Entry blanks are available at the Maryland State Fair office. Judging is Saturday, September 3 at 7:30 p.m. for light teams and Sunday, September 4 at 7:30 for heavy teams.

Draft horses and mules — Entries must be made before August 1 on the entry form provided by the fair. This includes 4-H and FFA exhibitors who wish to show in open classes.

4-H entries — All entries for dairy, beef, horse, ponies, sheep, swine, goats, poultry and rabbits must be made on regulation 4-H/FFA entry blanks, signed by the exhibitor, certified by the county Extension agent or vocational agriculture teacher and received by the state 4-H office by August 1.

Entries for 4-H home economics, arts and science and agricultural products divisions must be signed by the exhibitor, certified by the county 4-H agent or FFA adviser and received at the county Extension office by August 1.

For further information regarding the 1988 Maryland State Fair schedule, entry forms, premium books, shows and awards contact the Maryland State Fair, P.O. Box 188, Timonium, MD 21093, or phone 301-252-0200.

FARM BUREAU PICNIC — The Garrett County Farm Bureau held its annual picnic on Sunday, July 17, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds with special guests Donald and Leona Dell, of Westminister in Carroll County, attending. Leona Dell, the Maryland State Women's Committee chairman, brought greetings from the Maryland Farm Bureau and told the group that she was thrilled to hear that there were at least five contestants in the Garrett County Farm Queen Contest this year. "Farm girls are getting scarce, you know," she said. After a picnic lunch, Farm Bureau members were treated to some good fiddle music by fellow Farm Bureau members (below, left to right) Bernice Broadwater, and Alta and Alan Birkby. The Women's Committee held a brief meeting to make final plans and arrangements for the Farm Queen Contest which will be held on Sunday, August 14, at the Garrett County Fair, beginning at 8 p.m. Garrett County Farm Bureau officers and guests, pictured above, left to right, are: front row, Fannie Mae Kolb, Women's Committee secretary; Donald Dell; Leona Dell, State Women's Committee chairman; Jean Wright, Women's Committee co-chairman; William F. DeWitt, Farm Bureau president; and Kate Fratz, Women's Committee co-chairman; back row, Clark Kolb, Farm Bureau secretary; and Bill Aiken, Garrett County Farm Bureau member and West Virginia Farm Bureau field man. At a Farm Bureau directors' meeting Friday night, eight directors discussed the drought situation in the county, and made plans to approach the Extension Office, the ASCS Office and the Commissioners with a suggestion that could help those farmers hit the hardest by the drought. Other business discussed included the Farm Bureau Information Booth placed by the group each year at the Garrett County Fair.

Lakeside Aviation, Inc.

Your FAA approved and fully equipped 24-hour On-Demand Charter Aircraft ready to serve you at the Garrett County Airport.

The aircraft offers accommodations of up to five persons and boasts a comfortable climate controlled cabin for your enjoyment as you cruise at over 200 m.p.h.

The plane is piloted by Lakeside's Chief Pilot, Tom Glotfelty, who has logged over 2,500 hours during his 13 years flying experience to and from the Mountain Top.

Special Rates are available to BWI, National and Dulles. Time enroute approx. 45 min. Rate, $275.00. Pittsburgh International. Time enroute approx. 25 min. Rate, $175.00. Special Rate to Ocean City. Time enroute approx. 1 hr., 15 min. Rate, $450 for up to 5 people, less than $100 per person. Charters are available to and from the Garrett Airport to or from any point USA.

CONSIDERATIONS TO BE MADE WHEN CHARTERING VS. COMMERCIAL OR COMMUTER:

- Direct nonstop flights when and where you need to go.
- You are chartering the plane to provide personal service, not buying a seat.
- You have the option of holding the plane at the destination airport.
- Practically every public airport can accommodate our aircraft, enabling us to expedite your total transportation time.

ADDITIONAL SERVICES AT LAKESIDE:

AERIAL BANNERS: Business owners; this season take advantage of an aerial advertising banner and market a larger volume of consumer for your advertising dollar!

SCENIC RIDES: These are offered daily at the airport when weather permits. If you have'nt seen Deep Creek Lake and the surrounding countryside from the air, you just have'nt seen it!

FLIGHT INSTRUCTION: You can obtain your private pilot rating at the Garrett Airport. We currently have 12 active students and are presently winding up our spring ground school classes at the college. There's no better time to start your flying lesson than now!

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY: If you've ever thought of obtaining an aerial portrait of your business, home or property, don't hesitate, call us for a portrait you can afford. (Photos in cooperation with Crabtree Photography).

We at Lakeside would like to extend a warm welcome for you to call or just stop by the airport so that we may answer any questions you may have concerning our services.

Sincerely,

Tom Glotfelty

CREATING HABITAT FOR DUCKS — Maryland, as well as the rest of the nation, is rapidly losing the type of habitat used by ducks when they are nesting or migrating, according to Forest, Parks, and Wildlife Biologist Al Bourgeois, pictured above, left, with Jim Schlossnagle, former SCS district conservationist. This spring, the Department of Natural Resources Forest, Parks and Wildlife division requested the cooperation of the Garrett County Soil Conservation District and the Garrett Soil Conservation Service by assisting with the engineering and design of a 5½-acre pond. Bourgeois says the pond serves two purposes: to encourage waterfowl, and nesting, on public lands, and to use this shallow-water project as a demonstration project. The Mt. Nebo project, which is the only one like it in the county at this time, was funded from money collected through the Maryland Duck Stamp. Bourgeois explained that the law states that 50 percent of that Duck Stamp money must go toward habitat improvement on public lands. Schlossnagle explained that the pond is rather unique in that all the brush was allowed to stay, and of the 5½ acres, only 1¼ of those acres is under deep water. Bourgeois says that ponds like this have great value — that shallow impoundments are beneficial to all types of ducks. Mallards, wood ducks, black ducks and dabbling ducks, that feed off of the bottom of the pond as well as feed on insects from off the top of the water, find this type of pond appealing. The large snapping turtle below also finds the pond appealing, but Bourgeois says these turtles are detrimental to the habatit in that they eat young ducklings soon after they are hatched.

NESTING AND MIGRATING are the two most important uses provided to ducks by shallow-water pounds like the one constructed this spring at Mt. Nebo. The 5½-acre pond is constructed to allow the water level to be raised or lowered. After the broods are hatched in mid June, the water level can be lowered to let vegetation grow. The water level can be raised again in September to provide food and cover for migrating ducks. Other added attractions at the pond are nesting boxes (below) built for wood ducks. These ducks normally nest in cavities, and the nesting boxes provide that habitat where it is not available. It has been found that ducks hatched in such a box will return to that same area, sometimes that same box, to hatch their own brood. Wildlife Biologist Al Bourgeois stressed that technical assistance is available for pond construction, and interested persons should call his office at Mt. Nebo Wildlife Area for information and a demonstration.

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on August 4, 1988, at 7:30 in the Planning Commission Meeting Room (Third Floor, Old Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket SE-183: an application made by Mr. Donald L. Grove for a Special Exception Permit to allow the replacement of a mobile home with a new and larger mobile home on his property located on Pritts Road in the Green Glade area of Deep Creek Lake (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-194: an application made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFarland for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard setback requirement for residences. Specifically the McFarlands are requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to their residence which would extend to within ten feet of the side property line instead of the required fifteen feet. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

3) Docket VR-195: an application made by Mr. John Mack for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the rear yard set back requirement for residences. Specifically Mr. Mack is requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to his residence which would extend to within five feet of the Penelec line instead of the required forty feet. The property is located on Deep Creek Drive (Zoned LR).

4) Docket VR-196: an application made by Mr. and Mrs. Girard Grater for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the front yard set back requirement for garages. Specifically, the Graters are requesting a Variance to allow construction of a garage which would extend to within fifteen feet of the front property line instead of the required 25 feet. The property is located on South Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

5) Docket VR-197: an application made by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hondru for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the front yard set back requirement for residences. Specifically, the Hondrus are requesting a Variance to allow construction of a residence which would extend to within thirty feet of the rear property line instead of the required 40 feet. The property is located in the Blakeslee Development (Zoned LR).

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE

Take notice that the Town of Oakland, on the 11th day of July, 1988, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as Leighton Addition Country Club Acres. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND:
RESOLUTION NO. 002
(ANNEXATION NO. 3 LEIGHTON ADDITION COUNTRY CLUB ACRES)

WHEREAS, after informal public meetings, petitions have been presented to the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Oakland to enlarge the copo rate boundaries of the Town by the annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries being the area known as Leighton Addition Country Club Acres; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the signatures upon said petitions and have ascertained that the persons signing the petitions represent at least twenty five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered voters in county elections in the precinct or precincts in which the territory to be annexed is located, and the owners of at least twenty five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of real property located in the area to be annexed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

BEGINNING at a concrete monument found in the easterly margin of the Oakland Sang Run Road at the end of the eleventh line of the Corporate Line of the Town of Oakland passed 9 June, 1952; thence, with the 11th line reversed, South 29 degrees 10 minutes West, 185.80 feet to a point in said margin; thence, with a part of the 10th line thereof, South 66 degrees 50 minutes East, 384.80 feet to a found concrete monument; thence, North 23 degrees 59 minutes East, 50.69 feet to a found one inch pipe; thence, North 23 degrees 17 minutes East, 4,508.60 feet to a 1¼ inch iron pipe found at the corner of the state game lands; thence, six lines with the state game lands, South 44 degrees 38 minutes West, 705.69 feet to a found 1¼ inch pipe; North 30 degrees 44 minutes West, 272.60 feet to a set concrete monument marked No. 105; South 44 degrees 25 minutes West, 221.79 feet to a found stone marked DMP; North 30 degrees 01 minute West, 3,032.82 feet to a found planted stone; North 30 degrees 01 minute West, 32.08 feet to a set concrete monument marked No. 287; North 30 degrees 01 minute West, 28.16 feet to the centerline of the Oakland Sang Run Road; thence, with the meanderings of said road to a point at the end of the fifth line of Jeffrey L. Orr (Liber 487, Folio 395); thence, three lines with Orr, South 85 degrees 59 minutes West, 23.97 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; South 85 degrees 59 minutes West, 209.88 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; South 05 degrees 13 minutes East, 209.83 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; thence, South 86 degrees 12 minutes West, 2110.82 feet to a drill hole in a rock at the corner of Mon Valley Coal & Lumber Co.; thence, South 00 degrees 37 minutes West, 620.48 feet to the centerline of AT&T's right of way; thence, six lines with said centerline, South 83 degrees 10 minutes West, 198.91 feet; South 81 degrees 33 minutes West, 534.17 feet; South 81 degrees 22 minutes West, 202.39 feet; South 66 degrees 53 minutes West, 151.13 feet; south 67 degrees 17 minutes West, 138.34 feet; North 87 degrees 54 minutes West, 155.82 feet to the centerline of the Youghiogheny River; thence, upstream with the meanderings of said river to the nexus of the Little Youghiogheny River; thence, upstream with the meanderings of the Little Youghiogheny River to the centerline of the Rosedale Bridge and in the existing corporation limits of the Town of Oakand; thence, 13 lines with said limits, North 28 degrees 14 minutes East, 187.70 feet; North 24 degrees 31 minutes West, 129.65 feet; North 15 degrees 42 minutes West, 339.84 feet; North 18 degrees 18 minutes West, 1,252.70 feet; North 18 degrees 19 minutes West, 177.00 feet; North 37 degrees 04 minutes East, 445.32 feet to a found concrete monument; North 37 degrees 51 minutes East, 431.00 feet; North 45 degrees 03 minutes East, 3,259.30 feet to a point in the easterly margin of the Oakland Sang Run Road; thence, five lines with said margin, South 10 degrees 34 minutes West, 367.79 feet; South 20 degrees 27 minutes West, 503.78 feet; South 25 degrees 14 minutes East, 381.67 feet; South 01 degree 02 minutes West, 417.37 feet; South 01 degree 42 minutes West, 232.13 feet to the beginning, containing 341.55 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban Residential (SR), and that there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban Residential, and inasmuch as the definitions of Suburban Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial differrence between the definitions and features of Suburban Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and development plan, and Suburban Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED THIS 11th day of November, 1988.

Linda Everd, Town Clerk

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 11th day of November, 1988.

Robert E. Watson
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, and the annexation, on the 22nd day of August, 1988, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 109 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 at 7:30 p.m.

By the Authority of Mayor and Town Council
of Oakland
By its Town Council,
Robert E. Watson

PUBLIC NOTICE

Take notice that the Town of Oakland, on the 28th day of June, 1988, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as Third Street South. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND.
RESOLUTION NO. 001
(ANNEXATION NO. 2-THIRD STREET SOUTH)

WHEREAS, after informal public meetings, petitions have been presented to the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Oakland to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by the annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries being the area known as Third Street South; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the signatures upon said petitions and have ascertained that the persons signing the petitions represent at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered voters in county elections in the precinct or precincts in which the territory to be annexed is located, and the owners of at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of real property located in the area to be annexed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 7 and 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, being at the south end of Third Street.

BEGINNING at a concrete monument found at the fourteenth corner of the old Oakland Town Limits being in the easterly margin of Tower Street; thence, by two courses with the fourteenth line of said Town Limits, South 55 degrees 10 minutes East, 928.58 feet to a concrete monument found in the westerly margin of South Third Street; thence, crossing said Street, South 67 degrees 05 minutes East, 43.35 feet to a concrete monument found at the fifteenth corner of said old Town Limits, being in the easterly margin of said Third Street and being in the westerly line of Cynthia Barnes, et al (Liber 394, Folio 218); thence, with the fifteenth line of said old Town Limits, North 38 degrees 10 minutes East, 398.92 feet to a concrete monument found at the sixteenth corner of said old Town Limits; thence, with part of the sixteenth line of said old Town Limits, South 66 degrees 17 minutes East, 306.74 feet to a 4-inch iron pipe with concrete in the center found at a northwesterly corner of John M. Forman (Liber 397, Folio 362 and Liber 434, Folio 726); thence, leaving said old Town Limits by the new Town Limits, South 22 degrees 35 minutes West, 119.90 feet to a 4-inch iron pipe with concrete in the center found at a southeasterly corner of said Forman; thence, South 35 degrees 38 minutes West, 450.21 feet to a set concrete monument with a copper center marked #816; thence, South 13 degrees 08 minutes West, 1099.83 feet to a concrete monument with a copper center marked #810 set at the northeasterly corner of George Hanst (Liber 125, Folio 135); thence, two courses with said Hanst, South 23 degrees 34 minutes West, 121.88 feet to a concrete monument with a copper center marked #811 set at the southeasterly corner of said Hanst; thence, North 66 degrees 25 minutes West, 426.50 feet to a concrete monument marked #812 set in the westerly margin of said Third Street; thence, with said westerly margin, South 33 degrees 26 minutes West, 189.07 feet to a planted stone marked #TS-1883 found in the westerly margin of said Third Street and in the northerly margin of Totten Street; thence, with said northerly margin, North 48 degrees 10 minutes West, 1365.23 feet to a concrete monument with a copper center marked #778 set in place of a ¾ inch pipe found at the southwesterly corner of Gary R. Defendants
NO. 1221 CIVIL ACTION
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR GARRETT COUNTY MARYLAND

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this proceeding is to secure the foreclosure of all rights of redemption in the following property situate in Election District No. 6, Garrett County, Maryland, sold by the Collector of Taxes for Garrett County and State of Maryland to MARTIN C. LOWERS and SARAH B. LOWERS, his wife:

ALL that lot, piece or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 6, known and designated as Lot No. 47, Section 4, Block B, as shown on a revised plat of Piney Mountain Corporation recorded in Drawer 2, File 9, one of the Plat Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and described in a deed from Piney Mountain Corporation to Thomas P. McGrath, recorded June 17, 1977, in Liber No. 376, Folio 735 &c., one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The Plaintiffs state, among other things, that the amounts for redemption have not been paid, although more than one year and one day from the date of sale has expired.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 24th day of June, 1988, by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, ORDERED that notice be given by the insertion of a copy of this Order in some newspaper having a general circulation in Garrett County, once a week for four successive weeks before the 22nd day of July, 1988, warning all persons interested in the said property to be and appear in this Court by the 24th day of August, 1988, and redeem the property and answer the Complaint, or thereafter a Judgment will be rendered foreclosing all rights of redemption in the property, and vesting in the Plaintiffs a title, free and clear of all encumbrances.

Governor Irked By Land Plan Implications

In the state's effort to protect land adjacent to Deep Creek Lake State Park, a 70-acre tract was donated to the state Wednesday to protect it from further development.

It was reported that the Board of Public Works accepted the donation from the owners despite negative comments from Governor William Donald Schaefer.

The Governor was apparently unhappy that 70 acres of state property will now have to be sold to avoid exceeding a cap on the amount of land the state can own in Garrett County. The Governor himself signed legislation that provided a "no net gain" clause to protect the state and the county.

The land was donated to the Maryland Environmental Trust by the family of the late Fulcher P. Smith, who had requested that the land maintain its natural surroundings. Developers had reportedly attempted to buy the land without success.

Mike Nelson, assistant secretary of the Department of Natural Resources, told the board that the 70 acres the state will sell to offset the Meadow Mountain tract will come from a bank of 2,200 acres designated as excess state property in Garrett County.

Gov. Schaefer snapped at Nelson that he "wasn't happy to make the forced sales up there. You just do what you want. You just walk all over me with this stuff."

Nelson said after the meeting that he had already met with

A VISIT FROM TED KOPPEL — When four-year-old Ronnie Nieman left his Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., home yesterday afternoon to be treated at the emergency room of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, it is unlikely that he expected to be visited there by none other than Ted Koppel of ABC News. Koppel toured the hospital and then attended an informal reception, at which he was named Honorary Chairman of the hospital's current Capital Campaign. A part-time resident of Garrett County, Koppel also presented a personal check to the campaign and commented on the "warm, caring nature" of the hospital staff and the "outstanding" medical care being provided by the hospital to its patients. The father of four children, Koppel noted that trips to various emergency rooms were common in his family. His daughter, Tara, was treated at Garrett Memorial several years ago after being injured in a sled riding accident. Koppel's pledge, and several others that have come into the Capital Campaign office this past week, raised the total pledges and donations to $817,502 toward the goal of $1,000,000. Also in the photo is Ronnie's mother, Peggy Nieman, whose husband is Richard Nieman.

Conference Center Planned At Wisp By Rolling Ridge Joint Venture

In response to the State's need for a first-class hotel and conference center in Western Maryland, Rolling Ridge Joint Venture, a member of the Baltimore based DeChiaro-Rachuba Group, has unveiled its plans for a new facility to be built at Deep Creek Lake.

The hotel/conference center, called "Overlook at Wisp," will be perched atop Marsh Mountain overlooking the Lake and Wisp Ski Area. The Hotel is part of the overall plan to expand the Wisp Resort which presently includes the ski area with 14½ miles of slopes on 23 trails, a 167-room base lodge with swimming pool, restaurant, lounge, and an 18-hole championship golf course.

Also included is Rachuba Enterprises "Villages of Wisp," a community of 325 townhomes built along the ski slopes and "Waterside at Wisp," a collection of 45 lakefront and lake access home sites.

According to a spokesman for DeChiaro-Rachuba, the hotel will feature 150 rooms, 11,500 square feet of conference area and banquet facilities to serve up to 300 guests. Other amenities will include, restaurant, lounge, swimming, saunas, and tennis. Because of the unique location on top of the mountain, each suite, as well as the conference rooms, will have views of Deep Creek Lake. Furthermore, guests will have

GAMBLE ROGERS, one of the nation's most recognized storytellers, will bring his special brand of entertainment to the Garrett Community College stage next Friday evening, August 5, as part of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival. Also a humorist, musician, and author, Rogers has been compared to Mark Twain and Will Rogers. He has made numerous television and stage appearances, has recorded three albums, and has written several plays for radio, television, and theatre. He will conduct a free lecture at 3 p.m. at the GCC auditorium and his performance will be at 8 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $5 for adults and $2 for children and students. Performing this Friday night, July 29, will be the Clan Campbell Pipe Band and Highland dancers, followed by a performance by Partners Dance Company this Saturday night, July 30. Next Wednesday evening, also at the college, the Appalachian Brass Quintet will present "Brass on the Grass" at 6 p.m. Ticket prices are the same for all performances and reservations may be made by calling Englander's Pharmacy, Deep Creek Lake Pharmacy, or Garrett Community College. See story on page A-3.

Avilton Area Man Injured In House Fire; Arson Charges Pending

Two Garrett County houses were damaged by fire this past week, one allegedly a result of arson in which the suspect was hospitalized with second degree burns.

According to Guy Carola, fire investigator for Garrett County, arson charges are pending against Raymond E. Stark, 39, whose residence is located along the Avilton-Lonaconing Road south of Grantsville.

Volunteer firefighters from Eastern Garrett, Grantsville, and Frostburg fire departments were called to the scene at 9:06 p.m. Monday and discovered heavy smoke coming from the one-story frame house. Stark was found lying in a field near the house with second degree burns on his hands and legs. He was transported to Memorial Hospital in Cumberland where he was originally listed in "stable" condition.

A Maryland State trooper was dispatched to the residence at 5:30 the same evening after a report of a domestic disturbance involving Stark and his wife. According to reports, Stark had become upset and made a number of threats before allegedly setting the fire in two different places in the house. Mrs. Stark had left the residence before the fire broke out.

It was reported that Stark has been despondent since the untimely death of his son, Ronald, in an automobile accident several weeks ago.

Carola stated that it appeared a fire had been started in the basement and another in an enclosed porch area. He estimated damages to be up to $80,000.

Also responding to the scene were the Frostburg Area Ambulance and the Northern Rescue Squad. No other injuries were reported.

Carola, the state police, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, and the Garrett County State's Attorney's Office are conducting the investigation. Robert B. Thomas Jr., deputy chief state fire marshal, stated that the decision on whether or not charges will be brought against Stark lies with the State's Attorney's Office.

Firemen remained on the scene until some time after 11 p.m. The Garrett County air cascade vehicle, presently being housed at the Oakland VFD, also responded.

Friendsville House Damaged

A house near Friendsville sustained an estimated $5,000 damage on Sunday evening when the living room was gutted by a fire believed to have been started by an extension cord.

Friendsville and Deep Creek firemen, along with the air cascade unit from Oakland and the Northern Rescue Squad,

Friendsville Day Plans Finalized

The Community Volunteer Fire Company of Friendsville will be coordinating Friendsville Day '88 Saturday, August 6, a spin-off event from the Friendsville Festival previously sponsored by the Town and Community Women of Friendsville.

Various activities are being planned to provide the community with an afternoon and evening of events. Starting at noon the firemen have planned a parade with fire and rescue equipment attending from the tri-state area, antique vehicles and community organizations and various other groups will be participating. The parade route will end at the Friendsville Elementary School grounds where over 20 community groups will be set up to provide foods and games for all ages.

All-day games will be held in the cafeteria while horseshoe-pitching contests and train rides will highlight outdoor activities. On the stage, a "top 40's" band will perform followed by a talent show for all ages and open to everyone. A local square-dance band will perform in the late afternoon and evening entertainment will include a local country-western band. The day will close with a fireworks display.

For more information, persons may contact Terry Spear at 746-5291 or Rod Bowser at 746-5576.

Commissioners Remain Firm On Prior Commitment To SHS Project

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced Tuesday that they would continue to support the Southern High School Renovation project, but at the level of local funding they approved previously — $2.2 million.

That announcement came just after the commissioners heard over 30 minutes of comments from some 50 local citizens. Most of those attending voiced favor for floating a bond for what they termed "a necessary project for the growth of the community."

Local businessman Clint Englander, who organized the citzens' group, spoke first. "We thought we should have a chance to protest this hasty decision made by the commissioners," he stated. "It seems that the commissioners are more interested in services we require rather than add a nickel or a dime to our tax bills for this necessary renovation and an auditorium."

Englander continued, "An auditorium is necessary to carry out the education process."

He cited forensics, music and drama as part of that process. "If we don't give the students the proper tools, we can't expect them to do their best."

Arthur Naylor, representing several businesses, said, "As a businessman I'm willing to have more taxes. I'm willing to be bonded for this worthwhile project."

Former Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, now a local businessman, said he suggested a bond issue some months ago. "The commissioners argue that if we float a bond now, we'll have to pay back twice as much . . . actually we'll probably save money because of increased construction costs at a later date. Also, the commissioners said we were never bonded for school projects before. That's not true. Before state-sponsored school construction some 20 years ago or more we always floated bonds for school construction."

Kathy Johnson compared the situation to that of the local hospital. "For years we took the band-aid approach to hospital renovation and things just got worse," she said. "When the hospital was finally renovated under a bond issue it was the best thing that ever happened to the institution. Can't we do the same thing for our kids?"

Senior citizen Jenny Mandrovsky said she was one of many on fixed incomes and that any increase to the construction and budget would serve as "an investment for the future of Garrett County."

She continued, "We can't expect to attract people we want . . . lawyers, teachers . . . if Southern High School falls somewhat short."

Marshal Stacey, county tree farmer, stated, "Now is the time to do something. We're looking at a timetable and we could lose our number one position on the state's school construction list if we don't act now. Down the road, rather than 25 percent as the local share, we could face 50-55 percent as our cost. It's not going to get cheaper."

Dayle Dabney, pre-school instructor, asked Commissioner Chairman John Braskey if the additional development in the county wouldn't increase the tax base. Braskey said that the county would feel the effects of increased development over the next few years. "You have to remember that services will also increase for these develop-

Fair - August 7-13

Garrett County Fair Moved Ahead One Week After Scheduling Mix-up

The whole county is buzzing this week over an announcement made Tuesday morning by the Garrett County Fair Board that the dates of the 1988 fair have been changed.

Originally scheduled for August 14 through 20 (the second "full" week in August), a mix-up was discovered early this week that meant Gambill Amusements was scheduled to be in two places the same week. After considering all the options during an emergency fair board meeting Monday night, it was decided that the best solution was to change the week of the fair to August 7 through 13.

According to Tom Gambill, office manager of Gambill Amusements, the mix-up involved what constituted the second "full week" in August.

"There was a mix-up in scheduling, and the rides were scheduled to be two places at one time," Gambill said, "and rather than subcontract for rides of lesser quality, we've asked the fair board to adjust their date accordingly."

Loretta Opel, speaking for the

SOME 50 CONCERNED CITIZENS crowded into the Board of Garrett County Commissioners meeting room on Tuesday to voice their concerns about the endangered Southern High School Renovation Project. All those who spoke said they were willing to pay higher taxes to support the complete funding of the Board of Education's most recent request of $4.9 million. Last week, the commissioners voted to fund $2.2 million of the project which would be added to the state's share of $4 million. The Board of Education argued that over $6 million was not enough and called it a "Band-Aid" approach. The commissioners, in their decision, cited equity with Northern High School and affordability of the total project. Some of the citizens countered the equity argument with the "deplorable conditions of many elementary schools in the Southern end of the county while the Northern end enjoyed mostly new schools." One local educator commented, "Loch Lynn School isn't fit for chickens to live in." Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools, said last week that if the commissioners did not up their share, that he would recommend not pursuing the project. If that occurs, Garrett County will lose its first-place status on the state's school construction list. Shown below, citizens listen intently, and with much apprehension, to the pleas of their peers to renovate "even if it means floating a bond to do it." Dr. Ryscavage said this morning that the decision whether or not to pursue the project this year would be made at the August board meeting. "I'm very, very disappointed with the commissioners' decision," Ryscavage stated. "I do not see how we can do the project with this kind of allocation. Who do we short? The special ecuation kids who are using a closet for a restroom? The kids in machine shop who work in crowded, dark, somewhat dangerous conditions? The college-prep kids in their already inadequate laboratories? The athletic department? I'm not ready to make those kinds of decisions. Three months' hard work have gone into identifying what we really need at Southern High School. We have attempted to meet the needs of all the students so as not to short any of them. Anyone who visits Southern High School can easily detect the needs — it doesn't take an expert."

Black Bear Is Local Uninvited Dinner Guest

A local woman reported that a black bear invited himself to dinner at her home last Friday.

The woman was frying bacon at her home in Altamont when she heard a commotion at her back screen door. She opened the door to find a large black bear on her porch.

The woman called Garrett Central Alarm, and personnel from the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the Department of Natural Resources were dispatched to the location.

The bear fled into the woods when the authorities arrived.

Appalachian Quintet Will Present "Brass On The Grass" For GLAF

A concert on the grass to accompany picnic suppers will be performed for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival when the Appalachian Brass Quintet appears on the lawn of Garrett Community College at 6 p.m. next Wednesday, August 3. Billed as "Basket, Blankets, and Brass on the Grass," the event is the first of its kind to be held in this area.

People are encouraged to bring their picnic suppers, blankets or lawn chairs, and listen to the music of the brass quintet while they dine. Hot dogs and other refreshments will be sold at the concession stand. Special lighting and decorations will transform the College green into an outdoor concert arena. In the event of rain, the concert will be held in the Student Center.

The Appalachian Brass Quintet is comprised of musicians from the School of Music at West Virginia University, most of them members of the graduate faculty. They are John Winkler and Ed Miltenberger, trumpet; Christine Limb, horn; Richard E. Powell, trombone; and John Wolffe, tuba. The quintet has played at concerts and weddings in Morgantown, Annapolis, Fairfax, Va., and the Washington, D.C. area.

Patterned after the Canadian Brass, their program will include a variety of music, from classical to semi-classical, and from Dixieland to pops.

Tickets for the concert will be available at the outdoor box office at $5 for adults and $2 for children and students. Anyone desiring further information should call 301-387-6666.

State Police Note Mishaps, Several Get DWI Charge

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week investigated several motor vehicle accidents which resulted in drivers being charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

A single-vehicle accident last Friday on U.S. Route 50 resulted in the DWI charge.

According to police reports, Chris L. Sisler, 26, Aurora, W.Va., was operating a 1986 Chevrolet Camaro when he failed to negotiate a right turn. The vehicle struck an embankment and continued on, then struck a guide wire to a telephone pole, overturned, slid back onto the road, and came to rest on its top.

Tpr. P.R. Brown investigated the incident, charging Sisler with DWI and failing to keep to the right of the center line.

A single-vehicle accident Sunday also resulted in the DWI charge.

Police said Christopher H. Beitzel, 18, Accident, was westbound on Mosser Road, McHenry, in a 1987 Ford Taurus. Beitzel failed to negotiate a sharp left turn, causing the vehicle to skid for approximately 30 feet before striking a guardrail.

The mishap was investigated by Tpr. Brown, who charged Beitzel with driving while under the influence of alcohol, failing to control the speed of his vehicle, and a seat belt violation.

John L. Tasker, 21, Washington, D.C., was charged with DWI following a single-vehicle accident on Route 135 on Saturday.

According to police reports, Tasker was operating a 1970 Volkswagon Beetle which was traveling east on Route 135 around 2:30 a.m.. Tasker stated that the steering went out of his vehicle, causing it to run off the right side of the road and strike an embankment before coming to rest.

Tpr. Brown investigated the accident, charging Tasker with driving while under the influence of alcohol, negligent driving, and driving an unregistered vehicle.

Elbert R. Bittinger, 67, Grantsville was charged with driving while intoxicated when his hay truck overturned on Route 40 yesterday.

According to police, the truck broke down near the Sidling Creek Bridge. As Bittinger attempted to roll the truck, it hit the shoulder of the road and tipped over, dumping the load of hay.

A two-vehicle accident occurred last Wednesday on the Mattingly Hill Road.

Police said Celeste M. Lascaris, 65, Oakland, was northbound in a 1983 Cadillac Seville, which was followed by a 1988 Toyota Land Cruiser operated by John W. Cooper, 42, Davis, W.Va.

LaScaris slowed her vehicle for a wide load vehicle coming the other direction and moved to the right. However, Cooper failed to see that the LaScaris vehicle had slowed down, and struck it from the rear.

Cpl. Richard Graham investigated the accident, charging Cooper with failing to control the speed of his vehicle. LaScaris was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad following the mishap, where she was treated and released according to a spokesman.

Oakland Police Note Arrests

The Oakland City Police Department this week reported two arrests.

Joseph G. Glass, 52, Springfield, W. Va., was arrested Monday around 10 p.m. in Oakland by Cpl. E.L. Alexander for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Robert D. Upole, 19, Eglon, W.Va., was arrested by Officer Gary Kroll for giving a false statement to a police officer. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail and released on $150 bond.

Gamble Rogers To Bring Special Brand Of Entertainment to GLAF

One of the South's best known entertainers, Gamble Rogers, of Florida, will be in the spotlight of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival on Friday, August 5, for an evening performance of storytelling, music, and humor in the air-conditioned auditorium of Garrett Community College at 8 p.m. Earlier that day, at 3 p.m., Rogers will conduct "A Liar's Workshop" in the auditorium, free to the public, showing how song, story, and guitar-picking are interwoven in the creation of the tall tale.

Described by journalists from coast to coast as ..."an American treasure,"..."an awesome talent,"..."worthy of inclusion in the Smithsonian," Rogers considers himself a modern day troubadour and folk singer. "I have been incredibly fortunate in being able to make my living doing what I love–entertaining," he states.

Rogers first came to national prominence as an early member of the Serendipity Singers, playing lead acoustic and electric guitars and banjo. Music led to storytelling, as the band asked Gamble to be their spokesperson, introducing and verbally setting the stage for their songs when they appeared on "The Tonight Show," "Hootenany," and "The Ed Sullivan Show."

His career has expanded as a solo performer to include song writer, recording artist, author of television drama, and television and stage actor. He has been featured on National Public Radio's award-winning news magazine, "All Things Considered:" in the Fall of 1985 he co-hosted and starred in "AT&T Presents--Carnegie Hall Tonight;" and he recently authored and appeared in his one-man play for theatre, "Oklawaha County Laissez–Faire."

Taking an idea from William Faulkner's fictional Yoknapatawpha County, Rogers has created Oklawaha County, Florida, as the mythical setting for his comic narratives. Here his delightful fictitious characters romp—among them Agamemnon Jones, down-home philosopher, Still Bill the "square root or sorriness," who owns a three–legged dog named "Flat Tire," and his wife War Bunny.

"What I'm trying to do is create an apocryphal community populated by a colorful cast of characters, stitching the whole thing together with mock-heroic rhetoric, evangelical rantings, storytelling, music, home truth, and humor," Rogers states.

To complete the storytelling weekend for the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Dr. Gail Herman of Sky Valley will conduct two workshops on Saturday, August 6. The first of these, "Storytelling for Children," scheduled for 10:30 a.m. will focus on the use of mime, music and movement in storytelling. A registration fee of $2 will be collected at the door.

The second workshop, "Organic Storytelling: The Oral Tradition Revisited," scheduled for 11:45 a.m., is free to the public.

Funding for the workshops has been made possible in part through a grant from the Maryland Humanities Council, an affiliate of the National Endowment for Humanities. Tickets for the Gamble Rogers evening performance will be available at the door at $5 for adults and $2 for children and students. Reservations are recommended by calling 301-387-6666, 301-334-9455, or 301-387-5300. Seats will be held for those making reservations until 7:45 the evening of the performance.

"MILK — AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK!" gives Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess Rebecca Sue Cummings the energy she needs to jump rope with her sister, Elaine, left, who was last year's Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess, and her mother, Ivadine. Rebecca will be present at the Garrett County Fair, in the dairy barn, August 7-13, to pass out samples of milk punch and cheese spread, and to answer questions regarding "America's finest health food — milk!" Today, Rebecca is in Frederick competing for the title of Maryland State Dairy Princess. Rebecca, like every girl who has served as Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess in the past, will make the county proud to have such an able ambassador for the dairy industry.

Will They Regret It?

The Garrett County Commissioners' verdict on the Southern High School renovation project is in, and we believe they may have made a mistake.

While we recognize that the commissioners are in a most difficult position, and that coming up with approximately three million additional dollars would present a real strain on the budget, we also believe that by not providing the extra funding we will face a much greater, more expensive problem within the next few years. We agree with Dr. Jerome Ryscavage when he says that, unless the additional funding is allocated, the renovation project at Southern will be nothing more than a "Band-Aid" effort, one which he personally does not want to pursue. Unless the job is done right the first time, it will undoubtedly lead to necessary, more costly efforts in the near future. It would be disastrous if we were suddenly faced with an irreparable high school building.

According to statistics from the commissioners' office, if the county provided the extra monies via a bond issue, the tax rate would increase by 13 cents the first year. While this would be a relatively large increase, we think it is warranted, because education is, in our minds, the single most important item in the county budget.

We also believe that the timing is perfect for this step because of the vast development now underway in the county, particularly in the Deep Creek Lake area. All of this will have a profoundly positive impact on the county's tax base, which will force the tax rate down. While we agree with Commissioner John Braskey that some of that increased tax revenue will have to go toward providing more services to accommodate the new development, we do not believe that it will take the bulk of the additional funds.

As far as the issue of equity between the southern and northern segments of the county goes, we believe that it should not be an issue. It is true that the renovation of Northern High School had to be accomplished with only the funds available. But it is also true that the project was funded entirely with state money, a luxury that is no longer available.

Secondly, the students and staff at Northern are now having to live with the inefficiencies and problems caused by having to cut so many corners.

Third, the Southern High School complex is larger than Northern's, meaning more expense, and costs for renovation are higher now than they were when Northern's project was done.

It was also noted at the commissioners' meeting Tuesday that the elementary schools in the northern portion of the county are newer and in far better condition than several in the southern portion, such as Loch Lynn and Red House.

Perhaps there is merit to the suggestion that still more money be obtained by the bond issue that could be awarded to the northern schools for other educational needs.

We understand the commissioners' reasoning on this matter, but we think that this decision will become a regrettable one in the near future.

The President's Column

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

RESPONSE TO THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION
by Ronald Reagan

Recently, there was a certain meeting in Atlanta, and maybe, like me, you could not help hearing a few things about it and shaking your head. Some people just do not seem to learn.

The American people want to hear straight talk about where our leaders plan to take the country — not personal attacks. For all our history, we Americans have debated our differences vigorously. But, like two of the earliest political adversaries in our history, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, while we have always fought hard for our differing opinions, we have honored each other for taking part in the democratic process. Convention speakers in Atlanta seemed to forget this American tradition.

But beyond that, there was something amazing about what we heard: Our liberal opposition seems to think so much is bad in America. To hear them talk, you would never have guessed that we are in the longest peacetime economic expansion on record, that America has created over 17 million jobs in the last five years, or that a greater proportion of Americans in the workforce has jobs today than ever before in our history.

You would never have guessed that, after dropping by three percent when their party was last in the White House, the real income of the typical American family has grown by more than ten percent since the current expansion began.

You would never have guessed that our cuts in tax rates and recent tax reform have done exactly what we said they would do. Americans with the most income pay more of our total income taxes than before; many Americans at the bottom of the scale no longer pay any income tax at all; and growth and opportunity have been born again in America.

Most of all, you would never have guessed how much our expansion has meant to all Americans. For example, one respected economic writer noted that, for black Americans, the years 1982 to 1986 represented, in his words, "on every front — jobs, income, even household wealth . . . the best five . . . in black history."

No, listening to the rhetoric, you would never have gussed American's economy is the strongest in decades. To them, it is midnight in America. It is the same sad song they sang four years ago.

They say they want to turn America around. When their party left the White House eight years ago, inflation was at one of the highest levels in American history. Now it is under control. Do they want to turn that around?

When they left office, America's industrial productivity was stalled, our competitiveness was slipping, and technological research — key to our industrial future — appeared to be on hold. Today manufacturing productivity is rising strongly, some rate us as the most competitive nation for manufacturing costs in the industrial world, and we are again the world's leader in developing new technology. Do they want to turn that around?

And when their party turned over the keys to the White House the Soviet Union was going forward with the biggest arms buildup in history, we were cutting back, and the Soviets had invaded Afghanistan. Today we have the first treaty in the world history to eliminate an entire class of U.S. and Soviet nuclear missiles, the Soviets have pulled troops out of Afghanistan, and American-Soviet relations are the best they have been since World War II. Do they want to turn that around, too?

They said America can do better. With that, I wholeheartedly agree. But the people also know that the last time our opponents were in charge, America did a heck of a lot worse.

What do our opponents really want to do? Well, again and again we have heard from the press what our opposition just will not say. We have heard that they do not want to level with the country, because when they have done that in the past, the country has not liked what it has heard. So this year, they have learned one lesson; they are covering their tracks.

You will never hear that "L" word — "liberal" — from them. They have put on political trench coats and dark glasses and slipped their platform into a plain brown wrapper.

But while they are saying that Government needs to do more of this or more of that, will they also pledge not to raise taxes? While they are talking about reducing the danger of nuclear weapons, will they also pledge to go forward full speed with our Strategic Defense Initiative — the one practical way of reducing the threat of those weapons once and for all? And while they are talking about the war on drugs, will they also support the death penalty for drug kingpins?

The American people expect straight talk about real issues. That is what they deserve, and that is what they ought to get.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor:

Sewage costs will go down as more users hook into the system. That's what I was told. Well–the system's full and our monthly rate has gone up.

Was I misinformed?

Very truly yours,
(Mrs.) Betty Friend

Several Arrested By State Police

Several arrests were reported this week by the Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment.

Brian D. Knox, Oakland, was arrested July 20 by Tfc. R.T. Wilson on charges of disorderly intoxication and disturbing the peace.

Wilson reported that Knox entered the detachment and became unruly and profane. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

A male juvenile from the Deer Park area was arrested on several charges.

Tfc. R.M. Hershberger reported that the youth was arrested for assault. He then kicked and broke the windshield of a police vehicle while belted and handcuffed in the seat, resulting in charges of destruction of property and disorderly intoxication.

Tpr. P.R. Broadwater is investigating a child abuse case involving a seven-year-old boy in the McHenry area.

Tpr. Broadwater and the Department of Social Services removed the child from his home on Tuesday, placing him with other relatives pending the completion of the investigation. No arrests have been made.

County Fair

fair board, said they felt that the dates for this year's fair were definitely determined at the end of the fair last year. "I just don't know how the mix-up happened," she said, and added that since the fair always starts on a Sunday, the second full week in August (to fair board members) was the week of the 14-20 since August 1 was on a Monday this year.

Gambill expressed regret over the mix-up, but said that insurance papers were sent to the fair board early this spring with the dates of August 7-13 on them and the mistake went undiscovered.

"We're working closely with the fair board to make this event as successful as those in the past," the carnival manager said. "We realize it will be a hardship for some people, but we hope it will be worth the effort. We are going to do as much flood publicity as possible. The scheduling of events remains the same, they're just moved ahead a week."

But just "moving them ahead a week" is not proving to be that easy. The fair board is faced with contacting all the scheduled entertainment to see if they can reschedule. Many of these groups are "on the road" all summer and very difficult to contact. As of press time, two groups have confirmed the rescheduled dates. They are The Jubilators Gospel Quartet, who will perform on the 4-H stage Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.; and Don Gabriel and the Memories, who will perform on the 4-H stage Friday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Sunday events at the fair: 4-H Fashion Revue, Interdemoninational Vesper Service and the crowning of the Farm Queen, will remain the same, simply moved ahead to August 7. The 4-Wheel Drive Mud Show holds the same Monday night spot, 7 p.m. August 8; and the Demolition Derby remains scheduled for Saturday, August 13, at 7 p.m.

A host of other problems have been caused by the date changes, involving almost everyone in and around Garrett County. "The phone has been ringing off the hook," said Garrett County Extension Program Assistant Criss Kepple. She explained that the news of the change came when three of the agents were out of town, complicating matters even more. "We've sent out a stack of letters to each volunteer host and hostess, every judge, building superintendent, and every 4-H member and leader, hoping they will be able to rework their plans. We would appreciate a phone call from anyone who had originally received a letter asking for help with the fair, and had declined, but now finds they can help due to the date change," Kepple said.

Like the ripples on the water of Deep Creek Lake, located next to the fairgrounds, the news of a date change for fair week has rippled far and wide. At least two Farm Queen contestants may have to choose between other commitments and their hope to become Farm Queen. Another activity involving many, many 4-H and FFA members is band camp. Band camps for both county high schools were originally scheduled for the third week to follow the fair. That schedule was changed when band directors realized that the third week was also the second "full" week in August, and the camps were rescheduled for the second week. Now, the fair is the second week and it's not possible to change the schedule for band camps again.

The Livestock Association has made an attempt to reschedule all that is involved in the Saturday night livestock sale. Just rescheduling, though, doesn't help those who were counting on that last week to finish putting weight or muscle on their market animals. The sale date, August 13, even falls on the wedding day of one of the auctioneers.

Commercial exhibitors all make plans for the fair months ahead, with employees working their personal vacations around fair week. Fair Director Lenwood Bittinger mailed 45 post cards to those with a commercial exhibitor contract to notify them of the change, but doesn't know how many may be affected at this time.

Dave Insley, rental manager for A & A Realty, has had a great deal of feedback since the announcement of the date change was made. He says that many families book rental units for fairweek a year in advance. "A half dozen or so families booked fair week when they checked out last year," he said. "Fair week is the first week to book up in the spring. We've sent letters to all customers and have had two cancellations so far. When people get the letters, we'll really begin to feel the brunt of it. People will be disappointed," he said, "but there's nothing we can do. Rental units for August 7-13 are just not available. The effects haven't been fully felt yet, but nobody is happy with the change."

The saddest people, perhaps, are those who planned to spend their vacations at the fair with their children, and just can't change their vacation time at this late date.

The fair board hopes that with everyone working together, the fair will be a success. Popular contests have been rescheduled with some new ones added this year. This will be the second year for the Largest Pumpkin Contest. These pumpkins cannot be entered in the vegetable department for judging, but will be judged by weight only. They will be displayed in a specific area and must be entered by 5 p.m. Tuesday, August 9. First prize will be $25 and ribbons will be awarded.

The Baby Crawl will be held again on Wednesday, August 10, at 1 p.m. Babies who are walking will not be eligible. Registration to enter can be made until 12:30 p.m. the day of the contest. Age catagories are: 6-7 months, 8-9 months, 10-12 months. Prizes will be $10, $5, and a ribbon for each participant. Registrations should be sent to Helen Glotfelty, P.O. Box 25, McHenry, MD 21541, or call 301-387-6910 at 9 a.m., 1 p.m. or 6 p.m. Entry blanks may be picked up at IGA, Browning's Foodland, Fratz Red and White, Englander's, Goehringer's, Accident Laundromat, Deep Creek Plaza Deli, Walt's Store, Arrowhead, Keysers Ridge Truck Stop, Grantsville Foodland, Buckel's Store, S&S Market and the Friendsville Library.

Friday, August 12, will be Senior Citizens' Day with a Hat Contest held at 1 p.m. open to all senior citizens over 60 years of age. Hats will be judged in four categories: funniest, prettiest, ugliest and most original. Prizes will be $10, $5, $2.50, and $1. Devotions and a Sing-A-Long will also be held on Senior Citizens' Day.

A new contest, A Stone Throw, will be held on Friday, August 12, at 3 p.m. There will be prizes for four divisions: youth, 13 and under; youth, 14-17; men; and women. Each contestant will be allowed one throw. The person in each class who throws the stone the farthest will be the winner.

The fair board members ask that everyone come to the fair; enjoy the rides, the entertainment, and join in the fun activities — August 7-13.

Our Turn

T(R)OPICAL QUESTIONS
by Susan Alvarez

Along with the recent temperatures, I am raising a few questions for those of you who live in warm, tropical places all year round. Like Florida. I'm not sure if there is any one answer to any of these questions, but perhaps mulling them over may pass the time while we are waiting for it to cool off.

1. What do you do with all that closet and drawer space? I mean, you obviously don't have down jackets, woolen hats, snow boots, puffy mittens, scarves, long underwear, and sweaters (not to mention quilts and blankets and comforters) stuffed into every available space for the summer. Do you fill that empty space with suntan lotion and swimming suits?

2. What do you do with all that extra time? I added it up and figured that you tropical people have about two extra weeks of free time a year than we who live in colder climates. We spend that time putting away (in what little closet space we have) winter clothes and getting our summer things (or vice versa), snow shoveling, winterizing, dewinterizing, and watching the snow fall. Do you spend all this extra time putting on suntan lotion and swimming?.

3. Where do you put food that needs to stay cold when you don't have any room in the fridge? Aha! I gotcha there! We have at least seven months a year where big pots of soup stay nice and cold right out on the back porch, thank you. Well, I guess if you live in the tropics you're not really into soup anyway.

4. What do you talk about at coffee break time after passing by the new, great big, time and temperature clocks in town? I mean, there can't be much variety there. Why, we have about a hundred degree range here. It does tend to spice up conversation. How thrilled can one get over, "Well, the temperature dropped four degrees to ninety-one" when it's ninety-five all year round?.

5. Do you tropical people ever, in a fleeting moment, in the oppressive heat of summer, wish that you could build just one snowman?

were called to the residence of David and Wanda Sisler at 10:47 p.m.

Investigator Carola stated that Mrs. Sisler was asleep in an upstairs bedroom when she was awakened by a "crackling sound" and then discovered that the living room was on fire. She escaped without injury and called for assistance from a neighbor's home.

Carola said his investigation indicates that the fire was caused when an extension cord shorted out and ignited a sofa. Most of the fire damage was confined to the living room, however there was smoke and heat damage throughout the house.

Firefighters remained on the scene until about 12:30 a.m. Monday.

Governor Irked

Garrett County officials and legislators to discuss Schaefer's request that there be some relief from the cap on state-owned land.

The county commissioners have voiced their concerns over the past few weeks regarding the Governor's statements. "After years of discussions we finally struck a good faith agreement with the state regarding land acquisition. we are very concerned with the Governor's remarks," said Commissioner Elwood Groves.

Delegate George C. Edwards said he has not ruled out some easing of the cap. "Local officials will expect something in return. If you give a little on one hand, you like to get a little on the other," he said.

Both Edwards and the commissioners stated that they have been willing to work with the state and that they hope that the state will work with them.

At any rate, it appears that the state land bank concept is not a resolved issue yet. The state owns more land in Garrett County than any other county in the state.

What happened to the great Bay cleanup?

If Maryland did not have an emissions testing program, it would risk forfeiting millions of dollars in federal aid. Now the Urban Mass Transit Administration is threatening to withhold millions in transportation grants if Maryland does not begin drug testing of transit workers.

When the federal government wants states to do something, it can use the carrot or the stick. The carrot approach is giving states money for doing something. The stick tactic, as illustrated above, is taking money away for not doing something.

So where's Washington's big stick for cleaning up the Chesapeake Bay?

Last year's Chesapeake Bay Agreement was heralded as historic progress in the regional effort that is essential to saving the bay. Officials from Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania, the District of Columbia and the Environmental Protection Agency—with their smiling handshakes, backslapping and optimistic rhetoric—hailed this compact as a big breakthrough. Specific goals and timetables were set. It looked good.

Then reality set in. Next month, the participants are supposed to decide exactly how they'll meet the most important of those goals—reducing nutrient pollution by the 40 per cent target without major changes and more sacrifice. No pain, no gain.

The plans are inconsistent. Maryland at least pledges to eliminate nitrogen from sewage plant outfalls. Virginia calls for voluntary nitrogen removal, and does not commit itself to a single new program of "point source" pollution control. Pennsylvania refuses to limit nutrient runoff from farmland.

Overall, these regional "partners" want to put off until 1991 decisions about controlling nutrient pollution that should be made this year. And their plans barely mention acid rain, which we're now told is responsible for as much as one-third of the bay's nutrient pollution, equal to that flowing from sewage plants.

Can the bay and its tributaries survive another three years of bureaucratic thumb-sucking? Can it take another 12 years or more of abuse before today's realistic solutions are put into action and begin—just begin—to give this precious estuary some relief?

We doubt it.

Left on their own, the bay states and D.C. will not commit themselves to consistent, equitable, costly and effective action. The federal big stick is necessary. The EPA must wield it. Maryland's congressional delegation must demand it.

With a sense of urgency, the EPA must lay down a realistic action plan and timetable. For instance, if Maryland can remove all nitrogen from wastewater by 2000, all the bay basin jurisdictions must do the same.

The feds have to offer some "carrots" in the form of grants to meet by-cleanup mandates. But they also must have the stick ready: failure to comply will result in a cutoff of federal funds.

The EPA is doing this now for clean air. Why not for clean water?

SHS Project

ment areas," said Braskey.

Local instructor Jim Zimmerman noted the influx of visitors to the area and inquired about an amusement tax that could be earmarked for education.

Mike Belmonte, who moved to the county recently, asked, "What is all this hesitancy to issue a bond? I don't know any other place that does not have long-range bond issues for priority projects."

Braskey responded, "It's a matter of long-range affordability."

Local resident Gloria Slalazar stated, "We have to expedite this renovation project. Can we afford to have the teachers disgruntled with their present surroundings or do we want a hazard-free environment? We need to offer incoming citizens a decent school. As far as I'm concerned, it's a trade-off — higher taxes for good schools."

Coach Tom Woods from Southern pointed out that many of the improvements to the school's athletic department were donated by the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club. "We can't continue to depend on these businessmen." He added, "The commissioners talk about equity for Northern and Southern. There's a lot of disparity between old schools and new schools in the county — the old schools are in the Southern end."

Joanne Rebele, instructor, commented, "A lot of young people finish school and leave Garrett County. If we could provide them with better facilities perhaps they would stay."

Instructor Virginia Grove said the state continues to mandate policies but refuses to fund them. She also spoke of handicapped accessibility for Southern and the need for cultural education.

At that point, a discussion ensued on the state funding policy based on current population rather than projected student enrollment — enrollment that is expected to increase.

Matt Novak, also with the school system, said "this is a good opportunity for a great statesman decision. Previous commissioners let our schools deteriorate. You commissioners could bite the bullet and look into long-term needs."

Novak also noted the deplorable and over-crowded conditions of many county schools. "Loch Lynn School isn't fit to keep chickens in," he stated.

Dave Mayfield, physics teacher at Southern, said he had worked in an inadequate classroom and lab for 10 years and hoped he didn't have to for the next 10 to 15 years.

Rick Clever, who instructs the Southern band and sells real estate, noted the criticism of potential new residents to the area regarding deficient school facilities. "I'm for full funding of the renovation," he said. "I hate to see that it will be obsolete when it opens."

Local attorney Len Eiswert said, "It makes no sense to do half the job. It is our high school, not the state's. We need to fund it."

Frances Riley told the commissioners that they "would have more stars in your crowns if you take care of the children."

Retired French teacher from Southern, Janice Hutchinson, stated, "I taught at Southern from the beginning. It wasn't adequate then. I'm appalled at the condition of the school now."

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage said he came to the meeting as an observer. "I would like to thank those who took the time to come and express their opinions."

Commissioners Respond

At the weekly press conference later, the commissioners responded to questions from the local media concerning their decisions.

"This is still a matter of affordability," said Commissioner Elwood Groves II. "When the state changed the funding formula it put the project in jeopardy. As a board, though, we agreed to fund the required 25 percent and pledged $2.2 million to the project."

He continued, "Then the Board of Education came to us not once, but twice, with expanded project costs...too bad some individuals desire to make this a political football. I thought we were past that. I thought there was trust between these two boards. They cashed in on those policies and took it to the streets. That type of action does not generate any revenues."

Groves also questioned why the Board of Ed did not rigorously pursue additional funding for Northern High School the way they have for Southern High School.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg Jr. stated, "The issue of equity is an important one, but whatever occurred or did not occur at Northern we were not privy to. It is apparent that this board cannot agree to bonding. It is assumed that the project now cannot be done adequately so it will likely have to wait. Bonding is the only way to afford this project and sooner or later it's going to happen."

When asked how much money would be lost to the county if the project is scrapped, Commissioner Groves stated, "You would have to ask the Board of Ed. As far as inequity goes, the people on the hill (Board of Ed) created that situation. I can't tell when the cooperation ended and the set-ups began. I think they did it to escalate the controversy."

When one reporter asked what could be done to "rectify the rift" between the two boards, Groves stated, "It's a two-way street. In this matter, I feel the Board of Ed displayed a certain lack of credibility."

"Have you re-considered putting this to referendum?" inquired another reporter.

"Not as far as I'm concerned," said Braskey.

The fate of any renovation at Southern is now in the hands of the Board of Education.

"50's ROCK & ROLL" — Rock and roll from the 50s will be performed at the Garrett County Fair by Don Gabriel & The Memories, on Friday, August 12, from 7 to 9 p.m. on the 4-H stage. The group was formed in the winter of 1985 when Gabriel decided to go back to the roots of his music, namely the rock and roll of the 50s. The band plays their music with the spirit and enthusiasm reminiscent of times when the country was full of youthfulness and innocence. The group relives those times by playing a tribute to stars like Elvis Presley and Chuck Berry. Members of the group are: Don Gabriel, Rockville; Robin Riley, Martinsburg, W.Va.; Curt Shank, Falling Waters, W.Va.; Jim Osik, Leitersburg; Hal Brandenburg, Hagerstown; and Ronnie Bidle, Middletown.

WARD E. SAVAGE

Ward E. Savage, 73, of McHenry, died Sunday, July 24, 1988, at his residence.

Born July 2, 1915, in Sang Run, he was the son of the late Thomas W. and Della Ann (Rodeheaver) Savage.

Mr. Savage was a farmer.

He is survived by his wife, Geraldine A. (DeWitt) Savage; three sons, John E. Savage Sr., Thomas L. Savage and Billy W. Savage, all of McHenry; two daughters, Thelma Rae Savage, McHenry; and Mrs. Betty F. Frazee, Friendsville; four brothers, Robert Savage, Swanton; T. Elwood Savage, Donald Savage and Samuel Savage, all of Oakland; two sisters, Mrs. Della Jean Barello and Mrs. Martha Jane Lawton, both of Oakland; three grandchildren and one step-grandson.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, where a service was conducted Wednesday by the Rev. Larry Glotfelty. Interment was in the Oak Grove Church of the Brethren Cemetery, McHenry.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

MYRTLE M. McWILLIAMS

Mrs. Myrtle Murray McWilliams, 70, of Meyersdale, died Wednesday, July 27, 1988, in Corriganville.

Born August 1, 1917, in Meyersdale, she was a daughter of the late Maurice and Grace (Pfeiffer) Murray. Her husband, W. Robert McWilliams, died in 1966.

Mrs. McWilliams was a former tax collector for Meyersdale and Summit Township. She was a member of Amity United Church of Christ.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. Sally Weyant, New Paris, Pa.; and Mrs. Carol M. Shaulis, Grantsville; four sisters, Mrs. Irene Rizer, Mrs. Mary Anne Andrews, Mrs. Imogene Hardinger and Mrs. Carolyn R. Wood, and a brother, Ward P. Murray, all of Corriganville, and four grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the Leckemby Funeral Home on Friday from 10 to 11 a.m., when a service will be conducted by the Rev. Ruth S. Kershner. Interment will be in the Reform Cemetery.

BRIAN J. HARDESTY
SHANE P. HARDESTY

Brian James Hardesty and Shane Patrick Hardesty, twin sons of James and Elizabeth (Godwin) Hardesty, Deer Park, died at birth on Saturday, July 23, 1988, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Besides their parents, the boys are survived by their paternal great-grandmother, Dora Kathryn Paugh, Deer Park; and maternal grandmother, Flora Godwin, Swanton.

A graveside service for family and friends was conducted this morning in Moon Cemetery.

The Stewart Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

ALBERT B. FAIRCLOTH

Albert B. Faircloth, 78, Oakland, originally of Hyattsville, died Tuesday, July 26 at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born July 11, 1910, he was the son of the late Herman Faircloth.

He is survived by one son, Charles R. Faircloth, Silver Spring; three sisters, Ada, Grey and Sarah; and one brother, Herman Faircloth.

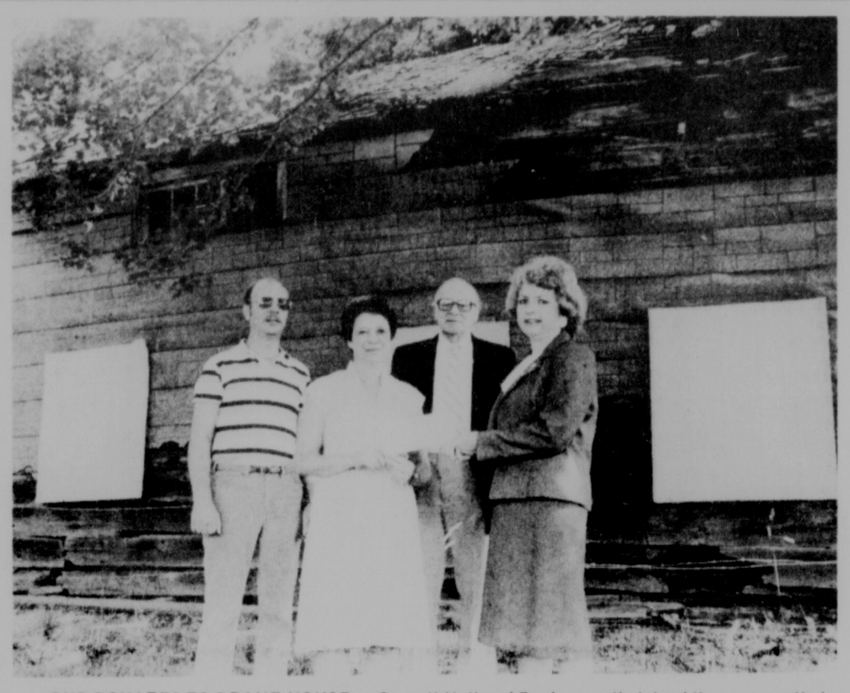

He was preceded in death by his wife, Bobbie Faircloth, and one sister, Elizabeth.

A service will be conducted Saturday at Ager Road United Methodist Church, Hyattsville. Interment will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery, Bladensburg.

The Hines-Rinaldi Funeral Home, Silver Spring, is in charge of arrangements.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests that donations be made to the American Heart Association.

The first person known to have reached the Arctic was John Davis in 1587.

GNB DONATES TO DRANE HOUSE — Garrett National Bank recently joined the community in donating funds to restore the Drane House in Accident. The house is believed to be the oldest structure in Garrett County and was officially entered into the National Register of Historical Places in 1985. The house is currently vacant and endangered by natural causes and neglect. The total cost for acquisition, restoration and site development is estimated at $80,000. A grant of $40,000 is anticipated from the Maryland Historical Trust. The Mayor and Town Council of Accident have committed $10,000 for the project. The Finance Committee of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society is developing a plan to finance the remainder of the project costs. Pictured above, left to right, are Ralph Miller, assitant director of the Accident Cultural and Historical Society; Rosanne Sherwood, director of the Society; the Rev. William Carlson, finance chairman of the Society; and Carol Miller, manager from the Garrett National Bank, presenting the check.

Garrett County Native Named Trooper Of Year

Tfc. Charles C. Thomas Jr., a Garrett County native, was recently named Trooper of the Year by Col. Elmer H. Tippet Jr., superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

Thomas was presented with a Certificate of Recognition after being named to the position during an inspection of the Western Maryland Troop.

Tippet said, "During 1987 Tfc. Thomas distinguished himself as a member of Barrack 'C' who continually performed in an exceptional manner. He exemplified the highest standards of the agency through his everyday contacts with fellow employees and his concern for the goals of the agency. His performance in all areas, which include traffic and criminal enforcement and his attitude and demeanor are a testimony to his professionalism. His dedication to the profession of law enforcement serves as an example to all members of the agency."

Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Thomas, Oakland, and is a 1969 graduate of Southern High School. He attended Garrett Community College and Frostburg State University before entering the Maryland State Police Academy in 1974. Following graduation from the academy, he served at the Annapolis Barrack for ten years. He was transferred to LaVale in 1984.

Thomas resides in Vale Summit with his wife, Linda.

Police Reports Include Local Vehicle Theft

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week are investigating several thefts, including the theft of a motor vehicle.

According to police reports, someone pushed the air conditioner out of an office trailer window at B & J Used Cars, near Kitzmiller, to gain access to the building. Once inside, the culprits removed the keys to a dark blue 1987 Pontiac Trans Am, which was then removed from the lot.

The theft occurred sometime between 8:30 p.m. on Sunday and 1:30 p.m. on Monday. Tfc. D.G. Riggleman is in charge of the investigation.

A trailer containing sound stage equipment was removed from the parking lot of the Holiday Inn, Grantsville, around 9 p.m. last Friday. The theft was reported by Donald C. Barnes Sr., Frederick, who stated that the equipment was valued at over $13,000. Tfc. G.R. Chaney is investigating the report.

Havard L. Hutzel, Grantsville, reported that nine rifles and three shotguns were removed from his residence last Thursday afternoon. Tfc. R.T. Wilson is investigating.

David J. Hare, Sky Valley, reported that several items were removed from his docked boat and the dock area between 8:30 p.m. last Thursday and 5 p.m. Friday. Stolen items included two kneeboards and a ski vest. Tfc. R.M. Hershberger is investigating the incident.

Donald R. Rabush, Swanton, reported that several ski items were removed from his uncovered boat last Friday evening. Reported items include two pairs of ski gloves and a pro ski. Tfc. Hershberger is investigating the report.

Local Projects Discussed By Sanitary Board

Among the items of discussion at the July 19 meeting of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission were matters concerning the Deep Creek Lake, Crellin, and Mtn. Lake Park facilities.

Deep Creek Lake

The board discussed connection fees for the Deep Creek Lake area, and voted to raise the fee from $800 to $1500 for any future approvals for connection to the sewer system.

The commission also discussed the proposed sewer storage facility in the Glendale Road area. They reviewed the engineer's proposal and discussed possible sites for construction. However, no action was taken.

A design for a sewer line extension in the Glenfield subdivision was presented to the commission and approved.

Crellin Sewer

The commission accepted Morgan Frantz for engineering services for the construction and inspection of the Crellin sewer facility. They also engaged Greenhorne & Omara to review the design of the facility, and executed an engineering agreement for payment.

The Sanitary District received bids for the construction of the Crellin facility. The apparent low bidder is Ferri Contracting, Inc., with a price of $1,296,719.80. The engineer will now review the qualifications of the contract, and the district will prepare a request for grant funds to begin construction.

Mtn. Lake Park

Bids were received for improvements to the Mountain Lake Water Rehabilitation system. The project consists of two contracts: one for rehabilitation, and one for a new storage tank. The apparent low bidder was Beitzel Welding & Construction Inc., with a bid of $542,963.

The commission adopted a resolution and signed a promissory note for financing the project.

Accident Classes Schedule Reunion

The Accident High School classes of 1945 through 1952 will hold their reunion on Saturday, August 13, at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville (Garrett Room).

Invitations have been sent; however, those classmates or teachers who did not receive one, but wish to attend the reunion, are asked to contact James R. Sisler, 8900 McNair Drive, Alexandria, VA 22309-3942 by August 5.

Maryland Student Test Results Continue Above National Norms

The annual report of the Maryland Accountability Testing Program, a reference document of student test results, was released Monday by the Maryland State Department of Education.

The report, in addition to current test results for students attending Maryland Public schools in grades 3, 5 and 8, also provides a definition of educational accountability and related information.

The report shows two siginificant trends in the reading, mathematics and language performance of the Maryland students.

One trend is an apparent slowing in the recent rise in average grade equivalent scores in grades three and five. "Grade equivalent scores" measure the educational level for a particular group of students, with half the scores above the median and half below. A rising median indicates improving performance.

The second trend shows that, on average, Maryland students in the three grades covered in the report continue to score well above the national norms of the California Achievement Test. The Department of Education report cautions, however, that the norms for the test were established in 1977 and that comparison of current students with the ten-year old norms is not entirely appropriate.

The report also contains a cautionary note that it is not possible to draw final conclusions about the quality of a school or a school system based only on minimal information presented as test results. To do so overlooks other important educational factors including variations in curriculum quality and content, school management, student characteristics, and other factors that reach beyond the schools, the report said.

The report is available from the Public Information Office, Maryland State Department of Education, in Baltimore.

Truesdell Home Schedules Picnic

Truesdell Senior Home, Deer Park, has scheduled a picnic for Friday, August 5, to which all local senior citizens are invited. Persons planning to attend are asked to contact the Area Agency on Aging at 334-9431 or Truesdell Senior Home at 334-8409 to make reservations.

Grantsville Class Of '36 Reunites

The 1936 graduation class of the Grantsville High School held its 52-year class reunion at the Hill Top Restaurant on July 23. A meeting was held and the following officers were elected: Nellie Yommer, president; Wilmer Hummel, vice president; Ethel Buckel, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Stanton, historian.

Classmates and spouses attending were: Grace Conner, Idaho; Irene McKenzie, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Buckel, Bittinger; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durst, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Hummel, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanton, and Nellie Yommer, all of Grantsville. Guests were Rena McKenzie, Salisbury; Rose Buckel, Bittinger; and Shirley Gracie, Frostburg.

It was decided to have a 55-year reunion in 1991.

Truck Inspections Conducted By Area MSP Troopers

Maryland State Police have been inspecting trucks for violations at a number of checkpoints in both Garrett and Allegany counties in an effort to promote safety among truck drivers.

The trucks are pulled to the side of the road and checked for violations involving safety equipment. A special emphasis is placed on checking to see that brakes are properly maintained. In addition, weight crews are checking for overweight vehicles in the area.

The inspections reportedly will continue until this evening.

Sheriff's Dept. Notes Arrests

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department reported numerous arrests over the past two weeks.

Elbert R. Bittinger, 66, Grantsville, was charged with assault with intent to murder following an alleged shooting incident last Wednesday near Grantsville.

The arrest was made by Dep. R.P. Shaffer, who reported that Bittinger allegedly fired a shot at a Grantsville resident around 6:30 p.m. on the Amish Road.

Bittinger was incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and released after he posted $2500 bond.

Timothy D. Bradley, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested on a battery charge on Saturday after an alleged incident in Westernport.

The arrest was made by Dep. C.P. Nolan, who reported that Bradley was incarcerated on $250 bond.

Two arrest warrants were served on David W. Welch, 26, Oakland, charging him with felony theft, destruction of property, and driving with a revoked license.

The charges resulted from the investigation of a stolen vehicle report. According to police reports, the vehicle was stolen from Don Nine, Oakland, and crashed on June 21.

Welch was jailed awaiting a bond hearing.

Paul T. Everly, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested for driving a vehicle on a suspended license.

The incident occurred around 11:40 p.m. on July 13 in Crellin. Everly was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where he was released on his own recognizance.

Kenneth Stinson, Oakland, was arrested on a bench warrant from Garrett County District Court when he failed to appear for a scheduled trial. He was released on $1000 bond.

"Jail & Bail" Set By County Hospice

The Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., will hold a "Jail & Bail" during the week of the Garrett County Fair, August 7 to 13, to help raise funds.

The "prisoners", who will spend three hours in jail, will be expected to raise bail in cash or pledges to Hospice before they can be released.

Hospice volunteer "deputies" will be present to accept donations or pledges towards the release of county citizens. Volunteer prisoners include Asa McCain, Anna Mary Fratz, Paul McCloud, Bunny Shank, Father Martin Feild, Clint Englander, Don Sincell, Rob Michael, Van Evans, George Edwards, Ed King, and one other volunteer who will be named at a later date.

Thanks Again To:

the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, especially the surgeons, Dr. Kaiser, the hospital staff, and the therapy and food departments. A special thanks to Rev. and Mrs. Montgomery, family and relatives for their prayers, cards, calls and visits.

Sincerely,
Helen Bowers

JUNIOR LEAGUE DISTRICT CHAMPS — A team composed of Oakland Little League All-Stars recently captured the District I championship, but fell short in its bid for a state title upon losing to District II this past weekend in the Maryland Junior League semi-finals. The local youth won the first game over District II in the best-of-three series, but lost the next two. Pictured left to right, front row, are Russell Sines, president of the Oakland Little League; Brad Frantz, manager of the all-star team; Gary Upole, Joey Ashby, Jeremy Crosco, C.J. Getson, Shane Skipper, Bill Bittinger, and Coach Rich Skipper. In the second row, same order, are Mike Marley, Jeff Spencer, Kenny Green, Sonny Livengood, Jonathan Sines, Jeremy Bosley, and Steve Bittinger.

Oakland Little League All-Stars Lose Opportunity For State Title

The opportunity for a state championship for the Oakland Little League Junior All-Stars came to an end Sunday afternoon when the local youth were defeated in the state semi-finals by District II, 7-4, in Thurmont.

The Oakland team, which had earlier won the District I championship, topped District II in the first game of the best-of-three series last Tuesday, but then dropped the second game Wednesday. The final contest was to have been played Thursday, but rain delays moved it to Saturday and finally to Sunday.

District II, composed of players from Taneytown, Thurmont, and Emmitsburg leagues, jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning of play on Saturday at Taneytown on an error, two walks, and a single.

Oakland came back to record single runs in the second and third frames to knot the score. The first Oakland run came when Kenny Green singled, stole second, moved to third on a Bill Bittinger sacrifice bunt, and scored on a ground-out by Andy Eiswert. The second run was recorded in much the same fashion in the third inning when Shane Skipper singled, stole second, advanced to third on Gary Upole's sacrifice bunt, and came home on a sacrifice fly by Jeremy Bosley.

Oakland loaded the bases in the fourth inning with no outs and Sonny Livengood then lined to the centerfielder, who made an apparent diving catch and then fired to the plate to pick off Kenny Green who was trying to score. Bittinger was then caught in a run-down to complete the triple play.

When play resumed on Sunday, District II scored two runs in the fifth, but Oakland came back again to knot the score at 4-4. Mike Marley walked, Skipper singled, and both runners advanced on another Upole sacrifice bunt. Marley then scored on a passed ball and Skipper came home on a fly-out by C.J. Getson.

District II responded with three runs in the sixth to take a 7-4 lead, although Oakland nearly rallied in the bottom of the seventh when they loaded the bases with singles by Upole and Bosley and a walk to Green. Bittinger then lined a shot down the first base line, but the first baseman grabbed the ball for the final out.

It was the most successful finish ever for an Oakland Junior all-star team (4-2), as they outscored their opponents 68-26. The team was coached by Rich Skipper and managed by Brad Frantz.

Physicals For Volleyball Set

Southern High School Girls' Volleyball physicals will be held August 11 at 7 p.m. immediately following football physicals, according to Coach Helen Rostosky.

Girls intending to play volleyball must pick up their physical forms at the main office of Southern during business hours the first week of August.

Fishing Contest Winners Noted

Weekly fishing contest winners for the week ending July 24 were announced by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and are as follows:

Largemouth bass, 2 lbs., 4 ozs., 16¼ inches, caught by Bob Laird, Cumberland.

Smallmouth bass, 2 lbs., 10 ozs., 18½ inches, caught by Matthew Jackson, Catonsville.

Walleye, 8 lbs., 14 ozs., 29½ inches, caught by George Loy, Cumberland.

Yellow perch, 1 lb., 4 ozs., 13½ inches, caught by Bonnie Kelley, Accident.

Brown trout, 1 lb., 5 ozs., 15½ inches, caught by Michael Tasker, Swanton.

Bluegill, 15 oz., 10 inches, caught by Ted Groncki, Baltimore.

A tigermuskie was caught by Elbert Hershman, Oakland, this week at Broadford Lake, 11 lbs., 1 oz., 35½ inches.

Winners are named weekly and each receives a citation and patch. The fishing contest, sponsored by Johnny's Bait House and the Promotion Council, began May 1 and will end September 30. All fish must be registered at Johnny's Bait House along Route U.S. 219 at Deep Creek Lake.

Muzzleloading Rifle Shooting Match Scheduled

On the final day of the West Virginia Poultry Association Convention in Moorefield, W. Va., a muzzleloading rifle match will be held. The prizes for this event will be frozen turkeys.

Ten different matches plus Tomahawk and knife throwing are planned. This match will start at 10 a.m. on Saturday, July 30, rain or shine. The range is located on the South Fork at the Hardy Road and Gun Club House. The range is approximately two miles from the center of town and there will be handmade signs pointing the way.

There is a $1.00 entry fee and a $1.00 per match will be charged. Several money matches will be held. Food and drinks will be on sale in the club house.

All questions should be directed to Gary Butts, ranger officer, at 304-538-6544 after 6 p.m.

Beitzel Winner Of Slinger Event

John Beitzel was the winner of the singles horseshoe pitching contest held Sunday afternoon at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. The event was sponsored by the Mt. Top Ringer Slingers.

Placing second was Sam Wakefield Jr., followed by Joe Lewis and Carl Holtschneider.

The next tournament is slated for August 7 at the fairgrounds, beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Little League Picnic Scheduled

The end-of-the-season picnic for the Oakland Little League will be held Saturday, August 6, at the Broadford Park main pavilion, beginning at 5:30 p.m. All Little League players, including T-ball players, and the members of the families are invited to bring a covered dish and attend. Hot dogs and hamburgers will be provided by the league.

Persons may contact their team call mother for more information.

Sites, Carr Have Key Roles In Pen-Mar Win

The Pen-Mar Baseball League All-Star team blasted the Bedford County Twilight League All-Stars, 10-0, Saturday afternoon at Hyndman, and a couple of Oakland Pen-Mar players had key roles in the rout.

Oakland's Steve Sites struck out 10 Bedford batters in just three innings, while Phil Carr accounted for three of the Pen-Mar team's 13 hits of the afternoon.

The Pen-Mar players took a 2-0 lead in the third inning and added four more runs in the fourth and again in the fifth for the lopsided victory.

Rich Stiffey, of Hyndman, smacked a three-run homer in the fourth frame and also singled in the game, while Carr finished with three singles and Tri-Towns' Phil Cook rapped a double and a single.

Charlie Wilson, also of Oakland, recorded a two-run single, while Oakland's Dwayne "Bubba" Hedrick added an outstanding defensive play, gunning down a baserunner at the plate from center field to end the game.

Ron O'Reilly, also of Tri-Towns, pitched the first four innings for the Pen-Mar team, striking out four batters. Sites tossed the fifth, sixth, and seventh frames and Mount Savage's Keith Cain pitched the final two innings.

None of the Bedford all-stars recorded more than a single hit in their six-hit performance.

Other Oakland players named to the Pen-Mar team, but unable to play, were second baseman Jon Reneslacis, who currently holds a .535 batting average; outfielder Craig Cumberworth (.348), and catcher Randy Cirillo (.343)

Outfielders Wilson and Hedrick entered the game with batting averages of .343 and .303, respectively, Sites is hitting at .448, and Carr, a third baseman, holds a .355 average.

The Oaks, who did not play last weekend, are currently 9-7 on the season. They will host Buckhannon at Garrett Community College this Saturday afternoon in a 2 p.m. nine-inning contest and will then entertain Hyndman on Sunday in a 2 p.m. doubleheader.

Local Swimmers Participate In Butterfly Meet

The final regular season swim meet of the YMCA Summer Swim League was held at Frostburg State University on Saturday with 143 area youth, including the Garrett County Manta Rays, competing in butterfly and freestyle events. The championship meet will be held this Saturday at the FSU pool and will complete the summer season.

Capturing first places in B Flight competition for the Manta Rays were: Justin Helbig, tyke boys, 25-yard freestyle, with a time of 20.90 seconds; Sara Sincell, tyke girls, 25-yard freestyle, 20.41 seconds; Josey Coviello, prep girls, 50-yard freestyle, 34.41 seconds; Brian Boal, senior boys, 50-yard butterfly, 42.09 seconds; and Andy Helbig, senior boys, 50-yard freestyle, 30.86 seconds.

Second place finishes were recorded by: Meredith Martin, tyke girls, 25-yard free; Matthew Sincell, cadet boys, 25-yard free; Alison Graybill, junior girls, 50-yard butterfly; Jason Rush, junior boys, 50-yard free; Mary Thrasher, senior girls, 50-yard free and 50-yard butterfly; and Brian Boal, 50-yard free.

Finishing in third place were: Matthew Cathell, mini-tyke boys, 25-yard free; Angie Sincell, mini-tyke girls, 25-yard free; Justin Helbig, 25-yard butterfly; Erin Dabney, junior girls, 50-yard butterfly; and Alison Graybill, 50-yard free.

Also winning a second place was the Manta Rays' tyke 100-yard coed freestyle relay team, composed of Jill Speicher, Justin Helbig, Sara Sincell and Kerry Graybill.

Finishing in third place were the cadet 200 team of Mandy Rush, Emily Friend, Kerri Cannon, and Matthew Sincell, and the girls crescendo 250 team consisting of Josey Coviello, Alison Graybill, Sara Sincell, and Kim Fike.

The other five teams competing in the event were the Cumberland YMCA Sea Otters, LaVale, Bel Air, Cumberland Country Club, and Romney Swim Club.

SINCERE THANKS

I would like to thank the doctors, nurses and staff on the third floor of Garrett County Memorial Hospital for the wonderful care I received while I was a patient there last month. I sometimes wonder whether folks in Garrett County realize the excellent up-to-date practices we have there.

Again, thank you and may God bless all of you.

Grantsville Still Alive In Pony League Playoffs

The 1988 Bi-State Pony League season has ended for Central Garrett, which fell to Lonaconing last Friday, 16-7, to conclude with a 1-17 record; however, Grantsville whipped visiting Simpson's Auto of Keyser, 6-2, the same evening and are still alive in the playoff picture.

Larry McKenzie smacked a pair of doubles and went the distance on the mound for Lonaconing, who out-hit the Central Garrett hurlers, 13-10.

Also picking up two hits for the winners were Jim Dye, Ronnie Raines, and Chris Shockey, who each doubled and singled, while Eric Umbel rapped two singles for Central.

Tim Thomas finished with three singles and Mark Beals doubled and singled to pace Grantsville to its 12th win in 18 games.

Grantsville recorded three runs in the third inning to take a 4-0 lead and winning pitcher John Houser did not allow a Keyser runner on base until a two-run sixth inning. Lee Holloway smacked a home run for Grantsville in the bottom of the sixth.

Houser fanned seven batters, while losing pitcher Mike Kesecker struck out six. Deron McIntyre hit two singles for Keyser, while Kesecker added a double.

Grantsville is slated to face Simpson's Auto again today in a 6 p.m. game at Mount Savage to determine the fourth and final berth in the league playoffs.

HE CAN FISH, TOO — Elbert Hershman is often pictured in The Republican holding a wild turkey, as he has been successful at bagging such birds year after year for the past decade or so. However, it was with his fishing reel that he harvested this 36-inch monster from Broadford Lake, near Oakland, on Sunday. While most of the fish pulled from Broadford Lake are in the 8- to 15-inch range, there are a few of these huge hybrid tiger muskies residing on the bottom of the lake. These muskies, which cannot reproduce themselves, were placed in the lake by a biologist several years ago. According to Mr. Hershman and some other local anglers, there are more muskies in the lake that are considerably larger than this one.

Garrett Sweeps Post 155, Loses One To Post 13

The Garrett County Legion baseball team recorded a pair of wins over Victory Post 155 on Saturday at Westernport, 3-0 and 7-4, before being blanked on Sunday by Legion Post 13, 4-0, at Cumberland Sunday afternoon.

Former Southern High School standout Bo Butler tossed a four-hitter in the first game on Saturday and won the game, even though the Garrett batters managed only three hits. J.R. Bosley, Allen Selders, and D.G. Largent each singled for the winners. Two of the four runs were the result of three walks, a single, and a wild pitch in the sixth inning.

Steve Ujcic doubled for Post 155, while Chris Miller, Chris Wilson, and Chad Jefferies each hit a single.

Former Northern High star Aaron Zumpano rapped a homer for Garrett in the nightcap, while Bosley drove in three runs on a pair of singles. Butler added an RBI double, Riggleman a run-producing single, and Colaw a double.

Jeff Shimko hit a home run for Post 155 and Miller finished with three singles. Jefferies and Mark Liller added two singles each.

Legion Post 13 scored all of its runs in the fifth inning against Garrett County on Sunday as a result of two costly errors.

Bill Craig finished with two singles and two RBIs for the winners, while Chris Brode added a double and two RBIs.

Zumpano paced Garrett County with a double and two singles and Butler hit a pair of singles, as the local team out-hit the winners, 7-6.

The winner of this game will face Ellerslie in the semifinals Friday night at Ellerslie. The winner of that contest will then meet Westernport in the championship series that begins Monday.

Maryland Sailboat Regatta Scheduled For August 6 - 7

The Maryland Invitational Sailboat Regatta will be held Saturday and Sunday, August 6-7, on the southern portion of Deep Creek Lake. The races will start at the Deep Creek Lake Yacht Club on Turkey Neck.

The Invitational Regatta is open to Flying Scots only and participants may choose to race in the Champion or Challenger classes. Registration for the event is to take place at a social gathering on Friday evening, August 5, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Turkey Neck Yacht Club. The fee is $20.

Two races are scheduled for Saturday, August 6 and one for Sunday, August 7. Saturday's races will be preceded by a skipper's meeting at 9:45 a.m. The first race will follow at noon and the second race will start at 2:30 p.m. Sunday's race will begin at 1:30 p.m. and will be followed by an awards ceremony where trophies will be awarded to winners.

A continental breakfast will be available at the Yacht Club on Saturday and Sunday, and dinner for participants will be served Saturday evening at 6:30 p.m. Tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the club.

Spectators are welcome to watch the races from vantage points below the Glendale bridge. Any further information about the Maryland Invitational Regatta may be obtained by calling sailor Terry Bell at (301) 387-4866.

VFW Team Wins Appalachian Title

The Appalachian Mixed League, sponsored by the Appalachian Adult Center in Oakland, concluded its season of competition last week and presented trophies to the top teams and individuals.

The VFW team, which included Ira Blucher, Doug Bender, Emilou Gow, Hugh James, and Red Ford, finished in first place among the 10 teams with a record of 22 and one-half wins, seven and one-half losses.

In second place with a 20-10 record was Marvin's, which consisted of Barry Frazee, Sam Cutler, Gary Shafer, and Roger Uber.

The third place team, with a record of 17-13, was American Legion Post 71, composed of Sandra Shaffer, Lyn Dean, Ed Miller, Harriet Uphold, and Jack Ford.

Winning the men's high game award was Robert Smith, who rolled a 209. Gary Shafer had the men's high average with a 128. Carolyn Sisler rolled a 134 to win the women's high game honor, while Trina Bray received the women's high average award with an 89 average. The most improved bowler award went to Katie Showalter, who increased her average by 19 over the course of the season.

Sponsors of the league included: Oakview Motors; CCP, Inc.; Shaffer Ford; Kelly's Appliance and Furniture; Cal's Carpet Warehouse; Proudfoot's Pharmacy, My-O-Tire; Beachy Lumber Company; Marvin's Men's Wear; VFW Post 10077; Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion; First United National Bank & Trust; Gregg's Pharmacy; Old Mill Restaurant; and the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club.

Awards banquet sponsors included: Hair n' Phernalia, Morgan France, Glotfelty Enterprises, TCI, Hometown Market, Team One, Tomanetti's Pizza, and Browning's Foodland.

Volunteers who assisted with the program were Red Ford, Jack Ford, Michelle Lowery, and Ruth Speicher.

Final league standings are as follows:

VFW	22½-7½
Marvin's	20-10
American Legion	17-13
First United	16-14
Beachy Lumber	16-14
My-O-Tire	15-15
Old Mill	13-17

Alexander Clan Schedules Reunion

The family of the late Andrew J. and Susan M. Alexander will hold its annual reunion at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville on Saturday, August 6. All relatives and friends are invited to attend the event, which will be held in the Garrett Room. Serving time for the mid-day meal will be 1 p.m.

Persons who plan to attend the reunion are asked to contact James R. Sisler, 8900 McNair Drive, Alexandria, VA 22309-3942 by August 1.

COVE

The Ringer-Diehl Reunion will be held on Sunday, August 7, at the Accident Fire Hall, beginning at 12:30 p.m. with a buffet style dinner.

CL Cross-Lites says:

Follow the path of wisdom, serve the Lord with reverence

The Cove Homemakers Club met Monday evening at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, with the hostess being Mrs. Chester Otto. The demonstration, "small appliances", was presented by Irmgard R. Koscielniak, Extension agent, home economics. The next meeting will be Monday, September 26, at the home of Mrs. Markel Maust.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Miller were among those attending the wedding of Leo Lowdermilk of Friendsville, and Karen Miller, Grantsville, on Saturday evening at the Methodist Church, Grantsville, and the reception at the American Legion Hall, Grantsville.

Rachel Schmidt, 10-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt, has returned to her home here after being a patient for four days at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, and two weeks at Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh, where she underwent surgery for a tumor. She underwent surgery again on Friday for the insertion of a med-a-port to undergo chemotherapy and will continue to undergo chemotherapy for the next year. Her mother remained with her at the hospital for the entire hospitalization and her father spent much of the time there also. Visitors at Children's Hospital, Pittsburgh, included Mr. and Mrs. Norman Livengood and son, Mrs. Sandy Guard, Friendsville, Mrs. Donald Schmidt, Mrs. Rex Schmidt, and Misses Betty and Pamela Schmidt. Rachel's progress at this time is reported as "fine."

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmidt were in Frederick on Friday evening to visit relatives and were accompanied to their home here by grandchildren, Jeffrey and Angie Biggus. Jeffrey was bitten by a family pet dog on Saturday evening. He was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, and transferred to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where he remains a patient at this writing, but expects to be released by the weekend. His mother, Mrs. Biggus, of Frederick, came to the hospital at Cumberland and accompanied him to the hospital at Baltimore, where other Sunday visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmidt and children, Lee Ann, Scott and Andy.

The Ladies Aid Society of St. John's Lutheran Church, ELCA, went to the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home, Grantsville, on Monday. Mrs. Melvin Schwing was in charge of the program that was presented, with several members participating and the group sang some songs and served refreshments to the residents.

Mrs. Helen Harman has returned to her home here after spending the past two months with her son-in-law and daughter, C.Sgt. and Mrs. Jim Joslin, and son, David, at Mildenhall Air Force Base, England. They toured all parts of England, attended several shows in London, spent two days at Wales, had dinner in a medieval castle, and watched an air show sponsored by the military base.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Glover returned to their home here on Monday evening after visiting the Great Smokey Mountains, Maggie Valley and Cherokee, N.C., Pigeon Forge, Gatlinburg, and Dollywood, Tenn. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Frantz, Sebring Hills, Fla., several days. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don Glover, Mt. Airy, also visited with them in Florida. The Lawrence Glovers were overnight guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Powers, Spartanburg, S.C., and spent nights at Princeton, W.Va., and Savannah, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bender and sons and Darwin Bender were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Yoder, Avon, N.Y., and were sightseeing at Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Canada.

Sunday evening visitors of Rev. and Mrs. Oren Bender were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Bender and daughter, Rachel, Bittinger, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Miller, Grantsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yoder and sons. Mrs. Oren Bender, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. David Brenneman, Grantsville, and Mrs. Raymond Bender were in Pittsburgh on Thursday evening to attend the "Sound of Music" at the Civic Light Opera, where Debbie Boone was cast in the role of Maria. Friday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bender were Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Brenneman and daughters, Accident.

Mrs. Markel Maust spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Camp Peniel, in Pennsylvania, cooking meals for the Brethren Church Conference that was held there. Markel Maust joined his wife there to help prepare meals on Saturday. Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Maust at their home here were Andy and Naomi Yoder Petrone, Grantsville, and Andy's brother, Michael, from N.Y.

Sunday cookout dinner guests of Mrs. Paul Bender were Miss Gina Bender, Grantsville, Miss Bobbi Harvey, Kitzmiller, Teresa Miller, Jeff and Eric Bender. Jeff gave a film presentation on the DNR Bear program at the Springs, Pa., Community Center on Tuesday for members and guests of the Springs Historical Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett McClintock and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bowser were in Pittsburgh on Sunday to watch the baseball game between the Pirates and Dodgers at Three Rivers Stadium.

Mr. and Mrs. James Margroff and daughter, Amy, and Mr. and Mrs. John Strider and daughters, Joy and Julie, returned to their home here on Saturday after spending a week's vacation at Ocean City.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Beitzel,

Sincere Thanks

Three little words but they can bring the rainbow after rain,
And chase away the clouds that cause sorrow, ache, and pain.
Three little words the Lord gave us dear sister and dear brother,
Let's join our hearts, let's join our hands, loving one another.

Alice, Joyce Davidson

Denny and I want to express our thankfulness and love to everyone who has shown so much concern for us during his illness. Your prayers, cards, gifts and helping hands to do deeds that needed done have been a blessing and will never be forgotten. Thanks to Pastor Lindner for serving us faithfully.

Thanks to everyone who worked so hard to have the benefit dance for us. Thanks to the people who donated gifts for the raffles. We appreciated your help.

Thank you Aid Association for Lutherans Branch 5821 and Branch 588 for their Helping Hands Projects. This will help with the medical expenses.

We want to thank both of our families and our children for all their support during this time.

A special thanks to the men who helped drive Denny to Harmanville, Pa. for therapy.

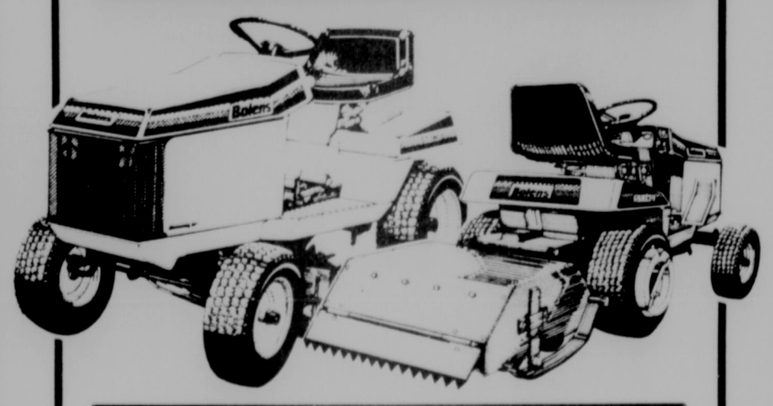

Thank you God for all!

Sincerely,
Kathy & Denny Margroff

NAMED HONORARY CHAIRMAN of Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Capital Campaign Wednesday afternoon was Ted Koppel, of ABC News, who flew to Garrett County to take a tour of the hospital and make a personal donation to the campaign. A reception, including members of the hospital foundation, board of governors, administrative staff, and employees, followed the tour. Presenting a plaque and making Koppel the honorary chairman of the campaign was Rob Sharps, chairman of the hospital foundation and general chairman of the capital campaign. Also in the photo, left to right are Larry Beck, hospital administrator; Joyce Bishoff, chairman of the board of governors; and R. Thomas Thayer, local realtor and long-time friend of Koppel, who arranged for his visit. Lakeside Aviation donated most of the cost of picking up Koppel at National Airport in Washington and returning him there later in the day. Koppel, his wife, Grace Anne, and their four children, have been part-time residents of Garrett County for 10 years. Below, Beck and Koppel tour the cardiac intensive care wing of the hospital, while Jarlath Fitzwater, R.N., continues with business as usual. The hospital's capital campaign will officially conclude the end of next week. However solicitations for pledges will continue for some time after that and the campaign office will remain open throughout most of August.

Cold Soups for Hot Days

CHILLED TOMATO SOUP WITH AVOCADO CREAM

Tomato Soup:
¼ cup vegetable oil
2 cups chopped onions
¾ cup chopped carrots
1 tablespoon finely chopped garlic
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
4 cups homemade chicken stock or good quality canned broth
4 pounds tomatoes, peeled, seeded, and chopped
Avocado Cream:
2 very ripe avocados
⅔ cup sour cream
¼ cup heavy or whipping cream, plus more if needed
4 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup chopped scallions (green onions), including green stems, for garnish

To make the soup, heat the oil in a heavy 4 to 5-quart saucepan over medium heat. Add the onions, carrots, and garlic and cook until the vegetables soften, stirring occasionally, 5 to 10 minutes. Mix in the salt and cayenne pepper. Add the stock, bring to a boil, and simmer, uncovered, 30 minutes. Increase the heat to high, add the tomatoes, and cook until softened, about 10 minutes. Remove the soup from the heat and puree it in a food processor or blender. Transfer the soup to a bowl, cool, cover, and refrigerate. (The soup can be prepared a day in advance to this point). When ready to serve, peel the avocados, remove the seeds, and place the avocados in the container of a food processor or blender. Add the sour cream, heavy cream, lemon juice, and salt. Process the mixture until very smooth, a minute or more. Transfer the avocado puree to a bowl, and if it seems too thick, whisk in 2 to 3 additional tablespoons cream to thin it. Adjust the seasoning and ladle the soup into well-chilled bowls. Gently spoon 2 to 3 tablespoons Avocado Cream atop each Garnish with scallions. Serves 6.

CURRIED CARROT SOUP

1 medium onion, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 carrots, scraped and coarsely chopped
4 cups chicken broth
1 (1x2-inch) strip lemon rind
2 teaspoons sugar
½ to 1 teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons dry sherry
Toasted chopped almonds (optional)
Finely choped green onion or chives (optional)
Thinly sliced carrot strips (optional)

Saute onion in butter in a large skillet until tender. Add the next 7 ingredients. Reduce heat, cover and cook 20 minutes or until carrots are tender. Pour half of mixture into container of electric blender, process until smooth. Pour into a bowl or pitcher, repeat with remaining mixture. Stir in sherry. Cover and chill. Garnish with almonds, green onion, and carrot strips, if desired. Yield: about 5 cups.

COLD STRAWBERRY SOUP

2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice
⅓ cup sifted powdered sugar
2 cups fresh strawberries, washed and hulled
½ cup Burgundy or other dry red wine
½ cup commercial sour cream
Whipped cream (optional)
Fresh strawberries, sliced (optional)
Fresh mint leaves (optional)

Combine pineapple juice, powdered sugar, and strawberries in container of electric blender, process until smooth. Add Burgundy and sour cream, process an additional 2 minutes. Cover and chill several hours. Garnish with whipped cream, sliced strawberries, and mint leaves, if desired. Yield: about 4 cups.

CHILLED SALMON AND CUCUMBER SOUP

1 pint of fish stock
½ peeled small cucumber, the freshest you can find
2 shallots or spring onions
9 ozs. cooked salmon or salmon trout
2-3 tablespoons good yogurt
Seasoning to taste

Method I: If you like a very smooth, creamy soup, simply put all the ingredients in the blender in two batches and process until smooth. Sieve or not, according to your taste. Method II: If you like a little more texture to your soup, grate or chop the cucumber, reserve a few flakes of fish and process the rest of the ingredients. Sieve and add the chopped cucumber and pieces of fish.

Fish Stock:
2 pints water
2½ lbs. fish bones and pieces
Handfull of parsley stalks
1 chopped carrot
1 chopped onion
1 chopped celery stalk
1 tablespoon chopped fennel, optional
White pepper
1 small piece each of orange and lemon zest
1 teaspoon oil

Heat the oil in a large heavy pan, it should just cover the surface, to stop the vegetables and fish sticking to the pan. When hot add the chopped vegetables and stir to stop them burning. When they are just beginning to color, add the chopped-up fish bones and pieces. Remember, if you have fish pieces amongst the bones, to remove any chunks of fish. These can be added to the soup later. When the fish bones begin to turn opaque, add the water, the pepper, the peel and the parsley stalks. Bring slowly to the boil. Simmer for 40-60 minutes. Strain. Boil, reducing by one third and strain again. Chill.

CREME SENEGALE

2 tablespoons (¼ stick) butter
1½ teaspoons light curry powder
2 tablespoons flour
3¾ cups hot strong chicken stock
Juice of ½ lemon
⅔ cups light cream
Salt and freshly ground black pepper
4 ozs. (¼ lb.) boneless chicken breast, cooked
For the garnish (optional)
A little cayenne pepper

Melt the butter in a heavy saucepan and add the curry powder. Stir for 1 minute over a gentle heat, then blend in the flour and stir for a further 2-3 minutes. Gradually add the stock and stir constantly until thickened. Simmer for 4-5 minutes, then add the lemon juice, cream, and salt and pepper to taste. Stand the pan in a sink full of cold water and leave to cool, stirring frequently to prevent a skin from forming. Once the soup has cooled to room temperature, chill in the refrigerator for a few hours, or overnight. Just before serving, cut the chicken breast into neat cubes. Pour the soup into chilled soup bowls, divide the chicken garnish among them and sprinkle with a little cayenne pepper. Serves 6.

SAUCY GAZPACHO

1 (16-ounce) can whole tomatoes, undrained
1 (46-ounce) can tomato juice
¼ cup vegetable or sesame seed oil
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1 clove garlic, minced
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 small cucumber, peeled and finely chopped
1 medium tomato, chopped
1 medium carrot, scraped and shredded
1 stalk celery, finely chopped
1 small green pepper, finely chopped
Shredded Cheddar cheese (optional)
Celery leaves (optional)

Puree canned tomatoes in blender. Combine tomato puree and next 10 ingredients in a large bowl, stir well. Cover and chill at least 3 hours. Garnish with cheese and celery leaves, if desired. Yield: about 9 cups.

CHILLED TOMATO SOUP

9 cups tomato juice
¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons tomato paste
Grated rind of 1½ limes
¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons lime juice
6 small green onions, minced
1½ teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons curry powder
¾ teaspoon ground thyme
¼ teaspoon hot sauce
1 (16-ounce) carton commercial sour cream
Chopped fresh parsley

Combine first 10 ingredients in a large pitcher, stirring well, chill 4 to 6 hours. Add sour cream to tomato mixture, beating with a wire whisk until blended. Garnish each serving with parsley. Yield: about 12 cups.

Note: Recipe may be doubled.

ICED TOMATO AND PEPPER SOUP

1½ lbs. tomatoes
12 ozs. (¾ lb.) sweet bell peppers
2½ cups good chicken stock, free from fat
½ teaspoon ground cumin
2 tablespoons orange juice
2 teaspoons lime juice
1½ tablespoons chopped cilantro, or chives

Skin the tomatoes, cut them in quarters, and put in a food processor. Stick the peppers on long skewers and grill or broil them, or lay them over a gas flame, turning frequently until the skin is blistered and charred evenly all over. Cool until they are cold enough to handle, then scrape away the skin, rinsing off the last pieces under the cold tap. Cut the peppers in pieces, discarding the seeds, and add them to the tomatoes. Process until reduced to a hash, then add the chicken stock and process again until the mixture is reduced to a rough puree. Turn into a bowl and stir in the cumin, orange and lime juice, and the chopped cilantro, if used. Chill for 2-3 hours, or overnight, the soup should be very cold indeed. Serve the soup in chilled cups, adding the chives, if used, sprinkled over the soup. Serves 6.

CUCUMBER-YOGURT SOUP

4 cups peeled, seeded, and chopped cucumber
2 cups water
2 (8-ounce) cartons plain yogurt
1 tablespoon honey
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, crushed
3 fresh mint leaves
¾ teaspoon minced fresh or ¼ teaspoon dried whole dillweed
Cucumber slices (optional)
Fresh dillweed (optional)

Combine first 8 ingredients in a large bowl. Pour about one-third of mixture into container of electric blender, process until smooth. Pour into a bowl or pitcher, repeat procedure with remaining mixture. Cover and chill several hours. Garnish with cucumber slices and fresh dillweed, if desired. Yield: about 5 cups.

DO YOU JUST CUT GRASS?

My neighbor cares greatly for her lawn. During vacations she hires people to look after it. I noticed that she kept changing lawn personnel. "Why?" I asked, observing that all of them seemed to cut grass rather well.

"They can," she said. "They all can CUT GRASS. But I'm looking for someone who can MOW LAWNS."

I pushed for explanation. "Well," she said, "The difference between CUTTING GRASS and MOWING LAWNS is the difference between CARE and CARELESSNESS; the difference between MAKING MONEY and MAKING A LAWN LOOK RIGHT."

She went on to tell me that HOW we do things is as important as WHAT we do. She mumbled something about being a PROFESSIONAL or an AMATEUR.

Then she got philosophical: "It really boils down to an attitude toward life. Do you want to LIVE through life or merely EXIST through it."

Jesus may not have been talking about mowing lawns, but he was talking about life: "I came that you might have life and have it more abundantly." (John 10:10)

DO PHYSICIANS TREAT THEMSELVES?

Of course not, unless there is no other available doctor. They know that anyone has great difficulty trying to be objective about their own ailments.

Sickness symptoms are most confusing, for many diseases have similar pains or discomforts. A headache can be the result of more than a dozen different causes. The problem is to determine which one. When you are sick, do what physicians do. They consult another physician.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

SHALL WE LIVE BY THE RULES?

July 31, 1988

Background Scripture: Exodus 19 through 20
Devotional Reading: Exodus 20:2-17

A little boy was asked by his Sunday School teacher to name one of the Ten Commandments. In genuine puzzlement, the lad replied: "Gee, I thought they had repealed them!" I think I can understand why it might seem the Ten Commandments are no longer in force. It's not just that people don't seem to be keeping them, but that much of our society acts as if they no longer apply in the present age.

Many people, for example, see nothing wrong with killing ("It's time to rid our society of certain elements"), adultery ("We have an 'open marriage' "), stealing (another term for "shrewd business"), bearing false witness ("it sells newspapers"), and covetousness (a basic ingredient of successful advertising).

THE OLD RULES GONE

The reason behind all this disregard of the Ten Commandments, as well as all other religious rules and laws, is that many people believe that the old rules are no longer valid for our times. The days in which we live, they point out, are much too complex for us to live by these old rules. Others remind us that even Jesus didn't hold with the strict rules for the observance of the sabbath. Actually, Jesus urged his disciples to live beyond the law, rather than in violation of it. The law, including the Ten Commandments, is a starting point, not the end of the line. So, it is not so much a matter of repealing the old rules, but of taking them several steps further to meet the complexities of the times in which we live.

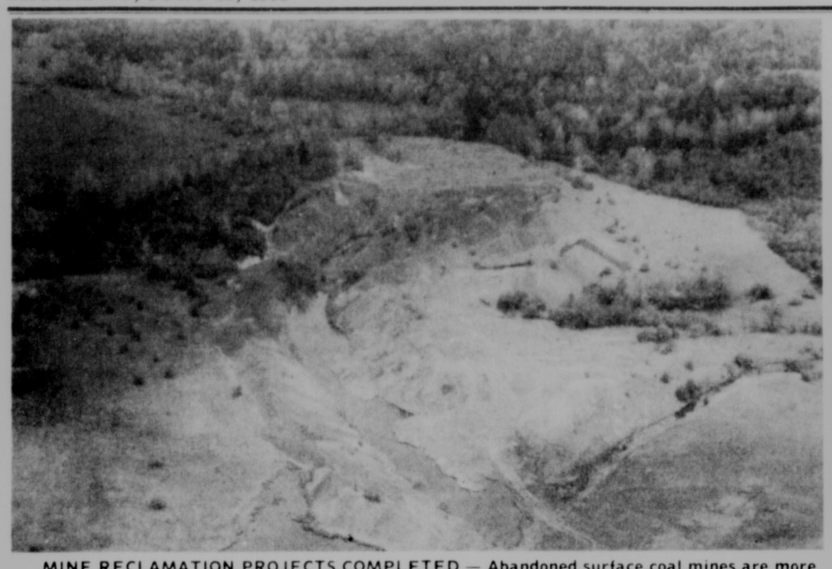

Actually, there is something even more important than the old rules--and this is true even in the Exodus 19 and 20 passages about the Ten Commandments. For, behind the rules and prior to them is the covenant relationship between God and his people: "Now therefore, if you will obey my voice and keep my covenant, you shall be my own possession among all peoples; for all the earth is mine, and you shall be to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation" (19:5,6).

A HOLY NATION

We must never overlook the fact that everything begins and stems from our relationship with God, the covenant we make with him. Recently a poll indicated that a majority of Americans still hold some belief in God. But the real question is, not do you believe in God, but have you committed yourself to him. If you have, then your morals and ethics will follow from your relationship.

We still need the old rules, but much more than that, we need to commit ourselves to him and his will.

MINE RECLAMATION PROJECTS COMPLETED — Abandoned surface coal mines are more than just an eyesore. They can pose public health, safety, and environmental hazards. Landslides, cave-ins, subsidence, flooding, sedimentation, and acid mine drainage are just some of the problems associated with abandoned mines. The Bureau of Mines is working hard to control and correct these problems through Abandoned Mine Reclamation projects funded by Maryland's Federal Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund, which is derived from a surcharge tax levied on each ton of coal mined in the state. The two projects pictured were completed this spring. Above are before and after photos of the Yoder/Delta Abandoned Mine Reclamation Project located southeast of Bittinger along the Frank Brenneman Road. The project consisted of an abondoned surface mine of approximately 15 acres situated adjacent to the south branch of the Casselman River. Delta Mining, Inc. repermitted 6.5 acres of this site under surface mining permit number SM-85-400. The Bureau of Mines issued a contract to Delta Mining to reclaim the additional 8.5 acres of abandoned spoil material in conjunction with the active surface mine reclamation activities. The $27,700 project was completed on May 6. Below, before and after photos show a completed reclamation project south of Oakland near Table Rock. This four-acre Table Rock/Backbone Mountain Abandoned Mine Reclamation Project was an abandoned surface mine which was being used as a garbage and tire dump. The contractor, John Duckworth Coal Company, backfilled the site with existing spoil materials. The entire disturbed area was then revegetated with grasses and legumes to stabilize the area. The $19,000 project was completed on April 28. The Bureau of Mines will continue to monitor both sites and apply additional soil amendments as needed for the next three years.

U.S. Savings Bonds Available Via Telephone

The purchase of United States Savings Bonds can now be done via the telephone, as the U.S. Treasury Department begins a new telemarketing effort. Callers to 1-800-US BONDS will now be offered the opportunity to buy Savings Bonds using a VISA or MasterCard.

Beginning May 3, individuals calling 1-800-US BONDS will reach service representatives able to provide current Savings Bonds rate information and to take orders for the purchase of Series EE Bonds 24 hours a day. The Bonds will be issued and mailed to buyers within three weeks. All Bonds will earn interest from the first day of the month of their order.

Credit card payment for certain Federal fees, products, and services is part of a government-wide program initiated by the Treasury. Purchases are subject to verification of card numbers and credit limits.

Series EE Savings Bonds also continue to be sold through financial institutions and through company payroll savings plans. They are available in denominations that range from $50 to $10,000 and cost one-half the face value. When held five years or longer, EE Bonds offer market-based interest rates or a minimum rate of six percent, whichever is higher.

DNR Police Note Arrests

The Department of Natural Resources Police this week reported the arrest of six persons on various charges.

Linda Susan Miner, Cheverly, was charged with towing a skier without an observer 12 years or older.

John E. Findley, McHenry, was charged with having no personal floatation devices.

John Miller, Venetia, Pa., was arrested for skiing within 50 feet of a dock.

Edward Grove Jr., Deer Park, was arrested for skiing after sunset.

Robert List, Baltimore, was charged with towing a skier without an observer.

Robert Naylor, Keyser, W.Va., was arrested for towing a skier within 50 feet of an obstruction.

In addition to the arrests, 16 warnings were issued.

Counties Share Spirits, Smokes, Beer Tax Revenue

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein has mailed checks totaling $6,271,266 to Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City, representing their share of alcohol and tobacco tax collections for the final quarter of fiscal year 1988 (April, May and June, 1988).

"This distribution brings the total local share of distilled spirits, beer and cigarette tax revenue for fiscal year 1988 to $24,012,375," Goldstein said. "That's slightly less than the $24,073,253 the subdivisions received during fiscal year 1987. This reflects a relatively flat growth pattern for these revenues we have seen for several years."

Alcohol and tobacco tax collections for the fiscal year just ended totaled $93,889,647, a decline of 1.6 percent from the $95,463,692 collected during fiscal year 1987.

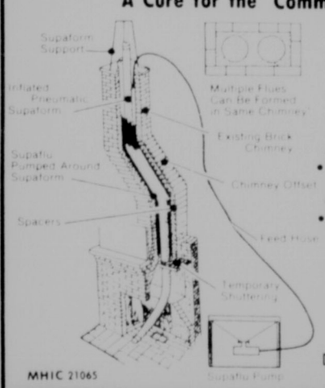

"For fiscal year 1988, distilled spirits, wine, beer and tobacco tax revenues all posted decreases from previous year levels. The overall flat growth picture in alcohol and tobacco tax revenues reflects nationwide trends," Goldstein said.

For fiscal year 1988, distilled spirits taxes produced $14.1 million, down 2.8 percent; wine taxes yielded $4.3 million, down 4.7 percent; beer taxes produced $9.8 million, down 4 percent; and cigarette tax receipts amounted to $65.4 million, down eight-tenths of one percent.

"Of the slightly more than $24 million shared with the subdivisions, as a result of these revenue collections, tobacco tax distributions accounted for $14,652,499, down 1 percent from the previous fiscal year. The subdivisions' share of distilled spirits tax revenue for fiscal year 1988, was $4,798,541, up one-half of one percent. Beer tax distributions to the subdivisions were up by 1.3 percent, to $4,561,335," the comptroller said.

Cigarette tax revenue is shared based on a formula returning three cents of 13 cents per pack tax to the subdivisions according to population. Approximately one-third of the $1.50 per gallon distilled spirits tax and one-half of the nine cents per gallon beer tax is returned to the local governments, based on gallons delivered to retailers within the subdivision.

RINGING UP HIGH NUMBERS

There is no question that the breakup of the large telephone conglomerates has benefitted mostly everyone. Competition has fostered the production of a wide variety of phones, many of which have sophisticated features. However, not everyone is familiar with the proper use of these phones. Cordless phones, in particular, may pose the risk of partial hearing loss if they are used incorrectly. Many of these phones have their ringer located in the earpiece. If a person fails to switch from "standby" to "talk" before putting the phone to his ear, the phone will ring directly into his ear. Some of these phones ring at sound levels exceeding 120 decibels. Even a short ring at this level is enough to cause a partial hearing loss.

When one's hearing is impaired the pleasures and enjoyment of life are reduced. ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES wants to help return the simple but important pleasures that are enhanced by the sounds around you. If you are experiencing such hearing difficulty, we urge you to learn more about the hearing instruments available at ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES.

Although it is not as sustained, a cordless phone may ring in the ear with the sound equal to that of a jet plane taking off.

Carl W. Tharp, 75, of Frostburg, died Friday, July 22, 1988, at Frostburg Community Hospital.

Born March 22, 1913, at Borden Mines, he was the son of the late Truman and Julie (Rupp) Tharp.

Mr. Tharp was a retired employee of the Chessie System.

He is survived by his wife, Florence (Butler) Tharp; three sons, W. Edward Tharp, Baltimore; Ronald E. Tharp, Ridgeley, W.Va.; and Roy D. Tharp, at home; one daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Bittinger, Grantsville; one brother, Ralph Tharp, Consol; two sisters, Mrs. Virginia Butler, Grantsville; and Miss Elizabeth Tharp, Frostburg, 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Durst Funeral Home, Frostburg, where a service was conducted Sunday by the Rev. T. William Preston. Interment was in the Rest Lawn Memorial Gardens, LaVale.

BEULAH H. WILES

Mrs. Beulah Hope Wiles, 82, of Amboy, W.Va., died Wednesday, July 20, 1988, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Born July 27, 1905, in Morgantown, she was the daughter of the late Victor and Melissa (Elsey) Donham.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Frank M. Wiles, on May 29, 1978, and one brother and one sister.

Mrs. Wiles attended the Amboy United Methodist Church.

She is survived by two sons, William V. Wiles, Amboy; and Donald D. Wiles, Lambertville, Mich.; one daughter, Mrs. Mary Lou Wotring, Lambertville, Mich.; two sisters, Gladys Wiles, Weirton, W.Va.; and Mary Virginia Benson, Baltimore; 11 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Aurora Methodist Memorial Building. A service was conducted Saturday at the Aurora United Methodist Church by the Rev. Harding Nelson and the Rev. Annabelle Childer. Interment was in the Bellview Cemetery, Amboy.

The Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home, Terra Alta, W.Va., was in charge of arrangements.

HARRY W. BOBO

Harry W. Bobo, 66, of Mount Storm, W.Va., died Saturday, July 23, 1988, at his residence.

Born in Gormania on April 1, 1922, he was a son of Minnie (Bosley) Bobo, Mount Storm, and the late Harry B. Bobo.

Mr. Bobo was retired from the Grant County Board of Education, where he was employed as a school bus driver for 15 years. He also was a former employee of Alleghany Mining Company and the Grafton Coal Company. An Army veteran of World War II, he was a member of the Mount Storm United Methodist Church and Mount Storm VFW, Post 6735.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by one son, Harry W. Bobo, Mount Storm; one daughter, Jane B. Eskridge, Aurora, W.Va.; three sisters, Frances Sirbaugh, Winchester, Va.; Elinor Field, Fullerton, Calif.; and Carolyn Rinker, Smyrna, Del.; one brother, Wendell Bobo, Martinsburg, W.Va.; and two grandsons.

Friends were received at the Schaeffer Funeral Home, Petersburg, W.Va.

A service was conducted Tuesday at the Mount Storm United Methodist Church by the Rev. William Anderson. Interment was in Alkire Cemetery, Mount Storm, where military rites were accorded by members of VFW Post 6454 and American Legion Post 78, both of Petersburg.

'Golden Girls' proves that 'old does sell'

People relate to the show's premise

By Linda Sparkman

It all began on Saturday, September 14, 1985. A salty old woman (Estelle Getty) barged into the home her daughter shared with two other women and announced that she was moving in. NBC's The Golden Girls was launched.

The Golden Girls jumped right to the top of the ratings, and has continued to perform well. Although hailed for its witty scripts, the show also has a serious premise — that older women in their 50s, 60s, and even 80s can lead active, happy lives.

Series stars Bea Arthur, Betty White, Rue McClanahan and Estelle Getty portray this credo with gusto.

Arthur's character, Dorothy Zbornack, was divorced after her husband deserted her for life with a younger woman. A no-nonsense substitute teacher, Dorothy exudes self-confidence, and seems to have a vice-like grip on reality. "What I like about Dorothy," Arthur said, "is that she is the strength of the group: she sees to it that the others consider reasoning."

Arthur is often asked if the character of Dorothy is similar to the outspoken, independent, liberal character of Maude Findlay, from the successful 1970s series Maude. "I'm five-nine and a half in my stocking feet. I have a deep voice and, I suppose, a way with a comedy line. No matter what I do," she said, "there will be those similarities."

Betty White likes to talk about how she almost played Blanche, instead of Rose Nylund, the slightly daffy, ephemeral spirit whose bent for the absurd non-sequitur drives everyone crazy. But, she said, "If I had played the man-hungry Blanche, people would have said I was playing Sue Ann Nivens (White's syrupy sweet, aggressively man-hungry character on The Mary Tyler Moore Show)."

Estelle Getty (out of costume), plays outspoken Sophia, who proves life is worth living at any age in The Golden Girls, returning to Saturdays in the fall on NBC.

"I love Rose," she said. "She is so completely different from anything I've ever played before. I find her the greatest fun of all."

McClanahan, who originally read for the part of Rose, really wanted to play the part of the coquettish Blanche Devereaux. "I couldn't be happier with the way things have worked out," she said.

Getty's character, Sophia Petrillo, moved in with the other three after her retirement home burned down. Sophia's sharp one-line retorts are attributed to a stroke that left her unsure of the meaning of the word "tact."

Although many people claimed "old doesn't sell," The Golden Girls enjoyed almost instant and widespread popularity. The reason for this, McClanahan speculated, is because "everyone can identify with the situations on the show, no matter what their ages or background."

"I think people relate to the basic idea behind the show," she said, "that friendship is important at any age, that you never outgrow the need for love."

Fashion News

Role model? Or life imitating art imitating life? At the CBS Affiliate Conference in Los Angeles recently, West 57th correspondent Meredith Vieira wore a particularly appropriate gown. Moviegoers may have noted it was an exact duplicate of a dress worn by another figure in "broadcasting." Holly Hunter, as Jane Craig, wore it to the Washington correspondents' dinner in the hit film Broadcast News.

THINK BACK

Everything is relative

By Donna Gooch

Where would we be without eccentric and kindly aunts and uncles to dispense advice and affection? TV series have often featured funny (in many ways) relatives to expand the family. Some took care of the kids, others had enough trouble taking care of themselves. Either way, they made an important addition to the household, even if they weren't always a "real" relative. Try and match the aunts and uncles with the series.

Christopher Gartin: Mickey on NBC's 'Aaron's Way'

By Jerri Hicks

"Mickey is a very nice, sensitive kid—a typical 16-year-old—but a little deeper and more aware than most."

BIRTHPLACE: New York City
BIRTHDATE: January 12
EYES: Green
HAIR: Brown
HEIGHT: 5'9"
WEIGHT: 140 lbs.
RESIDENCE: Los Angeles and New York

Christopher Gartin.

To Christopher Gartin, acting always seemed a perfectly viable career path. The son of an independent writer-producer who had been Director of Children's Programming for ABC and of a New Jersey businessman, Gartin grew up in New York show-business circles and performed throughout his teen years.

"When my sister got an agent," recalls the 20-year-old, "I decided I would too." At 13, he appeared in his first professional off-Broadway role, in The Buddy System. During his junior high school years, commercial work occupied his hours while he wasn't in school. As a sophomore, Christopher won a starring role in HBO's production of No Big Deal with Tammy Grimes, and was featured in the film Firstborn with Terri Garr. Back to Broadway at ages 16 and 17, he appeared as David in Torch Song Trilogy and understudied both sons in Precious Sons.

After his high school graduation, Christopher went to California and enrolled in the University of Southern California. "One semester was plenty," says the actor who quickly got a Hollywood agent and won the role of Mickey in Aaron's Way. The drama series is about a family who moves from their quiet Amish community in Pennsylvania to modern life in the wine country of California. Christopher's character, Mickey Lo Verde, is an all-American high schooler who helps the Amish kids adjust to their new environment.

The young actor got the part one week after he found an agent, and says, "that was the perfect opportunity to leave school."

He does, however, look to the possibility of furthering his career in other areas of show business which may require returning to the classroom. "At some point," he says, "I want to take some film courses to learn more about the technical side of the business."

Christopher says he enjoys the character of Mickey and is beginning to feel more comfortable working in television. "I do miss the luxury of more rehearsal time that you get with theater, but the series is great."

Having sacrificed sports for acting in high school, Christopher now enjoys basketball, scuba diving, hockey, skiing and surfing. In his free time, he also likes to play the guitar.

Gary Collins not one of The Collins Kids

By Diane Roberts

Q: Many years ago I enjoyed country singers, The Collins Kids. Is Gary of* Hour Magazine *the same? —Dorothy Klock, Grants Pass, Ore.

A: I think you are referring to country singers Gwen and Jerry Collins, no relation to Gary. Gary Collins took his first stab at singing when he performed in an Army performance of Oklahoma while serving in Germany in 1958.

Gary Collins.

Q: I am a very big Monkees fan, my favorite being Peter Tork. I would very much like to write him personally. Can you tell me where to write? —Kris Booker, McPherson, Kan.

A: You may write to Peter c/o The Monkees, Nickelodeon, 1775 Broadway, New York, NY, 10019

Q: Our Girl Scout troop went camping recently, and when the lights went out someone said, "Good night, mama; good night, daddy; Good night, John Boy." We all stayed up trying to remember the rest of the names. Please do a good deed and help us remember. —Katharine Harris, New Orleans, La.

A: When the Waltons said "good night" there was also Mary Ellen, Jim-Bob, Elizabeth, Jason, Erin, Ben, Grandma and Grandpa. Having done my good deed I feel much better already. Thank you.

Q: How and when did actress Jayne Mansfield die? My friend says she overdosed on drugs. I say it was accidental. —G. Perry, Williamsport, Penn.

A: Jayne died a grizzly accidental death on June 29, 1967, when the car in which she was riding crashed into a truck near New Orleans. The actress was decapitated and her body was thrown from the car. She was 34 years old. Three of her five children, who were traveling with her, escaped injury.

Q: Could you please give some information on Peter Deuel who starred on the Western series* Alias Smith and Jones*? —Ted Knox, Grenada, Miss.

A: Peter Deuel is one of the saddest stories in Hollywood. The son of a doctor, he was never quite satisfied with his career or his life. Much in demand and in the midst of a successful series, he was found shot to death in his Hollywood Hills apartment on New Year's Eve 1971, an apparent suicide. Contrary to all evidence, many believe to this day, it was either an accident or murder.

Jimmie Walker stars in role originated by Richard Pryor

By Austin Travis

Jimmie Walker has found life after his successful role as J.J. of Good Times.

Walker, who has been making people laugh for many years, returns to television as Sonny Barnes, a streetwise friend of a social worker, in Bustin' Loose, a Golden Groove production.

Based on the Richard Pryor/Cicely Tyson film of the same name, Bustin' Loose finds Walker sentenced to community service, which leads him to work for the social worker and her four foster children. Vonetta McGee stars as Mimi Shaw, the caring social worker.

Walker, who played the loveable and witty J.J. for five years, grew up in the South Bronx. He believed the only way out of the ghetto was to be offered an NBA contract. He dropped out of high school at age 15, but returned to obtain his diploma and continued with his college studies. While in college he was encouraged to try comedy, and so began his career as a stand-up comedian.

He continues to work with aspiring comedians and comedy writers, having been instrumental in the early careers of such comics as David Letterman and Jay Leno.

His most recent feature film, My African Adventure, is due out this summer.

It is extraordinary to what expense of time and money people will do in order to get something for nothing. Robert Lynd

Cause and Effect

Eighty-three year old Frances E. Williams is a longtime champion of black community causes, which brought the first exhibitions of black artists to Los Angeles. "You have to take responsibility for who you are," Williams said. "An artist who doesn't have any knowledge, doesn't have much to say. That is why I seldom want to be known solely as an actress; I prefer to be known as an actress-activist."

Dr. Suess tales told on Disney Channel

By Jonathan Deeley

Memorable childhood characters from the earliest days of reading come alive when The Disney Channel presents two favorite Dr. Suess films this week, beginning Aug. 3 with the conservationist tale of The Lorax, and continuing on Aug. 4 with Dr. Suess on the Loose.

Born Theodore Suess Geisel, the author began his Suess system of "unorthodox taxidermy" while working as a cartoonist, designing ads for an insecticide called Flit. But it was an article by John Hersey which appeared in Life magazine in 1954 that prompted him to create his most memorable character, the Cat.

The article challenged anyone to design a book for beginning readers that would avoid the boring subject matter and dull phrasing of the Dick and Jane readers. Geisel answered the challenge with his first book dealing with a limited vocabulary, The Cat in the Hat.

Now 83, he has authored more than 40 books, selling 400 million copies in 20 languages, and has won Emmys and a Pulitzer Prize. Although the doctor doesn't have any children of his own, he feels a bond with parents and remarks, "You have 'em, and I'll amuse 'em."

HOROSCOPE

LEO

VIRGO

July 31 through August 6

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
Health improvements are highlighted. It becomes imperative to resist unexpected temptations. A future event brings anticipation.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
Pleasure is derived from a simple outing with loved ones. You may now need savings once reserved for a rainy day. Creativity blooms.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
Scope of interests is broadened through a new acquaintance. Hunger for new experiences is overpowering. Pressure is on to achieve.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
A curiosity about the past surfaces. Taking things too seriously may cause problems. Seek the companionship of a professional peer.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
Embarrassment over a verbal blunder may trouble you, but do not let it guide your actions. Avoid being judgmental of others' actions.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
Watch out for claims of faultlessness. New obligations may require more of your time than you expected. Concentrate on diplomacy.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
Bottled up emotions do no one any good. Make others aware of honest feelings and intuitions. Take measures to learn a new skill.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
Look for ways to further your career or financial standing. A change of scenery could do a world of good. You are aching for rest.

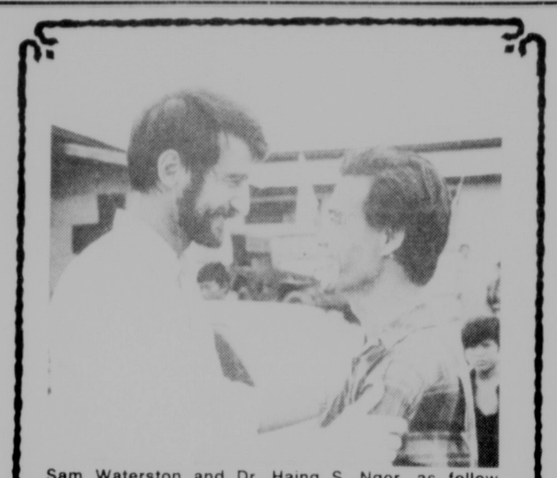

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
A mood for extravagance hits at a most unwelcomed time. Hold back the urge to spend money. A loved one dredges up old wounds.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Now is not too early to plan a smooth transition into a major lifestyle change. While time permits, leisurely get things in order.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Gentleness and tact win you the respect of influential people. An opportunity for advancement emerges. Proceed with plans.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Impatience occurs when progress seems stymied. Renewed inner strength helps you endure a tough situation. Leave worries for later.

CRITIC'S PICKS

Football fans get ready—the long wait is over. Sunday NBC will telecast the NFL pre-season game between the Miami Dolphins and the San Francisco 49ers from Wembley Stadium in London, England. Saturday night, CBS Sports will present the L.A. Raiders versus the 49ers, live from Candlestick Park in San Francisco, Calif.

Thwarted love seems to be the theme of network movies this week. Sunday on ABC Jane Seymour and Tim Matheson star in a rebroadcast of Obsessed With a Married Woman. NBC follows on Monday night with a repeat of His Mistress starring Robert Urich and Julianne Phillips.

Undoubtedly the big film this week airs Sunday on NBC, when the award-winning The Killing Fields makes its network premiere. It is a must for those of you who have not seen it.

Jack Benny, Red Skelton among TV Hall of Fame inductees

By Steve McGaw

Congratulations to the following distinguished persons who will be inducted into the Television Academy Hall of Fame on Nov. 13: Jack Benny, Red Skelton, David Wolper, David Susskind, Chet Huntley and David Brinkley and George Burns and Gracie Allen. Their induction ceremony, as well as vintage footage representing their immense and varied contributions to television, will be broadcast on the FOX Network on Nov. 28. Bravo!...

NBC's Brandon Tartikoff vows that, "come Hell or high water," there will be original programming on NBC this fall. To facilitate this, he says, the network will consider "reality shows" like Unsolved Mysteries, news programs, existing programs bought from Canadian or British TV and even raiding the vaults for shows that were under-appreciated, or otherwise "misfired" in their initial outings. That sounds great, but it won't put food on the tables of the thousands of performers and technical people who've been sidelined by the Writer's Guild of America strike...

Should the WGA strike continue for several more weeks, Donahue may be turning up in primetime. Multimedia is looking into it right now...

Lorne Michaels will produce the Emmy Awards telecast on FOX Aug. 28...

TV CLASSICS

The infamous '50s quiz-show scandals

By John Haskenson

What could be more harmless, innocuous, or entertaining than a TV quiz show? Not much, you might think. But in 1959, a series of headline-making quiz-show revelations led to a congressional investigation, arrests–even TV personality Dave Garroway crying on The Today Show—all while a nation of quiz-show fanatics looked on in disbelief.

The great 1950s quiz shows—from the beginning a smash with the public—were directly responsible for the creation of network standards and practices departments, firings at the highest network levels, and the enactment of new felony laws.

It all began innocently enough. In January, 1955, TV packager Louis G. Cowan came up with an idea for a new game show. His concept would showcase the common man with uncommon knowledge. In June of that same year, CBS premiered Cowan's The $64,000 Question, featuring host Hal March, an isolation booth, and an IBM question selector.

The show went through the ratings roof. During its time slot, the country's crime rate dropped, movie and baseball attendance plummeted, water consumption decreased and long-distance phone calls fell. Revlon, the show's first sponsor, experienced soaring stock and dramatic sales.

It seemed that everyone loved to watch while two contestants matched wits, attempting to find the answer to questions that could earn them thousands of dollars. Imitation shows began to appear. NBC entered the big-money sweepstakes by introducing Twenty-One in September, 1956.

By July, 1956, The $64,000 Question and its offspring, The $64,000 Challenge, were the number-one and number-two rated shows in the nation.

But there was trouble in paradise. In 1957, Twenty-One contestant Herbert Stempel approached the press with an accusation: "I was told by the producers of Twenty-One to purposely lose to (Charles) Van Doren, and I can prove it." Newspapers, fearing libel, declined to print Stempel's charges.

But in 1958, after a contestant on NBC's Dotto called the press about alleged cheating, the FCC and New York City district attorney's office got involved. Dotto was promptly cancelled. The New York Post printed a story, and the New York Journal-American finally published Stempel's story.

In October, 1959, the House Legislative Oversight Committee issued subpoenas. Van Doren, one of the most popular contestants on Twenty-One, testified, "I was deeply involved in a deception." And the era of the 1950s game shows came to an end.

Volunteers Roll Into County For Another Habitat Work Session

by Joan B. Crawford

Groups of young people and adults from three different states came to Garrett County the week of July 11 to participate in the second of the Habitat for Humanity summer work camps. Once again, the homes of a number of local residents were repaired and improved by the work camp participants.

One group of 12 young people came from the YMCA of Jackson, Michigan, to work at various homes in the Crellin area, landscaping and repairing roofs. Another group of 12 persons from the Damascus United Methodist Church in Damascus, (Md.), built porches, decks, steps, and repaired roofs of houses in Accident. The third group came from the United Methodist Church of Fairmont, W. Va., to do landscaping, repair roofs, build porches and decks in the Crellin area, build a sidewalk in Kitzmiler, and erect a greenhouse project to help supplement income for a family in Oakland.

As with previous work camps, participants were housed in the Eagle's Nest at the Wisp Ski Area, courtesy of Helmuth Heise, except for the group from the YMCA who camped out. Breakfasts were served at the Senior Center in Accident by a group of Habitat volunteers who also packed lunches.

Dinners were provided by the following area churches: Church of the Nazarene, St. Matthew's Episcopal Church of Oakland, Oak Park Church of the Brethren, and the White Church Community Center, served by the United Methodist Women. The campers were treated to a picnic on Wednesday at the Deep Creek Lake State Park provided by members of the Habitat Board, with barbecued chicken cooked by Blue Marucci and members of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club.

A number of Garrett Countians worked with the campers and helped to prepare meals. Electrician Larry Champ did the wiring for the house in Accident; Gorman Beitzel served as "go-fer" with the Damascus group, making many trips to the lumber yard.

Of their experience in Garrett County, the campers had very positive things to say. It was the second work camp for Rob Mays of Fairmont, who said, "It's fun, and you know you're helping other people." Charles Little, another young camper with the Fairmont group, ackowledged that he came back to Garrett County because he loved it here, and Jason Wright admitted that he liked the evening after work and the waterslide best.

Leslie Harker, a young camper attending her second work camp, stated, "I came back because it's really very rewarding, and lots of fun. I enjoy meeting new people."

The adults of the Damascus group expressed similar views of their experience here. Martin Carr, attending his third work camp here, stated, "I enjoy this type of work because it gives me a chance to use my tools and we can see the improvements we are able to make."

Grace and Bob Snapp who were new to the work camp experience found it to be a very gratifying one. "It has been very well organized, and the hospitality of the people here makes our job a lot easier," stated Bob. His wife agreed that people in Garrett County are very friendy and said she looked forward to coming back again.

Al Serkiz of the Damascus group had been here before. "I came back because it's an opportunity for me to share my experience and I enjoy seeing young people learn a great deal. One of our young men had an opportunity to go to Ocean City this week, but chose instead to come here."

As the week ended and the campers returned to their homes, they left with many happy memories and with many new friends among those they had helped.

B&L Employees Of Month Selected

Brenda Preston

Florence Welch

Susan Draper

Employees of the Month at the local Bausch and Lomb plant for July were recently named by management. Receiving the honor for first shift was Brenda Preston, for second shift, Florence Welch, and for third shift, Susan Draper.

Ms. Preston was hired in December 1986 as an inspector, a position which she currently holds. According to Betty Tucker, manager of the Quality Control Department, she was chosen for the award because of her "excellent job" as an inspector for vacuum coating. "Brenda applies her knowledge and skill in a superior manner," Ms. Tucker said. "She has a very high concern for quality and she has an excellent attendance record."

Ms. Welch, who was hired in May 1977, has been a light machine operator, a module operator, and currently holds the position of surfacing materials assembler. Dave Koon, manager of the Lens Surfacing Department, said she was selected an Employee of the Month for "taking great interest in her job, working hard at all times, and making sure the job is done right the first time." He also said she has an "excellent" attendance record.

Ron Heginbotham, manager of Lens Edging, stated that Ms. Draper was named Employee of the Month because of her "outstanding job" as third shift working group leader.

Ms. Draper joined B&L in April of 1987 as a utility inspector and just recently became group leader.

"Susan works very well with the third shift employees and co-group leaders," Heginbotham said. "She is definitely an asset to our company."

HOYES

The United Methodist women had their annual picnic on Thursday at the lake residence of the Rev. and Mrs. Ellis Harvey. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Wilburn, Mrs. Martha Glotfelty, Mrs. Isabel Klotz, Mrs. Virginia Rainey, Mrs. Lori Schmuck, Hannah and Levi, Celesta DeWalt, Nellie Bishoff, Bertha Tower, Elsie Cross and Catherine McCrobie, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey. They had a short business meeting and several went for a boat ride. There will not be a meeting in August, but in September they will meet at the home of Mrs. R.C. Bishoff.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Coddington, Circleville, Ohio, spent several days visiting his sister, Mrs. Evelyn Georg, and other relatives and friends here. Other visitors of Mrs. Evelyn Georg were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Walker, Landcaster, Pa., Mrs. Wanda Martinci and children, Johnstown, Pa., Leo Coddington, Mrs. Brenda Dolan and family, and Mrs. Betty Rittenhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Sanner Sr. visited Owen DeWitt Sunday evening. They also visited his sister, Mrs. Laura Snyder, of Meyersdale Nursing Home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling visited their aunt, Cecelia Spear, Oakland, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Border and daughters, Mt. Airy, Mr. and Mrs. George Haenftling, Mr. and Mrs. James Fike and family and Earl Meyers were Saturday dinner guests of Miss Hazel Haenftling and Elva See, Ridgeley, W.Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Border and daughters were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling and Mr. and Mrs. George Haenftling.

Mrs. Betty Wilburn and Steve, Kim Yoder, Pastor Jim Cain, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pickeral and Lee were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Friend on Sunday.

Catherine McCrobie attended the Georg Reunion on Saturday at the home of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Georg, near Accident.

All members of the family of Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Wilburn except Dawn Wilburn had dinner at the Silver Leaf Restaurant in Frostburg on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fike and daughter, Linda, motored to Baltimore on Wednesday to see Linda's fiance, Earl Meyers, who was injured at work at Fallston. He was admitted to the Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, and had surgery Tuesday evening. He works for the Tissue Construction Co. of Addison. Pa. On Saturday the Fikes brought him to his home in Addison, Pa.

On Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Darius Fike entertained the following with a picnic at their home: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fike, Scottsdale, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Chester Fike, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Fike, Candi Friend, all of Friendsville, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haenftling, Mr. and Mrs. George Haenftling, Earl and John Meyers, and Mr. and Mrs. James Fike, Linda, Allen, and George. Other visitors this week were: Mrs. Edward Deal and sons, Jimmy and David, Mrs. Alice Deal, Mrs. Lola Wilburn, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Joheming, Pauline Faucett, and Jeanette Glotfelty.

SUNNYSIDE-UNDERWOOD

The Underwood Bible School closed with their program presented Saturday evening.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday of last week for Marian Friend, who had died earlier in the week. Her immediate family members are all local residents except one son, Jack L. Friend, and his family of Virginia Beach, Va. Her sisters are Mrs. Barbara Taylor, Carston, Ohio, Mrs. Grace Hartman, Cumberland, Mrs. Irene Hartman, Bunker Hill, W.Va., and Mrs. Mildred Myers, Detroit, Mich. Two of the brothers from out of town are George M. Ford, Baltimore, and Charles R. Ford, Tennessee. Some of the sisters stayed over the weekend to be with the family.

Mrs. Sybil Merrill was hostess this week to the Ladies Bible School. Some of the local women who normally attend were unable to because of the death of Mrs. Marian Friend.

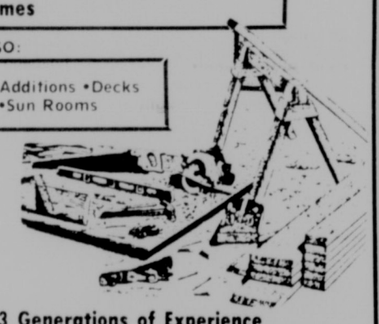

Friends and relatives visiting in the Noah Waybright home this past weekend were Prima Kline, Emil and Laura Lipscomb and Linda Tox from Manassas, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Snyder and family from Roanoke, W.Va.

Bessie Canan and grandson, John, were at Upper Location one day this week visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. Vernon Lantz. Also visiting Mrs. Lantz that afternoon was her brother, Howard Hebb, of East Flat Rock, N.C. Mrs. Lantz accompanied him and his daughter, Lois Walker, home to North Carolina for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sandberg of New York spent the weekend with her parents and family, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Canan, Accident, on their way to their home near Wilmore, Ky., where Mr. Sandberg is a teacher. Mrs Sandberg, the former Regina Canan, had graduated this past May from Ashbury College. The families all met at her parents' home on Sunday for a buffet dinner.

Maryland You are Beautiful ©
"MARYLAND & GARRETT COUNTY YOU ARE BEAUTIFUL"
CITIZEN RECOGNITION
We are looking for Maryland's Beautiful People — those special people whose inner beauty compels them to actively love their neighbors. We want to make Marylanders aware of the great things their fellow citizens are doing. The "Maryland You Are Beautiful" Citizen Recognition Ceremony celebrates and honors individuals or groups from each county and the City of Baltimore who make Maryland beautiful. Each county will select one special individual or group to be honored as "Maryland's Most Beautiful" at a private reception with the Governor and in a public awards ceremony in Annapolis scheduled for November 16, 1988. This event will be free and open to every Marylander, with entertainment provided by talented groups from every corner of the state.
The individual or group chosen for Garrett County will be recognized at the commissioners meeting on November 1, 1988.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Douglas Edwin Fike, son of Dale and Charlotte Fike, Mtn. Lake Park, has enlisted in the United States Navy. Fike reported to San Diego for Recruit Training on July 26.

Following training Fike will attend school to become a hospital corpsman (HM). Hospital corpsmen assist medical professionals in providing health care to service personnel and their families. They may function as pharmacy technicians, medical administrative personnel, and nurse's aides. They may also assist physicians, serve as battlefield medics, and in other capacities. Many HM's work in hospitals or clinics and with Fleet Marine Force units.

SR Fike is a 1988 graduate of Southern High School.

Army Pvt. 1st Class Terry L. Shreve, son of William L. and Sonja Shreve, Route 2, Oakland, has arrived for duty in South Korea.

Shreve is a tank system mechanic with the 72nd Armor Battalion.

He is a 1985 graduate of Southern High School.

Thomas W. Oates, son of Norman L. Oates Sr., Route 1, Westernport, and Gloria L. Paul, Star Route, Grantsville, has been appointed a sergeant in the U.S. Air Force.

The new non-commissioned officer completed training in management, human relations and NCO responsibilities, before being awarded this status.

Oates is a personnel specialist at Carswell Air Force Base, Texas with the 7th Supply Squadron.

He is a 1984 graduate of Milton Hershey High School, Hershey, Pa.

PROMOTED TO WING LEADER — Captain James A. Schreiner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sutcliffe, Lake Shore Drive, was promoted to Wing Leader at the Alconbury Royal Air Force Base in Alconbury Hill, England. Capt. Schreiner attended Maryland public schools and the University of Maryland, where he joined the R.O.T.C. officer training program. He graduated from the University of Vermont with honors and was second in command in the R.O.T.C. program. He is currently flying the A-10 jet fighter plane, also known as the Wart-Hog or Thunderbolt. Previously, Capt. Schreiner was a flight instructor for T-37 and T-38 jet trainers in Columbus, Miss., and San Antonio, Tex.

Lecture, Exhibition Scheduled At FSU

Susan Allen will present a lecture on Paul Cezanne on the campus of Frostburg State University in the Lane Center (Room 201) Friday, August 5, at 6:30 p.m. Following Ms. Allen's lecture at about 7:30 p.m., the exhibition Landscape: Three Perspectives will open in the Roper Gallery.

Susan Davidson Allen, a writer who spent the past year teaching in the FSU English Department, specializes in modernism and post-modernism for her research and lectures. A summer resident of Aix-en-Provence in 1986, Ms. Allen had the opportunity of living in the shadow of Mt. Sainte Victoire and traveling the lanes over which Paul Cezanne walked and biked to his landscape points of view.

She is currently working on a novel and a stream of poetry, which celebrates the junctions of nature and art.

She earned a master's degree in humanities from Arizona State University and an M.A. in special education from the University of Vermont. She studied painting and drawing at the Vermont Studio School and at Johnson State College, Vermont.

Construction On Adventist School Now Underway

"As schools throughout Oakland prepare to open in the fall, the Seventh-Day Adventist Church School is also readying for its start in September," said school board chairman John Rodeheaver.

Construction is beginning adjacent to Mt. Top Church, about five mniles north of Oakland along U.S. Rt. 219.

"The school will be open to all students who would like a quality Christian education," said Pastor James Buresh. "Our teacher, Edith Buresh, recently moved to Oakland from Houston, Texas, desiring to be in an environment where she and her husband can enjoy and appreciate the blessings of living in a rural area away from the city. She comes to us with 16 years of teaching experience. Aside from the required curriculum, Mrs. Buresh says it is her plan to share with the children her skills in baking and other practical activities."

"While we support public education with our taxes, we also provide an alternative education where the name of God can be mentioned or prayers said, and Christian values taught. It is our objective to offer an environment where the young people can grow in a personal relationship with God and develop physically, mentally, emotionally and spirtually according to His will," explained Mrs. Buresh.

"We aren't finding fault with the system," Pastor Buresh says, "but we do appreciate the privilege of offering Christian parents and students a place where their goals can be reached."

For information on curriculum and fees, persons may telephone the pastor at 301-387-4223 or 387-9532.

District Court Results Noted

Numerous cases were heard by Judge Jack Turney last week in Garrett County District Court.

Willis Glotfelty, 27, Mtn. Lake Park, was found to be guilty of an assault charge and sentenced to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail.

The judge then suspended all but ten days of the sentence, placing Glotfelty on two years supervised probation. The sentence will run concurrently with a previous sentence imposed on Glotfelty.

The charge was filed by Robert D. Lewis Sr., Mtn. Lake Park, and stemmed from a June 6 incident there. According to court reports, Glotfelty threatened several people with a gun.

In separate cases, Glotfelty was found to be not guilty of a charge of assault filed by Edward O. Lewis, Oakland, and Lewis was found not guilty of an assault charge filed by Glotfelty.

Judge Turney found Clarence C. Esser, 54, Winchester, Va., to be guilty of a theft charge, sentencing him to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail.

The sentence was then suspended, and Esser was placed on one year supervised probation and fined $25. A charge of conspiracy was dismissed.

The charges were filed by Garrett County Sheriff's Deputy Randy L. Sines following a June 4 incident in Swanton involving the theft of two sheets of plywood and a 10-speed bicycle from Catherine Duckworth.

The judge ordered probation before judgement for Brenda L. Snyder, Grantsville, for a bad check charge. She was placed on six months unsupervised probation. A charge of theft was dismissed.

The charges were filed by Linda Fike, manager of Shoe Show, Inc., following a May 6 incident there.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered for Earle W. Railey, Oakland, for a charge of assault filed by Sylvia Tasker, Oakland. The charge stemmed from a May 27 incident in Oakland.

Placed on the stet docket were charges of battery and disorderly conduct against Timothy D. Bradley, Mtn. Lake Park.

The charges were filed by William Cogley, Mtn. Lake Park, following a June 6 incident there.

Charges of harassment and trespassing against Thomas Bowers, Deer Park, were also placed on the stet docket. The charges were filed by Barbara Friend, Deer Park, following a June 3 incident there.

Also placed on the stet docket were two counts of battery against Timothy D. Bradley Sr., Mtn. Lake Park, filed by Brenda L. Bradley, also of Mnt. Lake Park, following a June 6 incident there.

Charges of littering and a dog ordinance violation against Paul M. Streets, 32, Bloomington, were also placed on the stet docket. The charges were filed by Robert G. Fitzgerald, Bloomington.

Streets was represented by John R. Toston, public defender.

NEEDED EQUIPMENT DONATED — A wheelchair and over-the-bed table were recently donated to Hospice of Garrett County, Inc. by the Knights of Columbus of St. Peter's Catholic Church, Oakland. The frequently needed equipment will be loaned to terminally ill Garrett Countians, according to Wayne Johnson, executive director of Hospice. "We appreciate the thoughtfulness of the Knights of Columbus very much. I know this equipment will get much use," said Cathy Chapman, Hospice director of nursing. Father Martin Feild, right, and John Kurilla, left, representing the K of C, are shown presenting the equipment to Chapman and Johnson.

Vocational Ed. Courses Available To All Students

According to Kenneth Bittinger, supervisor of vocational education for the Garrett County Board of Education, Northern and Southern High Schools offer vocational education programs in agriculture production, business data processing, stenographic, general office clerk, marketing, allied health, consumer home economics; brick, block, and stone masonry; carpentry, industrial electronics, auto mechanics, and drafting. In addition, Southern offers food production and machine tool operation.

Bittinger said these programs are open to all students who are in the grade levels served by these programs and who are interested in and can benefit from these options. A vocational support service team is located at each high school to work with those disadvantaged and handicapped students who need additional assistance in order to be successful in their vocational program. For details about programs, persons may contact the guidance office at the schools.

The Garrett County Board of Education does not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, age, color, religious belief, national origin, or handicapping condition. Dr. Charleen Evans-Thomas is the Title IX Coordinator and any inquiries concerning equity should be made to 334-8928. John Morris is the Section 504 Coordinator and has the responsibility for assuring equal access to facilities and may be contacted at 334-8903.

A three-year application for vocational education programs has been prepared and submitted to the Maryland State Department of Education for approval. The application is available at the Garrett County Board of Education for review and/or comment by the public. Persons may contact Kenneth Bittinger at 334-8935.

National Education Association Reports On '88 Annual Convention

NEW ORLEANS — Delegates to the 1988 annual convention of the National Education Association overwhelmingly adopted plans to create a national network of innovative school districts.

These innovative districts, pledged NEA President Mary Hatwood Futrell in her convention keynote address, will serve as "learning laboratories" that "will seek to restructure how our schools function."

Over 8,400 delegates, representing more than 1.9 million NEA members nationwide, debated Futrell's learning labs proposal — and a host of other education issues — during four days of convention sessions, July 4-7.

"The time has come to restructure America's schools and prepare them to meet the great challenge of the 21st century," said Futrell. "A nation-at-risk will be saved only by a nation of risk-takers."

The new NEA plan calls on each state to designate at least one school district as a learning laboratory where teachers could experiment and take the lead in re-shaping American education.

NEA, Futrell noted in her convention keynote, has already gained considerable expertise on what it takes to effectively change how schools are structured. The experiences of some 200 NEA-sponsored demonstration sites for school-based reform have generated new ideas that can actually improve learning.

"Now it's time to take the lessons teachers have learned from these pilot efforts and test them out on a broader scale, in a national network of innovative learning laboratory school districts," explained Futrell.

To begin the learning laboratory effort, NEA will provide state and local affiliates planning grants and technical support. A total of $450,000 has been earmarked for the project in 1988-89.

Also announced at the NEA convention was another new major initiative that will make the National Foundation for the Improvement of Education (NFIE), the philanthropic arm of NEA, one of the top grant-giving foundations in all of education.

Over the next five years, contributions from NEA members to NFIE will create an endowment big enough to yield a million dollars a year for education reform efforts designed and developed by teachers.

One growing concern of America's teachers — academic "tracking" — received special attention at the convention. Presudent Futrell announced that NEA will launch a major study on tracking, the practice of segregating students by perceived ability grouping. The study will seek to identify practical alternatives to traditional tracking approaches.

Election '88 also received a fair share of attention at NEA's New Orleans convention. Education, NEA Executive Director Don Cameron announced at a convention news conference, now ranks as the number one issue in the 1988 presidential race, according to a new Gallup poll commissioned by NEA.

"The American people understand the need for change," said Cameron. "And they clearly indicate in this poll that they want to make education a national priority."

The new Gallup poll says Americans favor increasing federal aid to public schools, improving the status of the teaching profession through higher pay, and giving teachers additional authority to determine educational programs and policy.

Candidate Michael Dukakis received NEA's endorsement for the Democratic nomination at two meetings held just before the NEA convention began.

At the sessions, both NEA-PAC — NEA's political action arm — and the NEA Board of Directors voted to back the Dukakis nomination bid.

The actual NEA general election endorsement will be made by a mail-ballot survey of all the NEA delegates who attended the New Orleans convention. Ballots will be mailed on August 19 after the Democrats and Republicans conduct their nominating conventions. The results will be announced on September 8, with a 58 percent majority required for an endorsement.

NEA Executive Director Cameron, in his "State of the Association" convention address, reported the NEA membership has surpassed the 1.9-million mark, making the Association the nation's largest professional organization and union. NEA membership has increased by more than 50,000 over the past year, Cameron noted, with membership gains reported in 42 states.

Delegates to the NEA convention took time out from the third day of their deliberations to stage a mock "jazz funeral" in support of Louisiana teacher efforts to bury the state's historic neglect of education.

Some 300 delegate demonstrators from all 50 states, led by NEA Vice President Keith Geiger and Louisiana Association of Educators President Virginia Budd, marched from the French Quarter in New Orleans to a convention rally inside the Superdome.

A 50-car entourage then proceeded to the state capitol in Baton Rouge where petitions, signed by the 8,400 delegates, were presented to Louisiana Governor Buddy Roemer. The petitions urged the governor and the legislature "to stop the historic practice of educational neglect." NEA Vice President Geiger later addressed the Louisiana House and Senate.

Several key NEA positions were up for election at this year's convention. NEA Secretary-Treasurer Roxanne E. Bradshaw, a psychology instructor from Pike's Peak Community College in Colorado, was re-elected to the post for her third two-year term. She was unopposed.

Re-elected to a three-year term on the Executive Committee was Rosilyn L. Schleife, a physical education teacher from Holcombe, Wisconsin. Also elected to the Executive Committee was Edith Swanson, a classroom teacher from Ypsilanti, Michigan.

The convention also heard from a wide variety of guest speakers.

Ryan White, the 16-year-old student with AIDS who captured national attention with his struggle to attend school, urged NEA members to teach the facts about AIDS and to use education to make his illness "a disease, not a dirty word." White, who now lives in Cicero, Indiana, called on the delegates to "educate and save the children of tomorrow."

Terry Weeks, the NEA member from Tennessee who's the 1988 National Teacher of the Year, blasted the overuse of standardized student tests that are "easily counted, scored and measured."

These tests, Weeks explained, don't assess learning that isn't easily measurable by standardized questions — and, as a result, tilt curriculum away from more in-depth learning experiences.

California Congressman Augustus Hawkins, who chairs the House Education and Labor Committee, received NEA's Friend of Education Award — the highest award given by NEA.

"Gus Hawkins has been our drum major for education at the national level," President Futrell noted in presenting the award. "He is absolutely committed to insuring that every child in this great land of ours received a quality education."

Delegates also debated and voted on scores of resolutions and other issues raised on the assembly floor. They enacted measures:

- opposing the use of tracking that discriminates against poor and minority students.
- supporting teaching about religion as an influence in America and throughout the world.
- insisting that students who are taught at home must receive instruction by a certified education professional in a curriculum approved by the state department of education.
- calling for more research and development on safety features and passive restraint systems — air bags — for school buses.
- reaffirming NEA's commitment to the Equal Rights Amendment by working with coalitions to sponsor reintroduction of the ERA in Congress.
- supporting a new Maryland gun control law that bans sales of "Saturday Night Special" handguns.
- urging state and local affiliates to help create tobacco-free schools.
- encouraging affiliates to insure that textbook and educational material companies present women, men, ethnic minorities, and the disabled in non-stereotypical roles.

DEEP CREEK REALTY

Real Estate

By ROBERT HUEBNER
Deep Creek Realty

THE EMPLOYMENT CONTRACT!

Are you planning to sell your home? Have you ever wondered what the term "listing" means when you sell through a real estate company?

Real estate companies perform a valuable service to homeowners by representing them as an "agent" in the sale of their home. But the word "agent" carries great meaning, and does not merely signify the licensed individual with whom you will be working.

An agent is a person who "acts for or in the place of another by authority from him/her." The important phrase in the definition is "by authority from . . ."

When you choose a real estate company to represent you, you give "authority" in writing to that company to act in your behalf to secure a ready, willing and able purchaser for your home. As consideration, you agree to pay your "agent" a brokerage fee, usually equal to some percentage of the final sales price. The fee is normally payable upon completion of the sale, thus if no sale takes place, no fee is due.

The written authorization which you give to the company you choose, is called the "Listing Agreement." It becomes the "employment contract" for the company and spells out the responsibilities of both the seller and the agent, as well as the fee to be paid upon performance. Your agent will explain this agreement in detail with you.

Connie Schroyer Earns Doctorate

Connie J. Schroyer received a Ph.D degree in industrial/organizational psychology from the George Washington University, Washington, D.C., on May 8. Dr. Schroyer successfully completed the requirements for the Ph.D. degree when she passed the final oral examination of her doctoral dissertation entitled "The Effect of Attribution and Future Interaction on Leaders' Ratings of Poorly Performing Subordinates."

Dr. Schroyer was admitted to the Docotor of Philosophy program in September 1984. She passed her general examination in general psychology and industrial/organizational psychology with distinction from May 1985 to December 1986. She received a master of philosophy degree in May 1987. While attending graduate school, Dr. Schroyer presented research papers at the American Psychological Association's national meeting in 1986 and the Eastern Psychological Association's meeting in 1987.

Dr. Schroyer is a 1980 graduate of Northern High School and she received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Maryland in 1984. She is the daughter of Thomas and Patricia Schroyer, Grantsville.

Dr. Schroyer recently accepted a position as a research scientist with HumRRD International, Inc., a human resources consulting firm in Alexandria, Va. She and her husband, Larry Edgar, currently reside in Rockville.

Local Lutheran Brotherhood Earns Superior Rating

Lutheran Brotherhood, Western Maryland/West Virginia Branch 8483, Berlin, Pa., has earned the "superior" rating for its 1987 fraternal activity. The rating honors Lutheran Brotherhood branches (volunteer groups organized for service and fellowship) for their outstanding community service and management.

Criteria included in the rating system are contributions to the community through volunteer service, use of financial resources, number of meetings, and proper filing of branch reports.

The Lutheran Brotherhood district representative serving Western Maryland/West Virginia Branch 8483 as a fraternal branch consultant is David Meese, FIC, Berlin. He is associated with Lutheran Brotherhood's Laurel Highland Agency based in Johnstown.

Maryland residents received $183,287 from Lutheran Brotherhood last year in various forms of assistance, including grants, matching funds, disaster relief aid, educational scholarships and loans, and congregational allocations. These and other programs are sponsored and operated by Lutheran Brotherhood and its 13,712 members in the state.

More than $4 million in life and health insurance and annuity benefits was paid to Lutheran Brotherhood members or their beneficiaries in Maryland. Of this amount, $1.8 million was paid to members in the form of dividends.

At the end of last year, Lutheran Brotherhood held securites of Maryland-based companies worth $39.3 million. The fraternal benefit society's investment portfolio also included more than $31.7 million in mortgages on Maryland properties.

As a fraternal benefit society, Lutheran Brotherhood has more than 950,000 members who belong to 700 braches nationwide. Branches provide a network of volunteerism and a means of distributing Lutheran Brotherhood's fraternal funds at a grass-roots level. In 1987, the Society allocated $10.1 million to support its branches' activities, and $31 million in support of its members, their communites and Lutheran institutions. The Society's 1,400-member field force offers a broad range of financial products and services to Lutherans throughout the United States.

To conclude the 1987-88 school year, Friendsville Elementary School fifth grade students presented a graduation program entitled "We the People of the United States" written by three students: Stacey Anderson, Sarah Bosley and Kerri Sisler. Stephanie Bennett and Kim Lewis designed the program covers. Rev. Roy Riffle of the United Pentecostal Church gave the invocation and the benediction. Wilda Massi, principal of Northern Middle School, presented the diplomas. The fifth grade students pictured formed an outline of the United States in front of the background scene painted by the students under the direction of Douglas Gaither, art resource teacher. Ross Glotfelty, fifth grade teacher, coordinated the program.

The ninth annual Herring Heritage Awards were presented at Friendsville Elementary School as part of the fifth grade graduation program. Pictured in the first row are the primary students, left to right, Ryan Friend, pre-K, first runner-up; Heather Nugent, kindergarten, winner; Dale Frazee, first grade, second runner-up; and Scott Sisler, second grade, third runner-up. In the second row are the intermediate students: Frances Perry, third grade, second runner-up; Michael Calhoun, fourth grade, winner; and Timothy Savage, fifth grade, first runner-up. In the third row are Dani Conway, granddaughter of William F. Herring, center, and Jane G. Fox, principal. These awards are given to students who have demonstrated exceptional achievement over the past school year.

The Presidental Academic Fitness Awards were received by three Friendsville Elementary School fifth grade students for outstanding scholastic achievement in grades 3, 4 and 5 and for scoring in the 80th percentile in standardized achievement tests. Left to right are Stacey Anderson, Alisha Friend, and Christina Peck. In the second row are Jane G. Fox, principal, and Ross Glotfelty, fifth grade teacher.

Friendsville Elementary School pre-kindergarten and kindergarten students presented a graduation program on the outdoor stage entitled "Adventure in Letter People Land." Sarah Frazee, Heather Nugent, Joshua Perez and Brian Frazee, pictured left to right, are depicting the letter and sound of "h". Connie Higgins, pre-K teacher, Anita DeWalt, K teacher, and Joan Yungwirth, K/1 teacher, with the help of instructional assistants Mary Ann Umbel, Dorothy Lowdermilk and Carol Wakefield, coordinated the program.

Turney Finds Probable Cause For Local Man

A preliminary hearing was held for Vaughn V. Winters, 36, Oakland, last week in Garrett County District Court.

Judge Jack Turney found probable cause to believe that Winters committed the charges of distribution of a controlled dangerous susbstance and possession of a controlled dangerous substance. However, no probable cause was found for a common nuisance charge.

The charges were filed by Sheriff's Deputy P.J. Pratt, and stemmed from a May 25 incident in Oakland.

Video Productions Facility To Serve Garrett County

A new video productions facility recently began serving the Garrett County area. The company, Grove Productions Inc., operates from Gaithersburg, and serves all of western Maryland.

Bob Grove, president of the company, said, "We hope to make Grove Productions, Incorporated a full-service video production facility. We'll do everything from straight shooting, such as weddings, meetings, games, plays, seminars, and parties; to edited shows such as real estate (for sales or insurance pruposes), how-to videos (for teaching aids and high-turnover jobs), and promotional videos. Long-term assignments, like bowling tournaments, will be discounted."

The company recently videotaped the graduation ceremonies of Northern High School and Frostburg State University.

Grove reported that, if enough interest is expressed, Grove Productions will hold seminars on buying camcorders, VCRs, and other video-related products.

Grove is a 1983 graduate of Southern High School. He attended Garrett Community College, and gradutated from Frostburg State in 1987, with a degree in speech communications and a minor in public relations. During that time, he produced a series of public service announcements for Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls State Parks.

During his senior year at Frostburg, Grove worked at TCI, a cable TV station in Cumberland, where he operated cameras in the studio and in the field for commercials and sporting events. He also wrote and produced over fifty commercials.

Grove presently works at the United States Senate Recording Studio on Capital Hill, Washington, D.C., where he operates cameras for the U.S. Senate floor proceedings and in the studio for the Senator's public service announcements and television shows.

Grove reported that VHS copies of Northern and Frostburg's graduation ceremonies are still available for $20 for a limited time.

Grove Productions can be reached at 742 Clopper Road No. 34, Gaithersburg, 20878, or by calling (301)977-7604.

Man Sentenced To One-Year Term For DWI Charge

Judge Jack Turney heard one case involving the DWI charge during Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

James Everett Kent, 37, was found guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol and sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail. The judge then suspended 10 months of the sentence, placing Kent on three years supervised probation and fining him $250.

Welcome Home Service Set By Our Father's House

The congregation of Our Father's House, Altamont, will hold its annual "Welcome Home Sunday" service on Sunday, August 14 beginning at 11:15 a.m.

In addition to the worship service, refreshments will be served on the church lawn.

"Welcome Home Sunday" is an outgrowth of the service held in 1978 to mark the 45th anniversary of the founding of Our Father's House.

Following the service, photographs will be displayed which show the construction and early years of the church's existence. The pictures were organized and mounted by Mrs. Mabel Shank.

Our Father's House is one of two churches in the Garrett County Episcopal Missions group. The other is St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park. Both churches are under the direction of the Rev. John A. Grant.

Garrett County Senior Citizens Go Picnicking

One hundred and eight Garrett County senior citizens gathered at Broadford Park on Friday, July 15, for the first Southern Garrett Seniors' Picnic.

Delegate George Edwards and Oakland Mayor Asa McCain spoke; Charles Ross gave the invocation; and Mary Lou and Gordon Rowe entertained with accordian music and a sing-a-long. Betty Wildesen, Mary Lou Rowe, and Anita Beeman called Bingo and Charles Ross organized horseshoes.

One hundred and 29 seniors attended the Northern Garrett Seniors' Picnic on July 22 at the Pleasant Valley 4-H camp. Charles Ross again gave the invocation and entertainment was provided by Mary Lou and Gordon Rowe and also by Grover Broadwater on his fiddle. Cora Bowser and Roy A. Gearhart called Bingo, with Agnes Carey and Mary Browning assisting. Horseshoes were organized by Charles Ross. Prizes for games were provided by Englander's, Proudfoot's, Anwar Clinic, and the Area Agency on Aging.

The menu for both picnics included ham, cheese, homemade rolls, baked beans, potato salad, brownies, homemade apple pies, punch and tea. The meal was catered by Old Mill Grill, Friendsville.

Both pincics were sponsored by the Area Agency on Aging, a non-profit agency providing services to seniors.

The next scheduled activity for Garrett County seniors is a Chicken Dinner at the Garrett County Fair on August 12. The tickets, which sell for $2.50, are now available at all the "Eating Together" sites and at the Agency office until August 5. For more information, persons may call 334-9431, ext. 238.

Springs, Pa., Mrs. Dennis Maust, Accident, and Miss Jencene Bender were vacationing at Nags Head, N.C., from Saturday until Wednesday.

Spending some time with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Roberts, are Dr. and Mrs. Roy Harvey, Kerrville, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and family and Dr. and Mrs. Harvey were among those attending a retirement and birthday party honoring Kenneth Roberts, Lake Wylie, S.C., on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Schefft. Kenneth is the father of Keith Roberts and Mrs. Schefft. Local friends and relatives attended, as well as friends from Lake Wylie, S.C., Sarasota, Fla., Elyria, Ohio, Philadelphia, Pa., and Columbia, Md.

Spending Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Baker, Somerset, Pa. The four of them were forenoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Margroff and were afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harman, Oakland. A Friday evening visitor was Pauline Cains, Accident. Guests from Friday until Sunday were Elizabeth Sabre, Timonium, and Melrose Short, Sykesville. Additional Saturday and Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer and daughters, Timonium. Kristen Hanft, Addison, Pa., was also a Saturday overnight guest. Additional Sunday dinner guests included Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bowman and daughter, Pocahontas, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Latshaw, Fredericksburg, Pa., Joyce Holland, Lansdale,Pa., Rev. Russell Kerns, Pittston, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft and daughters, Addison, Pa. Evening visitors included Juanita Johnson and daughter and friends. Monday visitors were Mrs. Savilla Lennox, Elmer Hanft and Mrs. Virginia Fike, of Confluence, Pa. The Hanfts, Needers, Johnsons and friends, Elizabeth, Melrose and Rev. Kerns were all visitors of the Carroll Hanfts at Addison, where guests for a few days were Mr. and Mrs. Latshaw and daughter, Joyce. Mr. and Mrs. Latshaw and Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft and daughters and Mr.and Mrs. Walter Hanft were among those attending the 175th anniversary celebration at St. John's Lutheran Church, Addison, on Sunday afternoon, where Rev. Kerns was the guest speaker for the occasion. The pastor of that congregation is Rev. William Willson, a former pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, in this community.

Mrs. Eileen Devine and Mrs. Judy Friend spent Tuesday at Kings Dominion Amusement Park, Va. with a busload of other persons. They went on a bus to Raystown, Pa., for a two-hour boat cruise for "Christmas in July" on Wednesday. A Christmas turkey dinner was served on the boat, Santa Claus was present, Christmas music was played and Christmas decorations were used. Mrs. Devine went to Frederick on Thursday and returned to this community with her granddaughter, Miss Shannon Self, who was a guest for a few days. Then Mrs. Devine and Shannon went back to Frederick on Saturday where Shannon remained with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Self.

Mrs. Rita Robinson and sons, Friendsville, and Mrs. Alfreda Friend were Thursday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Carr, McHenry. Mrs. Robinson and sons and Mrs. Friend had dinner on Sunday at Chimney Corner Restaurant, Red House, to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Friend that occurred that day, July 24.

Visitors during the week of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman were Troy Garletts, Grantsville, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hockman and family, Accident, Ron Hockman and children, Ron, Jr., Sherri and Terri, Mrs. Alice Long and Miss Linda Cosner. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman and son, Don, were Sunday evening visitors of the Ron Hockman family to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Don with cake and ice cream. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hockman treated him to supper at a restaurant on Saturday, July 23, his actual birthdate.

Miss Cyndi Kolbfleisch spent a week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kelley, Rockville, at their cottage at Deep Creek Lake, where other guests for several days were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moody and family, Seminole, Fla. Mrs. Mike Kelley and son, Brian, Rockville, spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kolbfleisch and were also guests of the Kelleys at the Lake, where they were all joined for dinner by Mike Kelley, Rockville, Mr. and Mrs. Kolbfleisch and daughters, and Mrs. Sherry Stark and twins, Robert and Rebecca. The group all came to the Kolbfleisch home on Tuesday evening for supper.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Deniker and family. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Deniker were Friday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wilhelm, Listonburg, Pa.

Monday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Margroff were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gloeckl, Pittsburgh, and Mr. and Mrs. Troy Margroff.

BITTINGER-GLADES

Church News

Barry Mitchell, Confluence, Pa., led worship services at all three churches of the Bittinger parish on Sunday. Pastor Louise Knotts is on vacation until July 29.

Emmanuel's altar flowers on Sunday were given by Don and Jean Sealing, in memory of their son, John Thomas.

The loose offering at Emmanuel on Sunday was given to the World Hunger Appeal.

Lectors for Sunday worship were: Carole Peck, St. John's; Joseph Buckel, Emmanuel; and Bonnie Resh, Zion.

Elvin Holsopple served as supply pastor for the Glade Mennonite Church on Sunday morning.

Pastor David Rockwood, Cheyenne, Wyo., his wife, and two sons visited in the Bittinger area on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. They spent the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton and Ferne Beachy. An open house was held at the Stanton home, and members from all three congregations came to visit with the former local pastor.

Ken and Audrey Zehr, Harrisonburg, Va., spent the weekend in the area. Ken is the former pastor of the Glade Mennonite Church. On Sunday afternoon they visited at the home of Amelia and Miriam Brenneman.

Emmanuel's Women Meet

Emmanuel's Women of the ELCA held their monthly meeting at the church on July 8 with six members present. The business meeting opened with a Scripture reading by the president, Jenny Hady.

A thank-you note was read from the family of Dorothy Teets. A gift offering was included. It was decided to hold this offering and later designate the amount toward something specific.

The Christian Service Committee reported that 90 people were served lunch after Lawrence Buckel's funeral.

A card report was given by Ferne Beachy. The school bags have all been distributed.

Convention details were received from the Synodical unit. Ferne, Buelah, Lottie and Linda will attend as visitors. Betty Buckel will attend as a delegate.

The possibility of having no program in July was discussed. It was felt that a meeting may be needed to discuss the convention, which was tabled until the September meeting. A program planning meeting will be held in August. A thank-you card was received from the House of Hope. The Synodical unit newsletter was shared with the group.

Maxine Legeer and Linda Buckel presented the program, "Conflict from a Christian Viewpoint." A bible reading, burning of conflict confessions and prayer closed the program. Refreshments were served by Maxine and Linda.

Special Services

This Sunday evening and all evenings during the week following, Gerald Peachy, Beallville, Pa., will lead Spiritual Renewal Meetings at the Cherry Glade Mennonite Church. There will be special children's meetings and special music. All meetings begin at 7:30 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

Habitat Group Coming

Mrs. Elmer Maust reports that another group of 14 will arrive this week to work with local people on Habitat for Humanity projects.

Personal Items

Milton Shetler, Mountain Home, Ida., and Mr. and Mrs. Omar Maust, Salisbury, Pa., visited Mrs. Elmer Maust and family last Wednesday.

Mary Ellen Stemper and Douglas, Bowie, and June Petersen were weekend guests of Ferne Beachy and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Brenneman, Marla and Faith attended the 1-W reunion in Bluffton, Ohio, over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Glass, Tipp City, Ohio, were Monday overnight guests of the Allen Brenneman family. Amber Brenneman was a Monday visitor at the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Beitzel were Saturday evening supper guests of Miriam and Amelia Brenneman. Sunday dinner guests at the home were Mr. and Mrs. Alton Miller and Pastor and Mrs. Elvin Holsopple.

Lottie Brenneman attended the Moon reunion at Broadford Park on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buckel attended the musical production, "Cupid's Revenge" at the Cumberland Summer Theater recently. John Buckel was co-set designer for the show.

THE SINGING HILLIARDS will be performing at the revival services set for August 3-7 at the Crellin Assembly of God Church. Services will be held at 7 p.m. nightly and Sunday at 10 a.m. This is the Hilliard's ninth engagement at the Crellin Church.

Serving the area since 1977.

Jeff Graham Is WVU Honors Grad

Jeffrey L. Graham, a 1984 graduate of Northern High School, was graduated cum laude from West Virginia University on May 15 with a bachelor degree in social work. He was named the Outstanding Graduate in the School of Social Work and was one of 14 graduating students honored at a brunch given by WVU President Neil S. Bucklew at the President's home.

Graham graduated first in the School of Social Work and served as student marshal during the graduation ceremony.

He is currently employed by Chestnut Ridge Psychiatric Hospital in Morgantown. He has received a full tuition grant and will be attending West Virginia University this fall to complete his graduate work.

Jeffrey is the son of Bill and Nancy Graham, McHenry. He is married to the former Patricia Blocher of Grantsville and they reside in Morgantown.

Free Workshops For Musicians Offered At FSU

As part of Frostburg State University's program of providing musical and educational opportunities in the tri-state region, the Music Department is hosting master class workshops, taught by principal wind players of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, at 2 p.m. on Sunday, August 7.

These sessions will feature performance and pedagogical techniques for flute, clarinet, trumpet and low brass. All students, teachers, performers and other interested musicians are invited to attend the master classes. Those who wish to perform as part of the learning experience should bring appropriate instruments.

A registration table will be set up in the Fine Arts building lobby at 1 p.m. on the date of the workshop to provide information regarding sites for each session. All sessions are open to participants at no charge. The classes are sponsored by FSU as an educational service to the tri-state region.

For further information regarding any aspect of the master class workshop, persons may contact Dr. John Bauman, chairman of the FSU Music Department, at (301) 689-4381.

Wayne Alexander Promoted At B&L

Wayne Alexander was recently named assistant manager of the Lens Edging Department at the local Bausch and Lomb plant, according to Ron Heginbotham, manager of Lens Edging, and Allen Barr, Lens Manufacturing manager.

Alexander, of Oakland, began his career with B&L in August 1971 as a module operator in Toric Manufacturing. While in the Opthalmic Lens Department, he also worked as a utility operator and a set-up operator before being named group leader in Bi-Focal Manufacturing in 1980. He moved to the Lens Edging Department in 1982 as a group leader.

As assistant manager in lens edging, Alexander's duties will include daily supervision of the department's operations.

GRANTSVILLE

Homecoming

The Jennings United Methodist Church will hold its Annual Homecoming this Sunday, July 31. Sunday School will begin at 10 a.m., followed by morning worship at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Kay Almond, (a former Jennings pastor, who served from 1981-1984) from Athens, W.Va. A covered dish dinner will be served at 12:30 p.m. The Jubilator Quartet from Cumberland will present a program of gospel music at 2 p.m. The public is invited. The Rev. Joseph Upole is the pastor.

Trains At Goddard

Miss Janet Hutzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hutzel, Grantsville, was awarded a special scholarship by the University of Maryland, to attend The Center for Space Science Technology at the Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt. While there she visited Wild World, Washington, D.C., and many other sites.

Camp Potomac Earns "A" Rating

Camp Potomac, currently enjoying its largest attendance in 13 years, recently received an "A" rating, the highest rating possible, by a team of inspectors from the Northeast Region, Boy Scouts of America. The camp, operated locally by the Potomac Council, will have served over 1000 youth (ages 7 through 18) and 350 adult leaders during its seven-week session, while maintaining the lowest camp fees among over 500 Boy Scout Summer camps in the United States.

According to a council spokesman, the Potomac Council operates Camp Potomac as a major means in accomplishing the purposes of the Boy Scout Program: character development, citizenship training, and physical and mental fitness. "The camping environment creates an atmosphere for young people that is much different than their home environment and thus gives them the opportunity to grow in a positive way," the spokesman said.

McHENRY

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Riehl, Deerfield Beach, Fla., and Debbie Bowman, Annapolis, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Bowman, McHenry. Other guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bowman this past week were: Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Bowman and children, Eric and Courtney, Mrs. Grace King, Deep Creek Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Zimmerman and Roger, Swanton, and Mrs. Robert Cozens and daughter, Lisa, Willowich, Ohio.

A baby shower was held this week for Mrs. Sandy Riehl. Many family members and friends attended.

Date Change

Eglon Extension Homemakers will meet August 9 for their regular meeting rather than the usual date.

To Observe 40th

Eugene and Bernadine (Roth) Bachtel will celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary on August 7 with an open house at their farm home near Gnegy Church. They invite everyone to join them from 2 until 5 p.m. and request that gifts be omitted.

Rinehart Reunion

The family of the late Mack H. and Dolly M. Rinehart had their ninth annual reunion on July 16 at Silver Lake Park with 62 friends and relatives attending.

Those in attendance from other areas included Johnny and Jean McNally, Matthew Holtzclaw, and Brian Woods, Vine Grove, Ky.; Jim and Barbara Williams and son, Manassas, Va.; June and Kelly Lynn Aylor, Locust Grove, Va.; Roy and Althiea Moats and family, Rockville, Md.; Darlene Johnson, Clint Moats and family, Cleveland, Ohio; Chuck and Darla Cole and sons, New Oxford, Pa., and Rick and Tammy Swift, Parkton, Md.

Also attending were Cloyd and Yvonne Rinehart, Hambleton; Garland and Freda Rinehart, Kerens; Mike Knotts, Crellin; Mark and Susie Rinehart and sons and David and Ethel Simmons and family, all Terra Alta; Cindy and Sarah Caruso, Oakland; Juanita Watring, Nettie Wolf and Earl Cress, Rowlesburg; and Marsha Mikles, Horse Shoe Run.

Local attendees were Randrew and Jean Rinehart and family, Clyde and Betty Cummings and sons, Victor Rinehart, Shirley Heckler and sons, Charlotte Dillsworth, and Pete and Debbie Pifer and sons, all of Aurora.

Of Personal Interest

A Saturday evening picnic at Cathedral Park was shared by the Galen Fikes of Eglon, the J. Michael Fikes of Aurora, and the J. Melvin Fikes of Farmington, Pa.

Weekend guests of Herb and Jean Starr, Stemple Ridge, were Lyle and Mary Ann Harsh, friends Bob and Bert Nichols and children, Mike and Shannon, Virginia "Ginny" and Al Casto, Diane Lonsbury, and Wendy Wolfe of Ohio, Claud and Eldean Poling of Shepherdstown, and Harold Harsh, local.

Patients in Garrett County Memorial Hospital at this writing are Eileen Harsh of Stemple Ridge, Blanche Snyder and Lura Calcamp of Horse Shoe Run. The latter two are expected home early this week.

The Horse Shoe Run Farm Women's Circle met Thursday evening last week in the home of Eugene and Bernadine Bachtel when their planned picnic at Cathedral Park was rained out.

A birthday party was held Sunday evening at the Eugene Bachtel home for their granddaughter, Kelly Cassidy. Attending were the host and hostess, Larry and Gary Bachtel; the honored guest's parents and sisters, Charles and Eugenia Cassidy, Shelly and Amanda; Twila Bachtel, Jeanine Gehman, Ronnie Junkins, Scott and Teresa Bittinger, Jack and Brenda Cassidy and Tammy, Bill and Diane Bachtel, Matthew and Ashley, Twila, Don and Jason Wood, Grace Roth, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bachtel and family, and Clifton Bachtel.

Kathy and Danny Moats and their children have returned to their home in Eglon. Kathy is yet unable to do her work, but

Library Corner

Allegheny Mountaintop Public Library

The FRIENDS of the Allegheny Mountaintop Public Library sponsored a play day June 25, at the Mountaintop Community Park to launch the Summer Reading Contest. Approximately 150 children and adults participated.

Kool-Aid and cookies were available as well as registration for the FRIENDS group and summer reading contest, plus face painting. Children played games with various costumed characters.

Approximately 60 students and pre-schoolers have registered to date to participate in the reading contest. It is the general consensus that the play-day should become an annual event, and the FRIENDS will try to do.

The last day to read books for those participating is August 12. Reading lists have to be into the library by Wednesday, August 17, (also a movie and storybook day, 2:00) with the annual picnic being held Wednesday, August 24, at 2 p.m. with awards being presented to the top readers in six age groups. Readers may still register at the library if they so desire.

When the reading lists are presented to the librarian, for every five books read a "reward" is presented to the reader. Persons with questions may come into the library during hours (Monday, noon-6, and Tuesday through Friday, 11-5) or call Susan at 693-7504.

All the events that take place at the Allegheny Mountaintop Public library are sponsored by the FRIENDS. Dues run from July 1 through June 30 each year, but can be paid at any time at the library in Mount Storm or any of the FRIENDS board members.

The FRIENDS of the Allegheny Mountaintop Public Library will meet Thursday, August 11, at 7:00 p.m. Plans for the fall and winter activities will be discussed and all interested persons are urged to attend.

Children's Books To Be Featured At A Bookfair

While parents may worry that their children spend too much time reading comic books, many authorities encourage the reading of comic books, as they may provide for many children the stepping stone to reading more challenging books later. With this in mind, the Bookfair scheduled for August 5 (9 a.m. to 8 p.m.) and August 6 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) in downtown Petersburg will feature a comic book exchange for local children as well as a wide selection of affordable used and new children's books.

New and used adult books will also be available on a broad range of topics including westerns, how-to, romances, science, history, health and exercise, business and gardening.

The planners of the Bookfair, Jean Calhoun and Stephanie Waldman, are requesting that used children's books be donated to the library for sale at the bookfair. Clean and undamaged children's books may be brought to the library for inclusion.

The Bookfair is sponsored by the Friends of the Grant County Library and proceeds will go to the Grant County Library. For information, persons may call 257-2442 or 257-1947.

Methodist Women Meet

The Terra Alta Trinity United Methodist Women met July 19 at the home of Alfreda Falkenstine. Janice Feather, president, called the meeting to order and Rowena Mersing had the opening prayer.

A box has been placed in the church for the collection of Campbell's labels for Scotts Run Settlement House.

A School of Christian Mission will be held July 27-30 at Wesleyan College in Buckhannon.

Day Apart will be held Sept. 1 at Trinity United Methodist Church in Piedmont.

Nancy Moran led the program entitled "Family."

The next meeting will be held at Wilma Sirk's residence on August 16. Reva Martin will have the program and Louise Shillingburg will be in charge of the fun session.

Those attending were Garnet Elsey, Janice Feather, Reva and Sarah Martin, Rowena Mersing, Nancy Moran, Louise Shillingburg, Wilma Sirk, Paul and Leslie Mateer, Ruth Ringer, Edna Britton, and the hostess Alfreda Falkenstine, Darwin and Stacy.

Bridge Club Meets

The D & D Bridge club met recently at the home of Mary Ellen Markwood. Those attending were Ruth Teets, Marie Roberts, Martha Taylor, Paula Ward, Dottie Schwer, Juanita Gardner, and Patty Pennington. A covered dish picnic was shared. Guests were Patricia Maltisanti and daughter, Holly Ellen. Prizes were won by Marie Roberts, Juanita Gardner, and Ruth Teets.

Senior Citizen Menus

August 1-Vegetable soup, ham salad sandwich, rice pudding, fruit.

August 2-Ham, sweet potatoes, cauliflower/cheese, fruit juice.

August 3-Barbecued chicken, mashed potatoes, corn, applesauce.

August 4-Countywide picnic, 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Big Bear Lake.

August 5-Cook's choice.

Personals

Mrs. Nellie Grimm is a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital, Oakland, as of this writing.

Doris Burdine is presently visiting with her brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Tom Whetsell. Others visiting in the Whetsell home recently have been Alfred Jones, New Cumberland, George Thorn, New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thomas, Morgantown Road, Louise Whetsell, Twin City, Ga., Elaine Christmas, Marietta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeBerry, Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Dixon, Miss Virginia Smith, Ruth DeVall, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Calvert, Patty Stern and grandson of Buckhannon, and Dollie Lewis, Salt Lick.

Suggestions For Entering Fair Exhibits Offered

The Garrett County Fair will be held August 7-13 at the McHenry fairgrounds, and probably as in past years, no one is quite ready. Having all the needed information together will be helpful in minimizing the last minute rush and disappointments. The following suggestions for making fair entries are offered by Garrett County Extension Agent of Home Economics Irmgard R. Koscielniak.

Often changes are made that exhibitors are not aware of. Exhibitors can keep up to date by reading the Fair Book sent to all boxholders the middle of July. For additional information, persons may call Claude Wagner Jr., fair manager, at 387-6234.

The exhibit departments divide into Adult Agriculture (A); Adult Home Arts (B); 4-H and FFA Agriculture (C); 4-H and FFA Indoor Exhibits (D); and School (E).

Tuesday, August 9, will be the day exhibits can be entered. Exhibitors do not need to pay admission when entering exhibits. They should show the gate person their exhibits if questioned. A small child can enter with an exhibitor, but if he/she wants to ride rides, a ticket must be bought at the gate.

Exhibitors should know in what category their entry belongs. Superintendents will be able to answer questions. Exhibitors should make sure to keep the entry stub to pick up their exhibit on Saturday, August 13, at 9 p.m. The same procedure for entering the fairgrounds to pick up exhibits will apply.

Any project to be entered should be clean, neat, ready for hanging (if picture, etc.), threads clipped (needlework, sewing). Canned goods entered should have been preserved since the last fair (August 1987). Exhibitors should check special rules in the Fair Book under each department for which they have an entry.

Judging will be done Wednesday, August 10. The judges' decisions will be final, but the department superintendents and Extension agent of Home Economics will be available to answer special questions.

Maryland Herb Association Plans Open Meeting

The Maryland Herb Association will hold its first open meeting on August 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Cylburn Arboretum in Baltimore. This meeting is open to new members and persons interested in the herb industry.

The Maryland Herb Association is an organization for herb growers and marketers who are interested in promoting the herb industry in Maryland. This dynamic commodity group has members currently involved in growing, processing and marketing fresh and dried herbs, medicinal and culinary herbs, as well as value-added herbal products and crafts.

They are currently accepting applications for charter membership. For more information, interested persons may contact: Maryland Herb Association, Maryland Department of Agriculture, Marketing Services, 50 Harry S. Truman Parkway, Annapolis, Maryland 21401, or phone 301-841-5770 or 1-800-492-5590.

Garrett Co. Fair Dates Change

The dates for the 32nd Annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair have been changed from August 14-20 to August 7-13. This event will be held at the Garrett County Fairgrounds on Route 219 in McHenry. See front-page story for more details.

Fair Horse Show Date Is Changed

The date for the Garrett County Fair Horse Show has been changed from August 20 to August 13. This event will be held at the fairgrounds on Route 219 in McHenry and entries are open to county residents only.

Ground Water Symposium To Be Held In Annapolis

"Ground Water: Assessment, Impacts and Protection," is the title of the Sixth Annual Symposium sponsored jointly by Maryland's Old Line and Pocomoke Chapters of the Soil and Water Conservation Society to be held on August 31 at the Annapolis Holiday Inn on Riva Road, Annapolis.

The program, designed to address ground water issues from a variety of perspectives, begins with registration from 8 to 8:45 a.m. Topics include: Maryland's Ground Water Resource and Uses; National Ground Water Assessment; USEPA Pesticide Survey; Agricultural Impacts on Ground Water; History of Ground Water Along the Fall Zone; Urban Areas and Ground Water; Maryland's Ground Water Protection Strategy; Chemical Risks, Regulatory Standards and Public Concerns.

The program will conclude at 3:30 p.m. with a wine and cheese social sponsored by the exhibitors, who will be on hand during the day to display, demonstrate and discuss a variety of materials used for installing best management practices to protect water quality.

Providing an update on current research and technological advances in dealing with ground water problems, the program is open to all those interested in ground water-related issues in general and Maryland's ground water in particular.

Registration fee is $22 per person, including lunch and coffee breaks. Payments must be received by August 17 (pre-registration is required with no refunds after that date). For more information, contact the Southern Maryland RC&D office at 301-934-9290.

Predating the legend of William Tell and the apple, in 15th century Breslau, Germany, there was an annual orange shoot, during which marksmen shot oranges off one another's heads.

Maryland CRP Rental Rates Increase For Eligible Farmers

"Farmers will see rental rates $20 higher than their accepted federal levels if eligible for the new Maryland Conservation Reserve Program (CRP)," noted George Bishoff, chairman of the Garrett Soil Conservation District (SCD). Bishoff explained that to qualify for the Maryland CRP farmers must enroll land in the Federal Conservation Reserve Program and be either in the Chesapeake Bay Critical Area or meet federal requirements for a vegetative filter strip.

The Maryland Conservation Reserve Program was created through legislation to promote water quality. It will supplement the existing Federal Conservation Reserve Program which pays rental for highly erodible land taken out of production for a 10-year period. The Maryland CRP will add $20 per acre for eligible land in environmentally sensitive areas to achieve water quality benefits.

"The Maryland CRP will be available during the July 18-August 5 signup period scheduled for the Federal Conservation Reserve Program," according to District officials. The state has budgeted $40,000 for fiscal year 1989 program expenditures and contracts will be approved on a "first come, first serve" basis. Farmers eligible for the Maryland CRP will be allowed to withdraw their federal contract if state money is exhausted.

Application review and processing will be done in conjunction with the Federal CRP at the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) office. For more information, persons may contact the Garrett County ASCS office at 334-1901, Soil Conservation District at 334-1900, or Cooperative Extension Service at 334-1990.

Cooperative Aquaculture Effort Launched

Aquaculture can make farm ponds profitable, according to Al Watson of Great Mills, who recently signed an agreement with the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) and the University of Maryland to breed and produce catfish in four ponds presently under construction near Clements in St. Mary's County.

Watson believes that a local market exists for farm-raised catfish, and with the help of MDA and the University, he hopes to teach other farmers how to grow fish efficiently and make a profit.

Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr., and Dr. Craig S. Oliver, director of Cooperative Extension at the University of Maryland, have pledged their support in helping private farmers with this kind of demonstration project as part of Governor Schaefer's aquaculture plan. Their goal is to develop Maryland's aquaculture industry to its fullest potential and to bring Maryland's program to the forefront of the industry.

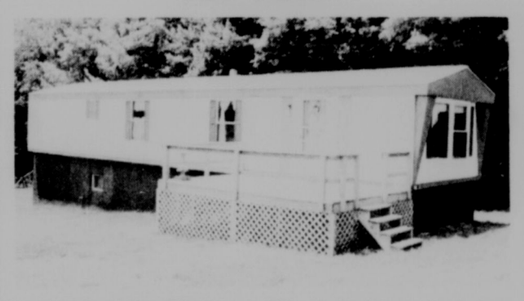

This demonstration project is the second of two in the state. The first is located in neighboring Charles County and is being constructed by W.W. Bowling and Sons. Two sites on the Eastern Shore are currently being considered for demonstration facilities.

For further information about aquaculture as a way to supplement farm income, contact Brad Powers, Maryland Aquaculture coordinator, Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Governor Requests That Maryland Be Designated A Drought Disaster Area

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced Monday that he has asked U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng to immediately declare all 23 Maryland counties as drought disaster areas.

Damage Assessment Reports (DARs) prepared by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) show estimated losses due to the 1988 drought in Maryland total $269 million, and Governor Schaefer said he is concerned that further delay in designating Maryland as a drought disaster area will increase the troubles already being experienced by the state's farmers.

Designation as a disaster area would make some Maryland farmers eligible for low-interest loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

In a letter delivered to Secretary Lyng, Governor Schaefer pointed out that the 1988 drought in Maryland follows on the heels of heavy drought losses — an estimated $225 million total — for the years 1986 and 1987.

In addition, the governor has requested that Secretary Lyng take immediate action to order that Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) stocks of corn stored in Maryland be reserved for distribution within the state under terms of the Emergency Feed Assistance Program and the Emergency Feed Program administered by ASCS. According to U.S. Department of Agriculture figures, stocks of grain in the Northeast and Middle Atlantic states are not high, and Governor Schaefer said that he believes Maryland's farmers should have first call on in-state stocks to spare them the added expense of shipping grain in from other areas.

Governor Schaefer further requested that Maryland's ASCS Office be given adequate staff and funding in order to handle the heavy load of certifying individual crop losses and to be more responsive to the immediate needs of Maryland's hard-pressed agricultural community. Farmers attempting to fight back should not find themselves penalized because of incomplete paperwork, according to the governor.

Drought Update

Fruits And Vegetables Available In Spite Of Drought Where Irrigated

Although the Maryland Department of Agriculture has said that Maryland fruits and vegetables will be available in adequate amounts in spite of the drought, local Mountain Fresh Producers Coordinator Criss Kepple says that fruit and vegetable producers in the Mountain Top area have suffered very significant losses to all produce during the last several weeks.

"Garrett and Preston county farmers are experiencing 50 to 75 percent production losses, depending on the crop," she said. "Many early varieties were frosted as well, adding to the overall loss in production."

She added that a very small percentage of area farmers have irrigation systems or other methods of watering crops, leaving a majority of local acreage susceptible to the full impact of a drought situation.

"Consumers can expect to see reduced quantities of local produce at slightly higher than average prices," Kepple said. She stated, however, that interested individuals can buy directly from local farmers, or pick their own produce, at many local farms in the Garrett, Preston and Tucker county areas.

Irrigation in the eastern counties has helped save crops and provide fruits and vegetables for local markets, according to the MDA. The MDA's Market Research and Development Office reported that approximately 23,000 acres, or nearly 50 percent of the total estimated vegetable and melons produced in Maryland, are irrigated. "Although that leaves half of the produce susceptible to drought, it is enough to ensure that even during a summer as dry as 1988's, there will be fresh local produce available for consumers," the MDA says.

An irrigation system does not completely solve the farmers' drought problems, they say. Installing and operating an irrigation system is an expensive investment, something the consumer should keep in mind if prices at their local roadside stand or farmers' market are higher this year.

Dr. Russell Brinsfield, head of the Wye Research and Education Center in Queenstown, estimated that a center pivot sprinkler type irrigation system would cost between $400 and $600 per acre in the lower Eastern Shore area. Trickle or drip irrigation systems, widely used on high value horticultural crops, are even more expensive. John Hostetler, irrigation specialist at the USDA's Economic Research Service, said these systems cost from $1,000 to $1,300 per acre.

Maryland connoisseurs of local watermelons, cantaloupes, peaches, grapes and other fruits might be the only people who have a reason to say anything good about this year's drought. According to MDA Marketing Specialist George Roche, Maryland melons and other fruits will tend to be even sweeter than usual during a dry year.

Average Moisture Improves Slightly

During the week ending July 17, thunderstorms moved over most of the state, but actual precipitation varied widely. During the storm of July 17, most areas south of Baltimore on both sides of the bay received significant moisture, in addition to significant precipitation in scattered localities earlier in the week. Topsoil moisture was 50 percent very short and 50 percent short on average, with some of the higher levels of moisture on the Eastern Shore. Subsoil moisture averaged 60 percent very short and 40 percent short, with some of the driest areas in Southern Maryland west of the bay. The condition of most crops did not change significantly. The number of days suitable for fieldwork was 6.0, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. The condition of pastures remained 90 percent poor and 10 percent fair. The current supply of hay was 40 percent short and 60 percent adequate.

The condition of corn remained at 80 percent poor and 20 percent fair. Thirty percent of the corn had silked, mostly on plants too small to produce significant grain. The average amount of corn silked on July 17 is 40 percent. European Corn Borer remained present in scattered counties. Soybeans were 80 percent fair and 20 percent poor. Farmers had planted 85 percent of the soybeans, 12 percent less than the five-year average on this date. Some farmers may resume planting, but many farmers needed more moisture before planting continues. Spider mites were present in Central Eastern Shore counties.

Wheat and rye were in good condition overall. Wheat was 97 percent harvested, three percent more than normal. Barley was 100 percent harvested, equal to the normal pace. The average condition of oats was 50 percent fair and 50 percent good. Oats were 45 percent harvested, five percent less than the five year average.

The second cutting of alfalfa for hay was 90 percent complete, five percent below normal. The second cutting of clover and other hay was 60 percent complete, equal to the normal pace. Leaf hoppers remained present throughout Central Maryland. The harvest of sweet corn and cantalopes was 25 percent complete, equal to the normal pace. The condition of apples was 60 percent good and 40 percent fair. The condition of peaches was 70 percent fair and 30 percent good. Most fruits need additional moisture to grow to desirable size.

Weather

Maryland's weather for the week ending July 15 was hot and dry. Precip. averaged 0.67 inch with widely scattered showers. Some areas received totals of over one inch. Temperatures averaged 82.1 degrees, 6.5 degrees above the normal of 75.7 degrees. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the upper 60s and lower 70s except in Western Maryland where minimums dipped to 55 degrees at Oakland. Maximum temperatures were in the upper 90s to low 100s in all areas.

Some Farmers Eligible To Apply For Drought Assistance

Prolonged drought conditions in Maryland are forcing many livestock producers to seek assistance through one or more emergency aid measures offered by USDA's Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service. These measures include the Emergency Feed Program (EEP), the Emergency Feed Assistance Program, (EFAP), haying and grazing of acreage conservation reserve (ACR) and conservation use (CU) for payment acreages, and harvesting for hay of conservation reserve program (CRP).

William F. DeWitt, chairperson, Garrett County ASCS Committee, said the programs will accommodate eligible farmers whose livestock feed supplies, hay production and pasture development have been severely hampered by extreme heat and lack of rainfall.

The EFP provides up to 50 percent of the cost of purchasing livestock feed and hay, not to exceed five cents per pound feed grain equivalent. The EFAP authorizes producers to purchase grain from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) at 75 percent of the basic county loan rate for the particular feed grain.

The ACR and CU haying and grazing authorizes farm program participants to graze their livestock and harvest hay or forage from cropland taken out of production by the 1988 acreage reduction programs. "Any hay or forage harvested may be sold," DeWitt said. He said CRP may not be grazed, but along with ACR and CU acres may be hayed or harvested by green chop for immediate feeding to livestock or for silage.

To help livestock producers who need hay locate sellers, and assist those with excess hay in locating buyers, USDA joined with other state and local agriculture officials to establish a national hay network. Farmers who have a supply of hay or those who need hay should call the Garrett County ASCS Office at 334-1901 or the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

Drought Bill Compels Farmers To Buy Insurance As Condition For Aid

U.S. Representative E. "Kika" de la Garza toured several Eastern Shore farms with Representative Roy P. Dyson, (D-Md. 1st District) early this week to review the effects of the drought in Maryland on this year's crops.

During the tour, de la Garza, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said that farmers accepting help from the multibillion-dollar emergency drought bill making its way through Congress will be required to take out crop insurance against future disasters for the next two years.

He explained that as the bill is written, this time, growers with crop insurance will receive the same benefits as those who did not take out policies — hoping to reap more profits from their harvests.

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley says that crop insurance for corn normally costs about $10 for each acre planted.

Eastern Shore farmers told de la Garza that crop insurance only helps the person faced with a total loss. The representative conceded that there are problems with the current insurance system and pledged that he would review the program to see what improvements are needed.

Reagan Told Of Damage To Corn, Soybean Crops

Much of the U.S. corn and soybean crop may be irreversibly damaged, Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng told President Reagan this week after returning from a 10-state tour of drought-stricken croplands in the Midwest.

"The rains of last week are helping, but it may be too late for corn to recover," Lyng told the president.

The Agriculture Department estimated on July 12 that the corn crop would be reduced by 26 percent from last year's levels to 5.2 billion bushels, although many analysts expect the ultimate figure to be closer to four billion bushels. The soybean crop was projected to fall from 1.91 billion bushels last year to 1.65 billion bushels.

Lyng told Reagan that he was optimistic Congress could quickly pass a bipartisan drought-relief package.

Farm Bureau Raises Concerns About Drought-Relief Packages

Stressing that drought assistance should go to those farmers who need it most, the American Farm Bureau Federation has raised some concerns about the relief packages expected to move through Congress this week.

In a letter to members of the House and Senate Agriculture committees, John Datt, executive director of the AFBF Washington office, said, "Congress has taken quick and bold steps to develop legislation that will help assist farmers during this drought and to alleviate many of their fears."

However, Datt said, Farm Bureau has concerns about some aspects of the two bills: the formula for providing disaster payments for crop losses, the possibility of raising the dairy support price and expansion of the feed assistance programs.

Regarding crop loss payments, Datt said the formula for calculating payments should be adjusted to provide the greatest assistance to farmers who suffer the most production losses. Under the measures approved before last week's recess, farmers who produce a partial crop would be better compensated than farmers who suffer a total loss. Datt said a "progressive" formula, in which payments would increase in accord with crop losses, would "more equitably distribute payments."

As for the dairy issue, Datt said Farm Bureau "strongly opposes" proposed amendments that would raise the dairy support price from its current level or increase the law's five billion pound government purchase trigger that determines whether the support will be adjusted.

"We believe that any effort to change these aspects of dairy policy would constitute a major shift in farm program authority well beyond assistance tied to drought relief," Datt said. He noted that the drought legislation would continue the current price support in 1989, canceling the 50-cent cut that was scheduled for January 1, and would make dairy producers eligible for additional feed assistance programs.

On the feed assistance issue, Datt said that extending the programs to farmers who purchase feed "will expand the feed programs substantially from their original intent of replacing lost feed production that would normally be fed to the producer's own livestock." As they stand, the bills would attempt to compensate purchasers of feed on the basis of increased production costs.

"Increases in prices for feed are nationwide and affect all purchasers of feed," Datt said. "Unless very careful limitations are included in the expanded feed assistance programs, substantial administrative and budgetary problems will result."

After some fine-tuning, both bills could reach the floor of each house this week.

Producers Asked To Report Before Crops Are Destroyed

Producers who intend to destroy crops affected by the drought should first contact their county ASCS office, according to James C. Richardson, ASCS state executive director.

In Garrett County the ASCS office phone number is 334-1901. ASCS officials will then make an appraisal of fields to be destroyed to comply with potential legislation now pending in Congress.

EUROPEAN CORN BORER

Well, if the drought wasn't enough to hit the corn, we now have the European Corn Borer. Already on Monday morning as I was preparing this news release, I had three farmers call in reporting corn borer problems. Reports indicate that the second generation larvae may be doing the damage. This larva bores into and feeds on the stalk, tassels and ear shank, as well as leaf collars and developing kernels. They are probably the most injurious above-ground pest of corn. The European Corn Borers have brown heads and flesh-colored bodies ranging from light gray to faint pink with small round, dark brown spots on each segment. Decision-making: One borer per plant may reduce yields by five percent. For corn grown under average management conditions, treatment is suggested only if 80 percent or more of the plants have fresh whorl feeding with live larvae and before borers tunnel into the whorl or stalk. The following insecticides may be used: Sevin 80S, Furadan 15G or 4F, Pounce 3.2EC, Ambush 2EC, Lorsban 4E or 15G, Pydrin 2.4EC, Penncap-M, Thimet 20G or Dipel 10G. Be sure to follow directions on the label.

WESTERN CORN ROOTWORM

A lot of dollars were spent this year in Garrett County trying to kill the larvae of the rootworm; however, I have found the adult beetle already in corn fields that were treated. I would strongly advise you to check your fields often for this pest. Because of the drought, the silk will be developing late. There is a potential for considerable damage to the pollination of corn from the adult beetle.

RENOVATION OF STRAWBERRIES

Strawberry beds must be renovated annually (immediately after harvest) to thin plants, retain vigor, and maintain berry size in subsequent years. Narrow rows to 12 inches and thin plants to five to six inches between plants. Mow remaining leaves, taking care not to damage crowns. Now is the time to apply a herbicide for weed control and 1½ pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet.

After The Chores

After The Chores is a calendar of farm meetings and activities which will be printed the last week of each month. Farm organizations' officers or individuals should call Bernice Kepple at 334-3963 with dates of their club's activities by Tuesday noon before the last Thursday of each month.

Susan P. Carey, Billy J. Powell United In Double-Ring Ceremony

Susan Pearl Carey and Billy Junior Powell Jr. were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony on May 28 at the Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, Frostburg. The Rev. Joseph L. Upole officiated. Carolyn J. Ganoe served as organist, Rae Ann Frazee as pianist and Kenneth J. Miller as soloist.

The bride is the daughter of James A. and Agnes M. Carey, Frostburg. The groom is the son of Billy J. and Anna Lee Powell Sr., Lonaconing.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in a candlelight, crepe back, summer satin gown with a closely fitted bodice. It featured a sweetheart neckline and deep, V-back, detailed with matching appliques and simulated pearls. The gown was completed by short, puffy sleeves, embellished with appliqued cuffs. The basque waistline fell into a shimmering, full, bell-scalloped skirt and was accented with appliques. A large, formal bow topped a detailed, detachable semi-cathedral train. The bride also wore a candlelight satin hat designed with matching appliques, simulated pearls and pearl sprays. The left side was accented with a small, gathered satin ruffle and was completed by a nylon net pouf and fingertip, scalloped veil and blusher.

The gown and hat were designed by the bride and custom-tailored by Fran Loar and Beverly Hunter.

The bride carried a free-style bridal bouquet with Sonia roses, cream lilies and peach gerberias, accented with green foliage. The bouquet was fashioned by Phyllis Finzel.

Serving as her friend's matron of honor was Tracy A. Fratz, Accident. Bridesmaids were Robin L. Spiker, Westernport, cousin of the bride; Mollie A. Mullan, Lonaconing, cousin of the groom; Carol Y. Porter, Frostburg, friend of the bride; and Cheryl A. Landon, Friendsville, friend of the bride. Shanna D. Powell, Lonaconing, daughter of the groom, served as miniature bride.

Dr. F. Gregory Stakem, Flemington, N.J., served as his friend's best man. Groomsmen were W. Brian Hadley, Hagerstown, friend of the groom; E. Douglas Kiddy, Lonaconing, friend of the groom; and Scott L. Powell, Lonaconing, brother of the groom. Miniature groom was Jesse T. Powell, Lonaconing, son of the groom. Christopher Carey and Anthony Carey, nephews of the bride, served as acolytes and distributed programs.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Wilhelm Recreation Area, Avilton. Catering the full-course buffet was Robert Wilhelm, cousin of the bride. Betty Powell, aunt of the groom, and Beatrice Opel, aunt of the bride, cut the ivory and teal-colored wedding cake which was served by Edna Knepp, Grace Braskey, Alice Bevans, Mary Moffatt and Clara Swauger, all aunts of the bride. The cake was baked and decorated by Shelby Gable. Karmen Carey, sister-in-law of the bride; Helen Michael, Lois Rowe, Connie Burdock, Sheila Burdock, Mildred Husselbaugh and Twila Mae Fike, all cousins of the bride, assisted with the buffet. Kimberly Spiker, Midland, registered guests.

Music was provided by a disc jockey. Outside fiddle and banjo music was provided by Grover and Robert Broadwater and Ben Hummel.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from North Carolina, Delaware, Ohio, Florida, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey, Virginia and Maryland.

Prior to the wedding, a surprise shower was hosted by the bridal party and the bride's mother.

For a honeymoon trip to Cancun, Mexico, the bride wore a semi-formal white, with blue and red trim, summer outfit with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Northern High School and Allegany Community College with an associate of arts degree in secretarial science. She is employed as an office secretary I with the State Department of Education, Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Cumberland.

The groom is a graduate of Valley High School and served in the U.S. Air Force. He is employed as manager of Powell's Big A Auto Parts Store, Lonaconing.

The couple now resides on State Street, Lonaconing.

Ready for New Growth

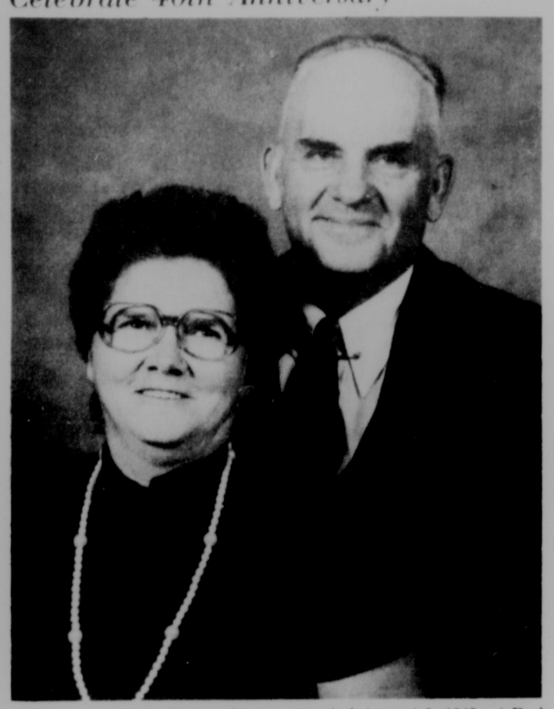

As we enter our second 100 years in 1988, we strongly believe that Westvaco's best opportunities are still ahead of us and that there is great opportunity in the industrial sector of the U.S. economy. We also recognize that we must compete, and compete vigorously, in every aspect of performance if we are to have a future that shows out-of-the-ordinary promise. Because we have strong faith in the future, we have been investing regularly and vigorously in order to keep Westvaco highly competitive in both domestic and world markets.

An important driving force behind our progress is our desire to be unique, to be different, to be better. Over the years, this restless determination to excel has helped Westvaco build a competitive edge to better serve our customers, reward our shareholders, provide good opportunities for employees and help our plant communities grow and prosper. A steady commitment has created great strengths for Westvaco. Because we have these significant strengths, we are ready for new growth in our second 100 years.

Sally Lawson, Byron Miller United In June 4 Double-Ring Ceremony

Sally Ann Lawson and Byron Jay Miller were united in marriage on June 4 during a double-ring ceremony at the Springs Mennonite Church, Springs, Pa.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Steve Heatwole and Edgar D. Miller. Music and solos were performed by Cynthia Brant and Wayne Brant, cousin of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blaine Beachy, Grantsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar D. Miller, Harrisonburg, Va., formerly of Springs.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory taffeta and chiffon. The sleeves were of sheer chiffon, and were accented by taffeta cuffs with silk Venice lace and seed pearls.

The fitted bodice was also accented by motifs of silk Venice lace, and featured a Queen Anne neckline and stand-up collar of silk Venice. The dirndl skirt fell from a natural waist and swept into a chapel train.

The bride wore a derby of ivory organza accented by silk Venice lace, seed pearls, and a silk flower cascade. The fingertip veiling was highlighted by a wire ruffle net pouf and cage blushing.

The bride's jewelry consisted of a cubic zirconia necklace, a gift from the groom, and her grandmother's ruby wedding ring. She carried a cascading bouquet of ivory and sonya roses and ivory carnations.

Linda Beachy, Grantsville, served as her sister's maid of honor. Kay Yoder, Grantsville, friend of the bride, was the bridesmaid, and Megan Mullenax, cousin of the groom, was the flower girl.

The best man was Doug Miller, State College, Pa. Ushers were Dwight Himes, Hillel Brandes, and Dave Brenneman, all brothers-in-law of the groom. Russell Ray Lawson, son of the bride, was the ring-bearer.

The couple presented their mothers with pink roses. The bride's son, Russell Lawson, was presented with a white rose.

The bride's mother wore a light gray dress, while the groom's mother wore a rose-colored dress.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the church fellowship hall, and was served by Jane Benson, Linda Mullenax, and Lois Helper, aunts of the groom; and Anna Beachy and Bernice Schrock. The wedding cake, which was baked by Sharon Garlitz, was served by Mrs. Kathryn Durst, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Emily Durst, cousin of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Harper's Ferry, W.Va., the couple set up residence at Casselman Venture Apartments, Grantsville.

The bride is a graduate of Northern Garrett High School, and is employed by Flushing Shirt Mfg., Grantsville.

The groom, a graduate of Salisbury Elk-Lick High School and Penn State, is employed by Springs Equipment Inc. Both are active members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

The bride was the guest of honor at a shower held by her co-workers and a breakfast shower at Penn Alps hosted by Karen Brandes, Zonda Himes, and Sandy Brenneman, sisters of the groom.

A rehearsal dinner in the church fellowship hall was prepared by the parents and aunts of the groom.

Mr. And Mrs. Garry Friend Honored For 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Garry R. Friend were honored recently for their 25th wedding anniversary with a reception at the Freedom Chapel, Friendsville.

Food was prepared by the church, and a cake was baked by the couple's daughter, Sandra Robinson.

Approximately 55 guests attended the reception, and Mr. and Mrs. Friend received numerous cards and gifts.

The couple was married June 2, 1963, at the Friendsville United Pentecostal Church. The late Daniel R. Gray was the officiating minister.

Mrs. Friend, the former Dorothy M. Fike, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fike, Friendsville. Mr. Friend is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. Friend, Friendsville.

They are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Sandra Robinson and Candi M. Friend.

her sister, Linda, is staying with her.

Ron and Avenell Parsons of Eglon spent the weekend in Hedgesville where Mr. Parsons gave his granddaughter, Rhonda Parsons, in marriage to George White. Rhonda is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Parsons and the late Junior Parsons. Also attending the wedding from here were Mr. and Mrs. James Parks and daughters, Ruth Parks, Sam and Susie Warner and Jill, and Mr. and Mrs. John Parsons, Leonard and Steve.

Bruce and Mary Rembold and their sons, Shawn and Craig, spent the weekend with his parents, Bob and Eileen Rembold, in Pittsburgh. The boys remained overnight with their grandparents and they all came to Eglon on Monday.

Andrew Long of Morgantown, Drew Long of Greensboro, N.C., and Linda Long of St. Paul, Minn., were Sunday guests of Armand and Bessie Heckert and Barbara at Eglon.

Paul and Rebecca McCollum, Michael, Laura and John of Scottsville, Ky., spent Thursday to Sunday visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Winters, Eglon. A Friday evening cookout at the home of her sister, Mary Lewis, included her other sister and family, Tom and Linda Lewis, Julie, Emily and Sara.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Louella Fike, Aurora, were Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Digman and daughter, Robin, of Cumberland. Spending last week with Mrs. Fike were her grandchildren, Kevin and Becky Fike of Terra Alta and there this week is another grandson, Brian Fike, also Terra Alta.

Deaths

Relatives here were notified Sunday of the death of Helen (Coleman) Judy of Virginia. She was the widow of the late Jonas Paul Judy of Keyser.

Mrs. Corda Sponaugle, 78, died June 23 in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. She was born at Red House, a daughter of the late Noah and Orlena (Shirley) Selders.

Surviving is one son, Paul C. Sponaugle, of Cumberland, six grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mrs. Sponaugle was a former maid at the Fort Cumberland Hotel in Cumberland. Services and burial were at Cumberland.

In the Hospital

Mrs. George (Madeline) Hauser of Grange Hall fell Monday morning at her home and is a patient in Garrett Memorial Hospital as the result of a fractured pelvis.

Evans Get-Together

The family of the late Wilbur and Bessie Evans met for a day of fun and food on July 24 at the Maple Spring Church pavilion. Attending were Wanda Evans, Diane Evans and daughters, Roger and Connie Evans, Roxanne, Rochelle and friend; Ernest and Grace Harsh, Doyle Harsh, Marvin and Ellen Harsh and Lyvonne, Jeff and Cindy Harsh, Wade and Mary Harsh and Tim; Bill and Ruby Skinner of Dale City, Va., Harold and Vendetta Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Evans and two children, Mrs. Harold Evans Jr. and two children; Abe Holland, Linda Fike and Kim, Luann Holland, Eugene and Betty Lou Holland and two children; Tom and Linda Lewis and daughters, Gary Lewis, Gladys Hauser, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hauser and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Hauser, Amanda and Stacy. The occasion was also the birthday of Mrs. Skinner and a cake and homemade ice cream surprise was prepared for her on Sunday evening.

Plan Tour

The Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club is planning an August tour of Garrett County Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

On April 11 of this year, Mrs. Annette Livengood of Garrett Memorial talked of health careers to the Eglon Mountaineers and at that time it was decided to postpone a tour of the facility until August. With that time at hand, a definite date is being planned. Parents of members are invited to join them in this opportunity.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Eglon Mountaineers
by
Nathan Teets, reporter

The July 18 meeting was held at the Eglon Memorial Building by the Eglon Mountaineer 4-H Club. Members attending were Shane Dixon, Melissa Evans, Jeremiah Feather, Nathan Feather, Carroll Joe Hartsell, Emily Lewis, Julie Lewis, Amy Mathes, Billy Moore, Canny Moore, Donna Mullenax, Patty Mullenax, Debra Rinehart, Donald Rinehart, Regina Shaffer, Natalie Snyder, Becky Snyder, Aaron Teets, Kevin Teets, Nathan Teets, Nicole Teets, Katie Utterback, Mark Utterback and Elizabeth Wotring.

The meeting began with talks and demonstrations. Debra Rinehart gave a talk, "Getting Acquainted with Teen Leadership" which included information concerning their duties and responsibilities. Nathan Teets did a combination demonstration-skit on "Newswriting" which gave members a chance to decide on the way a reporter should do his job. Julie Lewis presented information on "The Types of 4-H Promotion" which she gleaned from Older Youth Conference classes.

Amy Mathes demonstrated "How to Hold a Rabbit Properly" and told of "Tools Used to Groom a Horse." Regina Shaffer showed members how to create the "ultimate hoagie" in a demonstration, "The Giant Treat." Other talks and demonstrations were by Shane Dixon, "The 4-H Pledge" and "Jackson's Mill, State 4-H Camp" with a demonstration, "How to Make a Fragrance Ball;" by Natalie Snyder a demonstration on "Flash Attachments;" Patty Mullenaz, telling "Number of Servings of Nutrients Per Day;" Nicole Teets, talks on "Toys Used By Child" and "Learning from Toys for Pre-Schoolers" and demonstrating "Tips on Child Safety."

A talk, "Egg Handling," was given by Donna Mullenax and a demonstration, "Placement of Pans in the Oven;" Danny Moore told "How to be Sure Your Bike Fits You;" Emily Lewis showed some "Calligraphy;" and Billy Moore showed "How to Pull the Arrow from the Target."

Debra Rinhart was given a gift and good-bye as she left the following day, July 19, for the Air Force.

Devotions were on "Hope for Tomorrow" with Nathan Teets and Julie Lewis showing how 4-H affects one's future. A program on photography with leader Linda Lewis giving pointers on taking photographs, emphasizing the importance of having them as a record of growth during 4-H years to use when completing a National Report Form, and giving ideas of things important to judges.

First year members led the 4-H Pledge and singing of "WV Boys and Girls." Other songs were led by Emily Lewis.

Eight members who attended Younger 4-H Camp at the Preston County 4-H Camp were: Amy Mathes, Becky Snyder, Elizabeth Wotring, Jeremiah and Nathan Feather, Natalie Snyder, and Shane Dixon.

A workshop for the horticulture judging team was set for July 25 with the team going to Morgantown July 26 to compete. Members participating are Kevin and Aaron Teets, Kevin Corbin, and John Utterback, a junior team, and Mark Utterback, senior individual.

Reports were given on the recent events such as the hayride, where 20 attended, Older 4-H Camp attended by Mark Utterback, Emily and Julie Lewis, Older Member Conference attended by Nathan Teets and Julie Lewis, and Sheep Field Day and Cattle Grooming Workshops in June. Brian Corbin was congratulated for having a photo entered in state competition.

All phases of projects must be completed and brought to the August 8 meeting which will be a 7 p.m. covered dish dinner for members and families at the Farmer's Wildlife Park.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Take notice that the Town of Oakland, on the 11th day of July, 1988, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as Leighton Addition Country Club Acres. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND:
RESOLUTION NO. 002
(ANNEXATION NO. 3-LEIGHTON ADDITION COUNTRY CLUB ACRES)

WHEREAS, after informal public meetings, petitions have been presented to the Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Oakland to enlarge the copo rate boundaries of the Town by the annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries being the area known as Leighton Addition Country Club Acres; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council have caused to be made a verification of the signatures upon said petitions and have ascertained that the persons signing the petitions represent at least twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered voters in county elections in the precinct or precincts in which the territory to be annexed is located, and the owners of at least twenty five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of real property located in the area to be annexed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE TOWN OF OAKLAND.

BEGINNING at a concrete monument found in the easterly margin of the Oakland Sang Run Road at the end of the eleventh line of the Corporate Line of the Town of Oakland passed 9 June, 1952; thence, with the 11th line reversed, South 29 degrees 10 minutes West, 185.80 feet to a point in said margin; thence, with a part of the 10th line thereof, South 66 degrees 50 minutes East, 384.80 feet to a found concrete monument; thence, North 23 degrees 59 minutes East, 50.69 feet to a found one inch pipe; thence, North 23 degrees 17 minutes East, 4,508.60 feet to a 1¼ inch iron pipe found at the corner of the state game lands; thence, six lines with the state game lands, South 44 degrees 38 minutes West, 705.69 feet to a found 1¼ inch pipe; North 30 degrees 44 minutes West, 272.60 feet to a set concrete monument marked No. 105; South 44 degrees 25 minutes West, 221.79 feet to a found stone marked DMP; North 30 degrees 01 minute West, 3,032.82 feet to a found planted stone; North 30 degrees 01 minute West, 32.08 feet to a set concrete monument marked No. 287; North 30 degrees 01 minute West, 28.16 feet to the centerline of the Oakland Sang Run Road; thence, with the meanderings of said road to a point at the end of the fifth line of Jeffrey L. Orr (Liber 487, Folio 395); thence, three lines with Orr, South 85 degrees 59 minutes West, 23.97 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; South 85 degrees 59 minutes West, 209.88 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; South 05 degrees 13 minutes East, 209.83 feet to a found 5/8 inch iron rebar; thence, South 86 degrees 12 minutes West, 2110.82 feet to a drill hole in a rock at the corner of Mon Valley Coal & Lumber Co.; thence, South 00 degrees 37 minutes West, 620.48 feet to the centerline of AT&T's right-of-way; thence, six lines with said centerline, South 83 degrees 10 minutes West, 198.91 feet; South 81 degrees 33 minutes West, 534.17 feet; South 81 degrees 22 minutes West, 202.39 feet; South 66 degrees 53 minutes West, 151.13 feet; south 67 degrees 17 minutes West, 138.34 feet; North 87 degrees 54 minutes West, 155.82 feet to the centerline of the Youghiogheny River; thence, upstream with the meanderings of said river to the nexus of the Little Youghiogheny River; thence, upstream with the meanderings of the Little Youghiogheny River to the centerline of the Rosedale Bridge and in the existing corporation limits of the Town of Oakand; thence, 13 lines with said limits, North 28 degrees 14 minutes East, 187.70 feet; North 24 degrees 31 minutes West, 129.65 feet; North 15 degrees 42 minutes West, 339.84 feet; North 18 degrees 18 minutes West, 1,252.70 feet; North 18 degrees 19 minutes West, 177.00 feet; North 37 degrees 04 minutes East, 445.32 feet to a found concrete monument; North 37 degrees 51 minutes East, 431.00 feet; North 45 degrees 03 minutes East, 3,259.30 feet to a point in the easterly margin of the Oakland-Sang Run Road; thence, five lines with said margin, South 10 degrees 34 minutes West, 367.79 feet; South 20 degrees 27 minutes West, 503.78 feet; South 25 degrees 14 minutes East, 381.67 feet; South 01 degree 02 minutes West, 417.37 feet; South 01 degree 42 minutes West, 232.13 feet to the beginning, containing 341.55 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban-Residential (SR), and that there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban Residential, and inasmuch as the definitions of Suburban Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban-Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial difference between the definitions and features of Suburban Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and development plan, and Suburban Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED THIS 11th day of November, 1988.

Linda Everd, Town Clerk

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 11th day of November, 1988.

Robert E. Watson
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, and the annexation, on the 22nd day of August, 1988, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 109 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 at 7:30 p.m.

By the Authority of Mayor and Town Council
of Oakland
By its Town Council,
Robert E. Watson

—Adv. 20-4t.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Deep Creek Watershed Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on August 4, 1988, at 7:30 in the Planning Commission Meeting Room (Third Floor, Old Courthouse, Oakland). The Board will review applications on the following docketed cases:

1) Docket SE-183: an application made by Mr. Donald L. Grove for a Special Exception Permit to allow the replacement of a mobile home with a new and larger mobile home on his property located on Pritts Road in the Green Glade area of Deep Creek Lake (Zoned LR).

2) Docket VR-194: an application made by Mr. and Mrs. Charles McFarland for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the side yard setback requirement for residences. Specifically the McFarlands are requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to their residence which would extend to within ten feet of the side property line instead of the required fifteen feet. The property is located on Lake Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

3) Docket VR-195: an application made by Mr. John Mack for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the rear yard set-back requirement for residences. Specifically Mr. Mack is requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to his residence which would extend to within five feet of the Penelec line instead of the required forty feet. The property is located on Deep Creek Drive (Zoned LR).

4) Docket VR-196: an application made by Mr. and Mrs. Girard Grater for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the front yard set-back requirement for garages. Specifically, the Graters are requesting a Variance to allow construction of a garage which would extend to within fifteen feet of the front property line instead of the required 25 feet. The property is located on South Shore Drive (Zoned LR).

5) Docket VR-197: an application made by Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hondru for a Variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance as it affects the front yard set-back requirement for residences. Specifically, the Hondrus are requesting a Variance to allow construction of a residence which would extend to within thirty feet of the rear property line instead of the required 40 feet. The property is located in the Blakeslee Development (Zoned LR).

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Loch Lynn Heights Board of Zoning Appeals will conduct a public hearing on August 11, 1988 at 7:30 p.m. in the Loch Lynn Heights Town Hall. The Board will review an application made by Rebecca Friend on behalf of Rainbow Cottage Day Care Center for a variance from the terms of the Zoning Ordinance. Specifically, Mrs. Friend is requesting a Variance to allow construction of an addition to the existing day care center which would extend to within five feet of the side property line instead of the required ten feet. The property is located at the intersection of Roanoke and Tallahassee Avenues (Zoned TR).

John E. Nelson
Planning and Zoning Director

—Adv. 22-2t

NOTICE

The regularly scheduled meetings of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission will be held Tuesday, August 2, and Tuesday, August 16, 1988 at 7:30 p.m. in Room 202 of the old section of the Courthouse in Oakland.

Wendell R. Beitzel
Administrator

PROGRAMMER TRAINEES

If you like number problems and math, or if you're particularly good in music, we'd like to talk to you about your future. The area's only advanced computer software development firm is looking for a few exceptional people to train as computer programmers. No experience is required, but if you've worked with computers, it's a plus. Only a high school diploma is needed. If you have the aptitude we're looking for, we'll pay you while you learn the languages of computers. You'll be learning skills that will put you into a challenging and rewarding technical career with an unlimited future. To schedule an aptitude test, please call Kim at 746-5888.

EXPERIENCED 'C' PROGRAMMERS

If you're a talented 'C' programmer looking for new horizons, consider joining the team at Micro-Integration. We're looking for a few experienced and exceptional individuals to join us in our communications software development group. You'll enjoy big-company benefits and a small-company spirit, with unlimited opportunities for personal growth and recognition. To qualify, you need at least two and preferably five years' experience writing structured 'C' code, hopefully in an engineering or scientific environment. Real-time or communications programming experience is a plus. You need to be a top-notch programmer, with an excellent record of on-time in-budget delivery of projects. We'll provide you with an environment where the bureaucracy doesn't get in your way, all the tools you need are available, and your talents are appreciated. Please call Kim at 746-5888 to schedule an interview.

THE TRAINING PLACE

Garrett County Residents Only

ATTENTION UNEMPLOYED

The Training Place will be accepting enrollees in our training classes. If you are motivated and want a skill that will assure you employment, you will need to call us for an appointment.

Most of our jobs require good reading and math skills — if you lack these, we are equipped to help you in this area.

If you have a learning disability or cannot read or write, again we have a class for you.

We have openings in our ABE/GED Classes. Let us help you get your High School Equivalence Diploma which makes your chances of getting a job much greater.

Get on the list to attend fall Vocational Classes. Learn Carpentry, Finish Carpentry, Masonry, Electrical, Plumbing, Carpet Installation and Retail Sales.

When you complete training, we have the staff to help place you in a job.

Get paid while you learn, plus mileage.

Don't wait until it's too late — call for an appointment.

Bulla Installed District Governor Of Lions Clubs

William L. Bulla, a past president of the Williamsport Lions Club and a six-year veteran of the Lions International District 22-W cabinet, was installed as the new District Governor of the Western Maryland area at the recently held 71st annual Lions International Convention in Denver, Colo. Effective July 1, Bulla became leader of 2200 Lions and Lioness members of 70 clubs throughout the five–county region, including Garrett County. A marketing director for Shop Co., Bulla was elected governor at the District Convention held last May at Virginia Beach.

The new Lion officer chose Robert M. Johnson, also of the Williamsport club, as his Cabinet secretary and David A. Fisher of the Hagerstown Lions Club as Cabinet treasurer.

Also appointed to serve on the 1988-89 cabinet of officers are: Region 1 Chairman George Beachy, Grantsville, assisted by Zone Chairmen Oscar K. Van Scheetz Jr., Friendsville, Richard Kock, Rawlings, and Charles W. Taylor Jr., LaVale.

Michael C. LeMay, of the Frostburg Lions Club, will be this year's District 22-W newsletter editor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spaid, Aurora, and Becky Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sanders, Cranesville, and Annette Sisler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sisler, Cranesville, visited The Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, Ky., over the past weekend.

Gibson Reunion

The decendants of Nolan J. and Carrie B. Gibson held their first reunion on July 2, at the farm of Jay and Sue Shillito in Terra Alta. A cook-out and covered dish dinner was served in the afternoon to the nearly 70 persons in attendance.

Jim and JoAnn Albright, Lytton, Iowa; Eleanor Gibson, St. Petersburg, Fla., Art T. and Marlene Moneilla, Maria and Nora, Alexandria, Va., Lucille (Sue) Dill, Springfield, Ohio; Roger and Lou Casseday, Newbury, Ohio; and Jill M. O'Dell, Bryan and Bethany, Boynton Beach, Fla., were among those attending.

Rotary News

Terra Alta Rotary club installed its officers for the 1988/89 year on July 7. They are: president; Richard Hopkins; vice president, Gary Livengood; secretary, Duane Kelly; and treasurer, Tim Peters.

Past President Logan Weber presented the outgoing president, Harold Rasco, with the past president pin.

Lee Rice reported on the results of July 4 festivities. He suggested that next year the festivities should be augmented and more diversified, based on the experiences gained this year.

The program for the evening of July 14 was conducted by Bud White, whose guest was John Greco, the student sponsored by Rotary to attend the Ogleby Nature Camp. John related his experiences as a camper. The first time a local student attended the camp was in 1955 and every year since Rotary has sponsored one or two students.

The Board of Directors met Monday, July 18, to discuss matters of internal affairs of the club.

Celebrates 4th

Scott Whitehair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whitehair, celebrated his fourth birthday on July 16. A covered dish picnic was held at the home of his parents. Those attending and also celebrating birthdays in July were Cathy Sisler, Mrs. Jim Carney, Kenneth Whitehair, and Maxine Whitehair. Others attending were maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sisler, Cranesville; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Whitehair, Terra Alta; Mr. and Mrs. George Sisler, Cathy, Annette, Dianna, and David, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sisler, Amos, Daniel, Connie, and April Dawn Sisler, Cranesville; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carney, Terra Alta; and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Whitehair, Scott and Stephen.

Western Region Forestry Boards Meet To Discuss Gypsy Moth Spray Program

The Forestry Boards of Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties met on July 25 in the Regional Service Center in Cumberland with Dr. Charles Puffinberger, assistant director, Maryland Department of Agriculture; Robert Tichner, chief of Forest Pest Management, Maryland Department of Agriculture; and James B. Roberts, state forester, Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Department of Natural Resources. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the possibility of establishing some sort of cost-share assistance for private woodland owners interested in spraying their woodland for gypsy moths.

Last year the local forestry boards made contact with several spray contractors and received information on the rates they would charge to spray private woodland in each county. The forestry boards then made this information available to all tree farmers, or landowners actively managing their woodland. Approximately 4,000 acres of woodland were sprayed for gypsy moths in Garrett County last year, of which landowners paid the full costs.

The board members discussed several ways of obtaining additional funding for the gypsy moth spray program, such as legislative action to create a separate cost-share program or simply increasing the monies available to the Department of Agriculture's present program.

The forestry boards in each county will be contacting other groups or organizations to gain support for the gypsy moth spray program.

Fatal Shooting Reported Near Accident Today

A fatal shooting reportedly occurred early this morning just off Route 219 north of Accident.

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment refused to release any information.

According to the Garrett County Emergency Management Administration, a call was received at 3:16 a.m. for a shooting on the Rabbit Hollow Road. A spokesman reported that the shooting was fatal.

It was unofficially reported that the shooting was a murder. However, the report was not confirmed, and the shooting may have been accidental or a suicide.

Shives Sentenced To 40 Years For Murder, Robbery

Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer sentenced 17-year-old Kevin Lee Shives to 30 years in the Department of Corrections for second degree murder and 10 years for robbery during a Garrett County Circuit Court trial on Wednesday.

Judge Thayer ruled that the sentences will run concurrently, and credit will be given for the time Shives has served in the Garrett County Jail since October 28, 1987.

Shives was convicted of the October 27, 1987, shooting death of his mother, Lula Belle Shives, at their home in Grantsville.

Charges against Shives which were not prosecuted by the court include first degree murder, robbery with a deadly weapon, theft, assault and battery, conspiracy to murder, and conspiracy to rob.

ABOUT TO GET WET was Al Coviello, president of the Garrett County Manta Rays Swim Team organization, who was tossed into the pool at the residence of Manning and Kathie Smith, Mtn. Lake Park, during the Manta Rays' annual picnic and awards ceremony. A number of Manta Rays, parents, and coaches attempted to push Coviello into the pool, but it took assistance from world-class pentathlete and assistant coach John McIntee to get the job done. All was in good fun, although we have unofficial reports that Coviello's leather shoes are now being worn by his young son, Christian. The Manta Rays concluded their season on Saturday at the YMCA Summer League Championships, held at Frostburg State University, and returned home with numerous awards. See details on the sports pages.

McHenry Man Sentenced For Drug Charges

During a trial held last week in Garrett County District Court, a McHenry man was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail for charges of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance and illegal action involving a prescription drug.

Marvin E. Friend, 32, was sentenced by Judge Jack Turney, who ruled that the sentences will run concurrently, but consecutively with a sentence Friend is serving for traffic convictions.

A charge of possession and use of drug paraphernalia was not prosecuted by the court. The charges were filed by Tpr. Richard T. Wilson following a May 21 incident in Friendsville involving suspected marijuana.

Friend was represented by John R. Toston, Public Defender.

In another case, an Oakland man was sentenced to a total of 90 days in the Garrett County Jail for two counts of battery.

David A. Smith, 21, received a $500 fine and a 60-day sentence

Plans Finalized For Triathlon As Field Is Expanded To 149

Plans are being finalized for the first "Best of the West" Triathlon, a three-sport competition that is slated for Saturday, August 13, at Broadford Park, and organizers of the event said this week they have been "overwhelmed" with the number of entries.

Originally the field of contestants was going to be limited to 125; however, according to Nancy Railey, one of the co-chairmen, a flood of inquiries in the past few weeks has caused organizers to expand the field.

"We have had over 300 calls for applications, but our insurance coverage will only allow a maximum of 149," Railey said, "so that is how many we have accepted."

Triathlons, which are among the fastest growing sports in the country, consist of races in three sports, completed one after the other. The most common combination is swimming, cycling, and running. The distances vary from relatively short courses to long courses, such as in the Ironman Triathlon in Hawaii, which are swims of over two miles, a 110-mile bike ride, and a full marathon (26.1 miles).

The course for the "Best of the West" event will be a one-quarter-mile swim, a 13.1-mile bike ride, and a 3.5-mile run, all beginning and ending at Broadford Park.

Some of the top amateur athletes on the East Coast have registered for the competition, along with 17 Garrett County athletes.

SCHEDULE

Participants will be checked in and receive numbers from 7 to 8 a.m. the morning of the event. An aerobic warm-up will begin at 8:20 a.m. at the beach area of the park and pre-race instructions will be given at 8:40 a.m. The race will begin with the swim at 9 a.m., when racers will enter the water at the beach and swim north to the boat launching ramp. There they will exit the water and board their bicycles for the 13.1-mile ride through the Oakland-area countryside. The ride will end where it begins and the run will also begin and end at the same spot.

"The boat ramp area of the park, near the main pavilion, will be an ideal area for spectators to catch a lot of the action," Ms. Railey said. "Here they will be able to watch the athletes complete their swim, and begin and end their ride and run to the finish line."

She said the competition is expected to be "tough and a real challenge" because of the many rolling hills along the ride and run.

All persons living along the bike ride and run course are asked to contain all dogs on the day of the race between 9 and 11:30 a.m. (See map of the course.)

ROAD CLOSINGS

Railey also noted that some roads will be closed during those hours and in other areas traffic will be slowed for the safety of the participants. Closed stretches of roadways will include: Broadford Road at Pittsburgh Avenue, all roads intersecting with Pittsburgh Avenue, and Eighth Street between Memorial Drive and Dennett Road. Traffic will be

Renovation Fate To Be Decided At Thursday Meeting

Among numerous items on the agenda for the regular meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education scheduled for Thursday, August 11, is the future of the Southern High School renovation project.

During the July 14 meeting, the board decided to ask the Garrett County Commissioners to reconsider their position of providing $2,050,000 for the renovation, which would only partially fund the project as designed by the architect, Southern High faculty, and the Board of Education staff.

However, the total amount of funds supported by the commissioners remains at $2,050,000, which falls an estimated $2.5 to $3 million short of the total needs of the project, according to Superintendent of Garrett County Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage.

Ryscavage said, "Consequently, the Board of Education is now faced with the decision as to whether or not to accept this level of partial support." The item is scheduled for an approximate 3:30 to 4:00 p.m. time slot of the meeting agenda. Ryscavage noted that the general public is encouraged to attend all meetings of the Board of Education.

Elderly Woman Drowns Monday In W.Va. Lake

The body of an 82-year-old Elk Garden, W.Va. woman was found floating face down in the Jennings Randolph (Bloomington) Lake in Mineral County on Monday.

Violet Ada Jackson apparently died from drowning, according to autopsy results released on Tuesday by West Virginia State Police and Mineral County Medical Examiner Dr. James Bosley.. State police at Keyser said the body was found by boaters near the Howell Run Boat Launch around 11:30 a.m. Bosley estimated that the body was in the lake for over seven hours, since about 4 a.m. on Monday.

According to Bosley, the investigation is still open despite the autopsy results because there are numerous questions concerning Mrs. Jackson's death. She suffered from Alzheimer's Disease, and had a reputation of wandering the road in the Elk Garden area at all hours.

Dr. Bosley said, "Associated injuries and other details are under investigation. It is unusual for a drowning victim to float immediately. The victim was found in about 10 feet of

Commissioners Discuss Information Booth With Promotion Council

The Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with representatives of the Garrett County Promotion Council to discuss the need for improvement of the Deep Creek Lake information booth.

Among the points noted were that the information booth was greatly inadequate and needs improved, if not relocated. The Promotion Council representatives added that the information booth should be a year-round center and should be relocated to a new, more accessible area with more space. They noted that if there were more office space, there would be a more efficient use of time.

Some possible sites for a new building suggested by the Council were the McHenry overlook, the Fairgrounds, and the site of the new State police barracks. The present site is believed to be too small and in a dangerous location.

The commissioners decided to try to put together a project which would correct the erosion problem along the Thayersville area of Rt. 219 at Deep Creek Lake and reclaim some of the real estate to improve and increase the parking space at the present information booth site. It was decided to pursue the project by utilizing the waterway improvement funds which are available through the Department of Natural Resources. Presently, these funds total $55,000.

A long-term project was to be planned which would create a full-scale information center at Deep Creek, or at a separate location, which would possibly house the offices of the Garrett County Promotion Council as well. John Nelson, Garrett County Planning and Zoning administrator, was asked to coordinate the projects.

Sky Valley Road Issue

Also on their Tuesday agenda, the commissioners met with Rudolph Bothe, president of the Sky Valley Association, Inc., in regards to problems involving the use of the Sky Valley Road. At the meeting, it was determined that the road was a non-county road, and that Sky Valley Association, Inc. could impose restrictions involving the road, such as speed bumps and a gate system limiting access to the road primarily to residents of Sky Valley.

Vesper Service Scheduled At Garrett Co. Fair

The annual interdenominational vesper service will be one of the opening events of the 1988 Garrett County Agricultural Fair. Sunday night, August 7, beginning at 7 p.m., the service will commemorate the late Thomas R. Butcher Sr., Allen S. "Dick" Paugh, and Dr. Scott A. Glotfelty, for the many ways in which they touched and influenced the lives of those around them.

The theme of this year's service will be "Christian Stewardship of Life." The Rev. Martin E. Feild, St. Peter's Catholic Church, will give the welcome and invocation. Lillian Reckner will serve as organist. Special music will be by Tom and Susan Peterson.

The sermon will be given by the Rev. William E. Carlson, a retired Lutheran pastor from Accident who has been actively involved in planning the annual vesper services.

Reading the scripture will be Claude Wagner Jr., Garrett County Fair manager; Lori S.

Storytelling By Rogers, Herman To Wrap Up Second GLAF Season

Two performances and two workshops by nationally-known storytellers will close the 1988 summer season of the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival this weekend in the air-conditioned auditorium of Garrett Community College.

Appearing this Friday, August 5, Gamble Rogers, of Florida, will conduct "A Liar's Workshop" at 3 p.m., in which he will show how song, story, and guitar-picking are interwoven into the creation of the tall tale. He will then give an evening performance at 8 p.m.

The evening performance will present Rogers' own special brand of entertainment in the vein of Mark Twain with humorous stories about his fictitious characters of mythical Oklawaha County, told to the accompaniment of his guitar. Rogers, who first gained national prominence as the lead guitar player of the Serendipity Singers, has appeared on numerous television programs and in solo performances throughout the country.

On Saturday, Aug. 6, at 10:30 a.m., Dr. Gail Herman, Garrett County's own nationally-known storyteller, will present a performance for children and their families that will include a variety of folktales from different countries, using music, movement, and mime to help young people create the magic of imagery in their mind's eye. This performance was erroneously reported in last week's story as a workshop.

At 11:45 a.m. Dr. Herman will conduct a lecture/demonstration for adults and older children interested in the art of storytelling. Titled "Organic Storytelling: the Oral Tradition Revisited," this session will present a variety of techniques that can be used in presenting stories for families, schools, churches, and businesses.

Throughout the spring of this year, Dr. Herman conducted workshops and performed in Montana, Arizona, Colorado, and Wyoming through various school systems, performing arts programs, and colleges. She recently completed two weeks of storytelling and mime performances in Connecticut.

Reservations are recommended for the two storytelling performances, and can be made by calling Englander's Pharmacy, Deep Creek Pharmacy, or the college at 387-6666. Seats

UP, UP, AND AWAY is an opportunity that will be provided by the pilots of this giant hot-air balloon on Saturday, August 13, at Broadford Park. The Greater Oakland Business Association (GOBA) is sponsoring balloon rides at the park in conjunction with the first "Best of the West" Triathlon that will also be held that day. Residents are invited and encouraged to come out to the park to watch the triathlon, enjoy other slated events and activities (see story), and catch a bird's eye view of the Oakland area. The triathlon will begin at 9 a.m. and events will continue into the afternoon hours.

Sanitary Board Restrict Water Use In Mtn. Lake

At the August 2 meeting of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, the board took action to impose a water conservation notice for Mountain Lake Park and Loch Lynn to restrict water usage for the purpose of watering lawns and washing cars.

According to Wendell Beitzel, sanitary district administrator, water flowing from the springs is very low, and the Mtn. Lake Water Company has begun purchasing water from the town of Oakland.

The Commission will impose a surcharge on the water during the drought to compensate for price of the water.

The commission also approved an agreement to construct a water line extension for the Woodridge Subdivision under Mtn. Lake Park. The subdivision is being developed by Garrett County Community Action, who will be required to pay the cost of the extension, which was estimated at $62,450.

The board also discussed documents for building a large storage tank for the Mountain Lake area. Improvements will also be made to the springs, and the commission plans to tie into new springs to increase the water supply. Total cost for the improvements is estimated at $742,463, which will be supplied locally.

The commission tabulated bids and revised the cost for the Crellin Sewer Project. A total cost was estimated at $1,622,074.

The local share was reported

Rabid Fox Makes Fourth County Case In 1988

The fourth case of rabies this year in Garrett County was reported this week by the Garrett County Health Department.

A fox was reportedly chasing both cars and people in the Bloomington area. The animal was killed by Steve Guy, and was submitted for testing on July 6.

The other rabies cases this year involved two racoons and a skunk.

Three Arrested By State Police At Area Tavern

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week reported the arrest of three persons at Billy Bob's Tavern, Grantsville.

Rodney G. Rounds, 22, Grantsville, and Steven E. Beachy, 23, also of Grantsville, were charged with disorderly conduct and resisting arrest. Kathy J. Bodes, 36, Salisbury, was charged with obstructing and hindering a police officer.

The arrest reportedly occurred around 11:44 p.m. on Friday, and involved troopers D. Buckalew, R. Coccodrilli, and J. Dudiak.

The subjects were taken to the Garrett County Jail for bond hearings.

Ross Clan Convenes

The Ross Reunion was held July 24 at the Grantsville Sportsman's Club. Persons from Oklahoma, Massachusetts, Pensylvania, and Maryland were in attendance. Giving the invocation was Rev. Joseph Lewis.

A TIMBER RATTLESNAKE BITE — David Stewart, 24, of Oakland, was bitten by a black timber rattlesnake last Friday near Kitzmiller. Stewart found the snake along the road near the Potomac River and picked it up, holding it behind the head. However, the snake flipped its head back and got one fang into Stewart's right hand above his thumb. Stewart immediately cut the bite and attempted to suck out the poison. Remembering an article he had read in "Field & Stream" magazine about emergency treatment for Amazon snake bites where no hospital is near, Stewart shocked the bitten area on his car motor to stabilize and slow the spreading of the poison. However, the poison continued to spread, so he shocked the area a second time. Stewart believed the shock treatment would take care of the poison, so he did not go to the hospital. However, by Saturday morning, the poison had spread to his shoulder, causing his arm to become very swollen. Stewart then went to the emergency room at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and was immediately transported to West Virginia University Medical Center by Medevac helpicopter, where he remained in the intensive care unit for two days. He was discharged from the hospital on Tuesday. The snake was killed and identified by the Department of Natural Resources. Stewart noted that he enjoys snakes, and has picked up rattlesnakes in the past, and will continue to do so. However, Stewart noted, "Next time I get bitten, I'll definitely go the hospital first thing."

Sheriff's Office Notes $4000 Cottage Theft

Several thefts are under the investigation of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week, including a breaking and entering theft at a summer cottage on the Valley Road.

According to police, someone entered the cottage of John A. Horsmon, St. Leonard, sometime between July 15 and July 21 and removed furniture.

Stolen items, valued at $4000, include a bed, washer and dryer, recliners, dinette set, and kitchen appliances.

Det. L.E. Gnegy, who is investigating, reported that there are no suspects at this time.

Fratz RV Sales, Route 219 North, reported a theft which occurred sometime between 5 p.m. on Saturday and 1 p.m. on Sunday.

Police said the culprits scaled a fence at the establishment and removed various items, including an unknown amount of cash and a 1976 Oldsmobile which was in the parking lot.

Gnegy is investigating the theft. Anyone with information concerning the incident is asked to call the Garrett County Sheriff's Department at 334-1911.

Dep. D.M. Stoner is investigating a breaking and entering theft which occured at the residence of Jim H. Crowe, near Frostburg, sometime between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. on July 27.

According to police reports, someone entered the residence through the window, then removed a VCR, color television, microwave, filing cabinet, and jewelry. Total losses reached nearly $900.

A theft was reported by T.A. Chapman, Inc., Milton, W.Va.

According to police reports, the company was replacing telephone poles near the intersection of Route 135 and Route 38. Twenty of the original poles were removed from the site last Wednesday night. Total loss was estimated at $400.

Next Week's Fair Has Events For Everyone

The 32nd Annual Garrett County Fair will begin on Sunday, August the 7th. The fair will kick off with the 4-H Fashion Revue at 3 p.m., followed by the Interdenominational Vesper Service at 7 p.m. The Farm Queen Contest at 8 p.m. will wrap up the first day of the fair.

Clowns will be wandering the fairgrounds throughout the week handing out candy and balloons to children.

Participants in the Largest Pumpkin Contest must have their entries entered by 5 p.m. Tuesday, August 9th. First prize will be $25 and ribbons will be awarded. Parade entries should also be made by Tuesday to Lillian Reckner at 387-5277 or to anyone at the fair office. The parade will be held on Thursday night, August 11, beginning at 7 p.m.

The Baby Crawl will again be held Wednesday the 10th at 1 p.m. Babies who are walking will not be eligible. Registration to enter can be made until 12:30 p.m. Wednesday. Categories are by the following ages: 6-7 months, 8-9 months, and 10-12 months. Prizes will be $10, $5, and a ribbon for each participant. Entry blanks can be picked up at IGA, Browning's Foodland, Fratz Red and White, Englander's, Goehringer's, Accident Laundromat, Deep Creek Plaza Deli, Walt's Store, Arrowhead, Keysers Ridge Truck Stop, Grantzville Foodland, Buckel's Store, S&S Market, and the Friendsville Library. Registrations should be sent to Helen Glotfelty, P.O. Box 25, McHenry, MD. 21541, or by calling 301-387-6910 at 9 a.m., 1 p.m., and 6 p.m.

Beginning at 3 p.m. Wednesday will be the pet show. Also on Wednesday the "Catoctin Band" will perform on the 4-H stage at 7p.m. and 9 p.m.

Thursday night the music will continue when the "Jubilator's Gospel Quartet" performs on the 4-H stage at 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

A new contest will start on Friday, August 12, at 3 p.m. The Stone Throw contest has prizes for four age divisions: youth 13 and under, youth 14-17, men, and women. Each contestant will be allowed one throw. The person in each division who throws the stone the farthest will be the winner.

Friday is Senior Citizens' Day. A hat contest will be open to all senior citizens over 60 years of age. Hats will be judged in the following categories: funniest, prettiest, ugliest, and most original. Prize amounts will be $10, $5, $2.50, and $1. Other events include Devotions and a Sing-A-Long.

Musical entertainment will be provided Friday night by "Don Gabriel and the Memories" at 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. on the 4-H stage.

On Saturday night, August 13th, beginning at 7p.m., the Brian Schofield Family will entertain on the 4-H stage.

In 1846, ice cream and ice cream making were introduced to the world of the average citizen when Nancy Johnson, an inovative woman from New Jersey, invented the hand-cranked ice cream freezer. It was an immediate sensation.

CARNIVALS ARE FUN for the young and the young-at-heart. Next week, Gambill Amusements will be at the Garrett County Fair, with rides, concessions, and games for all. The amusement company, which has been in business for over 40 years, is extremely safety conscious, and inspects its equipment continuously to ensure parents that they and their children will enjoy a good, safe ride.

The Carnival Is Coming To The Garrett County Fair, August 8-13

by Bernice Kepple

A carnival complete with amusement rides, games and concessions is an important part of any fair. Both the young and the young-at-heart look forward to riding the carousel and winning a large stuffed bear at the ring-toss, not to mention eating candy apples and cotton candy.

For the fifth year, Gambill Amusements will be at the Garrett County Fair. Not exactly the typical stereotype of a carnival, Gambill's has been a family-owned business for over 40 years. And not exactly the typical stereotype carnival manager — the man who gets the show on the road and keeps it on schedule — is Tom Gambill.

Gambill worked for the carnival throughout his teenage years. At that time, it was owned by his aunt and uncle, the founders of Gambill Amusements. The carnival is now owned by his cousin, and after taking time out to get a college education (Gambill has a PhD in Arts Management) and spend 15 years as a college professor, Tom Gambill is now office manager of Gambill Amusements.

Based in Steubenville, Ohio, the carnival plays at county fairs in four states — Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Maryland. With 19-20 rides plus concessions and games, the carnival employs approximately 52 people. All of those employees are with the carnival for the full year, and most travel with their families in self-contained campers or travel trailers.

"We are very family oriented," Gambill said. "Most of our ride personnel are married and their families travel with them. When raising kids around something like this, parents want to prevent negative impressions from forming. It's a rough life, filled with hard physical labor, but we enjoy it," he said.

Traveling within the confines of only four states, Gambill Amusements is not nearly as transient as most, Gambill says. For instance, before moving into Garrett County, the carnival will be in nearby Grafton, W.Va. Still, Gambill says one of the most difficult aspects of the business is moving from spot to spot.

"It means about 48 hours without any sleep," Gambill said, "but you do get used to it." The carnival is torn down Saturday nights around 11 p.m. and moved to the next town. It may take all night and all day to move, but the rides will all be set up and ready to go when the next carnival is scheduled to begin. "We try to schedule the locations of our carnival dates as close together as possible to cut down on moving time," Gambill said. He added that the truck drivers for many amusement companies must make several trips during the night to move all the equipment. At Gambill Amusements, however, all of the drivers have authorized chauffeur's licenses, the same as over-the-road truckers, and one trip usually gets everything to the new location.

Gambill says he feels that his operation is significantly different than most, in that safety is stressed above anything else. "Our rides are maintained constantly," he said. "Each state we go into has state inspections we must pass, and we have three full-time people working for us who do nothing but inspect our rides and equipment."

The rides are maintained year-round in their shop in Ohio. Gambill explains that the season ends around the first of October. The rides are moved into the shop at that time and each is reconditioned before going back out on the road around the first of May. "This portable equipment must be constantly maintained," Gambill repeated. Much of what they do is state-of-the-art. Ultrasound is used in the shop to discover any stressed points or sections of the equipment. This same method is used to maintain aircraft.

Gambill says the company has the highest insurance rating, and one of the best safety records in the industry for the entire 40 years they have been in business.

The ride operators and concessionaires try their best to make the carnival and fair week enjoyable for everyone. When they pull out of the fairgrounds late Saturday night, they'll make sure nothing is left behind — not even the garbage — only happy memories.

Parent Support Group Forms, Will Meet Wednesdays

Parents Anonymous, a self-help group for parents who need support in dealing with the day-to-day stresses of raising children, recently formed in the Garrett County area.

The group meets each Wednesday night from 7 to 9 p.m. at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Oakland. Free child care is available during the meetings.

A spokesman for the group said, "P.A. is parents helping parents. Group members are given an opportunity to discuss problems, vent frustrations, and share feelings in a non-judgemental, nurturing environment. Groups also help parents to feel good about themselves and to realize that they are not alone."

Anyone wishing more information may call Lisa at 387-4289. A Parent Stress Line is also available at (301) 243-7337. Collect calls are accepted.

No Records Have Been Broken By Summer's Heat

Although the summer of 1988 may seem like the hottest Oakland has ever experienced, the official weather station at Flowers by Webers, Inc., says differently.

The highest temperature recorded in June was 89 degrees on the twenty-second. This is only the second highest temperature recorded since official records were started in 1903. The highest temperature is 93 degrees, recorded first in 1925 on the fifth, and again in 1933 on the eighth. A close third place is registered as June 17, 1967, and is followed closely for fourth at 87 degrees in 1966.

Nor did June 1988 score a record for the least amount of rainfall. While total precipitation was only 1.39 inches, 1967 only saw 1.36 inches and 1966 saw 1.38 inches. However, 1988 did have less rain than 1933, which received 3.09 inches, and far less than 1925's 4.22 inches.

July's hottest day was the sixteenth, reaching 95 degrees. This almost, but not quite, beat the highest temperature recorded July 26, 1934, at 96 degrees. In third place is July 20, 1946, with a temperature of 89 degrees. The average high for July 1988 was only 84.42 degrees.

As was the case with June, July did not have a record low rainfall. Its 2.02 inches were higher than 1946's 1.40 inches, but lower than 1934's 4.92 inches.

Pleased And Proud . . .

We received a phone call this week from former U.S. Senator Jennings Randolph (D-W.Va.), who is presently on one of his regular visits to Mtn. Lake Park and Garrett County. Senator Randolph, who is truly a living legend in the realm of government and politics, told us that he had a statement to make and hoped we would consider publishing it in our newspaper.

Randolph served 40 years in the United States Congress, with and for (as he says) nine different presidents. He was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1932, in the same election that Franklin D. Roosevelt first became president. He served 26 years in the House, and then 14 more in the U.S. Senate. During that time, he answered 10,753 roll call votes and was instrumental in a number of pieces of major legislation. His greatest claim to fame, however, occurred in 1942 when he authored the 26th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, giving 18-, 19-, and 20-year-old citizens the right to vote. It took nearly 30 years for the ratification of that amendment, but in 1972, these younger Americans were allowed to step into the voting booth for the first time. The statement that Senator Randolph wished to make this week concerns this amendment.

The Senator pointed out that in the 1984 presidential election, only 53 percent of the entire eligible voting group in this nation cast a ballot and only 17 percent of people 18-20 exercised this right. He said studies now indicate that the numbers may be even worse in the 1988 election.

Therefore, Senator Randolph has been spending much of his time lately traveling all over the United States, speaking with high school and college students about the importance of voting. He says that to describe voting as a right or a privilege is really not accurate. "Voting is a responsibility of every American 18 years of age and older."

First of all, it is our pleasure to publish this statement of Senator Randolph, one with which we heartily concur. Too many of our younger voters seem too wrapped up in their "yuppyism" or are just too apathetic to study the issues and fulfill this important responsibility. We always maintain that those who do not vote should never, ever complain about what they believe our government should or should not be doing.

Secondly, we wish to commend Senator Randolph for his continued aggressiveness on this issue and his never-ending concern for our nation. Well into his eighth decade of life, and with 40 years of government service behind him, he has earned the right to truly retire and take it easy. But he will never do so, as long as his health permits him to continue. We thank him for that, and we admire his patriotism and his drive.

We also want to emphasize that he practices what he preaches, referring again to his nearly 11,000 roll call votes in Congress and also to the fact that he never misses voting in an election, even a municipal election in his home town of Elkins, W.Va.

So, yes, Senator Randolph, we are pleased and proud to help spread your message.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am probably the only person to say this in public, but I agree 100% with the County Commissioners' decision to adhere to their original support of $2.2 million for the Southern High renovation project. It is past time when the School Board, along with other entities, are not given a blank check to cover all they feel should be done. Education is not enhanced by modern buildings. The ability of the teachers to teach, and student attitudes govern the quality of education one receives.

My schooling in the old Oakland High was of a high quality, despite the fact there was no lunch program. Everyone brought his own and none went hungry. If you happened to sit next to a window during winter, one had to brush the snow from his/her desk in the morning. We had to dodge falling plaster, walk on rough worn wooden floors and stairs, look at paint peeled walls, etc., etc., but that did not interfere with one's education. A dedicated teacher could give a good course of instruction in a tent if need be. A student willing and anxious to learn would do just that, regardless of the surroundings.

I had my choice of courses to take, and I took the easy ones the last two years. As a result, I did not receive a good education, but the fault was entirely mine, not the run-down building or lack of other so-called modern conveniences. I had dedicated teachers. I only had to go to them and absorb all they had to offer.

If the superintendent of schools, and any others on the staff, teachers included, are not doing the very best each and everyone can with what is available, then they should resign as they are not to be trusted with the education of our youth.

Thank you, county commissioners, for standing up to what you feel to be correct and proper. I only wish that more would come forward with their thoughts as I am sure there are quite a few who agree with me. I am not afraid of being branded as anti-educational, which surely happens to anyone who opposes the School Board. I am for quality education, but that is not enhanced by spending unnecessary millions on buildings.

To the Editor:

The Garrett County School Board is elected by voters to assure a good education for children. This Board employs the best administration they can find to provide this education. The professional administration employed by the School Board submits their recommendations on what is required in teaching staff and facilities to do their job. The School Board studies these recommendations and reaches a decision on what is needed and sends their budget requirements to the County Commissioners. Adequate funding for the schools is possible only to the extent provided by the Commissioners.

Persons seeking the office of Commissioner promise voters good schools, quality education, but after their election, there has, in recent years, been more emphasis upon taking nickels off the tax rate than adequate funding for education.

A group of concerned citizens met two weeks ago to discuss means of supporting our School Board's recommendation for an adequate building program, not more make-do time and money-wasting half measures. We decided that the Commissioners perhaps didn't understand how a lot of voters felt about their failure to provide for our schools' needs. We asked them to put us on the agenda at their next meeting. There, we stated our support for the elected School Board's recommendations. We were accused by the Commissioners of involving education in politics!

I am disappointed in their negative, condescending attitude. Isn't politics the means voters have of sending a message to their elected officials?

Sincerely yours,
Clint Englander

To the Editor:

This time last year if anyone had asked me what the Hospice is, I would have admitted that I didn't know. Believe me, soon after that, I found out what the word meant, and will tell you in the following just how wonderful it is.

My husband was terminally ill with cancer, and the more it weakened his body, the more personal care he required, until finally he was no longer able to get out of bed without help. One day he fell, and this resulted in a trip to the Emergency Room where several stitches had to be taken on his forehead. The attending physician suggested that it was time to contact the Hospice. The next morning, when I went into my husband's room, there lay this pitifully ill man who had always been so immaculately clean, and what I saw caused me to panic. The ointment to heal his head would had made his hair dirty, his clothes were soiled, and the bed was not clean, and being physically and emotionally drained, I knew I needed the Hospice. When they answered the phone, it was a reassuring voice telling me that there was help available, and that they would be out that very afternoon.

For the next three remaining weeks of my husband's life they visited him daily to bathe him, the nurse came out to check his vital signs, a volunteer visited me to help me through those trying times, and my life changed drastically.

Even though you may not need these services right now, there may come a day when you will, and if we don't support the Hospice financially, it may not be there when you need it. A fund-raising event is being planned right now, and it is hoped that many of you will attend, and you can be assured that the proceeds will be greatly appreciated and that the care of the terminally ill will be assured.

The event is an Hawaiian Luau at Silver Tree Inn, slated for Friday, August 12. It will include dinner and dancing.

You may not be interested in this social evening, but you can contribute to the cause. If everyone reading this letter would send a donation, big or small, to the Garrett Hospice, it will assure all of us that their wonderful work will go on.

Barbara Ward

P.S.

Hospice will also hold "Jail and Bail" at the Garrett County Fair next week, offering still another way for people to contribute.

To the Editor:

This is in response to a letter published in your paper from Charles Pariseau of Mt. Lake Park in regard to paid rescue squads (for Southern and Northern Squads).

Does he realize what that would cost to have people sitting there around the clock and how many crews would be necessary? And if the crews on that shift were all out he wouldn't get an ambulance until one returned. Also, if he checks with these squads and sees how many runs they have in nearby West Virginia and Pennsylvania, would they be served by Garrett County funds? Also, Elk Garden covers Kitzmiller, Shallmar, and Vindex areas. Tri Towns covers my area to Swanton Road with our Fire Company. Savage River area, Lonaconing covers areas in Garrett, and Frostburg covers areas near Frostburg. We would not want an ambulance half hour later if the crew was not available 21 miles from Oakland.

Under House Bill No. 826 by Delegate Edwards in 1986, the local squads money from tobacco tax that comes to Garrett County amounts to about 40,000 dollars each year. The other squads serving the county get none. Tri-Towns had 106 calls in Garrett County last year. It is not paid because only voluntary squads are paid from this bill.

I am 78 years old and a charter member of my Fire Company (chief for 13 years, treasurer for 31 years). I have represented my company in the Garrett, Allegany Firemen's Association since 1941. I cannot fight fires now but still answer all alarms. I am the radio dispatcher and make out records for my company. I am proud the man above has given me health all these years so I can help my fellowman when he is in trouble. I ask no pay, only the joy of doing my deed.

To the Editor:

I have a dream that our children will compete successfully with Japanese children, Korean children, Russian children, and children from around the world. A dream that our children will excel in reading, mathematics, arts and sciences. A dream that they will meet the challenges of tomorrow with understanding, innovation, and the skills to manage the future. A dream where our children look back to Garrett County as an exciting place to grow, to learn, and possibly to raise their families, start new businesses and new technologies.

We have the power to make this dream a reality, but this dream has a price. We must first invest in our community, invest in our children, invest in their education. Our children must be our first priority or they will fall behind, our nation will fall behind in manufacturing capability, business know-how, and high technology.

We must be willing to pay for this education now, or accept responsibility for stealing opportunity from our children.

Speak out. Convince our county commissioners that our children are our first priority and that they should fully fund the remodeling proposal from the Board of Education. If we do not try to convince them, then we are to blame for their actions.

To the Editor:

I am writing about the cost of sewerage on the lake in Garrett County. After an $800 payment for a grinder pump, the sewerage bill was $36.50. On April 1st, 1987, the cost was raised to $40. Now, just 15 months later, it has risen again to $43. We received no notice of this raise or any raises except the bill.

This cost is only about $10 less than we are paying for both water and sewerage in Cumberland and the initial cost was nothing. We are summer residents, yet our cost is year-round. The summer residents and tourists are supporting Garrett County and yet you take advantage beyond necessity.

We have been informed that dock permits were to be raised 100%, from $25 to $50 next January — quite an increase. It would seem the average person is being forced from Garrett County.

Perhaps some of your other readers would care to comment, or someone in authority could give a logical explanation.

Sincerely yours,
Betty L. Pugh
Cumberland

To the Editor:

It seems to me we no longer have a Rainbow Coalition. The big question to be answered is, do we Vote Republican or Democrat? Clearly a vote for Republicans is a vote for the whites, a vote for the Democrats is a vote for the blacks.

To the Editor:

Senator Barbara Mikulski promotes a new kind of national service. She says that: "The same demographic changes that are shrinking our work force are also shrinking the pool of available volunteers. There just are not as many young people in this country as there used to be."

Senator Mikulski should have explained why there just are not as many young people in this country as there used to be, namely 22 million abortions since Roe vs. Wade and a very significant number before Roe vs. Wade.

Senator Mikulski promotes abortion. Now she promotes this new kind of national service essentially dependent on young people. She can't have it both ways, nor can other abortionists.

Senator Mikulski's proposed new national service may add to the quality of life, but abortion doesn't.

Wake up, America!

To the Editor:

I have just finished five consecutive months of coaching baseball; the first three as an assistant at Southern High School and the last two as a head coach in one of the top youth programs in America, American Legion Baseball.

Through the season I met some great kids, both on my team and on the other teams. They were the ones who made the effort worthwhile. However, let me fill you in on some events that tarnished the season somewhat.

After having commitments from 20 kids, I finished the last game of the year with nine players, seven from West Virginia schools, one from Southern, and none from Northern. Of those 20 who started the season, 13 were local — from Southern and Northern — however, of those 13, 12 of them at one time or another missed a game without telling me they wouldn't be there. Of those 13, nine either quit completely, without calling me, or missed at least three of the last five games without letting me know.

This all bothers me very much. Why would a young man not want to play for such a super program, especially since Southern, Northern, and this Legion program have developed into such top calibre programs (Southern has won 50 games in three years)? The program is right in their own back yard.

Okay, the kids didn't want to play. That's fine. Why did I not receive as much as a phone call from any of these quitters? Why did I have to hear it through the grapevine? Are these guys quitters because they weren't man enough to tell me? This is after I coached half of them for at least two years. They know in no way would I bite their heads off.

Next year I am getting 13-15 "hungry" players who realize what they have in the palm of their hand. For you others, too bad you're missing it.

I would like to acknowledge the players from Circleville, Petersburg, Terra Alta, and Hampshire County, West Virginia, who, all together, travled a total of 10,000 miles this year to practices and games.

Dodge, 1987 Garrett County Farm Queen; and Alice Bender, Farm Bureau Women's Committee. The responsive reading will be led by the Rev. Allen C. Ridenour, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland. The Rev. John A. Grant, St. John's Episcopal Church, Deer Park, will have the prayers and benediction.

The vesper service is again sponsored by the Mt. Top Ministerial Association in cooperation with the Fair Board. The Fair Committee is composed of the Reverends Carlson, Feild and Grant, with Ruth DiPaolo serving as vesper service chairman from the Fair Board.

The offering this year will be divided between the Scott A. Glotfelty Memorial Fund for Humanitarian Purposes and the Fair Ministry of the Mt. Top Ministerial Association. Dr. Glotfelty lost his life in Togo, W. Africa on March 23 while serving with the Peace Corps. This fund has been set up to help continue plans and projects he had started in the area of Togo he served.

Officers of the Mt. Top Ministerial Association are Rev. Allen C. Ridenour, president; Rev. A. Ray Beahm, vice president; Rev. John A. Grant, secretary; Rev. Martin E. Feild, treasurer.

The public is invited to attend this year's vesper service in the 4-H Building auditorium.

Friends Of Ruth Enlow Library

By Sull McCartney

Thus far, 1988 has been a memorable year. It has been the hottest, driest and coldest summer I have experienced in Garrett County. Somehow, I wasn't really surprised by frost in July. I will also remember 1988 as the year the trees came down. It seems like all over town, large tress are being cut. Personally, I believe that a lot of them needed to be removed. A lot of people think it is a shame to ever cut a tree — Judy Devlin and Susanna Kurtz for instance. I attribute this feeling to the poetry they were exposed to in their formative years. "Only God can make a tree" or "Woodsman, Woodsman spare that tree!" for example. School books used to be full of that sort of stuff.

The front entrance to the Oakland library is open again. The ramp is complete except for the railings. After watching the construction, I don't think that it will go anywhere.

Molly Ramsey, of McHenry, won a "Friends" t-shirt by identifying Howdy Doody's brother as Double Doody. Way to go, Molly!

V.K. Ratliff is probably the most famous sewing machine salesman in American Literature. A "Friends" t-shirt will be given to the first person who writes me the author in whose works he appeared and what his first name was. Write: Friends Contest, 6 North Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550. If anyone knows this, I will donate the cost of the t-shirt.

Robert L. Feller, of Pittsburgh, is our second life member.

The second semi-annual payment has been made to the Library from our book endowment fund. The check was for ninety dollars to purchase six books. The six were funded by Ella and Lloyd Jones, The Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, Josephine and Ellen Butler, Bowie Linn and Ann Naylor Grant, Jennie Mandrovsky, and The Oakland Rotary Club.

August 5-6 are the dates of the annual sidewalk sale in Oakland. The Friends will be conducting a used book sale in front of the Professional Building. Books will be priced at $ .50 for paperbacks and $1.00 for hardbacks. Please stop by.

Our lastest endowment was funded by the Garrett County Democratic Club and the Democratic Central Committee for Garrett County. I am anxious to hear from the Republicans. Everyone knows that they have all the money.

Speaking of money, I haven't received a response to my request for four donors to match Bausch & Lomb's one hundred dollar donation to fund a Library of America grant. Surely there are four individuals or organizations willing to donate one hundred dollars for such a good cause. Don't be shy, the Ruth Enlow Library needs Friends. Write to Friends, 6 North Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550.

Man Sentenced

for the first count. The judge then suspended 50 days of the sentence, provided the fine is paid. For the second count, Smith was fined $10 and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The sentence was suspended.

Judge Turney placed Smith on two years supervised probation for each count. Smith was found to be not guilty of a charge of harassment.

The charges were filed by Robert H. Mayle Jr., Deer Park, and Lori E. Meddings, Aurora, W.Va., following a May 12 incident in Oakland.

Smith was represented by Toston.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation for Kevin D. Hutzel, 23, Grantsville, after finding him to be guilty of a theft charge.

The charge was filed by Tfc. R.C. Resh, and stemmed from the September, 1987, to March, 1988, embezzlement of cash from Summer's Auto Parts, Grantsville.

Hutzel was represented by Toston.

The judge ordered probation before judgment for Lucinda M. Drees, 58, Frostburg, for a charge of keeping a gaming table.

Drees received a $500 fine, and was placed on unsupervised probation until the fine and court costs are paid. A second gaming charge was not prosecuted by the court.

The charges were filed by Sgt. Robert E. Friend of the Maryland State Police following an April 28 incident at Cindy's Tavern, near Finzel.

Drees was represented by Earl E. Manges.

Numerous charges stemmed from the same incident at Cindy's Tavern. Placed on the stet docket were gambling charges against Elsie M. Robeson, 54, Frostburg; Kitty A. Stakem, 32, Frostburg; Deborah D. Yutzy, 24, Lonaconing; Victor A. Twigg, 45, Frostburg; Paul D. Knox, 25, Frostburg; Jeffery L. Twigg, 41, Frostburg; Ryan R. Dale, 27, Frostburg; Ronald L. Drees, 34, Frostburg; Larry W. Friend, 36; and James L. Baker, 36, Frostburg.

In a separate case, a charge of theft against Terry L. Hersh, 26, Grantsville, was placed on the stet docket

The charge was filed by Tfc. R.C. Resh, and involved Summer's Auto Parts, Grantsville.

Also placed on the stet docket

Early Morning Traffic Mishap Injures Man

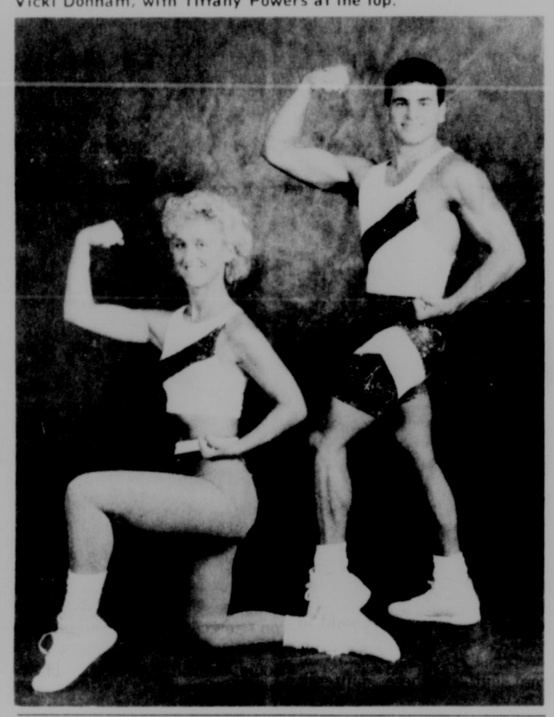

A 12:01 a.m. mishap this morning resulted in injuries to one man while two passengers escaped unharmed.

According to a Maryland State Police report, William Allen McCray, 20, of Bel Air, was travelling north on the Chestnut Ridge Road when he failed to negotiate a left hand curve and ran off the right side of the road. The vehicle, a 1988 Sunbird, hit a tree and a fence, then overturned before coming to a stop. The driver was ejected from the vehicle.

Northern Rescue Squad transported the driver to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was listed in "guarded" condition this morning in the intensive care unit. Two passengers, Jeffry Asbury, 18, and Scott Otto, 17, both of Bel Air, escaped without injury.

READY FOR COMPETITION in the Mid-Atlantic Crystal Light regional aerobic championship, slated for August 19-21 in Arlington, Va., are several persons representing Brenda's Body Shop, Oakland. Brenda Brosnihan and her partner, John Brown, Pittsburgh, pictured below, will compete in the mixed pairs event. Mrs. Brosnihan, Tami Rosage, and Dawn Panther will compete in the individual and team category, while the Aerobic Diehards, pictured above, who are coached by Mrs. Brosnihan will give an exhibition performance. The Diehards will also be one of the performing groups this Saturday, August 6, at Rocky Gap State Park's Festival near Cumberland, which will feature the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra. They and all of the local teams will present a free performance next Wednesday, August 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. The Diehards will then give a free public demonstration at noon on Saturday, August 13, at Broadford Park just prior to the "Best of the West" Triathlon awards ceremony. Pictured above, left to right, front row, are Amanda Mountain, Lexi Long, Julie Severe, and Betsy Spiker. Kneeling center, left to right, are Shelli Cannon, Erin Long, and Joy McCain. In the third row, same order, are Heather Gilbert, Cindy Tichnell, and Alison Winters. In the next row, same order, are Ainsley Powers, and Vicki Donham, with Tiffany Powers at the top.

Charges in the mishap, investigated by T.F.C. Mary Rosate, are pending.

In another early-morning traffic mishap on Monday, Billie Jo Everidge, 19, of Oakland, was travelling east on the Harvey Winters Road near Oakland when she made a right turn onto the Broadford Road and travelled through the intersection, striking a tree. The incident occurred at 12:10 a.m.

Southern Rescue Squad transported Everidge to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where she was admitted. A passenger in the vehicle, Travis W. Smith, 18, Deer Park, escaped without injury. The driver was charged with failure to control speed. Investigating officer was T.F.C. D.G. Riggleman.

A three-car accident occured July 31 when a car driven by David M. Bowser, 27, of Woodbridge, Va., struck a 1982 Dodge charger driven by Betsy A. Herpel, 31, of Oakland.

Herpel was stopped on U.S. Rt. 219 waiting to make a left turn when Bowser struck her vehicle in the rear with his 1982 Chevrolet Blazer. Herpel's vehicle was knocked into the north bound lane of traffic and struck a 1982 Pontiac 6000 driven by Susan E. Gojich, 23, Donora, Pa., with passenger David Buchta, 23, also of Donora.

Gojich was treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The 1:23 p.m. accident was investigated by Trooper J.K. Moore.

On July 28 at 8 p.m., Sean Foley, 17, Oakland, was riding a four-wheeler on private property near Oak Grove Road when the vehicle, a 1987 Honda 125, struck an embankment, causing the driver to be ejected from the vehicle.

Foley was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released. The accident was investigated by T.F.C. D.W. Broadwater.

water and the water temperature was 75 degrees. Under those conditions, it would normally take two or three days for the body to come up."

The victim had a large laceration on her left forehead. The autopsy reportedly showed that there was no sexual activity, and the body was fully clothed when found in the lake.

Investigators reported that Mrs. Jackson was last seen in the Elk Garden area around 1 a.m. on Monday. There were no reports that she had ever been seen in the lake area, which is about three or four miles from where she normally roamed the streets.

Mineral County Prosecuting Attorney Phil Jordan, who has been working on the case with the West Virginia State Police, said, "We urge anyone who may have seen Mrs. Jackson after midnight the night in question or anyone with any information to immediately call state police at 788-1101 or Mineral County Crime Solvers at 788-6444.

Born in Elk Garden, Mrs. Jackson was a daughter of the late William and Emma (Taylor) Sherwood. Her husband, William Jackson, preceded her in death.

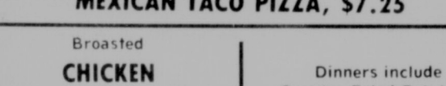

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Julia Annabella Paugh and Mrs. Patricia Yvonne "Dee" Paugh, both of Elk Garden; and Mrs. Barbara Jean Paugh, Mtn. Lake Park; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Cheshire and Mrs. Freda Paugh, Keyser; two brothers, William "Bud" Sherwood and Henry Sherwood, both of Elk Garden; 11 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Kitzmiller, today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

A service will be conducted Friday at 1 p.m. at Elk Garden United Methodist Church by the Rev. Brian Perry and the Rev. Donald E. Marple. Interment will be in Kalbaugh Cemetery, Elk Garden.

Sheriff's Dept. Notes Arrests

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department this week reported numerous arrests.

Dennis K. Dumire, 29, Oakland, was arrested Sunday afternoon after the motorcycle he was operating struck a police car.

According to reports filed by the department, the motorcycle was spotted by Deputy D. Welch, who reported that the vehicle had no registration.

Dumire fled from Welch on the motorcycle. As Welch attempted to pass the cycle, it struck the right front door of his police car. The motorcycle then jumped a ditch and overturned. Dumire fled into a wooded area and was later apprehended.

Welch charged Dumire with 16 citations, including operating a motor vehicle without a license, operating an uninsured motor vehicle, fleeing and eluding a police officer, failing to keep to the right of the center line, and traveling at a speed greater than reasonable.

Donald Lee Shunk, 34, Grantsville, was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol at 10:45 p.m. on Sunday.

Arthur Paul Strattan, 43, Bruceton Mills, was arrested at 11:15 p.m. on Saturday on the DWI charge.

Leonard A. Maust, 26, Fort Hill, Pa., was arrested by Deputy R.P. Shaffer at 11:15 p.m. on Saturday for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Connie Elaine Shiner, 31, Baltimore, was arrested by Deputy J. Murphy at 12:05 a.m. on July 27 on the DWI charge.

James David Radebaugh, 24, Freeland, was arrested for DWI at 11 p.m. on July 23.

James Albert Huster, 42, Mount Savage, was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol at 12:40 a.m. on July 23.

BPW Begins Membership Drive

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women's Club will be observing its 50th anniversary in 1989, and, to prepare for that anniversary, is encouraging all working women to join the organization now during the club's membership drive.

The state of Maryland has 26 local clubs and 3,400 clubs nationwide serve a total of 125,000 members. BPW works through community projects to elevate the standards for working women by "improving the employment opportunity, career development and economic status of women in the labor force."

The group says that more and more women are moving toward economic self-sufficiency and need help. The group was formed to help women help themselves.

The group is a non-partisan, non-profit organization. Dinner meetings are held the second Thursday of the month at Will O'the Wisp, Deep Creek Lake. Applications are available at the Vogue Beauty Salon in downtown Oakland, 334-3153 or 826-8434.

The Ringer-Diehl reunion will be held this Sunday, August 7, at the Accident Fire Hall, beginning at 12:30 p.m. with a buffet style dinner. All relatives and friends are invited to attend.

The State Line United Methodist Women's Group met at the church Wednesday evening. Each member brought a gift to celebrate another person's birthday. Numbers were attached to the gifts and drawn for the gift exchange. Each member brought a part of the refreshments that were served that evening. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, August 24, at the church. Mrs. Lawrence Hockman will be in charge of the program and refreshments will be served by Miss Lee Ann Schmidt.

Many residents of this community and many relatives and friends from out of town attended the wedding of Miss Jill Anne Margroff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Margroff, and Donald Richard Evans Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Evans Sr., Oakland, at Zion Lutheran Church, Accident, on Saturday, where Rev. Ernest Lindner, officiated. The reception was held at American Legion Hall, Grantsville.

Weekend guests of Fred Bentz were Mr. and Mrs. David Bentz, Sykesville. Stephen Bentz returned to Sykesville with his parents after spending a week's vacation here with his grandfather. They all had dinner on Sunday at Chimney Corner Restaurant, Red House.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hanft were Wednesday evening visitors of Juanita Johnson and daughter and the four of them attended the movie, "Bambi," at the Country Club Mall, Cumberland. Lynette accompanied her grandparents to their home here to spend a few days. The three of them spent Thursday with Mrs. Nora Friend and Mrs. Ethelene Miconi, North Lima, Ohio. They were also forenoon callers of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Daugherty, Point Marion, Pa. Shane Yoder was a Friday visitor of the Hanfts. Weekend guests were Melrose Short, Sykesville, Elizabeth Sabre, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Needer and daughters, Timonium; and Mr. and Mrs. John Sherwood and son, Mt. Nebo, W.Va. Another Friday overnight guest was Steve Shatzer, Hagerstown. Other Saturday visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Hanft and daughters, Addison, Pa., and Juanita Johnson and daughter. Melrose Short attended the wedding of Barbara Ann Helmick and Scott Michael Rinehart at the Cornerstone Baptist Church, Cumberland, on Saturday evening.

NEW OAKLAND COUNCILMAN — Oakland Mayor Asa McCain, right, is shown swearing in Richard Travis, of Center Street in Oakland, to the Oakland Town Council. Travis was appointed to fill a spot vacated by Councilman Von Johnson. The new councilman will be in charge of the Oakland Street Department, and his appointment brings the Oakland Town Council to full staff once again.

Lawyer Group Honors Former Oakland Resident

The American Lawyers Auxiliary has announced the 1988 recipient of the High School Law-Related Education Teacher of the Year award is Sally H. Durrant of Pittsburgh, Pa. An American Government/Political Science teacher at Hampton High School, Allison Park, for the past four years, Durrant is also a lawyer and a member of the bar in Pennsylvania and Ohio. She is the daughter of Robert and Mildred Hoffman, Pennington Street, Oakland.

Her students have: debated their way to State finals in the National Competition on the Constitution and the Bill of Rights; won top honors in essay contests; presented school assembly programs and evening programs for the community; won the Ben Franklin Award for their newspaper issue on Justice. In addition to yearly registering all seniors as new Allegheny County voters, she has made law and politics an important part of their lives. Durrant was awarded the Duquesne University-Western Council of the Social Studies Award for "Outstanding Teacher of the Year" in 1987.

Over 100 Law-Related Education teachers and LRE Project Directors from 39 states were contacted in this year's search for the "Outstanding Teacher of the Year."

Announcement of the award will be made at the Annual Meeting of the American Lawyers Auxiliary in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, held in conjunction with the Annual Meeting of the American Bar Association August 4-11.

Fourth Annual Bass Tourney Slated At Lake

The fourth annual Deep Creek Lake "Night Owl" Open Team Bass Tournament will be held Saturday, August 13, on Deep Creek Lake.

Entries will be accepted by mail, with ooze-off numbers assigned until 6:45 p.m. August 13 at the boat ramp at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Entries will be accepted the day of the tournament from 4 p.m. to 6:45 p.m. and the entry fee is $50. Entry checks should be made payable to Allegany B.A.S.S. Casters, "Night Owl" Tournament, P.O. Box 3236, LaVale, MD 21502.

Ooze-off is 7 p.m. and check-in deadline for ooze-off is 6:45 p.m. The weigh-in deadline is 8 a.m. on August 14, and weigh-in will be conducted in the order of ooze-off number. Door prizes will be given at weigh-in time, and persons must be present to win.

First prize, with a field of 75 boats (100 boats maximum), will be $1,000. If fewer than 75 boats participate, prizes will be proportionately lower.

This tournament is sponsored by the Allegany B.A.S.S. Casters. For more information, persons may contact Tournament Director Bob Muir at (301) 689-3797, Bill Rice at (301) 689-8054, or the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council at (301) 334-1948.

NORTHERN SQUADS SUCCESSFUL AT CAMP — The varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads of Northern High School recently attended a collegiate cheerleading camp at Edinboro University, Edinboro, Pa., and returned home with a number of honors. The Northern varsity won first place and the junior varsity finished in third place among the 10 squads in competition. The squads were judged on enthusiasm, pep, cooperation, skills, jumps, attitude, and poise. The varsity squad also received a spirit award and outstanding and superior ribbons every night. Each squad was awarded a trophy and participation certificate. Stacy Bray was named Outstanding Cheerleader (see separate story). Besides the competitive events at the camp, participants were also taught various cheers, partner stunts, pyramids, and gymnastics. Members of the Northern varsity squad are, pictured above, Dixie Browning, seated; Tracy Murray, kneeling, and standing left to right, Kathleen Peterson, co-captain; Stacy Bray, Petrina Jones, captain; Raija Fisher, and Heather Golden. Jayvee cheerleaders pictured below are, left to right, Brandi Bender, Alice Shunk, Stephanie Young, Tanya Beitzel (back), Becky Bowser, and Amanda Wakefield.

Fishing Contest Winners Noted

Weekly fishing contest winners for the week ending July 31 were named this week by the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council and are as follows:

Smallmouth bass, 1 lb. 9 ozs., 15½ inches, caught by Andy Phelps, Rockville.

Walleye, 5 lbs., 6 ozs., 25¾ inches, caught by Robert Wilson Jr., Westernport.

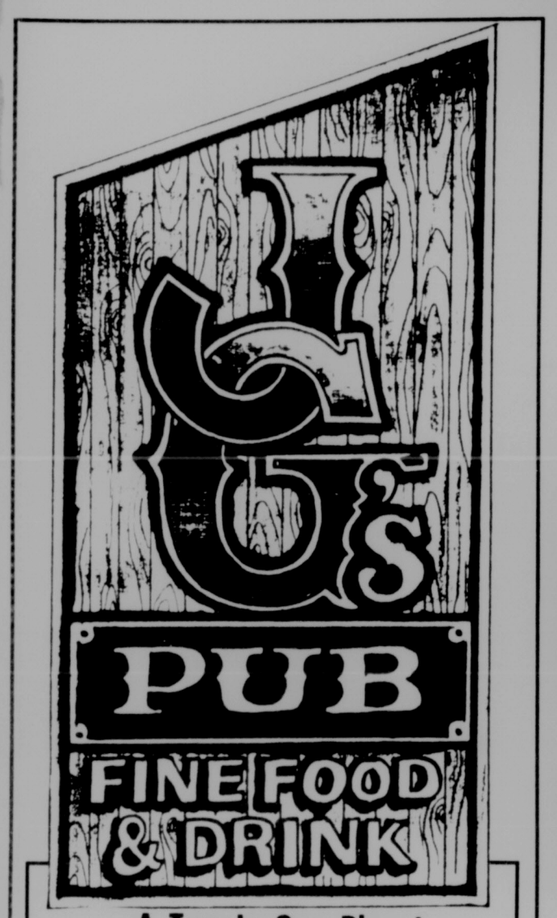

Yellow perch, 1 lb., 7 ozs., 12½ inches, caught by Jimmy Hollis, Hollywood.

Northern Pike, 2 lbs., 14 ozs., 24 inches, caught by Edward Fennell, Laurel.

Manta Rays Dominate B Flight Events At YMCA Championships

The Garrett County Manta Rays returned to the Frostburg State University swimming pool last Saturday for the annual YMCA Summer League Championships, and the local swimmers dominated the B Flight competition, capturing 21 first places in 30 events, 21 second places, and 15 third places, plus shattering four league records.

Over 200 young swimmers from six area teams participated in the competition, which featured events in all four strokes — butterfly, back stroke, breast stroke, and free style — for A and B flight swimmers.

A Flight swimmers are those who compete year round, or who won a B Flight meet trophy the previous year, while B Flight swimmers are those who compete only during the summer season.

Teams participating besides the Manta Rays were YMCA, Bel Air, LaVale, Country Club, and Romney.

Matthew Cathell, who swims in the boys mini-tyke division for the Manta Rays, captured two first places and set two new league records in the process. He won the 25-yard back stroke in 30.02 seconds and the 25-breast stroke in 33.54 seconds.

Also setting new league records were Stephen Goralski, in the 25-yard breast stroke, cadet boys division, with a time of 21.81 seconds, and Erin Dabney, 50-yard breast stroke, junior girls division, with a time of 40.36 seconds. Erin is also the current record-holder in two other age divisions in the breast stroke.

Four Manta Rays were the overall winners of their divisions and will thus move to A Flight next year. They are Justin Helbig, who captured the tyke boys division trophy; Sara Sincell, who topped the field of 24 girls in the tyke girls division; Aaron Chorpenning, who won the trophy in the prep boys division; and Josey Coviello, who was the winner of the girls prep division.

Runners-up in their divisions were: Andy Helbig, senior boys; Mary Thrasher, senior girls; Alison Graybill, junior girls; Jason Rush, junior boys; Matthew Sincell, cadet boys; Matthew Cathell, mini-tyke boys; and Natalie Sanders, mini-tyke girls.

Other Manta Rays winning first places, besides Cathell, Goralski, and Dabney, were: Natalie Sanders, mini-tyke girls, 50-yard free; Kristen Spurrier, mini-tyke girls, 25 back; Justin Helbig, tyke boys, 25 free; Meredeth Martin, tyke girls, 25 breast; Sara Sincell, tyke girls, 25 free and 50 free; Mark Cannon, prep boys, 50 breast; Aaron Chorpenning, prep boys, 50 back and 100 free; Josey Coviello, prep girls, 50 back and 50 breast; Alison Graybill, junior girls, 50 back; Jason Rush, junior boys, 50 back; Brian Boal, senior boys, 50 breast; Andy Helbig, senior boys, 50 fly; Mary Thrasher, senior girls, 50 back and 50 breast.

MANTA RAYS RECEIVE AWARDS — The Garrett County Manta Rays Swim Team concluded its season of competition in fine style Saturday by recording numerous first, second, and third places in the Cumberland YMCA Swimming League Championships. For their efforts in the championships and throughout the entire season, many of the Rays received special awards during their annual picnic, held Sunday in Mtn. Lake Park. Pictured left to right, front row, are: Matthew Cathell, Most Improved; Meredith Martin and Matthew Sincell, Most Dedicated; Aaron Chorpenning, Most Improved; Justin Helbig and Sara Sincell, Most Valuable. In the second row, same order, are Emily Friend, Most Improved; Alison Graybill, Team Spirit Award; Dawn Scheffel, Most Improved; Kim Fike, Most Dedicated; Josey Coviello, Most Valuable; and Jason Rush, Most Dedicated. Not present for the photo was Andy Helbig, Most Valuable. Josey Coviello, Sara Sincell, Aaron Chorpenning, and Justin Helbig were also the top swimmers in their divisions at the championships and will compete as A Flight swimmers next year. It was also announced by the YMCA League that a special sportsmanship trophy will be presented to Matthew Sincell.

Manta Rays winning second places were: Michelle Goralski, mini-tyke girls, 25 back and 25 breast; Meghan Dabney, tyke girls, 25 breast; Kerry Graybill, tyke girls, 25 back; Alison Rudy, tyke girls, 25 back; Sara Sincell, 25 fly; Julie Eiswert, cadet girls, 25 free; Amanda Sanders, cadet girls, 50 free; Matthew Sincell, 25 back and 50 free; Aaron Chorpenning, 50 free; Josey Coviello, 50 free; Shanda Reynolds, prep girls, 100 free; Alison Graybill, 50 free and 50 fly; Jason Rush, 50 free and 50 breast; Corey Snelson, junior girls, 100 free; Susan Umstot, junior girls, 50 breast; and Andy Helbig, 50 free and 50 back.

Rays who recorded third places were: Natalie Sanders, 25 back; Kristen Spurrier, 25 free; Adam Chorpenning, tyke boys, 25 free; Noelle Collins, tyke girls, 25 breast; Daniel Sincell, tyke boys, 25 breast; Bradley Boal, cadet boys, 50 free; Emily Friend, cadet girls, 50 free; Amanda Sanders, 25 fly; Shannon Dabney, prep girls, 50 breast; Trish Marple, prep girls, 50 back and 100 free; Erin Dabney, 50 fly; Susan Umstot, 100 free; Brian Boal, 50 back; and Mary Thrasher, 50 free.

The Manta Rays cadet boys relay team, consisting of Justin Helbig, Matthew Sincell, William West, and Stephen Goralski, placed second, as did the cadet girls team of Eliza Coviello, Amanda Sanders, Stephanie Friend, and Emily Friend. The Rays' tyke girls relay team, consisting of Noelle Collins, Jill Speicher, Sara Sincell, and Meghan Dabney, captured a third place.

An awards ceremony followed the competition, with trophies presented to the division winners, It was also announced yesterday that Matthew Sincell has been awarded a special sportsmanship trophy by the YMCA League.

Manta Ray team trophies and awards were presented Sunday afternoon at the team's annual picnic, held at the residence of Manning and Kathie Smith, Mtn. Lake Park.

Receiving the Most Valuable Swimmer trophies for the prep-junior-senior group were senior boy, Andy Helbig, and prep girl, Josey Coviello. The Most Dedicated Swimmer awards went to junior boy, Jason Rush, and junior girl, Kim Fike. The Most Improved Swimmer trophies were presented to junior girl, Dawn Scheffel (A Flight) and prep boy, Aaron Chorpenning.

Receiving the same awards in the mini-tyke, tyke, and cadet group were: Most Valuable, Justin Helbig, tyke boy, and Sara Sincell, tyke girl; Most Dedicated, Matthew Sincell, cadet boy, and Meredeth Martin, tyke girl; and Most Improved, Matthew Cathell, mini-tyke boy, and Emily Friend, cadet girl.

The team spirit award, which was determined by a vote of the swimmers, went to Alison Graybill.

Oakland Tops Buckhannon Before Splitting Twinbill With Hyndman

The Oakland Oaks of the Pen-Mar Baseball League topped Buckhannon in a single nine-inning contest on Saturday at Garrett Community College, 13-11, and then split a doubleheader on Sunday afternoon against Hyndman, taking the first game, 6-3, and dropping the nightcap, 4-3, also on the GCC diamond in McHenry.

The Oaks are currently in third place in the league with a 11-8 record. Tri-Towns which topped Mount Savage Saturday, is in first place with a 17-2 mark, and Hyndman is second in the standings.

A grandslam home run by Craig Cumberworth was the highlight of the Oaks' win over Buckhannon on Saturday. His blast came in the six-run fifth inning, which erased the West Virginians' earlier 2-1 lead.

Cumberworth also smacked a two-run single, while Steve Sites, Charlie Wilson, and Dwayne Hedrick each rapped two singles. Sites also had two RBIs and Hedrick stole two bases. Phil Carr reached base four times and scored three runs.

Pacing Buckhannon's offense were Mike Hinkle, who doubled and singled twice, Tim McNemar, who tripled and singled, and Jeff Martin, who doubled and singled.

The score of Sunday's first contest with Hyndman was tied at 3-3 when Oakland's manager/player Terry Helbig smashed a three-run homer in the bottom of the sixth to conclude the scoring.

The Oaks were down 1-0 and 3-2 during the early innings and then tied the game in the fourth.

Helbig also recorded a single, while Hedrick finished with a run-producing double and two singles. Wilson doubled and singled and Cumberworth and Ed Wildesen each added a double.

Leading Hyndman in the first game was Matt Logsdon, who homered and doubled. Mike Keel hit an RBI triple and a single, Mike Mathews logged a pair of singles.

Steve Sites went the distance on the mound for the Oaks, fanning seven batters and giving up seven hits.

Grant Crawford won the game for Hyndman in the second contest when he smacked a fifth-inning home run that made it 4-2. Oakland came back for a single run in the bottom of the sixth, but could get no closer.

Crawford also had an RBI double, winning pitcher Mike Keel rapped a double and a single, and Mathews and Andy Souders each doubled. Keel, who pitched the entire game, struck out nine batters.

Wilson homered for Oakland and Lawrence Nesselrodt finished with a pair of singles.

SHS Volleyball Physicals Slated

Helen Rostosky, head coach of the Southern High School girls' volleyball team, issued a reminder this week to all high school girls interested in participating on the team this fall that physicals will be given at the school next Thursday, August 11, at 7 p.m.

All youth who participate in organized sports in the school system are required by law to have physicals before the season begins.

Garrett Legion Team Concludes With Two Losses

The Garrett County Legion team concluded its Junior American Legion Baseball League season with a doubleheader loss last Wednesday at Garrett Community College, falling to Farrady Post 24, 11-1 and 3-0.

The sweep left the Garrett players with an 8-17 record.

Scott DeHaven and Brent McKenzie each hit a triple and two singles in the first game to pace a 12-hit effort, while Jim Bennett limited Garrett County to just two hits. Bucky Tyler added a double and a single for Post 24, while Kevin Combs and Rod Cooper accounted for Garrett's two hits, both singles.

Bennett repeated his two-hitter performance in the second contest and aided his own cause with a home run, a double, and a single.

Allen Selders and Rich Goad each doubled for Garrett.

Dori Eddy To Play Basketball For GCC Lakers

Dori Eddy, Terra Alta, W.Va., recently signed an NJCAA Letter of Intent to participate on the Women's Basketball Team at Garrett Community College.

Miss Eddy is a graduate of East Preston High School. While there she participated on the girl's basketball team under the direction of Greg Messenger. During her senior year, she held the second highest field goal percentage of the team with a 43%, with an average of 5.1 points per game. She was voted as the Most Improved Player on the team during her senior year.

"I feel that Dori has a sense of court awareness which will help our team out tremendously this next year," stated Women's Basketball Coach Stephanie Durow.

Dori is the daughter of Walter and Sue Kisner, Terra Alta.

Wildesen Notes Disappointment With Attitudes Of Legion Players

Despite the fact that the Garrett County American Legion baseball team had many of the area's most talented players, the local team concluded its season last week without a playoff berth and with a disappointing 8-17 record. Coach Ed Wildesen commented on the season this week and gave two major reasons for the squad's lack of success.

First of all, Garrett lost the services of Rod Cooper of Circleville High School for about one-half of the season because of a hand injury. Cooper was one of the team's top three pitchers and was battling a sizzling .421 before he was injured.

"With Cooper healthy, we had the best 1-2-3 pitchers in the league," Wildesen said, referring to Bo Butler of Southern High School, Bucky Riggleman of Petersburg, and Cooper. "When Cooper was 100 percent, he threw every bit as hard as Butler and Riggleman is also a fine, hard-throwing lefty who is going to Garrett Community College this fall."

The second reason Wildesen cited as causing the demise of the 1988 campaign was an attitude and attendance problem.

"Even with Cooper out of the line-up, we still had a fine team," he said. "We still had good pitching depth, our defense was second to none, and our hitting looked to be just good enough to win. However, our pitchers at times did not throw during their off days and they paid the price by getting hit hard the next time out. We also had some costly errors and never seemed to get the breaks.

"For example," he continued, "we would need a big hit and someone would line out, while the other team would get bloop hits."

Attendance at games was the major problem for Wildesen, as his entire top line-up showed up all together a total of four times out of 25 games.

"We were always missing someone," he said. "I guess what I'm trying to say is that some of the kids just didn't dedicate themselves enough for us to win. For the Garrett County Legion team to win the Mountain District title again, this attitude must change, and as head coach I will change it starting with our first practice in the 1989 season."

The leading hitter on the team this season was Northern High School's Aaron Zumpano, who finished with a .438 average. Bo Butler, of Southern High and headed for the West Virginia University Mountaineers, had the most at-bats with 80 and J.R. Bosley, also a Southern grad, recorded the fewest strike-outs with just four (minimum 50 at-bats).

The Most Valuable Player award went to the team's catcher, D.G. Largent, of Hampshire High School, while the Coach's Award was presented to Mark Rohrbaugh, of Petersburg High.

Although Largent's statistics were not particularly impressive, Wildesen selected him MVP because of his "quiet leadership, drive, and determination, which was above that of any baseball player I've coached in six years," Wildesen said. "I don't think D.G. said 25 words this year, but he didn't have to. He drove all that way to play baseball and I knew he'd be there every day. If I had nine guys like him, I'd never mind losing, because all nine would give 110 percent without question."

Rohrbaugh, the third baseman, also did not have outstanding stats, hitting .285 for the year (third best on the team), but he was the only player who did not miss a single game.

"This should be named the Pete Rose award for Mark," Wildesen said, "because Rose was the kind of player who did everything, with less ability than many other players. This is Mark Rohrbaugh. He is a scrappy player, both offensively and defensively. He was an excellent two-strike hitter and made the every-day plays at third. He even pitched some. In fact, he pitched an exceptional game against Westernport at the end of the season."

The highlights of Garrett's season included an 8-7 win over Morgantown Legion, a team that plays 45 games each year and always goes to the West Virginia State tournament. Garrett also recorded doubleheader sweeps over Frostburg and Westernport, plus a 12-5 win over Cumberland which gave the team a 3-0 record and first place in the early part of the season.

Wildesen says the 1989 season looks bright for the Garrett team, as Cooper, Rohrbaugh, and Largent will return, as will Zumpano and Allan Selders.

"Zumpano may be the best hitter in the district, and Selders is the best second baseman, if not the best all-around glove man in the league," Wildesen said.

Also returning are two young pitchers, Ryan Harman and Kevin Combs, both only 15, who showed much promise this past season.

"The one player we will miss the most will be Bucky Riggleman," Wildesen said. "He is a great kid whose season this year was one of hard luck. He probably lined out seven or eight times and when he pitched his best game all year, against Cumberland, we couldn't come up with the hitting and we lost, 4-0."

Wildesen also said that people like Bosley, Butler, and Rich Goad will also be hard to replace.

Wildesen extended his appreciation to the various Garrett County legion posts that sponsored the team, to Garrett Community College Coach Lawrence Nesselrodt for the loan of equipment and use of the GCC field, to Southern Coach Jim Bosley for the loan of equipment, and to assistant coach, Phil Carr.

Grantsville Out Of Bi-State Playoff Picture

The 1988 Bi-State Pony League season came to an end for Grantsville last Thursday night, as the local hurlers fell to Simpson's Auto of Keyser, 10-4, at Mount Savage. The game was held to determine the fourth and final berth for the league playoffs.

Grantsville, which finished the season with a 12-7 record, took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, but Simpson's came storming back with six runs in the bottom of the second frame. The inning was highlighted by a three-run double by Darrin McIntyre.

McIntyre also had a single, while Rodney Mangold recorded two singles and Lance McGreevy added a two-run single.

Grantsville added two runs in the third and one in the seventh, but Simpson's recorded four in the fifth.

Mike Kesecker went the distance on the mound for Simpson's, allowing only four Grantsville hits.

An attempted rally by Grantsville in the fifth frame when they had men on first and second with no outs was thwarted by a triple play. The next Grantsville batter hit a high chop in front of the plate that was fielded by Simpson's catcher, Jamie Wiltison, who fired the ball to third baseman Mangold for a force out. Mangold then threw to Darrin Matlick at first base to nail the batter and Matlick rifled the ball back to Mangold to tag the runner from first who was on his way to third.

Lee Holloway, who was relieved in the sixth by Jon Houser, was tagged with the loss on the mound.

The win improved Simpson Auto's record to 13-6. Simpson's was eliminated from the playoff picture on Saturday when they lost to Ellerslie.

The boat launch area of Broadford Park will be closed from Friday evening, August 12, to Saturday afternoon.

"We ask all motorists to avoid the race route from 9 to 10:30 a.m., if at all possible," Railey said, noting also that no vehicles will be allowed to enter or leave Broadford Park between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. Persons who plan to leave the park during that hour are asked to park outside the gates of the park and walk in and out.

"Everyone living along the route is encouraged to come out and cheer the racers on," Railey said. "This is a tough course and encouragement from spectators always helps."

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Ms. Railey noted that the organizers are still needing volunteers to help on race day, particularly to stand by at intersections. Persons interested in assisting should contact Ms. Railey at 387-4095.

A full day of activities is also planned to coincide with the triathlon, including a demonstration by the Aerobic Diehards at noon, a free outdoor aerobic workout at 1 p.m., hot air balloon rides, sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association, plus various food and beverage booths. There will also be live coverage by WXIE Radio, Oakland.

The race is expected to be completed by 11:30 and an awards ceremony will follow at 12:30 p.m. Trophies will be presented to the top five overall male and female winners, plus the top three finishers in nine different age groups.

LOCAL PARTICIPANTS

SPONSORS

The "Best of the West" Triathlon is being sponsored by Lohr Distributors and Coors Light, Central Coca-Cola Bottling Company, and the Greater Oakland Business Association. Also contributing in various ways are: Beachy Lumber Company, Heck's, Marvin's, Bausch & Lomb, Book Mark'et, Browning's Foodland, IGA Market, Farmers' Market, Shaffer Ford, Helbig Jewelers, WXIE. The Republi can Newspaper, Southern Office Supply, Signs by Domenick, Blair Glass, T-Shirt Shack, Rudy's, Value Guide, Sandy's, Davidson Army-Navy, Brenda's Body Shop, Fox's Pizza Den, Will O' the Wisp, Northcrafts and Pinacle Bike and Ski Shop.

It was announced just yesterday that another major financial contributor to the Triathlon will be Yellow Pages, of the C&P Telephone Company.

OAKLAND ALL-STARS PLACE SECOND — A team of nine- and ten-year-old all-stars representing the Oakland Little League recently captured second place among 10 teams in the 11th Annual Junior Little League All-Star Tournament at Lonaconing. The Oaklanders were edged in the championship game, 13-6, by the Frostburg all-stars. Pictured left to right, kneeling, are Joey DiSimone, Mike Shreve, Steve Dawson, Chad Tasker, Jimmy Burns, Joel Uphold, and Ritchie Orr. Standing, same order, are Coach Rick DiSimone, Matt Glotfelty, David Stephens, Josh Woods, Jason Sweitzer, Kris Upole, Coach Charlie Upole, Jamie Tasker, and Jamie Bernard. Not present for the photo was Matthew Zimmerman.

The board noted that sodium hydroxide has been added to the Deep Creek Lake sewer system in three locations. The chemical is used to prevent the production of hydrogen sulfide gas, which has been causing odor and deterioration.

The commission discussed an additional problem with the Trout Run Treatment Facility. The company that was contracted to supply an ultraviolet disinfectant unit is going out of business, and will not be able to supply the unit. Beitzel noted that the project will be delayed if a replacement cannot be found.

The board approved the extension of sewer service in the Broadford area to include a 40-acre subdivision next to the Broad Ford Elementary School.

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THESE SCENES? — If you do, you may want to enter The Republican Newspaper's photo identification contest, which is being held in conjunction with the Garrett County Fair. These are photos taken at a variety of locations around the county by our photographer, Craig Phillips. All one has to do to enter the contest is identify as many of the 20 photos as possible and submit his list to The Republican at P.O. Box 326, Oakland, MD 21550. Participants may get a closer look at the photos next week at The Republican's booth at the fair, where a larger display will be on hand. Entries may also be dropped off at our booth. The winner of the contest will receive a $100 U.S. savings bond and the runner-up will receive a $50 bond. In the event of a tie, a drawing will be held to determine the winner. The deadline for entering the contest is August 19 and winners will be announced in The Republican August 25.

Tips For Parents And Students

Childhood allergies: A guide for parents and teachers

Do you notice that your child or student seems to suffer from a "permanent" cold? Do your child's eyes and throat tend to become irritated? Does he or she experience fits of sneezing? Does the "cold" last for months? It may not be a cold at all.

There is a good chance that your child is one of 20 million plus child allergy sufferers in the United States. Allergies account for 130 million lost school days every year for children aged six to 15 years.

"Unfortunately, some children with allergies aren't diagnosed correctly. Some are thought of as having low resistance and a tendency to get sick, when in fact they probably have an allergy," says Judith Acciani, R.N., Director of the Nasalcrom® and Opticrom® Allergy Information Center and Hotline.

The symptoms of a cold and an allergy are easy to confuse, but the following tips should help you to identify from which your child suffers:

- Colds are often accompanied by a fever, whereas allergies sufferers are seldom feverish;
- Allergies tend to cause itching in the eyes and nose, while colds seldom do;
- Throat and eye irritation, especially in the absence of fever or discharge, is more a symptom of an allergy than a cold;
- Cold sufferers tend to have congested noses, whereas allergy sufferers are most often blocked up in the winter and runny in the summer;
- Nasal discharge from a cold is usually thick, cloudy or yellowish, whereas nasal discharge due to an allergy is usually thin, clear and watery;
- Sporadic sneezing is usually attributed to a cold, whereas allergies usually trigger constant and consistent bouts of sneezing;
- A cold usually lasts only a week or two, but an allergy may be persistent and recurrent.

Some tips to remember

Children with allergies need to feel that they can contribute and make the most of themselves, just like every other child. Attitude is a large part of treating an allergic child.

Parents, doctors, teachers, administrators and children must communicate and work together to ensure that a child can function as safely and comfortably in the school as at home.

Once you've identified that your child may suffer from allergies, the next step is treatment. Some over-the-counter drugs may cause drowsiness, nervousness, irritability, and rebound congestion and/or eye redness.

It is important that the child see a doctor or allergy specialist who can properly diagnose the allergy and prescribe the appropriate medications.

Cromolyn sodium products (Nasalcrom®, Opticrom®), for instance, are non-sedating and site-specific with almost none of the traditional side effects associated with allergy treatments.

There are some things that you can do to make a child's life easier, even after proper diagnosis and treatment.

In the home

Here are some tips for the home.

To lessen exposure to dust:

- Use only synthetic pillows in your child's room;
- Use cotton or synthetic blankets instead of wool.

To lessen pet dander:

- Keep the bedroom door closed to stop pets and dust from entering.

To lessen exposure to pollen:

- Keep windows closed to prevent pollen from entering the house;
- In the summer, use a frequently-cleaned air-conditioner.

To lessen exposure to mold and dust:

- Avoid house plants and dried or silk flowers;
- Dry clothes immediately after washing, and vent the dryer to the outside.

In the classroom

If you have an allergy sufferer in the classroom, prevention is the key. Here are some things you can do:

- Try to keep an allergy sufferer's classroom free of pets—if possible have children visit them in other classrooms;
- Keep windows shut to prevent pollen from entering and getting stirred up;
- Try to avoid keeping plants or flowers in the room, as they tend to accumulate dust and mold;
- If you see dust, ask a custodian to clean the room, but check to make sure that the cleaning fluid won't aggravate the allergy;
- Don't clap erasers in the classroom or outside near open windows; keep chalk tray free of eraser dust.

Early diagnosis of learning disabilities can help to prevent behavioral problems

Mike is eight years old and so far the most significant thing he has learned in school is how to fail. He has trouble reading, seldom finishes a project, and has difficulty concentrating. When his teachers speak in class he doesn't listen.

Months pass, and his parents recognize he isn't learning properly. Each day the boy's self-image sinks a bit lower. Eight years later, Mike is six feet tall and still barely can read.

Two facts have changed, however. Mike now has a probation officer assigned to him by juvenile court and attends a continuation high school on an irregular basis.

The above scenario is every parent's nightmare and, yet, according to author and educator Lawrence J. Greene, there is help for kids like Mike if they can be diagnosed and brought into treatment early enough.

His book, Learning Disabilities and Your Child: A Survival Handbook (Fawcett Columbine) is illustrated throughout with actual case histories of kids who had difficulty in school and were treated successfully.

Additionally, the book explains every issue related to learning disorders, such as IQ, hyperactivity, low self-esteem, autism, sensory impairment, perceptual dysfunction and genetic influence.

"Parents are amazed that some of the warning signals for learning problems often seem like normal behavior for a child," Greene explains. "Inattentiveness, restlessness, inability to follow directions and messy handwriting are all indicators of a possible problem," he says.

Greene also stresses the importance of parents taking a role in their child's education and says that they must be willing to commit time, energy and, in some instances, money to help solve a child's learning problem.

In 1970, Greene founded the Developmental Learning Center, now located in Saratoga, Calif., and recently opened a new center in Morgan Hill where children who suffer from disorders such as dyslexia, or letter reversal, and aphasia, a communication disorder, can go for help.

A visitor to one of these centers can find students on a trampoline spelling their names backward, sitting at desks reading with the help of a machine that lets them see one word at a time, practicing writing on a chalkboard or trying verbally to guide their teacher through a maze.

Although these exercises seem unrelated to learning problems, Greene says the emphasis on following directions helps him reach his goal—teaching the children to correct, or at least to compensate for, their learning problems.

A diagnostic evaluation and parent conference is Greene's first step in the remediation process. Once the source of the learning problem is identified, next comes developing a learning-assistance strategy that fits the child's specific needs.

"Sometimes treatment can be very straightforward," he says. "A student may be doing poorly in school because he or she can't read efficiently or can't concentrate.

"What makes us unique, I think, is that we concentrate on concentrating, on training children to process information more efficiently.

"I train the kids," he adds, "in much the same way an athlete is trained—breaking down a complex skill into component parts and practicing those parts, then reintegrating them.

"Kids who don't function well in school are demoralized," Greene says. "The majority need additional help." He points out that learning problems often result in repeated failure and frustration that affect not only the child but his or her entire family.

Poor self-esteem, manipulative behavior and defense mechanisms are but a few of the self-defeating behaviors that parents of a learning disabled child must learn to handle.

"For most couples, producing a child is relatively easy," he says. "Helping that child become happy, self-accepting and self-confident can be far more difficult. The process demands love, dedication and a lot of skillful parenting.

"Parents' participation is the primary factor which can ensure that a child becomes a kid who loves school, and not one who hates it."

LEARNING AND TEACHING MATHEMATICS WITH COMPUTERS

The National Council of Teachers of Mathematics advocates the use of the computer in mathematics at all grade levels. A valuable tool, the computer can enhance mathematics learning, teaching and evaluation. However, according to the Council, changes are needed in math curricula, instructional methods, access to computer hardware and software, and teacher education.

- The content of school mathematics courses must be modified to reflect the changes brought about by computer technology. Instructional materials that capitalize on the power of the computer must continue to be developed for students at all levels.
- Teachers should use computers as instructional aids to assist students with concepts, ideas, skills and problem solving.
- Every classroom in which mathematics is taught should be equipped with computer equipment. Computer laboratories should be available to all students on a regular basis, and school systems must budget for computer hardware and courseware for use in classrooms and computer labs at all grade levels.
- All preservice and in-service math teachers should be educated on the use of computers in the teaching of mathematics. Ongoing in-service programs must be readily available to help teachers take full advantage of the unique power of the computer as a tool for teaching and learning mathematics.

Heading back to school for a new year of academic challenges

For the new school year, evaluate your child's special needs, abilities

The days preceding the start of a new school year are always filled with the proper mixture of excitement, fear and anticipation. How many of us can vividly remember these feelings? And, how many of us — long out of school — still experience feelings of anticipation when September rolls around?

School days are such an integral part of our lives, that the feelings which carried us through those days have a tendency to linger for many years.

Generation after generation, the excitement experienced at the anticipation of intellectual as well as social enlightenment never changes.

Love of learning is in many ways an intangible concept. Hard to define, and even harder to instill, we constantly seek ways to impart it to our children.

Many educators believe that there are some very definite steps that one can take to help children respond to new thoughts and ideas.

Early childhood education plays a big part in how receptive to school your child will be. However, parental influence, what the child perceives his or her parents as feeling about the learning process, and the child's actual schooling experience, are the major factors in determining how and if children will develop a love of learning.

Some children start school before they are either emotionally or intellectually ready. These children, who can be intellectually very bright, might have a difficult time relating to adults or other children. Also, a child might become bored with certain tasks and have difficulty keeping his or her attention focused in a specific direction.

The reasons for having your child wait to start school are varied; however, it is important for parents to know that they have options when the time comes for them to decide.

A child that does not seem ready for school, in the long run, will fare better in the educational system if allowed to pursue and develop essential social, verbal and quantitative skills needed for the remainder of his or her schooling.

Most importantly, don't let your expectations of what you think your child should be doing as opposed to what he or she is capable of doing cloud your vision. Education should enable children to become the best they can possibly be... in their own individual way.

The education process: Learning by doing

LEARNING BY DOING, SHARING AND PARTICIPATING are key aspects of the education process. Sometimes, teachers lead the ways; sometimes, the voyage of discovery is a lonely one; sometimes, children together make giant leaps. Always, it is a challenge; always, success is sweet; always, everyone benefits.

Hints for coping with the senior year crazies: The college application process

By SUSAN D. VAN RAALTE

Applying to college can be as painful as paying for it. The pressure is on from the moment a college bound senior starts school in the fall, and it mounts until he or she receives notification of acceptance or rejection in the spring.

During this eight-month period, even the most supportive of families can show signs of stress. Parents typically fear that their children won't: 1) take the application process seriously; 2) write an application good enough for admission; or 3) let their parents know what they are doing or thinking.

At the same time, their children live in dread that: 1) they won't get in anywhere; 2) everyone — family, friends, teachers — will perceive them as failures; and 3) their parents won't understand their problems or be able to help them if they do.

Intense anxieties such as these can easily lead to screaming matches, slammed doors and battered feelings. Frequently the issues underlying family fights are not at all related to the alleged bone of contention.

For example, when a mother cautiously asks, "How are things?" and her high school senior responds with, "All your ever do is nag, nag, nag," the anger probably has less to do with nagging than with fears of separation and inadequacy.

"When parents can see through to the core issues and gain some perspective on them," explains psychiatrist Carole Schaffer, "they are better able to respond in an appropriate and healing way."

Here are some suggestions to commonly faced problems between parents and seniors:

• Closing the credibility gap — Students frequently tune out their parents at application time because they fear their parent's advice will be out-of-date, unrealistic or simply incorrect.

One mother recounts how her daughter rejected her advice by exclaiming: "What do you know about college? You went to an all-girls school. No one goes to an all-girls school anymore!"

Parents can turn this situation around by making an effort to understand the admissions process and by recognizing that things probably are very different from when they applied for college.

• Setting up ground rules — Parents can often help diffuse tensions by reaching mutual agreement on specific rules. For example, parents and seniors might agree to meet with each other on a weekly basis to discuss what progress has been made and what remains to be done on a set of applications.

A mutual arrangement of this type can go a long way towards alleviating the problems arising from "crazed" parents who feel the need to impulsively pump their children for information and seniors who clam up or withdraw in response.

• Seeking help from an objective third party — When parents run into problems they can't solve by themselves, they need to know where help is available and that it's "okay" to use it.

In some cases, parents may not have the expertise or knowledge to advise their child.

In other cases, parents may be willing and able to help but, because the emotional environment at home has disintegrated beyond repair, the child may reject any solutions parents offer.

In all instances, parents should know that there are resources available. In the school, parents can turn to guidance counselors and teachers. Outside of school, there are writing specialists who can help students with their applications, as well as counselors who can give personalized advice on college selection and admission procedures.

For their children's sake, it's important that parents put the application process into perspective.

School fun for everyone: Preschoolers and mom, too!

Summer's over, and it's time for the kids to go back to school. But not all kids. While their older brothers and sisters pack their book bags and lunch sacks, preschoolers usually get to stay home with mom.

Why not turn those hours alone with your little one into a learning experience? It can be accomplished through play, not tiresome drills.

Here are some tips from International Games, manufacturer of the preschool Games for Growing collection, that will turn play time into productive learning time.

• Play games that focus on the building blocks for education: Numbers, letters, colors and shapes.

• Choose games that allow children to develop their reasoning power, rather than those that require only passive participation.

• Share scorekeeping tasks. This gives children practice with arithmetic and writing.

• Take turns dealing, or allow the winner to deal. This encourages sharing responsibility.

Education: Continuing process of learning, coping and growing

It's no surprise to anyone that children, teenagers and young adults react in diverse ways to like situations. However, for most, even just the phrase, "back to school," still carries with it a common composite of emotional tension: A churning blend of excitement yet apprehension; a curious mixture of both longing and dread for the routine that, initially, they know will be new and different.

We have all experienced this feeling. That changes have, and always will, occur over the blur of summer is a matter of course, but what kinds of changes will they be? Will certain friends from the previous year still be friends this year? Will clothing favorites still be in style? Will new class material be fully understood?

Students, young and old, whether overtly or subconsciously, all encounter these same questions every year. It's all part of education, all a part of the process of learning and of growth.

Change is unsettling, even if the change is one that is looked forward to. But, for some new or returning students, especially those in the earlier years of education, these yet-to-be-experienced changes can be more than simply unsettling — they can be downright frightening — the "unknowns" of the coming school year seeming to loom as large as a phantom in front of them.

Fear is a natural reaction to the unknown, but knowing more about the nature of an unknown, or, more simply, getting used to facing the unknown, can do wonders for young students' desires for interaction with the world.

Who hasn't seen the child who, timid and frightened of a diving board or a bicycle at first, can hardly be pulled away once they've gotten the hang of it?

Parents, more than anyone, can help tremendously in preparing their children for these inevitable periods of anxiety.

Helping them now will go a long way toward helping them face new challenges throughout their entire lives.

To begin with, if a child can be assured that his or her feeling of anxiety is nothing to be ashamed of, that it is, in fact, something that is understandable and natural, then the young student might come to be more at ease.

This is not to say that children should be pampered or coddled because they feel anxious about going to school; this will only prolong their dependence upon someone else to reassure them that everything will be "all right."

But if they are treated with firm compassion, as individuals who are capable of standing on their own, but who are nonetheless just as prone as anyone else to the uneasiness associated with venturing into new experiences, then they'll be better able to gain a more confident perspective of themselves.

What it all comes down to is helping young people to get to know themselves, to get to know their fears and their strengths in relation to their potential behavior, in both good and bad ways, confident and unconfident ways.

Going "back to school" will always evoke a slight chill in returning students but, with a little assurance and direction, the "unknown" might become a space to be creatively filled, instead of a threatening shadow.

Energized with confidence, a new experience will provide an opportunity to charge ahead into life, instead of shrinking away from it.

Test your nursery rhyme I.Q.

Everyone grows up learning nursery rhymes, but how well do people really remember them? Checkerboard Press, publisher of The Real Mother Goose, put together 10 tricky questions to see how well you remember your rhymes.

Try answering the questions below to measure your Nursery Rhyme I.Q. Then see how you fare against the children in your life. (The answers are at the bottom.)

Scoring is as follows: A perfect 10 earns you the title of King or Queen of Rhymes. 7 to 9 you're fine with a rhyme; 4 to 6 you better start reading nursery rhymes again; and 3 or less qualifies you as a Humpty Dumpty.

1. What did Little Bo-Peep's sheep bring behind them when they came home?
2. What would Mother Goose ride through the air when she wanted to wander?
3. What did the baker mark on the cake in "Pat-A-Cake?"
4. What color were the bells in the rhyme "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary?"
5. What did Georgy Porgy do that made the girls cry?
6. What did Little Tom Tucker sing for?
7. What was the name of the boy who went to bed with his breeches on in the rhyme "Diddle Diddle Dumpling?"
8. What did the Old Woman have so many of?
9. Where did Peter, Peter keep his wife?
10. What did Little Jack Horner say when he pulled the plum out of the Christmas pie?

ANSWERS

1. Their tails wagging.
2. A fine pantcr.
3. A "T" (for Tommy)
4. Silver.
5. Kissed them.
6. His supper.
7. John.
8. Children.
9. In a pumpkin shell.
10. "What a good boy am I."

Juvenile periodontal disease: A threat to children's teeth

An estimated 10 percent of American children may be suffering from a dental disease more commonly associated with adults.

Known to dentists as juvenile periodontitis, this particularly virulent form of gum disease can lead to tooth loss in otherwise healthy teenagers.

The disease is often characterized by a lack of symptoms. The tissues around the diseased teeth may have normal texture and color.

Then, unexpectedly, the disease is discovered during a routine dental examination, when x-rays show a loss of bone support surrounding the teeth.

Advance preparation can help ease back-to-school adjustments

Even if the annual upheaval of returning to the classroom is far removed from current involvements, many adults find that memories of that momentous rite of autumn are evoked by the cool breezes and falling leaves of late August and early September.

Whether it is the back-to-school experience of grade school, high school or college which remains most vivid, most of us find that the mingled feelings of excitement and apprehension surrounding this event are still easily recalled.

Drawing on these memories may help parents to prepare youngsters for the start of the school year. Making an effort to plan ahead with your child can help smooth the transition from the carefree days of summer to the more disciplined, regimented scheduling of fall.

Asking what things he or she looks forward to the most and dreads the most is a good way to initiate a discussion which may help to identify areas of particular

Young children are likely to be confused by schedules and people to whom they are not accustomed, while their older siblings may feel insecure socially or fear that they will not be able to meet your expectations for their academic performance.

Careful explanations about what will happen when, and the encouragement to do the best possible work—accompanied by the reassurance that grades do not determine a person's value—can help diffuse issues of concern.

Reminding children that soon they will be reunited with friends not seen during the summer months also may alleviate the sadness that can accompany the realization that relaxed vacation days are about to come to an end.

And, participating in the selection of that all-important first-day-of-school outfit—several days in advance of the big event—is a valuable opportunity which allows a child to feel the satisfaction of exerting some constructively-channeled control over his or her circumstances.

If brown bag lunches are your child's preference, perhaps you could plan the first week's menu together.

Looking forward to enjoying favorite sandwiches, and maybe even some cookies that he or she has helped you bake, also may help reduce the anxiety of a youngster who feels insecure about conquering the lunchroom in a new school. And packing it all into a brand-new lunchbox will make for an extra-special first day lunch.

Whether returning to the classroom means elementary or graduate school, it is by planning ahead that the adjustments to a new academic year are made most easily.

By feeling well prepared, it is likely that back-to-schoolers of all ages will be ready to face the challenges of the months to come with both enthusiasm and confidence.

BACK TO SCHOOL TIPS FOR PARENTS: LET YOUR CHILD'S FEET GROW!

Foot growth takes place entirely between infancy and adolescence. What can parents do to ensure this healthy growth period? According to podiatrist, Dr. Marc A. Brenner, "A yearly checkup at the podiatrist is as important as a yearly checkup at the dentist."

Here are some tips he recommends for parents to ensure that their child's feet are well cared for during their most important developmental years:

- Children should spend time out of their shoes and let their feet take their natural shape. Young girls will especially enjoy Isotoner Stretch Footwear — which shapes to their feet and fits perfectly — and will stretch as her foot grows.
- Proper foot hygiene is important for all children and should include: Washing feet and drying them thoroughly after bathing, using a foot powder, cutting toe nails straight across, and changing socks daily.
- After-school activities such as gymnastics and dance can wear feet out if not protected properly.

Conquering lunch box trade-off: Tips on preparing nutritional meals kids will eat

TREAT YOUR CHILD to enjoyable and nutritional lunch suggestions from Mott's.

You can get your child to take a lunch box to school, but can you make sure your youngster eats what's inside?

Your concept of a healthful lunch may appeal to an adult, but it may not be appetizing to your youngster. The celery and carrot sticks you faithfully pack probably go uneaten.

Here are some tips from the nutritional staff at Mott's for healthy, well-balanced lunches that your child will eat instead of trading or, worse, throwing away.

• Experiment with sandwich stuffings. Try variations on the theme: Peanut butter with banana (always remember to slice lengthwise for a more secure sandwich), or team it with raisins, dates, even shredded coconut. How about sliced cheese and tomato drizzled with Italian dressing, or cream cheese with raisins and chopped nuts?

• Add variety with different breads. If you rotate among four or five fillings of the usual kid pleasers such as peanut butter or tuna fish, add variety by using a different bread for each day of the week. Some possibilities: Wheat, honey bran, rye, pumpernickel, raisin bread, or a bagel, pita, English muffin or onion roll.

• Make dessert healthy. Pack a dessert that's naturally sweet and nutritious — one your kids will love and you'll feel good about serving. Instead of cakes or candy, try one of the single serve Fruit Paks. Mott's has just introduced four new chunky applesauces, each with real pieces of fruit. Flavors include apple strawberry, apple cherry, apple peach and apple pineapple.

• Hide the veggies. Add finely chopped celery, carrots, or green pepper to tuna or chicken salad, and your youngster will eat veggies the painless way.

• In cold weather, pack a hot lunch. A wide mouth thermos filled with vegetable soup, chili, stew or spaghetti is warmly welcomed during winter months. But for a really fun surprise, put boiling water in a thermos and drop in an all-beef hot dog with some sauerkraut. The hot dog and sauerkraut will cook during the morning while the water cools, so your child won't get burnt at lunchtime. Don't forget the hot dog roll and small packs of mustard or ketchup.

• Vary the beverage. Low fat milk is important but, for variety, once a week substitute other drinks such as low fat hot cocoa or apple juice. The single serve juice packs are especially convenient.

• Brighten the day. Add a big, bright napkin or wildly colored plastic utensils for a touch of cheer.

• Include food to share with friends. On special days, give your child a chance to share with friends. Add an extra Mott's Fruit Pak, a bag of homemade popcorn or several cheese minis for your munchkin to hand around.

• Pack some extra love. Your child will look forward to lunchtime if there's a special, loving touch from you. Include a note of encouragement about a quiz, or other small, non-food treats such as stickers, baseball cards, a favorite comic strip cut from the morning paper, an old family photo with a silly message scribbled on the back — anything that conjures up good feelings and brightens your child's afternoon.

Experiment with some of these lunch box suggestions. You'll find that you can prepare a healthy and nutritionally balanced lunch that your youngster looks forward to eating — and one that keeps him or her in high energy gear for the rest of the day.

"Smart snacking" is the key to good oral health

As long as confectioners produce it and youngsters crave it, sugar-laden candy will find its way into the mouths of children.

"We know it isn't reasonable to suggest that kids should stop eating sugary sweets, which help feed the mechanism that produces tooth decay," said Chris Mangos, D.D.S., a consumer advisor for the American Dental Association.

As alternatives to sugary sweets, Dr. Mangos added, the ADA suggests such foods as sugarless candies, nuts, cheeses, potato chips, popcorn.

Children can have vision problems

You may think that a child's vision problem would be easy to detect. But it's not. Children who see the world in a blur can seem perfectly normal.

But when these children start school, they may not seem so normal anymore. Instead, they can seem difficult because they are having trouble learning to read and write.

So how does a parent determine that a child may have a vision problem when the child may not even realize it?

One of the best ways is by having your doctor of optometry examine your child's eyes at the beginning of each school year. By reviewing your child's health and vision history, conducting a battery of vision tests and examining the health of your child's eyes, the optometrist can determine whether or not your child has a vision problem.

For Ten Years, Frank Smoot Has Been "Drawing" Attention At 4-H Camp

by Tim Kepple

Every year many children and young adults travel to Bittinger in the summer to attend Camp Algawa, or 4-H camp as it is known to the participants. The ages of the campers range from eight years old to adults unwilling to admit their age. But no camper can remember camp without remembering how Frank Smoot amazed young and old alike with his artistic ability and storytelling prowess.

Introduced to 4-H "many years ago" by Don Sealing, Mr. Smoot, as he is known to campers, has been coming to 4-H camp since 1978.

"Although I'm 82 years old, when I am invited to come to Garrett County, it makes me feel about 60 to be with all the young people." Smoot said.

A resident of Pikesville, he is renowned all over the eastern coast for his drawings. A commercial artist for over fifty years, he has been drawing since the age of six. "When I was six they weren't too recognizable, but I was trying," he said. His persistence paid off, as he is in the National Wildlife Hall of Fame and has received over 30 plaques and trophies for his work. Although he can draw nearly anything a young mind can imagine, he specializes in wildlife pictures.

Wildlife has always been part of Frank Smoot's life. Although he labels his favorite animals as cougars, quail, and rainbow trout and is "crazy about snakes," his love for all animals comes out in his stories stressing the values of conservation and morality towards nature.

Smoot says, "A storyteller is listened to with more respect than families, parents, or teachers. When you reach eight to 12-year-old children they will retain much of this." He does not limit his talks of conservation to children, however. He has lectured all over the eastern United States, and has taught conservation to youth and adults alike in seven states.

His drawings of wildlife are also directed towards conservation, to show what nature has to offer and what would be lost without conservation. "If wildlife can survive, people can survive. If wildlife goes, people will too," he said.

Smoot has taught over 7,000 students about conservation of resources. He is the last living member of the founding group of the Brotherhood of the Jungle Cock, an organization established to teach young people conservation, fly tying, fly casting, fly fishing, sportsmanship, and "all those things we wanted to pass on to the next generation."

Looking at all his accomplishments in the areas of conservation and hunter safety, it comes as no surprise that he is in the Hunter Safety Hall of Fame.

His stories tend to have a definite Indian style to them, such as a his story "The White Wolf." This is a story about an Indian brave cursed with immortality in a wolf's body as a result of cannibalism.

Although at times he has claimed that his stories are inspired by the fact that he is an Indian (he isn't) and has claimed to have been scalped by a warring Indian tribe (he wasn't), he revealed in an interview with Jill Presley, a camper from Allegany County, that his real inspiration for the stories comes from 60 years of reading and talking to Indians and old people who lived in the West.

At one time, Smoot traveled extensively, but he told Garrett camper Monica Miller that his travels are almost at an end as his years are beginning to catch up with him. "That's the only thing I mind about getting old — having to give up campfires," Smoot said. Nevertheless, in 1988 alone he has been to two campfires in Michigan, one in Maine, two in Maryland, one in Ohio, and one in Pennsylvania. Although he may give up other camps, one of Smoot's statements seems to show him favoring 4-H camp a bit more than others. "The ladies of Garrett and Allegany counties are the prettiest I have seen in all my travels," he said.

Whenever you see Smoot at camp, he is always holding a sketch pad and pencil, ready to make a sketch of a camper's favorite animal. He has drawn over 2,000 sketches since the beginning of 1988. Smoot feels his age is becoming detrimental to his drawing ability. "It's a terrible thing to be able to draw all your life and then discover that your hand is getting shakey and you can't draw too well, but I guess it's better than not being able to draw at all." No camper has complained yet.

All attendees of Camp Algawa would probably agree that camp would not be the same without Frank Smoot's realistic drawings and hair-raising tales. Hopefully, he can be "drawn" into attending camp for many years to come.

Garrett County Students Among FSU Graduates

A number of Garrett County residents were among the nearly 400 Frostburg State University students who were awarded degrees during the recent spring 1988 commencement exercises.

They include: Dawn M. Humberson, Friendsville; Steven M. Teets, McHenry; Tracy D. Imhoff, Cheryl E. Ison, and Tammy L. Skiles, Mtn. Lake Park; Melody Flinn, Ruth Friend, Leigh A. Refosco, Toni L. Repetsky, Dora J. Shahan, Robert W. Shahan Jr., and Russell A. Sprangel, Oakland; and Luther D. Lohr Jr. and Jeffrey S. Spiker, Swanton.

DHR Career Day Slated At FSU

The Department of Human Resources will be holding a Job-Career Day for employees on September 15 at Frostburg State University from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

The event will be known as the "Employee Growth Festival." Information will be provided concerning opportunities in the areas of education, personal growth and upward mobility as a DHR employee. Representatives from area colleges, as well as DHR personnel, will be present to answer questions and provide information on their programs.

"It is the policy of Garrett Community College not to discriminate on the basis of sex, race, color, religious belief, national origin, or handicap in its employment, admissions and student related policies and procedures as required by Title VI and Title VII of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, as amended; Executive Order 11246, as amended; and other regulated Acts of Congress and Federal Regulations. Inquiries regarding compliance with these laws may be directed to: The Office of Affirmative Action, Garrett Community College, McHenry, Maryland 21541, or to the Director of the Office for Civil Rights, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D.C."

CLASSES BEGIN SEPTEMBER 12

4-H Camp Algawa Combines Two Counties; Attracts 125 Campers

For the first time in 18 years, Allegany county and Garrett county campers teamed up at Camp Algawa June 26 through July 1 at the Western Maryland 4-H Center in Bittinger, with 125 campers attending. According to Garrett County Extension Agent Alice Hevner, the successful collaboration will be repeated next year, hopefully with the same excellent results.

Throughout the camp week, two nations, Iroquois and Algonquin, went head to head in competition for the golden feather. Each nation was divided into four smaller tribes.

The Algonquin nation, led by Michele Adams of Allegany, won the Golden feather this year, while the Seneca tribe of the Iroquois Nation, led by Robert Fousek (Garrett) with assistants Monica Miller and Jenny Weller (both from Garrett), won the Golden Feather in the tribal competition. Coming in second place and winning the silver feather was Nate Emory (Garrett) leading the Iroquois nation. Tribes under the Algonquin Nation were: Kickapoo, led by Julie Presley (Allegany), assisted by Janet Neely (Allegany) and J.J. Devine (Garrett); Powhatan, led by Jennifer Willison (Allegany), assisted by Tabatha Hare (Allegany) and Napoleon Swyter (Garrett); Mohawk, led by Joy McCain (Garrett), assisted by Sam White (Allegany) and Ingrid Carlson (Garrett); Delaware, led by Ruth Evans (Garrett), assisted by Topper Wallace (Allegany) and Jessica Teets (Garrett).

Other tribes under the Iroquois Nation were: Ojibway, led by Becky Robinette (Allegany), assisted by Jonathan Leith (Allegany) and Randy Davidson (Garrett); Cayuga, led by Amy Zimmerman (Garrett), assisted by Lisa Presley (Allegany) and Chris Herbert (Garrett); Cherokee, led by Erin Mueller (Allegany), assisted by Timmy Wallace (Allegany) and Kelly Friend (Garrett).

Each year, campers who show exceptional enthusiasm and caring for other campers are awarded either an Honor Camper award or a Camper Award: Spirit, Head, Heart, Hands, and Health. The winners of the Honor Camper awards for 1988 were: Robbie Wallace (Allegany), Damon Garner (Garrett), Magan Dabney (Garrett), Jason Kiddy (Allegany), Kara Freyman (Garrett), Ingrid Carlson (Garrett), John Hardesty (Garrett), Travis Cessna (Allegany), Jennifer Reeves (Garrett), and Jesse Seihler (Allegany).

Winners of the Camper Awards were: Michele Adams (Allegany), Spirit; Erin Mueller (Allegany), Head; Joy McCain (Garrett), Heart; Becky Robinette (Allegany), Hands; and Nate Emory (Garrett), Health.

The responsibilities of camp director for this year were split between Alice Hevner, Garrett County Extension agent; and Sharon Diehl, Allegany County Extension agent. Throughout the week, numerous other adults and young adults helped instruct classes and watch cabins at night. These included: Ted Sprangel (Garrett County Extension agent), Mary Kahl, Mary Susan Morris, Lenny Martin, Amy Erdner, Rebecca McClive, Chip Hare, Jason Leith, Joe Bray, Tim Kepple, Jon Garner II, Brett Garner, Joyce Brinsfield, Laura Kahl, Nicole Gray, Darlene Murphey, Sharon Wright, Linda Freyman, Don Sealing, Criss Kepple, Holly Forbeck, Dwight Emory, Frank Smoot, Carol Newman, Rodney Pike, and Ellisa Schofield.

Cynthia Geroski–Miller United With Mark Sunstrom July 9

Cynthia L. Geroski-Miller and Mark Vincent Sundstrom were united in marriage during a July 9 ceremony at Chapel Hill United Methodist Church, Buckhannon, W.Va., with the Rev. Stephen Engle officiating.

The bride is the daughter of John H. and Betty F. Geroski, Oakland. The groom is the son of Vincent C. and JoAnn Sundstrom, Oak Hill, W.Va.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a Jessica McClintock lace bridal gown featuring a high neckline, yoke applique, long sleeves of lace, and a full skirt with a three-tier back, train, bow, and a ruffle hem. The headpiece, made by the bride, featured sprays of beads and sequined flowers.

Sharon Porter served as her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Harriett Cannon, sister of the bride; and Susan Warner and Ruth Oliverio, friends of the bride. The bride's niece, Stacy Geroski, was the flower girl.

The best man was Vincent Sundstrom, the groom's father. Groomsmen were Phillip Sundstrom, brother of the groom; and Jesse Bane and James Harvey, friends of the groom. Mark Cannon, the bride's nephew, was the ring bearer.

Leisa McDaniels and Shelly Dunmire, friends of the bride, were the soloists.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the BiCenntenial Motel, Buckhannon.

Following a honeymoon to Jekyl Island, Georgia, the couple took up residence near Weston, W.Va.

Mine Rescue, First Aid Contests Slated At WVU Evansdale Campus

Morgantown, W.Va. — The West Virginia University Evansdale Campus will again be the site for "Safety Day" mine rescue and first aid contests. The 38th annual events, to be held Thursday, August 11, and Friday, August 12, are cosponsored by the Central West Virginia College of Mineral and Energy Resources.

The events allow competing teams/individuals to test their abilities in three safety areas including mine rescue, first aid and apparatus bench.

On Thursday, August 11, 17 teams will compete in a mine rescue contest on the soccer fields adjacent to the WVU Shell Building. Mock mines will be set up, and teams from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio will encounter "problems" such as fire, water, obstructions and injured miners. The mine rescue teams will be working under time constraints and established procedural rules.

A first aid contest will be held in the Shell Building on Friday morning, August 12. Four first aid teams will assist "victims" with multiple injuries, encountering situations where treatment of broken bones, electrical and chemical burns and/or unconiousness must be performed in a limited time. The teams will be evaluated on patient survey evaluation, performance and skill level.

Eleven individuals representing their respective companies will compete on Friday afternoon in the bench contest. Bench participants will be judged on their ability to detect and correct, within a given time limit, any visual and mechanical malfunctions in self-contained breathing apparatus utilized by fellow mine rescue team members.

All contests are open to the public. Contest officials, volunteers from institutions including the Mine Safety and Health Administration — District 3 (MSHA), the West Virginia Department of Energy — Division of Mines and Minerals, WVU, and the CWVCMI will be available to answer spectator questions. For further information, contact Pat Brady, MSHA, Mountaineer Mall, (304) 291-4277 or Bill Moser, WVU Mining Extension Service, (304) 293-4211.

Among the teams participating in mine rescue and first aid events is Island Creek Coal Co., Potomac Division, Mt. Storm, W.Va.

"CATOCTIN" TO PLAY AT FAIR — "Catoctin," an innovative, new country-top 40 variety band, will perform at the Garrett County Fair Wednesday, August 10, at 7 and 9 p.m. Catoctin is rapidly growing in popularity throughout sections of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Formerly known as The Catoctin Mountain Boys, the group changed its name at the beginning of the year to change the band's image. The band was formed eight years ago and still has its original members. With their unique style and eight years of professional experience together, they have grown to create a harmony that often compares to the actual artist whose music they are performing. The band members are: Joe Brown, lead vocalist and rhythm guitar; Bob Brown, vocalist and bass guitar; Dave Lingg, vocalist and lead guitar; Gordon Conner, drums; and Shane Swope, sound and lighting engineer. In 1986, the band released its first album of songs written by members of the band and received limited airplay on local radio stations.

CRIME SOLVERS

334-1975

This week Crime Solvers is seeking information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for the breaking, entering, and theft of items from the John Horsmon residence on the Valley Road near Route 50.

The theft is believed to have occurred sometime between July 15 and July 21. Items removed from the residence include beds, dinette sets, recliners, kitchen appliances and other furniture items.

Entry was gained through a rear window. Total loss is estimated at $4000.

All leads in this case have been exhausted, and Crime Solvers is seeking the help of the public. Anyone giving information about this crime or any other unsolved crime is eligible for a cash reward of $1000.

All information will be kept confidential, and callers may remain anonymous and will not be required to appear in court. Information may be given by calling 334-1975.

SANG RUN

The family of the late Emory DeWitt and Mrs. Ruby DeWitt held its reunion at her home Saturday. Nearly 60 attended, representing seven states. Several of Mrs. DeWitt's family attended Sunday School services with her at the United Pentecostal Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tasker and Connie visited Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tasker, Swanton, Friday evening for a birthday dinner for Mrs. John Tasker and Connie.

Mrs. Doris Rodeheaver and Ruth DeBerry visited Mrs. Elizabeth Hoye Sunday.

Pam Railey, Mrs. Becky Friend and son and Mrs. Doris Rodeheaver visited Mrs. John Rodenhouser, LaVale, one day last week.

A NEW OFFICIAL SIDEARM — Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans announced this week that his deputies are now carrying the Beretta model 92F 9MM semi-automatic pistol as the official sidearm of the Sheriff's Department. Evans said, "The move to upgrade from six-shot revolvers to 15 -shot pistols was precipitated by the recent decision of the Maryland State Police to convert to the higher capacity firearm. The Beretta 9MM pistol gives the county's deputies added firepower and compatibility with the State Police." Evans noted that the purchase of the pistols was made possible by the "piggy-back" clause in the State Police contract with Beretta, U.S.A., which made the pistols available to the Sheriff's Office at the same price. Pictured above are Sheriff Evans (left) and Detective Sgt. D.W. Tucker, firearms instructor for the Sheriff's Office. Pictured below are members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, who received their training in the use of the new pistol this week. Sgt. Tucker noted that the deputies increased their overall average score in pistol qualification from 93 percent on the older revolvers to 97 percent on the Beretta pistol. Sgt. Tucker completed his instructor training earlier this summer at the Beretta Factory in Accokeek and with the Maryland State Police in Frederick.

KITZMILLER

TOWN NEWS

The regular monthly meeting of the Mayor and Town Council was held Monday, June 25. Present were Mayor, James Barrick, Councilmen, Gerald Iman, Frank Reel, Daniel Paugh and James White; Clerk, Diane Paugh, Wendell Keaton, George Brady and Crystal Shaffer.

Councilman Paugh briefly brought the council up to date on the plans waiting for their approval. After discussion concerning the proposed tennis court and various other aspects of the proposed park, the council approved submitting the $52,711 application to Program Open Space for consideration and approval.

SCHOOL REP VISITS

John Morris, assistant superintendent of schools, met at the home of Gary and Melissa Lucas with Lisa Davis, Teresa White, JoAnn Gregg and Crystal Shaffer to hear the concerns of the parents of small children on East Main Street.

Mrs. Lucas and the other parents present had requested that a bus travel down East Main because of the number of small children now having to walk across Route 38 and on to school. Michael Sines, supervisor of pupil transportation, had previously denied this request, noting that the children must live at least one mile from the school. The actual distance from the school to the proposed bus turn around is 5,182 feet.

Morris stated that he would order a traffic count for the area and render his decision based upon the safety of the children.

BIKE-A-THON

St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital has announced that Crystal Shaffer has agreed to be the coordinator of the St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital Bike-A-Thon in Kitzmiller on October 1.

St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital was founded by entertainer Danny Thomas. The institution opened its doors to the public in 1962 to combat catastrophic diseases which afflict children. St. Jude's Hospital is non-sectarian, nondiscriminatory, and provides total medical care to all patients.

All findings and information gained at the Hospital are shared freely with doctors and hospitals all over the world. Thanks to St. Jude's Hospital, children who have leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, sickle-cell anemia, and other child-killing diseases now have a better chance to live.

The Bike-A-Thon program this year is dedicated to Brian McCollister. Brian, a native of Louisiana, was diagnosed with leukemia in October, 1984. Since that time, Brian has come to St. Jude every six weeks for treatment, and every 12 weeks for a bone marrow test and spinal tap to make sure his cancer stays in remission. While at home, Brian receives oral medication daily.

The Bike-A-Thon will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in order to make it possible for riders to complete the course as many times as they like.

Helpers with this event are Diane Paugh, JoAnn Gregg, Diana Sharpless and anyone else who would care to contribute time to support this effort.

PERSONAL

Reverend Allen H. Parrish, former pastor of Mt. Bethel United Methodist Church from 1953-1955, died July 6. Born February 9, 1927, Reverend Parrish was a pastor in Shinnston, W.Va. He was married to the former Bonnie Conley of Shallmar. They have two children.

HOUSE OF HOPE DRIVE

August is "House of Hope Month" at the Kitzmiller Assembly of God. The House of Hope provides food for dislocated and low-income families. Abused children, displaced wives, and homeless individuals are housed and fed by the House of Hope.

The following foods are needed: Canned foods — vegetables, fruits, juices, gravies, soups; jarred foods — jellies, jams, pickles, peanut butter; dry foods — beans, rice, noodles, macaroni, flour, sugar; packaged foods — macaroni and cheese, pizza mix, etc.

Throughout the month of August there will be a "Treasure Chest" on the Communion table where food and money offerings may be placed. A final love-offering will be received on Sunday, August 28, to benefit the House of Hope.

Conducting services this Sunday, August 7, at 7 p.m. will be Delton and Marilyn Watts, newly appointed Assembly of God missionaries to Honduras, Central America.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming is scheduled at Hiway Assembly of God near Kitzmiller this Sunday, August 7 at 10 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., with a basket lunch at noon. There will be special singing during these services. Everyone is welcome, according to Pastor Gail K. Hixon.

Potomac Edison Company Seeks Rate Reduction

Potomac Edison has filed a request with the Maryland Public Service Commission for a $5.5 million annual base-rate decrease, to be effective September 1, 1988, if approved.

The decrease amounts to a two-percent decline in overall rates for the company's residential, commercial and industrial customers, and it follows three fuel-rate decreases since the first of the year. All four decreases amount to an eight-percent cut in customers' bills, or a $22.5 million drop in revenues.

A residential customer using an average 800 kilowatthours a month would see a decrease of $1.04, or 2.1 percent, after the proposed base-rate decrease. The average monthly bill for this customer would decline from $49.82 to $48.82. After all four rate cuts in 1988, the average customer's bill would be reduced by $3.17.

An electric heating customer who uses 2,000 kilowatthours of electricity a month would experience a decrease of $2.60, or 2.2 percent, with the latest rate change. The average monthly bill for this customer would decline from $117.41 to $114.81 a month. After all four rate cuts in 1988, this customer's bill would be reduced by $7.94.

Potomac Edison, an investor-owned electric utility based in Hagerstown, serves about 163,000 customers in all or parts of these seven counties: Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Montgomery and Washington.

KEYSTONE TO PERFORM AT THE FAIR — The stage show Tuesday, August 9, at 7 and 9 p.m. at the Garrett County Fair will feature "Keystone," the band known as "those Pennsylvania boys with America's sound." Keystone emphasizes variety with a blend of old time and current country, gospel, and the group's own interpretation of bluegrass. The band includes: Jim Bailey, lead vocals, accoustic guitar; Lewis Layton, lead and tenor vocals, electric bass, Randy Lehman, lead and baritone vocals, acoustic guitar, banjo, mandolin; John Seburn, bass vocals, fiddle, harmonica, accordian; and Neil Whitmoyer, drums, harmonica. They have performed on shows with The Country Gentlemen, Helen Cornelius, Billy "Crash" Craddock, Bill Monroe, Faron Young and many more, making them one of the most sought after country groups in the nation. The $4 gate admission includes all entertainment at the 1988 fair, such as Keystone.

NEW GERMANY

The Campfire Program for Saturday, August 6, at 8:30 p.m. is "Deer Sniffin' K-9." The guest speaker will be Tim Doolan from the Natural Resources Police.

"The Most Misunderstood Mammal," a slide show on bats, will be presented at the Campfire Program on Wednesday, August 10, at 8:30 p.m. Guest Speaker will be Liz Griffith from the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

New Germany State Park offers various natural, cultural and historical programs daily. The public is invited to attend. Every Wednesday and Saturday evening during the summer, there is a Campfire Program. The programs are held at the Old Schoolhouse Nature Center on McAndrews Hill Road. Flashlights are recommended.

The programs during the week include: history tours, Junior Ranger, discovery hikes, nature walks, nature awareness games and crafts. Most of these programs are held in the Old Schoolhouse Nature Center.

The featured program this week is the Junior Ranger Workshop. While learning more about the outdoors, children 7 to 14 years old can become Junior Park Rangers. Youngsters can carn free patches in basic, advanced and expert phases of the program.

Persons are invited to visit the newly-restored, turn-of-the-century one-room schoolhouse with various nature displays. Weekend hours are: Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

On Mondays at 10:30 a.m., persons may spend an hour or so in the one-room schoolhouse listening to stories about the early settlers and their unusual customs.

On Monday afternoons at 1:30 p.m., persons may meet at the Beach sign and then walk through the Park and hear tales from the days of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

For further information and a schedule of events, persons may contact Ellen Dow, park naturalist, at (301) 895-5453, Grantsville.

Build your dream house in Virginia. Then ship it here.

In Virginia there's a factory where they build houses.

Real houses, mind you. With lumber and nails. Just like the house you've always wanted to build. Only chances are it's better, stronger, more precise, and of higher quality materials than any house you can hire somebody to build on site.

More House In Less Time.

And it can be shipped and assembled on your foundation in less than one-third of the time it takes to build a conventional stick built house.

Once it's ready to move into, we'll bet you can't tell it from a regular site-built house. And if you do see a difference, we'll bet it'll be in our favor.

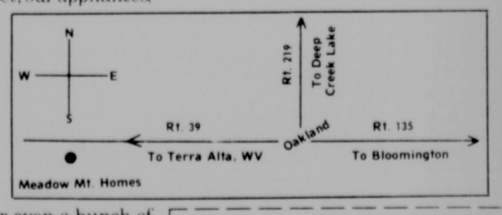

Best House You've Ever Lived In.

Everything is made from the finest quality materials, to meet or exceed all building codes. We use 2x8 or 2x10 floor joists, with subfloors glued and nailed. Outside walls are sheathed with ⅜" plywood before they're finished. Oak cabinets are double-doweled. Finishes are hand-sanded.

We even mill our own mouldings from kiln-dried lumber. It's a little more trouble, but it assures quality and precise fit.

Can We Send You One?

There's more we'd like to tell you first. About our carpet, our appliances, our 40 standard floor plans and our 300 inspections every modular section undergoes before it leaves our plant. If you're building your dream house — or a vacation house, or even a bunch of houses — talk to us first.

Alpha Alpha Members Meet At Convention

Six members of the Alpha Alpha Chapter attended the International Convention of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International held in Baltimore on July 19 to July 23. The convention was hosted by Alpha Beta State (Maryland). Those local members attending were Barbara Flinn, Lillian Reckner, Rosanne Sherwood, Anna Marie Miller, Judy Pula and Anna Bishop.

The Opening Session of the international convention — held on Tuesday evening, July 19, at the Baltimore Convention Center — reached a high point when Baltimore's Mayor, the Hon. Kurt Schmoke, proclaimed the week as Delta Kappa Gamma Week in Baltimore.

Wednesday evening Alpha Beta State presented Maryland Night. A number of Maryland school superintendents were recognized and honored at the program. The members of Delta Kappa Gamma said they "deeply appreciate" the work being done throughout the state and the interest shown by the superintendents of our state. In attendance were Garrett County School Superintendent Dr. Jerome Ryscavage and his wife, Mary. Dr. Nancy Grasmick, associate superintendent of Baltimore County and a member of Alpha Zeta Chapter, introduced the representative of the Governor, Mrs. Constance Leider, who presented a proclamation from Governor William Donald Schaefer.

During the week, five general sessions for conducting society business were held along with 63 workshops which covered a wide range of subjects. The workshop "Opportunities in Travel and Study" drew a standing-room-only crowd that learned about the many opportunities for participation in travel-study seminars. Others included "Securing Your Financial Future," "Curriculum of Hope For a Peaceful World" and "A Survival Kit for Literacy."

The 1988 Educator's Award, which recognizes outstanding educational research and writing by a woman author, was presented to Jane M. Healy, author of "Your Child's Growing Mind: A Parent's Guide to Learning from Birth to Adolescence."

Throughout the convention, Alpha Alpha members served as pages for the General Sessions, worked with registration, manned the hospitality desk, and were hostesses at luncheons and the Presidents' and Founders' Banquet. Rosanne Sherwood was in charge of the men's lounge at the Stouffer Hotel.

Approximately 2100 members attended the convention from the 50 United States, the District of Columbia, ten providences of Canada, Norway, Sweden, Finland, Iceland, The Netherlands, Great Britain, Mexico, Guatemala, Puerto Rico, El Salvador, and Costa Rica.

Basic Boating Safety Course Slated At GCC

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources is sponsoring a Basic Boating Safety Course for the first 30 responders. The course is free of charge and will be held in three sessions: Friday, August 19, from 6-9 p.m.; Saturday, August 20, from 10 a.m.-1 p.m.; and Saturday, August 27, from 10 a.m.-1 p.m.

The classes will be held in Room 154 LC at Garrett Community College, McHenry. Participants must come to each session to complete the course and pre-registration is mandatory. Interested persons may register by calling the Deep Creek Lake Management Office at 387-4111 and must give their Social Security Number.

The course is being offered because of a new law which went into effect on July 1 stating that anyone under the age of 16 must successfully complete the safety course to operate a boat alone on the waters of the State of Maryland.

State Police Seeking New Canine Recruits

The Maryland State Police is seeking donations of German short hair pointers, labrador or golden retrievers to be trained for the detection of drugs.

Dogs must be between one and two years of age, be in excellent health and physical condition, have a friendly disposition, be AKC registered, like to fetch and retrieve, and be able to pass a pre-training examination.

Canines successfully completing the training program will be used to combat drug trafficking in Maryland.

Anyone interested in donating one of the above listed breeds of dogs should contact Sergeant Don Murphy at (301) 461-9459 or 461-3918, or the Emergency Operations Section at (301) 298-0131 or (301) 653-4236.

Raley, Carlson To Attend MSTA Annual Workshop

The Garrett County Teachers Association will send two local teacher representatives to the annual summer workshop of the Maryland State Teachers Association August 8-12 at Salisbury State University.

Representing GCTA will be Jim Raley, president, and a teacher at Southern Middle School, and Vicki Carlson, a teacher at Broad Ford Elementary.

There will be some 16 schools conducted during the week for more than 200 local association leaders from all 24 subdivisions of the state attending. Eight mini-sessions are scheduled for mid-week, as well as an Education Support Personnel Workshop on Wednesday, August 10. Each participant will attend two of the schools and one of the mini-sessions during the week.

Scheduled for presentation during this summer's leadership training for local teacher association leaders will be bargaining, communication, grievances, political action, teacher rights, women's leadership, grant writing, IPD, the "fourth R," and communicable diseases in the schools.

The mini-sessions include current issues in education, health education, retirement benefits, teacher rights, women and politics, community outreach involvement, and organization of a local precinct contact team.

Queen Contest At County Fair To Feature Five Young Farm Women

The Garrett County Farm Bureau Women's Committee hosted five young farm women and their mothers for dinner at Favorites, The Starlite Motel Restaurant, Oakland, Friday night. The young women are all contestants in the 1988 Garrett County Farm Queen Contest, which will be held Sunday, August 7, at the Garrett County Fair, beginning at 8 p.m.

After the dinner, the young women were briefed on the upcoming contest, and 1987 Farm Queen Lori Dodge shared her scrapbook with the contestants to give them an example of the activities and duties of a Farm Queen. These include the county fair, local parades, banquets and conferences, plus, participating in the Maryland Farm Queen Contest at the State Fair in Timonium.

Above all, the new Garrett County Farm Queen will spend the year representing agriculture and Farm Bureau.

The entrants are required to be single women, age 16-19, who belong, or whose parents belong, to the Garrett County Farm Bureau. They will be judged on speaking ability, community and school activities, farm background and personality.

The 1988 contestants are:

Elaine Ann Cummings, the 18-year-old daughter of Keith and Ivadine Cummings of Oakland, served as the 1987 Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess. In that position, she introduced dairy products to elementary school children, spoke at banquets throughout Garrett and Allegany counties, and gave dairy demonstrations at area grocery stores.

Elaine is a 1988 graduate of Southern High School who helps on her parents' dairy farm by feeding animals, cleaning the barn, helping with the milking, and washing the milking equipment. She also helps prepare the ground for planting crops, helps make hay and harvest crops, mows the lawn and helps in the garden.

Elaine has been a 4-H member for six years, serving as secretary of her club for five of those six years. Her 4-H projects have included raising poultry and turkeys for four years, and various sewing projects.

In high school, she was president of the Future Business Leaders of America. She serves as pianist, choir member, secretary and primary Bible school teacher of her church, and is also secretary of Helping Hands.

When at home, Elaine enjoys playing the piano, horseback riding, reading a good book, and working on the farm during the quiet of the day.

Elaine plans to continue helping on the farm and around the house, and may consider going to college for secretarial studies in the future.

Rebecca DeBerry, of Deer Park, will be a junior at Southern High School this fall. She is the 16-year-old daughter of Everett and Harriet DeBerry and has been a 4-H member for nine years.

Beef and dairy cattle, horses, sheep, swine and crops are raised on the DeBerry farm. Rebecca takes care of the animals, helps make hay and works in the garden.

Rebecca is the current president of the Country Kids 4-H Club, and in the past has held the offices of vice president, secretary, and treasurer. She has been involved in 4-H Public Speaking, and has been a member of the State Livestock Judging Team at Timonium for two years. This spring, her family was named the Garrett County 4-H Family of the Year for 1987. Rebecca is the 4-H representative for the Garrett County Livestock Association, and will sell both a baby beef and market hog at this year's fair.

At Southern High School, Rebecca is a member of the Southern Garrett Marching, Stage and Concert Bands, and a representative for band council. She was a recipient of the 1988 United States National Band Award.

She is a member of St. John's Episcopal Church and a member of the Junior Mason Dixon Polled Hereford Association. Her time is also spent helping at the family business, F.A. Tractor & Imp. Parts.

With music, sports, drawing and animals her hobbies and special interests, Rebecca plans to attend college and major in veterinary science after high school graduation.

Darla Fay Broadwater is 17 years old, and involved in the beef cattle operation owned by her parents, Dayton and Bernice Broadwater, Grantsville.

The outdoor responsibilities of the 1988 Northern High School graduate include helping with haymaking, driving tractors, feeding and tending animals, weeding the flower beds, fixing fence and helping administer medicine to the farm animals. She also helps with housekeeping chores, helps can fruits and vegetables, and babysits her neices and nephew.

Darla has been an FFA member for three years, and served as junior vice president, secretary, and vice president. She was the 1987 Chapter Sweetheart. She has also received awards for 1987 Star Chapter Farmer; 1988 DeKalb Outstanding Senior; 86-87 and 87-88 Diversified Livestock Award. She is a member of the Garrett County Livestock Association, Garrett County Young Farmers, American Angus Association, and the Grantsville 4-H Club.

In 1987, Darla's market hog was named reserve grand champion at the Garrett County Fair. She has been a member of the FFA Livestock Judging Team for three years, raised a market steer for three years, and worked in the Young Farmers ice cream booth at the fair for two years. Currently, Darla is serving on the 1988-89 FFA State Officer Team serving as state secretary.

In high school, Darla was on the Girls Varsity Softball Team for four years, the Girls Varsity Club, North Garrett FFA, Who's Who Among American High School Students, and is an active member of the Jennings United Methodist Church.

Her hobbies include working with her fair projects, reading, softball, cooking and meeting and socializing with new and old friends.

Darla will be attending Garrett Community College as a freshman this fall, and plans to transfer to either West Virginia University or University of Maryland to work toward a degree in agricultural education. Her goal is to become a vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor.

Frances Marie Bachtel is the 16-year-old daughter of Kenneth and Dorothy Bachtel of Oakland. On the family dairy farm, Frances helps make hay, feeds calves, helps plant crops and helps with the milking. She also finds time to help her mother clean house and prepare meals.

Frances, who will be a junior this fall at Southern High School, is a Student Council member, an honor roll student, and has been recognized by the National Foreign Language Association.

She is a four-year 4-H member, and a member of St. John's Luthern Church.

Her hobbies and special interests are raising her baby beef for the fair, horseback riding, walking, and babysitting.

Frances has future plans to become an accountant and own her own business.

Jennifer Grace Birkby and her family raise beef cattle on their farm in Grantsville. The 17-year-old daughter of Alan and Alta Birkby, Jennifer spends her time raising and caring for her beef project for FFA, planting and weeding the garden, helping to make, load and unload hay, feeding and watering the dogs, and trimming weeds around the house. She also assists in preparing meals and cleaning house. Canning and freezing fruits and vegetables and general housekeeping chores are also part of her duties.

Jennifer, who will be a senior at Northern High School this fall, has been an FFA member for three years and held the offices of junior secretary, reporter, secretary, and will be holding the office of president during her senior year.

She has participated on the FFA Livestock Judging Team at College Park, and has received many FFA awards, including Star Greenhand, Beef Production, Star Chapter Farmer, and Home/Farmstead Improvement. Jennifer also attended FFA Leadership Camp, where she was chosen 1987-88 Miss FFA. She was the 1987-88 FFA Sweetheart, and a contestant in the American Royal Queen Contest in 1988. She attended both State and National FFA Conventions.

Jennifer was a Bible school teacher at the Harvest Baptist Church, where she is actively involved in church functions. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Northern High School Girls Varsity Softball Team, and enjoys swimming, hiking, skiing, singing at church, baking, sports, and farming. She also enjoys playing the fiddle.

Her future plans are to attend college, get married and "work hard at being the best in life I possibly can be."

How Can You Tell A Tough Tractor?

LOOK BETWEEN THE WHEELS.

The front axle is the key to a smooth ride and long life. That's why every Wheel Horse tractor, right down to our smallest lawn tractor, has a cast-iron front axle. It absorbs the bumps on any terrain, yet keeps its shape.

On many small tractors, you'll find the front axle is stamped out of steel, often as part of the frame. When you consider the amount of weight it supports and the ground it works on, you'll understand the importance of the Wheel Horse front axle. It's a difference you'll measure in years.

LIMITED TIME OFFER!

You'd expect to pay more for this kind of engineering. Especially when it results in better performance and longer tractor life. But right now, your Wheel Horse dealer is making a special offer.

Maryland's Congressional Delegation Approves Drought Assistance

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr., commended Maryland's Congressional delegation for their swift action in approving drought assistance legislation to aid Maryland farmers suffering from the effects of the drought.

Unlike the previous two years when Maryland farmers received little financial assistance from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA), this year they will receive a big shot in the arm thanks to swift bi-partisan, Congressional action. "The Maryland Congressional delegation has shown real concern for our farmers in acting quickly to support this legislation," Cawley said.

The legislation will enable farmers who have a 35 percent or more crop loss to recover some of their losses in the form of a payment from USDA.

"All Maryland farmers, even those not currently participating in federal program or with non-program crops, are eligible for aid provided they have at least a 35 percent crop loss," said Cawley.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker and other state officials briefed the Maryland Congressional delegation on the effects of the drought on Maryland agriculture.

"This legislation will mean that Maryland farmers who have suffered losses due to the drought will be able to recover, on average, about one-half of that lost income," said Walker.

"Tens of millions of dollars will flow into our state's farmers' pockets thanks to this Congressional action. This will help to lessen the hardship experienced by our farmers during the droughts of the last three years."

Drought Update

Byron Votes For Drought Measure

U.S. Representative Beverly Byron voted in favor of the Drought Assistance Act of 1988. The bill, H.R. 5015, passed the House of Representatives by a vote of 368 to 29.

"This is the third year in a row that Maryland farmers have suffered the effects of drought conditions," said Byron. "Hopefully, the legislation that was passed will help farmers to overcome some of the losses that have resulted from the drought."

The measure, which now moves to the Senate, would provide disaster payments to any producer of commercial crops who loses 35 percent of his 1988 crop due to drought or other natural disaster. The measure also provides for increased emergency loan assistance from the Farmers Home Administration and calls for an increase in the price support for milk to 50 cents per hundredweight effective from April through June 1989. It cancels the planned January 1989 cut in the dairy support price.

Another provision of H.R. 5015 would require farmers receiving drought assistance to purchase crop insurance for 1989 and 1990. The requirement would be waived, however, if the cost of the insurance premium exceeds 25 percent of the federal farm benefits received by a producer. Currently only five percent of Maryland farmers have crop insurance.

In a related development, Byron joined the Maryland delegation in urging the Secretary of Agriculture to approve Governor Schaefer's request for federal assistance to all 23 Maryland counties. "The combined losses the last two years are now estimated to be as high as $225 million. In several counties, fully 80 percent of the corn crop — the state's largest commodity — has been lost," read the letter directed to Secretary Richard Lyng.

Silage Source Directory Added To Hay Hotline

Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr., has advised farmers that the Maryland Department of Agriculture is adding a special silage directory service to its 24-hour-a-day "hay hotline."

According to Secretary Cawley, many farmers in Maryland may have crops planted for grain which will not be profitable this year because of the drought. They may be able to convert these crops into silage sources for use by other farmers. Responding to the need to put prospective buyers and sellers together, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will add a silage directory to its hay hotline service listing farmers with forage and farmers needing silage.

Anyone wishing to be listed as silage sources can call the hotline service toll free (in Maryland only) at 1-800-638-2209. Give your name, complete address, telephone number and information about what you have, such as type of crop and acreage. Farmers interested in receiving listings can call the same number and ask about silage listings for their county, a number of counties or statewide, and this information will be mailed to them.

The listings will be sent to all county offices of the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service as well so they will have the lists available.

For further information, call Tony Evans at 301-841-5770 or Anne Sieling at 301-841-5882.

Record Wheat Yields Expected This Year

Winter wheat production in Maryland, based on July 1 conditions, is forecast at 8.7 million bushels, seven percent above 1987's production of 8.1 million bushels. The yield is expected to be 51 bushels per acre, two bushels above the previous record 49 bushels average for the 1985 and 1987 crops.

ASCS Offers Farmers Advice To Prepare For Pending Drought Aid

"Farmers should prepare now to apply for drought aid so they will be ready to show eligibility after pending legislation is enacted," advised William F. DeWitt, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee.

"We probably will not have the details of drought assistance for several weeks," DeWitt said, "but there are some things producers can do to help make sure they get the benefits of any new legislation."

"For example, appraisals and bin measurements will be made when necessary by ASCS on drought-damaged crops before they are destroyed or harvested to salvage for feed," DeWitt said.

"Crop production evidence should be maintained for a crop sold or stored off the farm," DeWitt added.

"Producers may have to leave representative strips for appraisals if they are unable to wait for an ASCS appraisal.

"Production records for non-program crops, such as fruits, vegetables and other commercial crops should be maintained for the current and previous years.

"The bottom line," DeWitt said, "is do not destroy any evidence you may need later to prove your eligibility for benefits and do contact your county ASCS office before you destroy any drop acreage."

DON'T ARGUE — COVER THAT HAY

With the first, and in many cases, second cutting hay (very light) already cut and baled and with a dreary outlook for third cutting hay, I would strongly suggest you take steps to reduce spoilage losses in round baled hay. It appears very likely there will be a shortage of good quality hay coupled with rising feed grain prices. Covering round bales is possibly the most cost effective practice available to you to reduce hay losses and extend the feed supply. Losses are such with round bales that unless you have extremely poor quality hay, it will pay to protect it.

Here are some facts:

If you have four inches of spoilage on a six-foot diameter, 1,500 pound round bale, you have lost 21 percent or 315 pounds of feedable hay. Additionally, approximately one-third of the bale is in the outer six inches, one-half in the outer 12 inches, and three-fourths of the hay in the outer 18 inches. Only 25 percent of the hay is in the inner three feet of the bale. If hay is worth $75 a ton and you lose four inches per bale to spoilage, that's $11.81 loss per bale. That's significant!

NONPROTEIN NITROGEN (NPN) FOR DAIRY CATTLE RATIONS

Soaring feed prices, particularly soybean meal and roasted beans, have created "renewed" interest in nonprotein nitrogen compounds like urea and anhydrous ammonia. Here are some points in using NPN:

1. Urea and anhydrous ammonia are the two most common forms of NPN used in dairy cattle rations.

2. Anhydrous ammonia added to corn silage rather than urea, has two additional advantages: 1. some of the NH3 is converted to bacterial protein during the fermentation process; 2. the ammonia has a preservative effect on silage.

3. General rule of thumb is that eight pounds of soybean meal is equal in net energy and crude protein to seven pounds of shell corn and one pound of urea.

4. How to tell level of urea in a grain mix? If NPN is in the mix, the tag should show the maximum amount of crude protein equivalent derived from NPN. Dividing the percent crude protein from NPN by 2.88 gives the percentage urea in the mix. This is true for urea containing 46 percent N or 288 percent crude protein equivalent.

5. Urea and anhydrous ammonia contain no energy, minerals or vitamins like the feeds they typically replace in a dairy ration. These additional nutrients must be supplied for the ration to be balanced.

6. The suggestion is frequently made that NPN rations adversely affect reproductive performance by lowering conception rates. While the opinions vary on this subject, it is generally accepted that fed in balanced rations, NPN does not adversely affect reproductive performance.

7. There is no experimental evidence to support the idea that urea and nitrate are additive in their toxic effects on ruminants.

8. General NPN guidelines:

- Maximum of 0.92 percent added NPN in grain mix of 2 percent urea.
- Maximum of 0.23 percent added NPN to corn or small grain silage.
- Maximum of one-third of total ration protein equivalent from NPN.
- Maximum 0.5 pounds added NPN per 1,000 pounds body weight daily.
- Convert to NPN rations slowly.
- Research indicates NPN may not be used as well by high as low producers and general recommendation is NPN be restricted to cows producing 60 pounds of milk per day or less.
- NPN is generally not recommended for dry cows and heifers as rations generally do not contain energy sufficient for maximum utilization.

THANK YOU
We would like to take this opportunity to say a great big "thank you" for all who attended the retirement reception for us and for all the cards and gifts. A special thanks to the church affairs committee of the Crellin Church for all their hard work and planning that made it possible. A special thanks to Tom Glotfelty, Doug Rumer, Peggy DiSimone and the Children's Choir, Leo Friend, the kids, Jim Shaffer, Larry Holler, and Margaret Fulk for their part in the program. May God continue to bless you for all your work in His service. We would also like to thank the folks of the Underwood Church for the lovely dinner and gifts.
May God's blessings be upon each of you and your new pastor.
Again, our love and thanks.

IT TAKES TIME! — It takes years to develop the ability to choose and fit a calf which will grow into a prize-winning steer. The public is usually not aware of the time each 4-H or FFA member puts into the care and feeding of a market animal, whether it be a steer, a lamb or a hog, which is sold at the livestock sale during the fair. Above, Craig Evans poses with "Will" at the 1981 Garrett County Fair. Craig was 11 years old at the time, and this was his second steer. But things don't always run smoothly. In 1983, his steer, named "Fire," wouldn't break to lead, and he had to sell it privately to friends, as it was wild and not safe to be taken to the fair. Eventually, Craig's hard work paid off, though, and his 1987 steer was named grand champion. He and his grand champion steer are pictured below during last year's livestock sale with (left to right) Terry King and Phil Rook, representing the Deer Park and Oakland Fire Departments, respectively, recipients of the steer; David Cathell, vice president of Garrett National Bank, the purchaser of the steer; and Lori Dodge, the 1987 Garrett County Farm Queen. This year, 18-year-old Craig will be showing and selling his ninth project steer. Craig is the son of Ted and LaVerna Evans, of Red House.

Livestock—The Finished Product Is More Work Than You'd Think

by LaVerna Evans
Secretary/Treasurer,
Garrett County Livestock Association

Probably the oldest, continuous event at the Garrett County Fair is the Livestock Show and Sale. Few people realize just what goes into raising a steer, lamb or hog, to actually get it ready for the fair. Most people see only the beauty of the finished animals and the somewhat inflated prices that the animals bring, but know nothing of what the owners actually put forth to ready the animals for such an event.

Many youth begin showing a lamb at age eight or a steer or pig at age nine and continue through age 19. Most hope to show a grand champion animal once during their 4-H or FFA career. Others only have a market project once, find it is not for them and never have another.

A judge once attributed a steer to being 60 percent the calf — its quality and breeding; 20 percent the feed program and how well the animal's body adapted to it; and 20 percent the relationship between the calf and its owner. There seems to be a lot of fact in this statement.

Raising a steer is considered a long-term project. It may begin as early as late October and continues through mid-August of the following year when the animal is sold at the Garrett County Fair. Many things happen during the interim.

When the steer project is decided upon, a calf must be secured. Many calves are selected from the family beef herd, from the herd of a family friend, at the local stockyard, or in recent years, from more prestigious club-calf sales, which have come into being in this area.

To begin a beef, lamb or swine project, the youth must have money to buy the animal. More often than not, the first animal is bought by parents and the cost of feed is worked out and paid for as a part of the youth's farm and home chores. Grandparents and close friends have also been known to support a youth with his or her project.

After the first animal is sold, the owner buys next year's animal, and possibly the feed, from this year's check. Extra money is usually used for school clothes, buying something extra special or banking for the future.

When selecting a calf for a club project, the youth looks for one with good lines; — that is a long, straight loin; straight and sound legs; a small brisket and a frame with the potential to add a lot of sound muscle (meat). Above all, the youth must like the animal he/she chooses.

An animal is like a new article of clothing. If it is liked, the owner will wear it. If not, it will hang in the closet. By the same token, if the youth likes his animal, he will work hard and turn it into a worth-while project. Some young people have been known to disregard the traits of the animal and choose one just because they liked its looks or personality. This makes a good relationship between the owner and animal and a wonderful 4-H or FFA project.

Lambs and swine, or hogs, are short-term projects beginning June 1. Lambs are selected according to frame formation, much the same way as choosing a beef. A lamb should have a long loin, be rather tall and have the potential to add a lot of meat through the loin and back quarters.

A hog should also have a long, straight loin and well-rounded hams. All animals — beef, lambs and hogs — are fed a high-protein diet.

Aproximately 10 percent of all steers started are dropped before fair time. Some animals cannot be trained to lead, have a poor weight gain, break bones or develop illnesses — particularly bloat. Bloat is usually caused because of the high rate of protein intake and is the most common causes of death in club calves. Several years ago, three club calves belonging to one family developed bloat. Nothing seemed to help. They had to be checked day and night. It was not uncommon for the young owners of those steers to be out walking them in the middle of the night by the pole light to relieve the bloat.

Beef animals must be trained and halter broken to lead at the fair. They are bathed on a regular basis and constantly exercised by walking. Most steers are walked at least one mile each day to tone their muscle and reduce fat. Visitors are likely to find a radio blasting in the barn of a beef owner. This seems to calm the animal and ready them for the noise they will hear at the fair.

Surprisingly enough, serious injuries do not plague the owners of these animals. Everyone who has trained an animal to lead has had a toe stepped on or a rope burn on the hands, but fortunately, serious injuries have been at a minimum in Garrett County.

All animals shown and sold at the Garrett County Fair are disease free, being tested prior to the fair by local veterinarians and the Maryland Department of Agriculture.

The Livestock Association, project owners, and their parents hope to see large crowds at the various judging events during fair week and at the Livestock Sale on Saturday evening, August 13.

THE WORK IS NEVER DONE until the animal is sold! These two 4-H'ers are still busy making last-minute improvements to their animals training and grooming. Pictured above with her lamb is Bridget Miller, a member of the Red House 4-H Club, and below, grooming his steer, is Mike Weeks, of the Country Kids 4-H Club. These animals will be entered early next week at the Garrett County Fair, where final preparations will continue throughout the week for the Livestock Sale to be held Saturday night, August 13, at 7:30.

Record Soybean Acreages Are Planted

In the state of Maryland, the soybean acreages planted and those indicated harvested at 465,000 and 455,000 respectively are 11 percent above last year's 420,000 planted and 410,000 harvested.

All corn planted, at 520,000 acres for 1988, is seven percent below last year's 560,000 acres planted. Corn to be harvested for grain in 1988 is 430,000 acres, seven percent fewer than the 460,000 acres harvested in 1987.

All hay harvested at 225,000 acres for 1988 is four percent below 1987's 235,000 acres. Alfalfa hay harvested at 80,000 is off six percent from the previous year. Other hay is off three percent from 1987's 150,000 acres harvested.

Oats planted in 1988 at 20,000 acres is down five percent from 1987 while acres harvested at 17,000 acres is down 11 percent from 1987.

In the United States, corn planted for all purposes is estimated at 67.5 million acres, up three percent from last year. The area planted to soybeans is estimated at 58.5 million acres, up two percent from 1987 but three percent below 1986.

Hay growers are expected to harvest 63.4 million acres of hay during 1988. This is four percent more than the 60.7 million acres harvested last year. The area of alfalfa and alfalfa mixtures is expected to total 24.5 million acres, four percent lower than the 25.5 million acres cut in 1987.

Red House 4-H Participates In District Show

The Spring District Show on June 24 and 25 at the Garrett County Fairgrounds was attended by 11 members of the Red House 4-H Club.

Tommy Holler exhibited his first-place Exotic Cross steer, then went on to win overall champion with Ty Miller receiving reserve champion in the beef division. Kimberly Holler placed second; Monica Miller, third; Tammy Holler, sixth; and Allen Mason, tenth.

Tommy Holler was also named junior champion for Fitting and Showing, with his sister, Tammy, receiving senior champion and grand champion showman. Monica Miller came in second place; Ty Miller, third; Kimberly Holler sixth; and Allen Mason, seventh, in Fitting and Showing.

In the breeding division, Tammy Holler received champion for her heifer.

Tammy Holler and Bridget Miller exhibited several sheep. Grand champion in Fitting and Showing was Tammy with Bridget placing ninth. Tammy also had the grand champion ram with Bridget receiving reserve champion. Bridget also received first place ewe lamb, pair of ewe lambs, and one, two-year-old ewe lamb.

In the market lamb division, Tammy placed first in the heavy weight class, then went on to receive grand champion market lamb with Bridget coming in fourth place in the light weight class.

Two members exhibited rabbits. Tommy Holler received first and third place with his senior bucks while his junior buck took second place. First place senior doe went to Kimberly Holler with her two "pen of three" meat division entries receiving fourth and sixth place.

One club entry in the Dog Obedience Show, Miranda Marple, placed first in the fun class.

Peggy, Becky and Denise Evans assisted the club's 4-H members in fitting and showing their beef animals for the District Show.

Oakland Youth Joins Simmental Association

Tammy Holler, of Oakland, recently became a junior member of the American Simmental Association. Tammy is the daughter of Tom and Naomi Holler.

Junior Simmental activities include the annual Summer Classic, a national event that features such events as livestock judging, public speaking, sales talk competition, educational seminars, and recreation; Regional Classics, which follow the same format as the national event; and the Merit Award Program, which provides needed recognition to outstanding junior members.

Junior members may apply for lifetime adult membership when they reach the age of 21.

The American Simmental Association, which was founded in 1968, maintains the herdbook registry for Simmental and Simbrah cattle. ASA's membership has grown to more than 22,000 members nation-wide, 4,100 of which are junior members. In terms of annual registrations, ASA ranks fourth among 58 recognized beef breeds in the United States.

Information about Simmental cattle, junior programs, or membership is available from the American Simmental Association, One Simmental Way, Bozeman, MT 59715.

Cows Derive Energy And Protein From Salvage Chocolate Bars

Ralph McGregor of York County, Pa., has been feeding his cows a diet that would make any child envious — chocolate candy bars.

McGregor's 240 milking cows take in between three and four tons of KitKats and Reese's Pieces a week, an average of more than 30 pounds per animal.

The dairyman has been feeding his herd salvage chocolate — candy "mistakes" that cannot be sold to the public — from Hershey Foods Corp. in Hersey for about eight years, and he's not the only farmer following the feeding regimen.

According to William Flickinger, a livestock nutritionist from East Berlin who operates the Cal-Pen Nutrition Service, at least 60 other dairy farmers in Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey also are feeding chocolate to their milk cows.

Flickinger, who has 20 years' experience in livestock nutrition, said feeding candy to livestock started in California more than two decades ago.

"This is nothing new, except in these parts. I started to try it with farmers I work with after I moved back to York County in 1978," he said.

"Tests have shown that cows that eat chocolate produce milk higher in butterfat," he said. "The higher the butterfat content, the more the farmer is paid for his milk. That's what this is all about: farmers making the highest margin of profit possible. We're not feeding cows chocolate just to be doing something different. It works."

The standard for whole milk is 3.5 percent butterfat. For every tenth of a percentage over that standard, a farmer is paid an additional $1.28 per 100 gallons of milk.

The sweet feed also has another advantage. It allows McGregor to feed his herd a higher quality diet at a greatly reduced cost.

"That reflects in the profit margin, too," he said.

McGregor talks in terms of total mixed ration, or TMR. "A lot of dairy farmers are living in the past," he said. "They feed their herds grain one day, hay the next day, silage the next day and let them graze in the pasture the following day. That's fine, but it's not a modern feeding concept."

The TMR for the McGregor herd is available to the animals 24 hours a day and includes a mixture of hay silage, corn silage, soybean and cottonseed meal, grain (corn, oats and barley chop), vitamins, tract minerals and the chocolate. The chocolate makes up about 10 percent of the dry matter, McGregor said.

He pays about $65 a ton for the chocolate, which "compares to about $105 per ton for corn, which is probably what I'd use in the feed mix if I didn't use chocolate," he said.

That's about $7,000 a year McGregor saves by using chocolate in his feed.

Flickinger describes chocolate as an "energy" product.

"It has good fat content, starches and sugars — about twice the amount of energy of one ear of corn. It's about all you need for energy. Of course, the more energy a cow has the more milk it will produce, because it takes an increased amount of energy for every pound of milk produced."

In addition, Flickinger said, the chocolate doesn't make a cow gain weight and doesn't affect its behavior. There are no hyperactive cows as a result of chocolate consumption.

For the cows' part, they love chocolate just as much as most humans do.

"Put a pile of candy bars out in the pasture," Flickinger said, "and they'd eat themselves to death. They show no restraint when it comes to chocolate."

April—June Milk Production Reported

Milk production in the 21 selected states totaled 10.5 billion pounds. This was about the same as production in these states for June 1987. Production per cow in the 21 selected states averaged 1,220 pounds for June, 12 pounds above June 1987. The number of cows on farms in the 21 selected states was 8.59 million head, 39 thousand less than May and 85 thousand less than June last year. The quarterly production of milk for the U.S. was 37.8 billion pounds, one percent above the April-June period last year.

Oakland FFA Scores In State Forestry Contest

Members of the Oakland FFA Chapter's Forestry Judging Team placed third in the state contest held July 19 at Allegany Community College in Cumberland.

The first place team, Clear Spring FFA Chapter, will represent Maryland in the National Forestry Contest in Kansas City in November while the second place team, Flintstone FFA Chapter, will travel to the Eastern Regional Contest in Springfield, Mass., in September.

The contest is sponsored by Westvaco, Inc. as a special project of the Maryland FFA Foundation. Westvaco representative, Pete Miller, congratulated the three top-place teams on their winning scores. The contest consisted of a 50 question multiple choice test designed to test the contestant's knowledge and understanding of basic principles of forestry, a forest business management problem designed to determine the contestant's ability to apply economic principles and management concepts, a tree identification and an equipment identification exercise, and several practicums such as tree measurement, timber cruising, evaluation for timber stand improvement, compass utilization, and chainsaw troubleshooting.

Members of the Oakland Chapter Team were: Mike Kepple, Richard McCrobie and Kim Marley, all receiving silver medals; and Angie Meyers, who received a bronze medal. Also attending was Chapter Advisor Steve Kisner.

Marine Pvt. Bradley D. Brenneman, son of Allen R. and Virginia M. Brenneman, Route 2, Accident, has completed recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

During the 11-week training cycle, Brenneman was taught the basics of battlefield survival. He was introduced to the typical daily routine that he will experience during his enlistment and studied the personal and professional standards traditionally exhibited by Marines.

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

A 1984 graduate of Northern High School, he joined the Marine Corps in February 1988. His wife, Mable, is the daughter of William C. and Diane Klotzbaugh, also of Accident.

A NEW SHOWROOM — A ribbon cutting ceremony was held last Friday to officially open the new showroom at Casselman Lumber, located on Route 495, two miles south of Grantsville. The showroom features 15 kitchens and three bathrooms which display a variety of materials including ceramic tiles, vinyls, natural woods, carpet, and imported Italian marble. The showroom also contains a balcony and skylights, and features a handmade spiral oak staircase to represent the company's most recent product development. The business was purchased by David Maust in December, 1987 and employs 30 persons. Special features include a custom cabinet shop, a mini-barn production business, a trim shop for making oak molding, a construction crew which builds vacation homes, lumber and building supplies, and a retail business in cabinets, kitchen appliances, and baths. Open house was held at the showroom throughout the week, leading up to a grand opening celebration scheduled for August 5 and 6. Prizes valued at nearly $3000 will be given away during the open house. A television commerical for Casselman Lumber was also filmed, and will be featured on WHAG-TV 25, Hagerstown — Channel 12 on cable television throughout most of the county. Pictured above, front, are David E. Maust, owner, Delegate George Edwards, and Robert Durst of Liberty Bank, Grantsville. On the first step, left to right, are Maust's wife, Keren, and their daughter Erica; Ramona Gillum, Don Beitzel, assistant manager; and Duane Overholt, cabinet shop foreman. On the second step, same order, are Ellen Housely, design consultant for the showroom; Steve Rados, and Jim Raley. On the third step are Jason Bender, marketing manager; Fred Holliday, mayor of Grantsville; Barry Halteman; and Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey. In the back row are Rob Cease, Jim Kitzmiller, and three manufacturer representatives.

4-H CLUB NEWS

NORTH GLADE
by Kim Miller, Reporter

The July 13 meeting was held at the North Glade 4-H Center. Vice president Chris Herbert called the meeting to order. Jennifer Peck led the pledges, and Deedee Friend called the roll and gave the secretary's report. Eight members, five adults and one new member, Jennifer Peck, were present.

Old business concerned Steer Camp, 4-H Camp and our float and booth. New business concerned Demonstration Day on Saturday, July 23.

After the meeting each member gave at least one demonstration. Our next meeting will be held August 10, at 6 p.m. The activity will be a cookout at the residence of Louella Friend.

State Initiates Chicken Testing For Salmonella

Officials with the Maryland Department of Agriculture and the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene announced the state is embarking on a comprehensive testing program that will make it the first in the nation to test all commercial chicken egg-laying flocks for the presence of Salmonella enteritidis.

In conjunction with the testing program, both departments have signed an order requiring all owners of infected flocks to pasteurize all eggs from those flocks before they can be sold for human consumption. The state's actions are the result of a recent emerging concern that infected chickens may pass the organism into the egg. Testing has shown the presence of this Salmonella in four of 15 flocks tested in Cecil County.

"Everyone should be aware that Salmonella is widespread, and always has been," said Adele Wilzack, R.N., M.S., secretary, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene. "As the Health Department has always maintained, taking ordinary precautions in preparing and cooking all foods, including eggs and poultry products, drastically reduces the chance of illness."

Secretary Wilzack then suggested that consumers follow these safety measures:

•cook chicken and eggs until well done;

•don't serve food items containing raw eggs — instead use pasteurized eggs in items like homemade ice cream and egg nog.

•refrigerate chicken and eggs promptly following purchase;

•keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold;

•wash raw foods carefully and thoroughly;

•don't re-use utensils or cutting boards that have been used to prepare foods like raw chicken, meats, and eggs until they have been thoroughly washed with soap and water;

•wash hands thoroughly after handling raw foods to lessen the possibility of contaminating cooked, ready-to-eat foods or serving utensils;

•do not thaw frozen raw poultry at room temperature, thaw in the refrigerator or in cool running water;

•do not stuff turkeys or chicken the night before cooking;

•carefully follow label directions on packages;

•refrigerate leftovers promptly and heat throughly before re-serving (gravies should be re-heated to a "rolling boil") — freshly cooked foods rarely cause illness;

•for storing, preparing or serving quick-frozen foods, storage at proper temperatures prevents Salmonella growth — thorough cooking will kill them;

•avoid tasting raw food preparations containing eggs, such as pastry mixes.

"This is a real team effort," said Secretary of Agriculture Wayne A. Cawley Jr. "We want the public to be aware that there is a problem, but we're on top of it. We will continue to test Maryland's laying flocks to assure the safety of our poultry products," he concluded.

DEEP CREEK REALTY
Real Estate
By ROBERT HUEBNER
Deep Creek Realty
RAISE THE PRICE & BARGAIN?
When you sell your home, is it best to set a high price initially, then be prepared to bargain? That's a question often asked by homeowners.
The first step towards setting the price on your home is called a "Competitive Market Analysis." This analysis compares your home to similar homes which have already sold, and to homes against which your home will be competing for buyers. The purpose is to establish a price range at which buyers would be likely to purchase your home.
Let's say that price range will be $98,000-$101,000. Believing you will have to bargain, you ask $108,000, which invites buyers to "make an offer." When they do, it may be for $95,000! Here's what happens. The buyers, realizing the home is overpriced, and not knowing the suggested range was $98,000-101-000, assume you want to bargain. They don't want to lose in the process so they make an unacceptably low offer.
The entire process can be easily eliminated, possibly resulting in a full price offer. Ask your real estate agent for the list-to-sale ratio for your neighborhood. A 98.5% ratio means that buyers have been paying almost full price, thus by raising your price only 1.5% you could succeed in receiving the price you want without the frustration of making offers and counter-offers. Pricing your home properly from the beginning is an invaluable service offered by your agent.

STANDING TIMBER FOR SALE

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is offering for sale the following timber on 126 acres of Compartment #4 of Savage River State Forest. Said timber is estimated to cut 962,264 Bd. Ft. of sawtimber according to the International ¼" Saw Kerf Rule, and 1061 standard cords of pulpwood, more or less. All trees 11" DBH and larger with at least one 16' log to an 08" top DIB with less than 50% defect were tallied as sawtimber. Trees less than 11" DBH with at least one 8' stick to a 4" top DIB were estimated as pulpwood using a 10 BAF wedge prism on random plots. Timber is located 1¼ miles NW of the Posey Row Road and National Highway Intersection. Timber is offered for sale subject to the following conditions:

1. Timber will be shown at 9:00 a.m. Monday, August 15, 1988. Anyone interested in seeing this timber may meet at the Intersection of the Posey Row Road and National Highway on the above date and time.

2. Contract/Bid Forms will be available at the showing or from the Savage River State Forest Headquarters, Route #2, Box A-63, Grantsville, Maryland or phone 301-895-5759.

3. A Security Bond in the amount of $10,000 must be posted upon submission of the bid to the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

4. The operator must be a registered Forest Product Operator in Maryland for 1988 to be awarded successful bidding.

5. A Performance Bond in the amount of $10,000 must be posted upon acceptance of the Contract by the State of Maryland. The Security Bond may be applied to cover the Performance Bond.

6. All timber volumes noted in this offering are estimates. Parties bidding on this timber should determine such volumes to their own satisfaction. No adjustments on the basis of volumes will be made with buyers.

7. Bidder may pay 50% of bid price on acceptance of Contract, with the remaining 50% payable within 90 calendar days from bid acceptance. If Buyer selects this option, the delayed payment must be covered by a payment surety bond in form acceptance to the State.

8. Bids will be received up until 1:00 p.m. on Monday, August 29, 1988.

—Adv. 23-2t.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this Resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and subject to the provisions of the charter of said Town, and any amendments thereto, and that all the real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, the Mayor and Town Council shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated on the Garrett County Development Plan as Suburban-Residential (SR), and that there is no actual zoning within Garrett County which effects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as Suburban Residential, and inasmuch as the definitions of Suburban Residential in the Garrett County Development Plan and in the Oakland general plan are substantially the same, the Mayor and Town Council have determined that the annexed area shall be zoned Suburban-Residential (SR), under the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, and shall be designated as such on the official zoning map for the Town of Oakland, there being no substantial differrence between the definitions and features of Suburban Residential as it exists within the Town of Oakland, and as it is defined within the Town's Zoning Ordinance, and development plan, and Suburban Residential as it is defined by the Garrett County Development Plan.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED THIS 11th day of November, 1988.

Linda Everd, Town Clerk

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 11th day of November, 1988.

Robert E. Watson
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, and the annexation, on the 22nd day of August, 1988, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 109 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550 at 7:30 p.m.

By the Authority of Mayor and Town Council
of Oakland
By its Town Council,
Robert E. Watson

NOTICE
POSSIBLE LEAD CONTAMINATION OF DRINKING WATER

Recent amendments to the federal "State Drinking Water Act" require that all water systems notify their consumers about possible lead contamination of drinking water.

Please note that lead concentrations in water produced by the Mountain Top Public Service District are already strictly regulated. This notice is intended only to alert you that the possibility of contamination may exist due to the type of pipe or solder used in your own residence.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the West Virginia Department of Health sets drinking water standards and has determined that lead is a health concern at certain levels of exposure. There is currently a standard of 0.050 parts per million (ppm). Based on new health information this standard may be lowered in the future.

Part of the purpose of this notice is to inform you of the potential adverse health effects of lead. This is being done even though your water may not be in violation of the current standards.

The EPA and the Health Department are concerned about lead in drinking water. Too much lead in the human body can cause serious damage to the brain, kidneys, nervous system and red blood cells. The greatest risk, even with short-term exposure, is to young children and pregnant women.

Lead levels in drinking water are likely to be hightest if:

- your home or water system had lead pipes, or
- your home has copper pipes with lead solder, and
- your home is less than five years old, or
- you have soft or acidic water, or
- water sits in the pipes for several hours.

Lead differs from most other water pollutants in one important respect: it may get into the drinking water after the water has left the water plant. Some individual service lines that carry treated water may be made of lead, or joined to each other with solder made of lead. Water passing through these pipes may pick up traces of the metal.

The exact amount of lead, when it is present in home tap water, varies a great deal from residence (generally being lower in old houses than in new), and from tap to tap within the same residence. Also, individual dosages of lead drawn from the same tap will depend on whether the user flushes the tap before drinking.

In order to diminish the possibility of lead contamination, use only the cold water faucet for drinking, cooking, or preparing baby formula and run the water until it is cold before each use. If there has recently been major water use in the household, such as showering or bathing, flushing toilets, or doing laundry with cold water, this should take 5-30 seconds; if not, flushing could take as much as several minutes.

The plumbing materials used in your home are most easily visible beneath sinks or in the basement. Lead water pipes are extremely rare, but can be identified by their dull grey look and the relative softness of the metal. Visual inspection of copper pipes cannot reveal whether or not lead based solder is in contact with the water inside. If you make plumbing repairs or replace plumbing, be sure to use only lead-free solder, pipe and fixtures.

You may wish to have your tap water tested if you suspect it is contaminated with lead. Testing is the one sure way of telling whether or not there are harmful quantities of lead in your drinking water. Water samples from the tap will have to be collected and sent to a qualified laboratory for analysis at your own expense. A list of approved laboratories is available.

If you have any questions concerning your public water supply, or if you desire more information about lead or testing, contact Mountain Top Public Service District, telephone number 693-7667.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE RENTAL PROPERTIES

In Election District 8, Route 219 South of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County (Case No. 543 Civil), the undersigned, Trustees will sell at public auction, in the Rotunda of the Garrett County Circuit Courthouse, on:

August 26, 1988
At 2:00 p.m.

The properties will be available for inspection on Thursday, August 25, 1988 between the hours of 1:00 and 3:00 p.m.

ALL that lot or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 8 of Garrett County, Maryland, being part of Military Lot No. 2568, and a part of the 3.36 acre tract that is described in a deed from Cecil F. Snyder, dated April 30, 1963, and recorded in Liber R.L.D., No. 247, Folio 541, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, the part hereby conveyed being described as follows:

BEGINNING at a concrete monument, which is the beginning corner of said 3.36 acre tract, and running thence with part of the North line of said tract, along a wire fence, North 26 degrees East, 413.6 feet to a stake; thence South 47 degrees East, 328.58 feet to a point in the middle of U.S. Route 219; thence with part of the South line of said 3.36 acre tract with the middle of U.S. Route 219, South 56 degrees West, 375.2 feet; thence North 64 degrees West, 121 feet to the beginning, containing 1.92 acres, more or less, said property being also a part of the property in which the said party of the first part acquired by deed from Ruth M. Snyder, unmarried, dated December 6th, 1965, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. 268, Folio 59, one of the said Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and includes, within its boundaries, the .4 of an acre parcel which was conveyed by deed dated September 15, 1964, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. No. 260, Folio 121, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is in fee simple and is improved by four separate single-story rental homes fronting on Route 219 South of Oakland.

The property will be sold in "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and agreements of record, if any, and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements. The Trustees do not guarantee or covenant to deliver or in any way obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser.

TERMS OF SALE: The Trustees reserve the unqualified right to withdraw the premises at any time before sale. If any dispute arises among the bidders, the Trustees shall have the sole and final discretion either to determine the successful bidder or to reoffer and resell the premises.

A deposit of $3,500 in cash, certified check, or some other form of exchange acceptable to the Trustees, will be required from the purchaser at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price, together with interest on such balance at the rate of 10% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement, must be paid in cash at settlement which will be held within five days following final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County unless said period is extended by the Trustees.

All state and local and valorem real estate taxes, other public charges, regular and special assessments and the like shall be adjusted to the date of the Trustees' sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. The purchaser shall pay all state and local transfer taxes, including the Agricultural Transfer Taxes, if any, recordation taxes and fees, title examination costs, attorney fees, conveyance fees, notary fees, and all other incidental settlement costs.

If the purchaser defaults, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the premises at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser.

PROGRAMMER TRAINEES

If you like number problems and math, or if you're particularly good in music, we'd like to talk to you about your future. The area's only advanced computer software development firm is looking for a few exceptional people to train as computer programmers. No experience is required, but if you've worked with computers, it's a plus. Only a high school diploma is needed. If you have the aptitude we're looking for, we'll pay you while you learn the languages of computers. You'll be learning skills that will put you into a challenging and rewarding technical career with an unlimited future. To schedule an aptitude test, please call Kim at 746-5888.

EXPERIENCED 'C' PROGRAMMERS

If you're a talented 'C' programmer looking for new horizons, consider joining the team at Micro-Integration. We're looking for a few experienced and exceptional individuals to join us in our communications software development group. You'll enjoy big-company benefits and a small-company spirit, with unlimited opportunities for personal growth and recognition. To qualify, you need at least two and preferably five years' experience writing structured 'C' code, hopefully in an engineering or scientific environment. Real-time or communications programming experience is a plus. You need to be a top-notch programmer, with an excellent record of on-time in-budget delivery of projects. We'll provide you with an environment where the bureaucracy doesn't get in your way, all the tools you need are available, and your talents are appreciated. Please call Kim at 746-5888 to schedule an interview.

THE REHAB TRAINER is a new piece of equipment recently added to the Physical Therapy Department at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The trainer provides a means for aerobic exercise for patients who, for various reasons, are unable to walk, run, or ride a bicycle. It also provides therapy for persons with arm injuries and helps a physician determine levels of exercise tolerance for patients who cannot walk on a treadmill. Above, George Welling, a Mtn. Lake Park resident, experiments with the new machine.

New Rehab Trainer Added To Garrett Memorial's P.T. Dept.

The Physical Therapy Department of Garrett County Memorial Hospital announced this week that it recently purchased a new piece of equipment called the Rehab Trainer, which measures arm and leg strength and provides exercise and therapy for the arms and legs.

According to Theresa Hannibal, P.T., director of the department, the trainer has multiple uses. It can be utilized for aerobic exercise for those who are unable to walk, run, or ride a bicycle, as a result of problems such as a stroke, a broken leg, or paraplegia. It is also used after arm injuries, for a "frozen" shoulder, or after a stroke, where the repetitive circular movement puts the wrist, elbow, and shoulder through a gentle range of motion. If resistance is applied, strengthening is another benefit.

Additionally, the resistance which is measured in "watts," may be correlated to performance in a graded exercise test where the physician determines an individual's exercise tolerance. After a heart attack, if a person is unable to walk on a treadmill, the stress test may be performed on the rehab trainer instead. It provides one more option for monitored cardiac rehabilitation besides walking or bike riding, Ms. Hannibal explained.

"Thus far, patients who have used the rehab trainer are pleased with the results," she said. "The trainer is a simple concept with many practical uses. We are fortunate to be able to provide another option in our treatment of physical disability and promotion of fitness."

Training Course For Home Care Workers Slated

Regulations will soon require all paraprofessional home care workers to be certified in order to provide home care services to the public, according to the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging. With this in mind, there will be a statewide training program available for all homemaker/home health aides.

The training is free of charge and is open to any individual, regardless of income or age. The training will consist of 60 hours of classroom instruction in personal care, social skills, nutrition and home management. Classes will be held two afternoon/evenings per week at Allegany Community College, Cumberland, from September 6 through October 13.

For further information, persons may call Garrett County Area Agency on Aging at 334-9431, or they may contact Donna Walbert at ACC at 724-7700, or Anita Liss in Baltimore at (301) 669-9000.

Frostburg State Summer School Enrollment Up

Frostburg State University reports a 12 percent increase in course enrollments for both sessions of this year's summer school, according to the director of the program, Dr. Joseph Malak, dean of Graduate Studies and Extended Education. He pointed out that because of a course which will run during the month of August the final number of course enrollments for this year's summer school are expected to show a 15 percent overall increase. The second summer session wraps up on August 5.

Increases are noted in course enrollment figures for both sessions, as well as in the graduate management program, said Dr. Malak, comparing this year's unofficial totals to those of summer 1987. In the past two years, FSU's summer school program has had an overall 24 percent increase in course enrollments, added Dr. Malak.

He said that FSU's aggressive community outreach program combined with its efforts to make itself more available to the community have contributed to the successful increases. He explained that while the thrust of summer school is still on general education requirements, the university is also including more offerings to help the students advance in their major areas of study. In addition, more evening courses and more graduate courses leading to the master's degree are being scheduled during the summer sessions.

FSU has also stepped up its advertising efforts to include campus-wide distribution of summer session information and community-wide distribution of this information through the publication of the schedule booklet.

Frostburg State University, the regional state university for Western Maryland, begins its fall classes on Tuesday, August 30. The new FSU Center in Hagerstown, which officially opens with an all-day celebration on Monday, August 22, in Hagerstown, will begin its first semester of classes on Monday, August 29.

Miss Buckley Earns Achievement Award

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Mary Lou Buckley has been named a United States National Collegiate Award winner in sociology. Ms. Buckley, who attended Garrett Community College, was nominated for this National Award by Manning Smith, a director of student services, at the school. Her biography will appear in the Academy's Yearbook, published nationally.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of professors, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, and motivation to learn and improve.

We're Hear To Help

SMALL NEWS

Today's hearing aid bears as much resemblance in size to the larger models of past decades as a compact disc does to a long-playing phonograph record. When hearing aids were incorporated into eyeglasses in the 1950s, they were conspicuous accessories. Even crescent-shaped aids were relatively large by today's standards. However, miniaturization has changed the shape of the hearing aid industry. Sophisticated technology has led the way in component reduction to the point where aids now fit inside the ear. In fact, in-the-ear aids now account for about seventy percent of all hearing aids sold in this country. In addition, newer in-the-canal hearing aids are gaining ground. Although only available within the past few years, these tiny aids account for about ten percent of all in-the-ear aid sales.

For the hearing instruments with the size, shape and state-of-the-art capabilities that will provide the "sound" answers you desire, we invite you to come to ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES. Discover the experienced and concerned staff as well as the technologically available instruments that will make a difference in your life.

A person need not feel self-conscious about wearing one of today's tiny-sized hearing aids.

C&P Submits Compliance Filing On Reform Plan

The C&P Telephone Company of Maryland has submitted to the Maryland Public Service Commission a Compliance Filing regarding the Company's regulatory reform proposal. According to C&P spokesman Nancy Nemith, "C&P's filing addresses all of the concerns which the PSC stated in rejecting the original proposal on June 30, 1988. The Compliance Plan will still allow the Commission to gain experience with some regulatory reform now, while allowing sufficient time for the Commission to seek the legislative authority for further regulatory reform."

Specifically, C&P's compliance plan shortens the trial to two years, from the original four years. The company also will forego the flexibility that the trial, as originally proposed, would have given it to raise the rates for business message units, special access and low capacity private lines. By shortening the trial, C&P will have less of a need to increase these specific rates. C&P also will accept the PSC's determination of which tariffed services may be market priced for purposes of the trial.

With the shorter trial, the company also would forego a proposed contingency provision which was included in the original proposal. The contingency provision would have allowed any party to change frozen rates if government action caused the Company's net income to increase or decrease by more than $2.5 million.

The impact on customers would be a rate freeze on basic dial tone service until July 1, 1990. (On July 1, 1989, the monthly rate for dial tone service will decrease by 52 cents). Other basic rates — such as those for message units, charges for connecting new residence service, foreign exchange service, operator services, and others — also would not increase or decrease.

C&P had originally filed its proposal for regulatory reform last September 30, at the PSC's direction. Modifications were made to the proposal in December, to address concerns raised during discussions held by the PSC-appointed Task Force. Public and evidentiary hearings were held during the first part of 1988, prior to the PSC rejecting the proposal on June 30, 1988.

GRANTSVILLE NEWS

Word has been received of the death of Michael Brewer, who owns a farm and is a part time resident in the New Germany area. He died July 26 while visiting his mother at Newcomb, N.Y.

Mrs. Alice Younkin has returned home after having surgery at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland.

Mrs. Gloria McKenzie is ill at her home on the Maple Grove Road.

Mary Mague, daughter of former residents, James and Marie Mague, is spending three months in Geneva, Switzerland.

Scott and Stacey Wable, Ocean City, spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wable, and attended the wedding of Jill Margroff.

The area Churchmen's Picnic at the New Germany State Park on July 21, was termed a "big success." Pastor Cole of the United Church of Christ gave the invocation and 104 men shared a meal, which was provided by the United Church of Christ.

The program was provided by the United Methodist Chdurch. The music was provided by Mayard Miller and his barbershop quartet.

Charles Strauss of Accident, was the speaker, who related his life, and the history of "Camp Hickory," and how he spent his life to help children and youth.

The quartet sang "The Lord's Prayer," which was followed by the benediction by the Rev. Joseph Upole of the United Methodist Church.

Next year the Mennonite Church will provide the food and the United Church of Christ will provide the program.

The annual Broadwater Reunion will be held on August 7 at the Grantsville Park. Hot dog sandwiches and soft drinks will be available on the grounds. The Shady Mills group will provide entertainment. Gifts honoring special guests will be given. Everyone is welcome.

A class reunion of students from the Grantsville High School classes of the year of 1925 through 1934 was held Friday, July 29, at the Holiday Inn in Grantsville.

The Welcome was given by mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Dorothy (Edwards) Frame, of the graduating Class of 1929.

"America" was sung and a prayer was read in unison, led by the Rev. Joseph Lewis, from the graduating Class of 1931. A buffet dinner was served, with 66 persons in attendance.

Recognition of each Class was given by a class member. Recognition of the members of the combined classes were from 1925 to 1928 by Floyd Zehner, and the Class of 1929 by Zeola Robinson. Bertha Rodamer recognized the Class of 1930, Ferne (Buckle) Beachy, the Class of 1931, Walter Younkin, the Class of 1932, Marvin Warnick, the Class of 1933, and Mary Durst, the Class of 1934.

A memorial service was led by Zeola (Layman) Robinson from the Class of 1929, assisted by two members of each class. Prayer by Rev. Lewis followed.

A brief business meeting was held and the classes decided to have another reunion next year.

Attending from the Class of 1925 was Almira (Turner) Stanton. From the Class of 1927, attending were Mable (Younkin) Miller, and Walter Richenbecher. Attending from the Class of 1928, were Frank Zehner, Freda Thomas, Hilda (Folk) Peck and Leslie Stanton. The Class of 1929 was represented by Violet (Stephen) Bittinger, Mildred E. Beachy, Dorothy (Edwards) Frame, and Zeola (Layman) Robinson. The Class of 1932 representatives were Joseph Lewis, Helen (Miller) Dixon, Evelyn (Beachy) Hewitt, Esther Opel, Jennie Stark, Mabel (Duckworth) Brenneman, Harold Setzer, Anna Durst, Ferne (Buckle) Beachy, Melva (Ringer) Magnet, and Garnett Ringer. Present from the Class of 1932 were Rose (Miller) Monaham, George Murphy and Walter Younkin. The Class of 1933 was represented by Marvin Warnick, Laura Klotz, Clarence Murphy, Helen (Kamp) Dunn and Mabel (Resh) Miller. From the Class of 1934 were Mary (Merrill) Durst, Thelma Slane, Otis Kamp, Carl Duckworth, Wilma (Shafeur) Newberry and Albert L. Robinson. Spouses and guests also attended.

TO PERFORM AT THE FAIR — The Jubilators Gospel Quartet of Cumberland will be playing at the Garrett County Fair on Thursday, August 11, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the 4-H stage. The quartet began singing in 1966, and fills approximately 130 engagements a year at churches, civic organizations and fairs, traveling 15,000 miles or more a year. The members of the quartet, pictured above left to right, are: Jim Glover, first tenor; Gene Streett, lead; Delford Crowe, baritone; Pete Pritts, bass; and Keith Miller, bass guitar. Seated is Dottie Streett, pianist.

Handbook About The Gypsy Moth Now Available

As part of their continuing public education campaign on the gypsy moth, The American Forestry Association (AFA) has published the Gypsy Moth Handbook.

The gypsy moth, one of many forest pests, has caused the defoliation of millions of acres in recent years. "This year, the gypsy moth has struck farther South and with greater strength than expected," said Deborah Gangloff, AFA's director of communications. "The next few months is the time when homeowners can be most effective in protecting their trees, since the gypsy moths are laying their eggs at that time, and removing those eggs is one of the best control methods." The availability of this new information coincides with this crucial timing of the gypsy moth life cycle.

The 12-page handbook on gypsy moth control is an important addition to AFA's education program because it provides more detailed information for homeowners and other adults, Gangloff continued. "The handbook is meant to supplement our earlier Gypsy Moth Factsheet brochure which was designed for both adults and children."

For more information on how to obtain a copy, persons may write: Gypsy Moth Handbook, c/o AFA, P.O. Box 2000, Washington, D.C., 20013-2000; or call 1-800-368-5748.

QUALITY TIME WITH PARENTS HELPS KIDS GET THROUGH THE SUMMER

It's early summer, and most children are still reveling in their newfound freedom from school. They have no trouble finding things to do and ways to entertain themselves. But as the long, hot days drag on into August, they may become restless as they run out of ideas for new and different adventures.

Parents can help their children get through the dog days of summer — and the entire year for that matter — by sharing some quality time, says Billie H. Frazier, a human development specialist with The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

Dr. Frazier defines quality time as time when undivided attention is given, when both parent and child are listening attentively to each other and when values and interests are shared. "Spending quality time with children is critical in terms of helping them develop life skills and self esteem," she notes.

Unfortunately, many parents do not invest in this valuable activity. The average mother spends 11 minutes of quality time with her children on weekdays and 30 minutes with them on Saturdays and Sundays, according to a study by a major university. The average father spent even less time reading, talking or directly playing with his children.

Although careers may place limitations on time spent with children, Frazier encourages working parents to explore their options. "Neighborhood babysitting co-ops are a marvelous alternative to traditional day care," she says. "Depending on your work situation, you may be able to share responsibility for child care with other parents. This arrangement keeps children in the community, fosters a neighborhood support group and provides children with other adults to whom they can turn if you aren't around."

Taking advantage of flex-time, where it is available, can help working parents spend more time with their children, especially if both parents have the option.

"Flex-time is one of the best ideas to come down the pike in a long time in terms of improving family life," Frazier says. She expects more and more employers to offer flexible hours as the number of working individuals with children or elderly relatives requiring care increases.

"When you are home with your children, finding ways to enjoy quality time together isn't difficult," says Frazier, "but it doesn't just happen. It takes thought and planning. Forget the manuals and just enjoy your children."

Frazier recommends that parents include their children in decisions about how to spend quality time together. "Discuss children's interests with them. One of the keys to successful quality time is to engage in activities that both you and your children enjoy," she stresses.

When Frazier's children were small, she kept an easel and paints set up in the basement for family painting sessions. Afterwards, she decorated the house with her children's artwork. "This gave them a sense of pride and accomplishment," she recalls.

There's no reason why cleaning time can't also be quality time, Frazier notes, as long as you and your children do chores together. Rather than assigning chores, she advises parents to let children share in discussions about what needs to be done and who wants to do it. "Find something they like to do," she says.

Frazier also suggests that parents expand their children's horizons by taking them on outings to the library, nature centers and historical points of interest. "The Baltimore-Washington metropolitan area, in particular, offers a wealth of things to do," she says. "The challenge isn't so much finding something to do but choosing among all the alternatives."

"Going Places with Children in Washington" by Green Acres School and "Saturday's Child: Rainy Days, Sunny Days" by Deborah Churchman and Anne Oman are two books Frazier recommends as a starting point for activities in the Washington, D.C., area. Similar books about smaller communities can often be found in supermarkets, drugstores and local bookstores.

Extension 4-H programs, including special interest clubs and day and overnight camping sessions, offer additional opportunities for young people throughout Maryland. Phone numbers of county Extension offices are included in county government listings.

Whoo's News

by Loretta Wotring
Public Relations chairman

Who ever said the "Lazy Days of Summer" did not live in Garrett County. She probably was not a Homemaker and she never participated in the Garrett County Fair. Due to the disagreement in scheduling the change has put a rush on us all. Hopefully the drought conditions, hot summer heat and frantic rush will not put a damper on our spirits. It will be another successful fair and all you need to do is bring your entries and join us.

The Homemakers booth will be featuring a computer program on Financial Management. The Loch Lynn Homemakers Club will do demonstrations on quilting. A quilt top will be on display and you may even get some hands-on experience. Flyers will be posted as to starting times and demonstrations. Volunteers are still needed and you are asked to call the Extension Office if you can serve as Host/Hostess in the Home Arts Building. Please!

The subject of quilts is always a fascinating one. The Maryland Extension County Council is interested in your old quilts. A quilt Documentation Project is currently underway and if you possess or know someone who owns a quilt made between the years of 1634-1934, please contact Lorraine Ledden at 334-4280 or the Extension Office at 334-1990. Remember the Extension Service programs are open to all citizens without regard to race, color, sex, handicap, religion, age, or national origin.

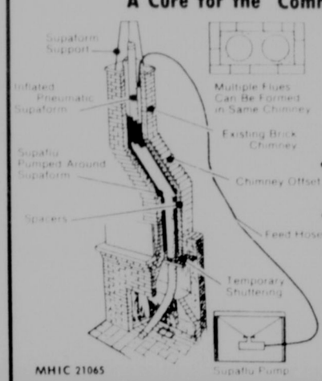

Some dates that you may wish to take note are: October 4, the Garrett County Homemakers Achievement Day. Registration at 9:30. More information will be forthcoming. Also, August 23, 1988, next County Council Meeting from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College.

Our Homemaker Clubs, one of which is Deer Park, are still holding their monthly meetings. Fifteen members attended the July meeting at the Fire Hall in Deer Park. One member, Janet Browning, was able to attend for the first time after a lengthy stay in the hospital. Also, get well soon to Lena Shahan and Betty White!

See you at the fair.

St. John's Has Successful Week Of Bible School

St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House, closed its week of Vacation Bible School with a picnic, balloon launch, display of crafts, and program for parents on Friday evening, July 15.

"We had a dedicated cooperative staff, students with high interest and enthusiasm; therefore, a lot of learning and fun took place," stated Barbara Flinn, director, who noted there was an average daily attendance of 98.

A collection of $200 was sent to assist Lutheran children at their home in Zelienople, Pa. This donation was one of the service projects accomplished by the VBS. Another was the collection of materials for school kits. Tablets, scissors, rulers, pencils, pencil sharpeners, erasers, crayons and construction paper were collected and will be placed in cloth bags and sent through Lutheran World Relief to needy children overseas.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Flinn, the staff included teachers, Elaine Roth, Denise Reese, Tracey Bachtel, Renee Gaither, Phyllis Stemple, Diana Rinehart, Terri McWilliams, Helen Roth, Denise Bachtel, Pat Rolf, and Tina Winters. Craft teachers were Joyce Ridder, Rachel Knepp, and Carol Lipscomb; pianist was Elaine Roth; and song leader was Terri McWilliams. Classes were held for nursery children through teens.

St. John's Vacation Bible School will be held the second week of July (10-14) 1989 and all Red House area youth are welcome.

Pollock Reunion Held At Broadford

The third Annual Pollock reunion was held Saturday, July 30, at Broadford Park, Oakland.

The 40 family members attending were the daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mary (Gonder) Pollock, Oakland, and the late James L. Pollock. Relatives came from California, North Dakota, Virginia, New Jersey, and various parts of Maryland. Prizes were awarded to winners of various games and contests.

The annual newsletter, compiled by the eldest grandchild, Sharon McFarland, was given to each member. Ms. McFarland is the daughter of the late Harriett Pollock McAllister. Mrs. Pollock's three daughters, 22 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren scheduled next year's reunion for the last Saturday of July 1989.

Judge Thayer Orders PSI For Local Man

Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation for an Oakland man after finding him guilty of charges of theft and breaking and entering during a trial held last week in Garrett County Circuit Court.

Robert E. Johnson Jr., 23, pled guilty to the charges, which stemmed from separate incidents in McHenry and Oakland last fall. Johnson's bail was revoked.

According to court documents, Johnson removed personal property from two residences. A second theft charge and one count of destruction of property were not prosecuted by the court.

Johnson was represented by Bill L. Smith.

A pre-sentence investigation was also ordered for Daniel A. Atkinson, 40, Baltimore, for two counts of battery. His bail was set at $1000.

The charges stemmed from February 23 and March 2, 1988, incidents in Mtn. Lake Park.

Judge Thayer ordered a bench warrant for James R. Beckman, 48, Oakland, when he failed to appear for his scheduled trial. Beckman was charged with bigamy.

In an appeal from Garrett County District Court, Pamela M. Wallett, 40, Havre DeGrace, was found to be not guilty of driving while intoxicated and driving while under the influence of alcohol. Wallett's $200 fine from District Court was refunded.

Charges of negligent driving and failing to reduce the speed of a vehicle to avoid a collision were dismissed by the court. Wallett was represented by Richard F. Green.

In another appeal case, Ronnie V. Carlisle, 30, Deer Park, was found to be guilty of a reckless driving charge. The charge stemmed from a March 18, 1988, incident in McHenry.

Carlisle was ordered to pay $195 in court costs within 30 days.

Card Of Thanks

Brandon Moreland, son of Royce and Vonda Moreland, would like to thank all of you who sent cards, flowers, gifts, called and came to see him during his stay at Garrett County Memorial Hospital following his bicycle accident, June 30.

A special thank-you to the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, Dr. Lewis, Garrett County Memorial Hospital Emergency Room staff, Dr. Johnson, 3rd floor nurses and aides, Rev. Harmon, hospital Chaplain, and Dr. D.S. Buchannon.

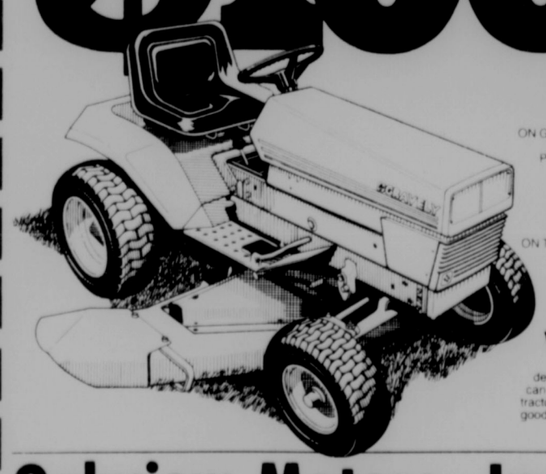

A very special thank-you goes to Charlie Stoner for being there for Brandon when he most needed him. If not for Charlie, Brandon probably would have had more problems than he did. Our gratitude is never ending.

Brandon is recovering satisfactorily at home now and has been semi-released from doctors' care.

Anyone still wishing to call him may do so. He enjoys hearing from all his friends. Sometimes the days go by slowly for a 10 year old restricted from many activities.

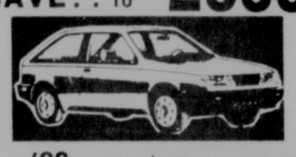

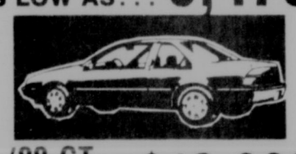

Thank-you again,

Grantsville Men Get Four Years For Drug Charges

Two Grantsville men were sentenced for drug charges by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer last Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court.

Gregory A. Jones, 33, and Terry A. Spiker, 27, were each sentenced to four years in the Department of Corrections for the charges. Jones pled guilty to a charge of possession with intent to distribute marijuana, while Spiker gave a guilty plea for possession of an instrument of controlled dangerous substance.

The charges stemmed from the March 5, 1988, execution of search and seizure warrants at their residences. The search led to the discovery of approximately 24 grams of marijuana, various controlled dangerous substance paraphernalia, and a scale.

Other charges against Jones included possession of marijuana, possession of drug paraphernalia, possession of an instrument of controlled dangerous substance, and com-

Accident Man Dies Thursday Of Bullet Wound

An Accident man died Thursday morning after he was shot during a domestic altercation with his father, a retired Maryland State Police lieutenant.

Hugh Allen McCormick, 26, sustained a single bullet wound to his chest from a .38 caliber handgun. He was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad following the shooting shortly after 3 a.m., where he died at 4:24 a.m.

According to the Maryland State Police, the shooting involved retired Lt. Hugh Keith McCormick, 48, and occurred at his residence on the Rabbit Hollow Road near Accident.

The elder McCormick reportedly sustained minor abrasions and bruises during the altercation, and did not require medical treatment. Police said the handgun was recovered at the scene of the shooting.

Police reported that the incident is still under investigation, and no charges have been filed at this time.

Born May 24, 1962, at Madison, W.Va., Hugh A. McCormick was the son of Hugh K. and Janet (Charcandy) McCormick, Accident.

He was employed with the Baker Contracting Company, Westminster.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Renee (June) McCormick; one son, Hugh A. McCormick Jr.; two daughters, Danielle I. McCormick and Nicole M. McCormick, all at home; one brother, Jonathan K. McCormick, Accident; and two sisters, Teresa I. Clawson, Fort Sill, Okla.; and Jackie L. McCormick, Hampstead.

A service was conducted Saturday in the Rocky Gap Veteran's Chapel, near Flintstone, by the Rev. Wilfred Carsten. Interment was in the Rocky Gap Veteran's Cemetery.

The Newman Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Jim McKay To Be Grand Marshal Of Autumn Glory Festival Parade

ABC Sports Commentator Jim McKay has been named Grand Marshal of the 21st Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade, which will be held Saturday, October 15, beginning at 1 p.m. in downtown Oakland. The parade is among the highlights of the four-day Autumn Glory Festival celebration, which will be held October 13-16.

In 1968, McKay became the first sports commentator ever to win an Emmy Award; since then, he has won nine more, including the 1981-82 Emmy as Outstanding Sports Personality/Host. For 1972, he was given two Emmys, one for sports coverage and the other for news reporting of the tragic events surrounding the Black September terrorists' attack on the Israeli athletes in the Olympic Village in Munich. McKay is further distinguished among sports commentators by having received the George Polk Memorial Award for Journalism for his work in Munich. He says he is "extremely proud" of that award, since only one is given annually in the field of network TV. The West German Federal Republic awarded him the Officer's Cross of the Legion of Merit for his reporting from Munich in 1972. The Austrian Government awarded him the Olympic Medal in 1977 for his work at the 1976 Innsbruck Winter Games.

Overall, McKay has covered 10 Olympics and all were for ABC, except the 1960 Rome Games, which he hosted for CBS. Most recently, he anchored the prime-time portion of ABC Sports' record-breaking coverage of the 1984 Summer Olympics in Los Angeles. He was the first American network sports commentator to visit mainland china and the People's Republic.

"ABC's Wide World of Sports" has begun its second quarter of a century of sports

International Whitewater Classic Has Nearly $3 Million Impact

A total economic impact of $2.12 million in additional gross sales and $755,000 in additional employee income, resulted from The Maryland International Canoe/Kayak Classic held in June at the Savage River in Garrett County, according to a release from Whitewater Championship Inc.

This impact assessment, based on a study recently completed by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development, further indicated that a total fiscal cash flow impact from major taxes generated by the 1988 event amounted to $103,800. The study requested by Whitewater Championship Inc., organizers of the event, complements the finding of a survey of businesses in Allegany and Garrett counties recently conducted by this organization. The overall results of this review reflected a favorable, beneficial impact on motels, restaurants and other service related businesses in the area. The impact reported by the majority of firms surveyed ranged from a 10 to 30 percent increase in business activity during the one-week event.

State Senator John N. Bambacus stated that the favorable economic impact of this year's event "fully demonstrates the potential for this type of activity to stimulate the local economy and fuel the fire of capitalism within Western Maryland."

Realizing this favorable economic benefit achieves one of the primary objectives of the whitewater event, according to Don Storck, executive director of Whitewater Championships, Inc.

"The World Canoe/Kayak Championships scheduled for June 11-25, 1989, have the potential for producing significantly greater economic benefits for the area," Storck said.

Local Woman Sentenced For Child Desertion

A McHenry woman was sentenced to two years in the Department of Corrections for a charge of desertion of a minor child during Garrett County District Court proceedings last week.

Patricia A. Wood, 31, was sentenced by Judge Jack Turney. The judge then suspended one year and nine months of the sentence, placing Wood on four years supervised probation.

The charge was filed by Tfc. Jon B. Dudiak of the Maryland State Police following a May 30 incident in McHenry involving Wood's son.

In another case, the judge found John M. Miller, 51, Aurora, W.Va., to be guilty of charges of malicious destruction of the property of another and breaking and entering.

Grantsville House Fire Blamed On Electrical Short

A fire believed to have started as a result of an electrical short in a wall caused an estimated $7,000 damage to a Grantsville area house Monday evening.

Grantsville and Bittinger volunteer firefighters responded to the residence of Willard Wilt family, located along Jennings Road three miles south of Grantsville, at 7 p.m. Upon arrival, they discovered flames coming from a section of the roof and several windows on the first floor of the two-story wood-frame home.

According to Herman Yoder, chief of the Grantsville VFD, the members of the family were not at home at the time of the fire. He said firefighters were able to bring the fire under control quickly, and limit the majority of fire damage to an addition on the house. He said there was some heat and smoke damage in the remainder of the house, but the family was able to remain in the home. The kitchen and bathroom area of the house sustained the most damage.

Yoder said the blaze appeared to have originated in a wall in the addition and was probably electrical in nature. James Martin, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties, is investigating the incident.

Firemen remained on the scene until about 9:45 p.m. Also responding was the Northern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported.

Elaine Cummings Wins 1988 Garrett County Farm Queen Title

Elaine Ann Cummings was crowned the 1988 Garrett County Farm Queen in a ceremony sponsored by Farm Bureau, Sunday evening on the 4-H stage at the fair. Elaine, who is the 18-year-old daughter of Keith and Ivadine Cummings of Oakland, is a 1988 graduate of Southern High School, and intends to continue to work on the family dairy farm and study secretarial science in the future.

On the family farm, Elaine helps feed the animals, clean the barn, milk, and wash the milking equipment. She also helps prepare the ground for planting crops, helps make hay and harvest crops, mows the lawn and helps in the garden.

The new Farm Queen has been a 4-H member for six years, serving as secretary of her club for five of those six years. Her 4-H projects have included raising poultry and turkeys for four years, and various sewing projects.

In high school, Elaine was president of the Future Business Leaders of America. She serves as pianist, choir member, secretary and primary Bible School teacher of her church, and is also secretary of Helping Hands.

When at home, Elaine enjoys playing the piano, horseback riding, reading a good book, and working on the farm during the quiet of the day.

The first runner-up is Darla Fay Broadwater, the daughter of Dayton and Bernice Broadwater, Grantsville. Darla will help the queen with activities during the week.

Elaine will travel to Timonium for the State Farm Queen orientation on Tuesday, August 16. The state contest will be held at the Maryland State Fair on Sunday, August 28.

Also taking part in this year's Farm Queen Contest were: Rebecca DeBerry, Frances Bachtel, and Jennifer Birkby. The five contestants were interviewed by the mistress of ceremonies, Debra DeWitt Barnard, the 1970 Garrett County Farm Queen. In this interview, they told the judges and the audience about their farm responsibilities and future plans. Each of

GCC Credit Enrollments Up 5% Last Year; Soaring For This Fall

Garrett Community College announced this week that its credit enrollments jumped over five percent last year.

College funding from the state and county depends in part on full-time equivalent students or FTE's, according to a GCC spokesman. Last year 297.74 credit FTE's enrolled compared with 282.50 the previous year, an increase of 15.24, or 5.4 percent.

The spokesman said the upward trend started last year has accelerated for the Fall 1988 enrollment. As of August 5, the College had enrolled 293 students for a total of 116 FTE. This figure compares with 171 students and 75 FTE last year at the same time, putting the College over 100 students ahead of last year and 50 percent higher in FTE. The College is now within 25 FTE of the total FTE enrollment last fall with over five weeks of registration remaining.

Commenting on the sharp enrollment increases, GCC President Dr. Steve Herman stated, "I'm sure that the spectacular enrollment we're seeing reflects the restored confidence the people of Garrett County have in the College. Community college enrollments are up throughout the state, but I don't think any other college is experiencing anything remotely cisoe to what's happening at Garrett. The faculty and staff who stuck with this college through thick and thin deserve the credit for this Oakland Company Pledges $20,000 To Garrett Mem.

Rob Sharps, general chairman for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Capital Campaign, announced today that the campaign is now over the $900,000 mark, "thanks to a very generous gift from Beachy Lumber Company."

The $20,000 gift from Beachy Lumber will assist the hospital in purchasing needed equipment and establishing an endowment to fund future capital needs and improvements.

Carl Fike, of Beachy Lumber, stated, "We feel a responsibility to our employees, not only to provide health care benefits, but to guarantee that they have a good health care facility when they or their family need it."

The campaign is in its final days and Sharps said he is "confident" that the goal of $1,000,000 in pledges will be exceeded.

Young W.Va. Man Dies Saturday In Car Mishap

A young Preston County, W.Va., man died Saturday when his car struck a tree on Route 7 just across the Maryland state line.

Robert Bryan Severe, 25, of Terra Alta, was prounounced dead at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was transported by Terra Alta Ambulance Service following the accident.

According to the Preston County Sheriff's Department, Severe was operating a 1985 Ford Escort at an apparent high rate of speed when the vehicle ran off the road, struck a tree and bounced back onto the roadway. The accident is reportedly still under investigation.

Born April 9, 1963, in Oakland, Mr. Severe was a son of Robert Allen and Clemie (Bowling) Severe. He was a construction truck driver.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by one brother, Mark Severe, Gaithersburg; three sisters, Sherry Cole and Carol and Michele Severe, all of Terra Alta; and his maternal grandmother, Hazel Bowling, Terra Alta.

Friends were received at the Arthur H. Wright Funeral Home, Terra Alta, where a service was held Monday with the Rev. Rex R. Coffman officiating. Interment was in the Terra Alta Cemetery.

READY FOR THE RACE — Mary Sutcliffe, pictured above, will be the oldest Garrett County participant in the Best of the West Triathlon this Saturday. Sutcliffe, 60, recently retired to Garrett County from New Hampshire with her husband, Herb. The Sutcliffes discovered Garrett County because of their love of skiing, and have been spending summer vacations at Deep Creek Lake for the past 20 years. Sutcliffe remains active with aerobics classes at Brenda's Body Shop. She entered a triathlon several years ago at Deep Creek Lake, and was able to cross the finish line, although she arrived one hour behind the other participants. The triathlon begins at 9 a.m. at Broadford Park. Various other activites will be available for spectators throughout the day.

AN ELECTRICAL SHORT was most likely the cause of a fire that resulted in at least $7,000 to this two-story frame house near Grantsville Monday evening. Quick action by the Grantsville and Bittinger volunteer fire departments saved most of the structure, however, and the Willard Wilt family was able to remain in the house this week. None of the Wilt family was home at the time of the fire and there were no injuries reported.

Several Thefts Under Police Investigation

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment this week are investigating a breaking and entering theft at a farm house off the Bishoff Road near Hoyes.

According to police, the break-in is the second that occurred at the residence of Harriett E. Frazee since early May. Stolen items include an antique brass bed and a chest of drawers.

The theft is under the investigation of Tpr. R.T. Wilson.

A theft was reported by Charles W. Grove, Elkins, W.Va., last week.

According to police reports, the incident occurred between July 4 and July 22, and involved the theft of a portable gas grill and a hot plate from the porch of Grove's summer home. Total loss was valued at $300.

Man Arrested For DWI, Two Drug Charges

A Mtn. Lake Park man was charged with driving while intoxicated and several drug counts early Sunday morning by the Maryland State Police.

Franklin James Knox was charged by Tpr. J.K. Moore around 12:03 a.m. According to police reports, Knox was originally arrested for DWI. However, a search led to the discovery of a controlled dangerous substance in his clothing.

Additional charges included possession of suspected marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. Knox was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing, according to police reports.

Grantsville Man "Stable" After Sunday Mishap

A Grantsville man remains in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, as the result of a two-vehicle accident early Sunday morning on U.S. Route 40 which involved a DWI charge.

Morris E. Warnick, 34, was transported to the hospital by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad following the 12:30 a.m. accident.

According to police reports, Warnick was a passenger in a 1982 Ford Mustang operated by Darrell W. Miller, 30, also of Grantsville.

Miller was traveling east, and reportedly failed to reduce the speed of his vehicle for a 1976 Ford pick-up truck operated by David E. Burow, 16, Grantsville. Burow had pulled onto the road from a private driveway, and was accelerating. Miller's car struck Burow's vehicle in the rear.

The accident was investigated by Tfc. R.C. Resh, who charged Miller with driving while under the influence of alcohol and failing to control the speed of his vehicle.

Miller was transported to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, but reportedly refused treatment. Burow was treated at the scene of the accident for minor injuries.

A motorcycle accident occurred Saturday on a private road near the Shingle Camp Road.

According to police reports, the vehicle was operated by Jeffery S. Zimmerman, 24, Silver Spring, and was carrying Matthew A. Smith, 24, Bethesda, as a passenger.

The vehicle reportedly struck a clump of dirt, causing Smith to be ejected. He was taken to Garrett Memorial Hospital by a private vehicle, where he was treated and released according to a spokesman.

The incident was investigated by Tfc. R.T. Wilson.

Family Crisis Resource Center Awarded Funds

Garrett County's Family Crisis Resource Center received word this week from the Board of Public Works that it will receive state funding to provide services to women.

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced the Board's approval of contracts totaling $5,310,776 to 39 such agencies throughout the state of Maryland. The Family Crisis Resource Center will receive $75,088.

Among the services which will be receiving funds are shelter for homeless women, programs for displaced homemakers, and services to victims of rape and domestic violence.

Chaired by the Governor, the Board of Public Works is also comprised of Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Lucille Maurer. The board is authorized by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions and other procurement actions.

"It is vital that we provide these support services for women and their children," Governor Schaefer said. "They are particularly vulnerable during times of personal crisis and transition and often have no place to turn for help. It is important for us to be there with the necessary services so that they can put their lives back together."

The funded services are part of the Women's Services program of the Community Services Administration, Maryland Department of Human Resources. Women's Services programs include Battered Spouse, Displaced Homemaker, Rape Crisis and Sexual Assault, Shelter for Homeless Women, and Transitional Housing for Women.

"Addressing the problems faced by women as single parents struggling to provide a decent life for their families has become a priority for our social service system," Secretary of Human Resources Ruth Massinga said. "We are pursuing long-term solutions and are making every effort to put into place programs which will enable women, whose circumstances demand it, to become self-sufficient and to provide for themselves and their children."

About nine ounces of dirt is wiped, swept and vacuumed out of the average home every week.

HOSPITAL PURCHASES NEW EQUIPMENT — Because of the success of its capital fund-raising campaign, the Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently purchased two new pieces of equipment. Pictured above is the new Holter Monitor, which is used to record heart tracings and replaces the former heavy, awkward Holter system. On the right, Mary E. Lewis and Rosalee Finch, mammography technicians, demonstrate the new Xerox 126 Processor Conditioner System which is used for performing mammography procedures.

Hospital Campaign Allows Purchase Of Equipment At Garrett Memorial

As a result of the success of the current capital fund-raising campaign of the Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the administration of the hospital announced this week that two new pieces of equipment have been purchased, one for the Cardiopulmonary Department and the other for the Radiology Department.

Eric Tribbey, director of the Cardiopulmonary Department, has announced the purchase of a Holter Monitor, which continuously records a patient's heart tracings for 24 hours.

The Holter Monitor has been available to patients of GCMH for eight years, Tribbey said. However, anyone who has had this procedure can attest that the monitor is very heavy — about six pounds, almost as large as a shoebox, and uncomfortable to wear in public since it was worn around the waist with wires attached to the chest.

Tribbey says the new monitor weighs only five and one-half ounces, fits easily into a shirt pocket and is a clock for the patient to note what time symptoms occur which may be cardiac events.

The new Holter Monitor captures every heartbeat in two separate and different channels for a 24-hour period. Dr. Robert Goralski and Dr. Thomas Johnson, the interpreting physicians, review every beat, which is about 2,000 in a 24-hour period. They can then determine how a patient's heart behaved any second of any hour that the monitor was being worn.

Mike Reed, director of the Radiology Department, has announced the purchase of a new Xerox 126 Processor Conditioner system.

The new system replaces an older, refurbished Xerox 125 Processor Conditioner System.

Reed said the primary use of the new system will be for performing mammography procedures (breast x-rays). It will also be used for localizing small foreign bodies, such as glass and splinters, plus small bone fractures that are difficult to see on conventional x-ray films.

The xeroradiography process is different from the conventional x-ray process, Reed explained. The xeroradiography process provides the radiologist with a more detailed image of body tissue, which can be read under normal room light without the aid of a viewbox.

Reed said that since the installation of the new Xerox unit, equipment down-time has been significantly reduced, and patients do not have to wait as long to obtain their mammograms.

Gov. Schaefer Announces 9.5 Percent Jump In Maryland Tourism Business

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced this week that travelers spent more than $5.2 billion in Maryland during 1987, an increase of 9.5 percent over the $4.8 billion spent during 1986.

"Because this figure exceeds the estimated national growth rate of 7.7 percent, we attribute the increase to our efforts to encourage Marylanders to become tourists in their own backyards," Governor Schaefer said.

"The Economic Impact of Travel on Maryland Counties: 1987" was prepared for the Office of Tourism Development by the U.S. Travel Data Center in Washington, D.C. Among its findings was that travel expenditures generated a combined sum of $710.4 million for federal, state and local governments, helping to finance public services enjoyed by all Maryland residents.

Travel expenditures directly generated 96,500 jobs within the state, according to Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) Secretary J. Randall Evans. "Maryland's travel-related employment increased 6.5 percent in 1987 compared to a 3.4 percent increase in total state nonagricultural employment," said Evans.

"Had travel and tourism suddenly ceased in 1987, the number of jobs in Maryland would have fallen 4.0 percent and hundreds of businesses would have been forced to close. The average tax bill would have had to rise $116 per family, and local governments would have had to raise taxes $53 per family," said Dan McLeod, director of DEED's Office of Tourism Development.

According to McLeod, the new data shows that the total $5.2 billion in travel expenditures averages out to $217 million per county. Anne Arundel County, including the Baltimore-Washington International Airport and the City of Annapolis, attracted $1,178 million, 23 percent of the total. BWI Airport accounts for well over half of the travel spending in Anne Arundel County.

Montgomery County ranked second with $764 million, Worcester County (in which Ocean City is located) ranked a close third with $672 million, and Baltimore City's $665 million placed fourth in total travel-generated expenditures during 1987.

The survey showed that the payroll to employees directly serving travelers in Maryland was approximately $1,197 million, a 10 percent increase over the previous year. Anne Arundel County's share was $306 million, and Baltimore City posted nearly $159 million, followed by Montgomery County with $151 million.

"All Maryland counties received substantial economic benefit from the expenditures of travelers. We are pleased to see that our partnerships with county tourism officials and the private-sector Maryland Travel Council have produced a new vigor in marketing efforts throughout the state," said McLeod.

McLeod cited as examples the Southern Maryland region's new radio ad campaign inviting visitors to their part of the state, plans for a passenger steam train in Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore's efforts to improve signage at historical sites. "Governor Schaefer recognizes that tourism is an important part of economic development, and his message has reached every region of Maryland with tangible results," said McLeod.

McLeod said that his office followed the governor's lead in targeting Marylanders as an expanded source of tourism. "We sponsored inter-regional competition for seasonal events geared to residents of the state, and geared our advertising campaign to the same market," said McLeod. "The results of this survey tell us that this strategy is working, and explains our growth at nearly two percent over the national average," he said.

Describing the marketing campaign as "promoting Maryland to Marylanders," McLeod said that by acquainting residents with the many attractions statewide, he hoped to make them part of his "sales staff" in spreading the word to out-of-state friends and relations.

Salvaging Our Past . . .

The preservation of our past often involves no more than a written history, some museum pieces, and possibly a few photographs. Through apathy, neglect, and a lack of money, most of the old buildings and structures gradually disappear, one by one. The enormous Deer Park Hotel, the National Hotel in Grantsville, the 5,000-seat amphitheatre in Mountain Lake Park, and scores of houses in all parts of the county are examples of such casualties.

Once in a while, though, one or more local citizens have the foresight and determination to act before it is too late to salvage one or more of these valuable, antique structures. The Accident Cultural and Historical Society is an organization of such citizens.

The Society is now involved in a major project to save and restore a landmark known as the Drane House, which is believed to be the oldest standing structure in Garrett County. Located off the Accident-Bittinger Road just east of Accident, it was built around 1800 by James Drane, a tobacco farmer and the first permanent settler in the Accident area. Although listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1985, the house has been vacant for many years, while vandalism and natural forces have taken a great toll.

Through the efforts of several Accident citizens, including the Mayor and Town Council, and with endorsements from the Garrett County Historical Society and various elected officials, an application was made to the Maryland Historic Trust for grant monies to be issued in Fiscal Year 1989. In July of last year, the town was informed that the Drane House project ranked first among 36 under consideration. The town government then formed the Accident Cultural and Historical Society last October.

The cost of the project is expected to be at least $80,000, with half of that covered by the grant monies and an additional $10,000 contributed by the Mayor and Town Council. The remainder is now being solicited by the Society.

Thus, the purpose of this column today is two-fold. First, we wish to commend the members of the Society and the Mayor and Town Council of Accident for their initiative and professionalism in this most worthy project. They should be proud of their efforts. They have set a great example by showing what is possible in the area of preservation when persons make a commitment and work together. We wish only that more people like them had been around when so many of our other historic landmarks were either falling down or were slated for destruction.

Secondly, we encourage local persons to send a tax-deductible donation to support this project. Checks should be made out to the Drane House Preservation Fund and mailed to the Accident Cultural and Historical Society, P.O. Box 190, Accident, MD 21520. A free brochure which tells all about the project is also available and various gifts are awarded to donors by the Society, depending upon the level of giving.

Let us all pitch in to save and restore our county's oldest structure.

Letters to the Editor

Correction Noted

Editor's note: It was stated in the editorial last week that Senator Jennings Randolph served 26 years in the House of Representatives and 14 years in the Senate. It should have stated that he served 14 years in the House and 26 in the Senate. We regret the error.

To the Editor:

Mr. Paul Naylor's dream of the future for all children of Garrett County is commendable, and he is correct in saying that our elected officials must be accountable for the best schools possible, and that the taxpayers should be willing to foot the bill. As for competing with Russia or Japan, their classrooms are filled with uniformed, robot-like students, who are so pressured by parents and government to excel or be relegated to a life-long menial job, that the suicide rate is high among these students. Our children don't need that kind of learning atmosphere.

As for Garrett County, it was very depressing to spend a few hours in a local grocery store volunteering for the Friends of the Library, having parents openly admit that they never paid a visit to the library. Watching them come through the check-out lines with baskets of junk foods, it was obvious that the only reading matter in their homes must have been a potato chip bag or candy wrapper. Children from this type of home environment have special educational needs, and it is hoped that modern vocational classes with the most advanced equipment will be offered to them so that they will find employment in today's service industries. Most of these children will have no need for college preparatory subjects, but they should share in the educational plans of the county.

My dream for all children is that, whatever vocation or profession they may choose, somewhere along the way they may be taught the importance of helping to combat the ills of the world: man's inhumanity to man, hunger, poverty, and disease, and that instead of rushing through life, they will look at all the natural beauty that surrounds them, and that they will take a few minutes to stop and smell the roses.

Barbara Ward

To the Editor:

It's my understanding that the movie, "The Last Temptation of Christ," is being rushed into theaters a month ahead of schedule, and will be viewed somewhere in the nation as this issue of The Republican is being read.

I believe the excerpts from this movie as shown on TV, and the news articles we've read, only "scratch the surface" in depicting its real message. Only demonic minds could conceive and produce such blasphemy against the Lord, Jesus Christ.

I wonder how long will God withhold His wrath?

Sincerely,
Anita J. Brobst

To the Editor:

I would like to say that I agree 100% with Mr. Stockslager, Class of '44. Education is not enhanced by modern buildings. If children could learn in a little one-room school where one teacher taught grades one through eight, then the children should learn today when teachers don't teach eight different grades and subjects. Even today, teachers have to have teacher aides, which doesn't make a lot of sense.

When you go to high school, a teacher teaches history, science, or whatever subject, and that is it. I never had one that taught more than three subjects. The same teacher taught typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping, and did a fine job.

It seems teachers today are never satisfied with what they make for nine months or less out of the year, but policemen work for half what the teachers make and put their life on the line every day, because of some of these kids who don't have any respect for anything or anyone.

All you have to do is to go out to a local parking lot and see the broken beer bottles, broken glass and trash that is thrown all over the place every night. Is that what they learn in school and at home? The teachers aren't to blame for all of this because teaching begins at home, and the kids aren't to blame for all of it either. The parents hand them the car keys and as long as they are out of sight and out of mind, everything is fine. They don't care where they are or what they are doing and that is plain to be seen.

I am sure others agree with Mr. Stockslager, but they may not write to the editor and say so. The county commissioners' decision was right and I hope they will stick to it. Taxes are high enough for lots of people now.

If anyone wants an education bad enough, they can get it no matter where it is. The building has nothing to do with it.

Mrs. W. G. Gnegy

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

HONORING MARYLAND'S CITIZEN SOLDIERS PAST AND PRESENT

by Governor William Donald Schaefer

When I entered the Army in 1942, I never dreamed that someday I would be "commander-in-chief" of some of Maryland's finest citizen-soldiers. Serving as chief of the Maryland National Guard is one of the highest honors accorded to the state's governor and I consider it a great privilege.

I have never met a more outstanding group of men and women than the members of the Maryland National Guard. They have more pride and confidence, more dedication and enthusiasm than any group I have seen in a long, long time. I got to see that tremendous pride and accomplishment first hand recently when I went "on maneuvers" with the Maryland Army National Guard's 29th Infantry Division (Light) and the Maryland Air National Guard at Fort A.P. Hill located near Fredericksburg, Virginia. What a tremendous experience!

The exercise, Operation Thunderbolt II, was the Guard's largest since 1982. It was an opportunity for these very dedicated soldiers to show what they have learned and what they can do. And they can do a lot!

For two days, we watched one breathtaking demonstration after another — perfectly coordinated parachute jump, an intricate rappelling exercise moving infantrymen from aircraft to ground, an awesome display of live weapon firing, and exquisitely timed helicopter and air assault. While we all hope and pray that we will never need these skills, it was reassuring to know that we have such professional and prepared soldiers in this country.

I wish that every Maryland citizen could have been there. It is hard to describe the impression that this exercise left with me. Competence, professionalism, patriotism — they were all there, but the thing I will remember most is the pride of every participant. Each and every soldier was immensely proud of what they could do and what it could mean to this country. From the most senior officer to the newest enlisted woman, their enthusiasm was contagious and their commitment inspiring.

I especially want to commend the Guard's commander, Major General James F. Fretterd. General Fretterd is a highly trained officer and a dedicated and motivated leader. His pride in his soldiers is clearly evident and sets the tone for all of the Guard's activities, whether they are working at home in their own communities or representing the state in some other part of the world.

The Maryland National Guard is comprised of more than 5,000 Maryland citizens. They come from 19 counties and Baltimore City, and they range from teachers to truckers, from lab technicians to lawyers. They truly represent every community and every lifestyle in our state.

Among the special guests at Operation Thunderbolt were the employers of many of the Guard members. These business leaders have been among the Guard's greatest supporters, generously accommodating the demanding training schedule of these citizens, many of whom devote 40-50 days a year to the military. It was clear after our visit to Fort A.P. Hill that their sacrifices have been worth it.

I believe in a strong military. I also believe in giving full honors to those soldiers who have have served our country in the past. As I have traveled around the state in recent years, I have made it a point to visit battle monuments and memorials all over Maryland.

Too many times, I have been disheartened by what I have seen. Many of these memorials, dedicated to Maryland's soldier/heroes, have fallen into serious disrepair. Many are dirty or overgrown. Signs and plaques are missing or illegible. Erected decades ago, no one has taken continuing responsibility for their maintenance and repair. When I became governor, one of the things I promised myself, was that I would work to restore these precious tributes to our soldiers and our history.

Let me give you one example of what I have in mind. On September 12, 1814, a detachment of Maryland troops engaged a large expedition of British soldiers marching on Baltimore. Many feel that the Battle of North Point near Dundalk, along with the stunning victory at Fort McHenry, was one of Maryland's important contributions to the War of 1812. By cutting off the British attack on Baltimore, the Maryland troops not only helped save the city from damage but seriously weakened a British army intent on recapturing their former colonies.

A group of concerned citizens, under the leadership of many of the same National Guardsmen and women I met at Fort A.P. Hill, have worked to raise the funds needed to restore and refurbish the monument to those soldiers. On September 12, we will rededicate the memorial to the Battle of North Point, a monument that has been neglected for several decades.

This is one of those many areas where I feel government and citizens can work together. Public support and private contributions can help us recapture and preserve these important reminders of our past. We are currently working to raise money to restore the Maryland State Monument at Antietam battlefield near Sharpsburg. This is a beautiful monument to a pivotal event in American history and we have been cooperating with the Maryland Historic Trust to restore it along with several other smaller memorials to Maryland soldiers at Antietam.

This is a project close to my heart and one to which I intend to give a lot of my personal attention in the months ahead. I will be glad to send you more information about what we are doing and what we would like to do to preserve Maryland's past. Write to me: Governor William Donald Schaefer. The State House, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

When A Northerner Moves South...

by Mary Ruth Sincell

After living in North Carolina for nearly two years, it's awfully good to be back home here in Garrett County for a visit. The lifestyle of the South came as a bit of a shock to me when I first moved, and I encountered some things there I never expected.

The word "Yankee," for instance. Now, when one is from this part of Maryland, one isn't exposed to much Civil War sentiment, either for the Yanks or the Rebs. I would imagine that during the time of the Civil War, the only folks bananas enough to live up here were hardy mountaineers, for it was the Pre-Snowplow Age. So in school and at home, we Garrett Countians are taught mostly the logistics and events of that war, and the word "Yankee" is something we read in books. Not so in NC. I quickly realized that although I'm from a middle state, the fact that I was born north of Virginia makes me most certainly a Yankee. Upon introduction to new people, I am often asked where I'm from. After hearing "Maryland," the response goes like this, "Oh. ...A Yankee." A slight smile follows the comment, although I sometimes wonder if it's actually a snarl in disguise.

At first I accepted the label quietly, reasoning with myself that it was just a way for people to categorize — a way to keep introductions straight. I was soon rudely awakened. I noticed that when someone behaved nastily, or was "ugly," then he "sure was being a Yankee about it." It became crystal clear to me that being a Yankee is not necessarily a good thing. (Incidently, "ugly" is the Southern equivalent of nasty. I was rather confused when my Southern friend told her son to stop being ugly. I didn't think he could help it.)

Just to add a little more fuel to the fire, there is something that all we Yankees have problems with, and by having these problems cause Southerners to spit out the word "Yankee" with even more ire. It's that accent. First I must clarify that I like the accent — it's lilting and eloquent. But understanding it is another subject. Case in point: When I began working down there, part of my job dealt with operating a computer. During my training one day, my co-worker Tracy was instructing me from across the room. She wanted me to "mash" a certain button — mash meaning push in Yank talk. She kept saying to "mash t - n." So I kept pushing the t and the n. "No, no — t,n! T,n!" I pushed them over and over until I had tntntn clear across my screen. Finally, red-faced and perplexed, Tracy held up all ten fingers and yelled, "TEN!" I smiled sheepishly and "mashed" the ten. It worked. I blushed.

Another instance of misunderstanding occurred not with me, but with my friend Sarah, an accent-less West Virginian. She and her mother were trying to locate a building on the UNC campus. After receiving directions, Sarah began searching for the Old Whale — some kind of landmark in the center of the campus. After an entire morning in hot pursuit of a plaster orca, it dawned on Sarah that the Old Well they had driven past a dozen times was the very landmark they were searching for. End of search. After these two events, and many others, I think I can safely add "confusing" to lilting and eloquent.

I do enjoy North Carolina, despite the communication gaps. The folks there are friendly, and all one has to do is glance up at the sky to get the full effect of "Carolina Blue." But I'll always claim Maryland, namely Garrett County, as my home, even if it does make me a d— Yankee.

VETO OF THE DEFENSE AUTHORIZATION BILL
BY Ronald Reagan

Recently, I took a dramatic step — one that I must admit gave me no pleasure. I vetoed the Defense Authorization Bill. As it stood, the defense bill that Congress sent me would have made unilateral concessions to the Soviets at the very moment when we are trying to achieve a strategic arms reduction treaty. I could not in good conscience have done anything other than mark that bill "veto" and send it right back.

Permit me to discuss for a moment just what is at stake in this whole matter of the defense bill. And in doing so, it is important to begin with some historical background.

It was just eight years ago that America's defenses were in a pitiable state — weaker, relative to the threats we faced, than at any time in decades. We had airplanes that could not fly for lack of spare parts. Our Navy had declined from more than 1,000 battle-ready ships to fewer than 500. Among our men and women in uniform, morale was understandably low.

And yet at the same time, the Soviet Union had embarked upon a massive arms build-up, enlarging its armed forces on land, sea, and air. The Soviet Union had invaded Afghanistan. It was backing Communist expansion in Africa, in Asia — and, yes, with the Sandinistas in Nicaragua, in our hemisphere.

The trend was clear: American power and influence were declining, while the power of the totalitarian world was growing greater and greater. The implications for the cause of freedom — for the cause of peace — were grim. That trend had to be reversed. During these last eight years, we have done just that, restoring America's strength.

The results? Today the Soviets are withdrawing from Afghanistan. We are seeing progress in settling regional conflicts. And not long ago, an American President returned from a successful summit in Moscow, having earlier signed the first treaty in history that actually reduces nuclear arsenals. If we had listened to those who wanted to stop the deployment of our INF missiles to Europe — the so-called freeze movement — we would have thrown away the bargaining leverage that forced the Soviets to return to the negotiating table. We would not have signed the INF treaty in Washington, and Soviet SS-20 missiles would still be pointed at our allies.

This brings me back to the defense bill that I just vetoed. If I had accepted that bill, it would have undermined the strength we have worked so hard to restore — in time jeopardizing all our remarkable diplomatic advances.

Congress' defense bill represented an all but open attempt to block our Strategic Defense Initiative, or SDI. Yet no development has been of greater importance in our strategic arms negotiations with the Soviets than our decision to proceed with SDI.

The idea of SDI is simple — to give us the advanced technologies necessary to defend us and our allies from attack by nuclear-armed ballistic missiles. Some said it would take years to develop such a technologically sophisticated defense system. We said, all the more reason to get started right now. And in fact, as SDI has gone forward overall progress has taken place even faster than we had hoped.

Perhaps the best endorsement for SDI comes from the Soviets themselves, since they have long engaged in many kinds of strategic defense programs of their own.

But Congress wants to cut our budget request for SDI deeply. Congress also wants to cut all requests for funding one of the most promising SDI technologies — the space-based interceptor program — by over 70 percent!

But it is not just the damage done to SDI's funding and space component that concerns me. From requirements for unilateral disarmament to limits on missile testing, the bill represents an attempt by Congress to handcuff the President in our arms reduction negotiations with the Soviets. And this kind of unilateral concession to the Soviets could set back all the progress we have made on the arms reduction front.

Now that I have vetoed the defense bill, there is talk on Capitol Hill about producing an even worse defense bill as an act of political "retribution." Let me ask you: what could be more deplorable than to use the defense of this nation as a political pawn? It will not happen — not if I have anything to say about it. As long as I am President, our nation's defenses — including our strategic defenses — will remain above partisan politics.

Congress needs to go back to work to pass a new defense bill — one that I can sign because it strengthens our negotiating hand instead of weakening it. We may be Republicans or Democrats. But when it comes to a strongly defended Nation, we must all be, simply, Americans.

THIS IS THE MOST POSITIVE SIGN YET THAT CING-LING MAY BE EXPECTING.

BIRTH DEFECTS AWARENESS WEEK has been proclaimed for August 14-20 in Garrett County and a number of local businesses have agreed to participate in the recognition by making donations to the March of Dimes Foundation. Representatives of the March of Dimes and several of the participating businesses were on hand at the Garrett County Commissioners' Office on Tuesday for the signing of a proclamation. The following businesses will be donating so many cents per designated item sold throughout the week: Arby's, Big Tee Burger, Browning's Foodland, C.P. Martin and Sons, Englander's Fountain, El Lobo's, Fox's Pizza Den, Fratz Red and White in Accident, Hoyes Store and Bakery, IGA Market, J G's Restaurant, Fratz Red and White in Oakland, Silver Fox Pizza, The Winds Fox Pizza, Hometown Market, and Zump's. Pictured left to right, front row, are Lisa Rounds, of Silver Fox Pizza; Glenn Lyons, of J G's; Libby Uphold, The Winds; Heidi Ridder, Arby's; Dorothy Uphold, Englander's; and Brad Wolfe, El Lobo's. In the second row, same order, are Dale Ayers, Big Tee; Bryan Paugh, Fox's Pizza (Oakland); Tom Browning, Hometown Market; and Commissioners John Braskey, Elwood Groves, and Ernie Gregg. A spokesman for the local March of Dimes Chapter (P.O. Box 311, Oakland) noted her appreciation to these local businesses for their support. An editorial on the March of Dimes will appear in next week's issue of The Republican.

A BENEFIT DINNER was recently held by the Aid Association for Lutherans, Branch 588, in cooperation with St. John's Lutheran Church (Missouri Synod) to raise funds for Dennis Margroff, who suffered a stroke in September, 1987. A total of $3050.48 was raised at the dinner, and was matched with a $2000 donation from AAL. The check for $5050.48 was presented to Margroff by Claudine Opel, branch president, pictured above, right. In the background are Beulah Thomas, secretary-treasurer; and Eva Lou Harman, treasurer of St. John's Ladies Aid Society.

Traffic, Parking Restrictions For Triathlon Noted

Oakland Town Councilman Jay Moyer released information this week concerning traffic and parking restrictions that will be imposed during the "Best of the West" Triathlon, slated for this Saturday, August 13, at Broadford Park.

Moyer said the gates of the park will open at 5:30 a.m. and the triathlon will begin at 9 a.m. All contestants in the event are to use the Broadford Road (north) entrance to the park and spectators are asked to use the Pittsburgh Avenue (south) entrance. Both park entrances will be closed from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. for safety purposes.

Parking for triathlon spectators and patrons of the park will be limited to the main bath house parking area.

The day-long triathlon activities will include hot air balloon rides, sponsored by the Greater Oakland Business Association, plus the sale of concessions and crafts. The regular admission fee of $2 per car and/or 50 cents per walk-in will be in effect.

Moyer added that the Mayor and Town Council encourage all to attend the "Best of the West" Triathlon, which is slated to become an annual event at Broadford Park. The triathlon includes a one-quarter-mile swim, a 13-mile bicycle ride, and a 3.2-mile run. The field will include 150 athletes.

Commissioners Talk To Shimer About Fire Code

The Garrett County Commissioners met Tuesday with Robert Shimer, deputy state fire marshal; Guy Carola, local fire investigator; and area fire chiefs to discuss the possible implementation of building and fire codes.

The commissioners requested Shimer to gather information from subdivisions in the state's codes. The county's attorney, Dwight Stover, will review the information.

A meeting will be held in mid-September with the Garrett County Fireman's Association to discuss the codes in further detail.

The Commissioners also met with County Roads Administrator Paul Shockey to review the summer construction projects underway, in particular the roads construction along the Savage River.

A contract was executed with Carl Belt, Inc., of Cumberland, for replacement of the Sang Run Bridge over the Youghiegheny River.

Furlow's Garage, Inc. and Trucks of Somerset submitted bids for the purchase of two-wheel and four-wheel-drive

Garrett County Humane Society Pouring Out Love—And Money—For God's Creatures

THESE ARE JUST A FEW of the two dozen "orphaned" fur balls being cared for at the residence of Amos and Bernadine Friend, near Friendsville. Mrs. Friend, who is executive director of the Garrett County Humane Society, Inc., spends over $300 per month to feed and care for the 24 cats, 13 dogs and several horses. Because of the great number of stray animals in the county being taken in by Society officers and directors, the organization's treasury is usually near empty. Efforts to get county support for a spay/neuter program, one of the major goals of the Society, have also yielded little response from local decision-makers.

Yes, there is a Garrett County Chapter of the Humane Society, and no, it does not receive one cent of local, county, or state tax money.

These are two facts that people like Bernadine Friend, executive director of the local Chapter, want everyone in Garrett County to realize about the organization, which is composed of persons who simply cannot tolerate the neglect and suffering of animals. Because the Chapter does not receive any tax assistance, and because the care and feeding of literally hundreds of unwanted cats, dogs, and horses is extremely expensive, the Chapter is constantly involved in an uphill battle just to pay its bills. Much of the expense comes right out of the pockets of the officers and board members.

For example, Bernadine spends over $300 a month just for food and pasture for the 13 dogs, 23 cats, and several horses being cared for at the Friend residence. This figure does not include ferrier and veterinarian bills.

"This money could go in my savings account, but I can go to sleep at night knowing I am doing the best I can to help some of God's innocent creatures," Mrs. Friend said.

LOTS OF MILK, donated often by Thomas Brothers of Friendsville, is needed to feed Bernadine Friend's family of orphaned cats. Above, Lowell Thomas, of Thomas Brothers, helps Bernadine lug a can of donated milk, while her husband, Bud, stands ready to assist.

Mrs. Friend and other officers of the Chapter met with the Garrett County commissioners in March of this year to ask for some assistance in establishing a spay/neuter program. Such a program, which would provide spaying and neutering of animals at a reasonable cost to pet owners, would eventually greatly reduce the huge number of unwanted puppies and kittens that are often dumped out along the roadway. Only a small percentage of these strays — only the lucky ones — are discovered and taken in by the Humane Society members, whose hearts are often larger than their pocketbooks.

Mrs. Friend stated that, right now, the county spends large amounts of tax money to slaughter the animals and have the bodies sent to a rendering plant in Winchester, Va. There the carcasses are skinned and cooked, the bones are used for fertilizer, the meat for dog food, and the liquid for soap.

"These out-of-county people are making money off these poor animals and our tax money is helping them do it," Mrs. Friend said. "If just part of this money used for housing and then slaughtering the animals could be spent for a spay/neuter program, we would not need to waste tax money, and the veterinarians would benefit, as each person could go to the vet of his choice and be able to afford the charge. Most people who call us asking for help in paying a spaying or neutering charge are willing to pay part of it, but cannot afford all of it."

Mrs. Friend stated that, on the day they met with the commissioners, it was announced over local radio that the Society had gone to the commissioners asking for money. "That is not what we were doing," Mrs. Friend said, "but since that time, our donations have really dropped off, because people think their tax money is helping to support us.

"We have gotten nothing from the commissioners," she continued. "The fact is, they never even sent us a notice stating our request for support for a spay/neuter program was denied."

While the Chapter has certainly not given up pursuing the establishment of a spay/neuter program, the care and feeding of their current orphaned animals continues.

"Right now, we have outstanding bills with Dr. Wayne Miller, Dr. David Rawe, and Dr. Rick Jenkins for spaying and neutering for people who cannot afford it, but want their animals cared for," she said. "The vets have been most cooperative and have even set up payment plans to help people out. Almost all of our donations, plus a lot of money out of our pockets, go toward paying these bills."

The chapter depends heavily upon donations, but also conducts various fund-raising activities, such as raffles, to help put money in the treasury. But so far the bills have out-weighed the chapter's treasury.

However, Mrs. Friend was quick to extend her appreciation to the many persons and businesses that have been supportive.

She said Southern States of Grantsville donates all torn bags of dog food to help feed the many dogs and cats in foster homes. The Southern States stores in Accident and Oakland have indicated they will make similar donations.

Thomas Brothers, of Friendsville, donates gallons and gallons of milk to help feed Mrs. Friend's two dozen foster felines.

The Beachy Lumber Company of Oakland and Mack Rush have made donations of lumber for dog houses and wood chips.

The biggest cash donations have come from Louise and Alverta Dillon, of the Cove, and Mr. and Mrs. John (Jack) Hinebaugh, Sang Run.

Dr. Miller, of Meyersdale, has donated most of his veterinary care and Dr. Rawe and Dr. Jenkins have also donated.

Mrs. Friend said the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the State Police have been "especially good" in assisting the chapter members with animal abuse cases. "There is no way we could cover all the calls without them," she said.

"State's Attorney Jim Sherbin and his assistants have helped so much with the legalities — what we can and cannot do. Jim has attended our meetings and has written up ways to help us when we have to go to court."

She also noted that local attorney Jim Braskey donated his time and effort in legal services so the Society could be incorporated.

Bernadine said her biggest supporter, though, is her husband, Amos, better known as Bud. "I could never do so much without him," she said.

The officers of the Garrett County Society are: Sherry Friend, president; Joanna Sisler, vice president and acting treasurer; and Shellie Rodeheaver, secretary. The board of directors includes Marie Coddington, Tressia Ferree, Nancy Helbig, Carol Paugh, Jill Fuller, and Mrs. Friend.

"We also have investigative officers in the county who quietly check on possible animal abuse and neglect cases," she added.

Mrs. Friend said she has spoken to Delegate George Edwards about a referendum, giving people in Garrett County a choice of how they want their tax money spent for animal control — to slaughter or to spay and neuter.

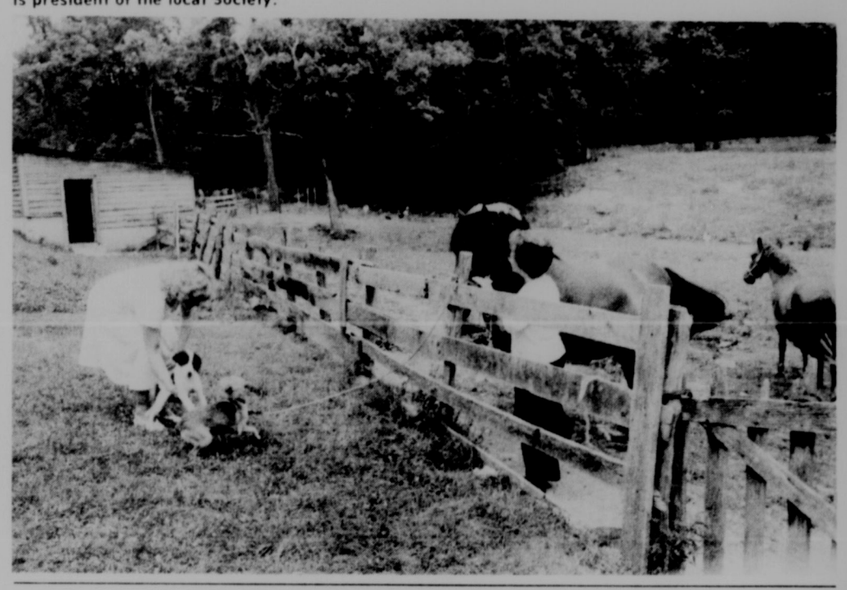

"The only logical way to decrease the huge numbers of unwanted animals is to provide an easy, economical way for folks to have their pets spayed or neutered," Mrs. Friend said. "And most people would be willing to have it done if it could be made affordable."

Persons wishing to make a donation to the Garrett County Chapter of the Society may do so by sending their tax-deductible checks to: Garrett County Humane Society, Inc., Box 75, Accident, MD 21520.

Also, persons who wish to become involved with the local Society are welcome to attend its meetings, which are held the third Monday of each month at Garrett Community College. The next is set for this Monday, August 15, at 7:30 p.m.

THE AFFECTION IS MUTUAL between Garrett County Humane Society director Bernadine Friend and her "adopted" pets, as each of the 13 formerly abused and/or neglected dogs presently residing at the Friend farm near Friendsville run with tails wagging to greet Mrs. Friend. Every stray taken in at the Friend farm receives not only food and affection, but complete veterinary care, including spaying or neutering, with most of the expense usually coming out of Bernadine's pocket. Pictured below with Bernadine and several other "residents" is Mrs. Friend's daughter, Sherry, who is president of the local Society.

THE 4-H FASHION REVUE was held Sunday afternoon, August 7, to open the 1988 Garrett County Fair. Winners and participants modeled either their own sewing creations, garments made for them, or ready-made garments they had purchased, with ribbons awarded in all three categories. Pictured above and below are pre-junior and junior participants. Above, from left to right, are juniors: Heidi Hauser, who received a blue ribbon for a vest she made and modeled, and a blue ribbon for the ready-to-wear English riding outfit she is pictured wearing; Ellisa Schofield, who received a red ribbon for the skirt she made and modeled; Kista Thomas, who made and modeled two pant/top outfits and received two blue ribbons; Jennifer Barnard, pictured wearing a nightgown she made and received a blue ribbon for; Tommy Holler, named junior champion for the two-piece suit he made and modeled; and 1987 Farm Queen Lori Dodge, who participated in the Fashion Revue wearing an outfit she made. Pictured at the microphone is Alice Hevner, Garrett County Extension agent for 4-H and youth. Below are pre-juniors Diana Friend, who received a blue ribbon for modeling a ready-to-wear party gown; and Carl Thomas, who received a blue ribbon for wearing a pair of sports pants made for him by his mother.

FATHER MARTIN "BABY FACE" FEILD and Ed "Lollipop" King were freed from "prison" at the Garrett County Fair Monday evening after friends and local businesses provided a mimimum of $200 of bail money, all of which will go to Hospice of Garrett County. According to Wayne Johnson, Hospice director and warden at the "Jail and Bail" booth, "Baby Face" brought in only $100 and was placed on "work release," but "Lollipop" covered for him by receiving over $500, much of which came from A&A Realty, his employer. Paul McCloud, of WXIE Radio, and Bunny Shank, of LAOC Coal Company, received over $700 on Tuesday night. The jail, with new "celebrities" each night, will be open from 6 to 9 p.m. each night of the fair. "The donations so far have far surpassed all of our expectations," Johnson said. "The outpouring of generosity from the local public has been just great."

Ms. Foglepole Earns Avirett Scholarship

The Allegany Community College Foundation announced recently that Karen Lynn Foglepole, a June 1988 graduate of Fort Hill School, Cumberland, has been chosen as a recipient of the James A. Avirett Excellence in English Scholarship.

Ms. Foglepole, the daughter of Janet Beckman, states that she would like to become a writer and is enrolled in the Arts and Sciences (Arts) curriculum at the College.

Recipients of this scholarship are chosen from each of the three local high schools and selection is dependent upon their ability to excell in high school English.

Man Surrenders Following Local High Speed Chase

A 25-mile chase Monday in which speeds exceeded 100 mph led to the arrest of a young Mountain Lake Park man.

Paul T. Everly, 21, was arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department after he turned himself in on Tuesday.

According to reports filed by the department, Everly was charged with several motor vehicle violations, including fleeing and eluding a police officer and excessive speed. He was released from the Garrett County Jail after posting $2,500 bond.

The chase allegedly began around 8:50 p.m. Monday on Broadford Road in Mtn. Lake Park when Dep. Murphy attempted to stop Everly for a traffic violation.

The chase continued onto Route 135 from Deer Park to Bloomington, and ended when Everly pulled off onto Bloomington Hill Road and fled into the woods.

In other sheriff's reports, several persons were arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Joseph G. Klass, 52, Cumberland, was arrested by Deputy R.L. Sines on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and resisting arrest.

The arrest occurred around 3 p.m. on Friday on the Gortner Road. Klass was taken to the Garrett County Jail and later released on $2000 bond.

Guy C. Barnhardt, 29, Deer Park, was arrested for DWI on Saturday at 2:15 by Dep. J.D. Murphy.

John M. Cochrane Jr., 40, Columbus, Ohio, was arrested for DWI on Friday at 12:30 a.m.

An Oakland man was arrested Tuesday on charges of breaking and entering and assault and battery.

Stewart F. Hamill, 39, was charged after he allegedly broke into his estranged wife's apartment early Tuesday morning and assaulted an occupant of the residence, according to the sheriff's department.

Hamill was taken to the Garrett County Jail and released on his own recognizance.

A destruction of property incident was reported by James L. Donaldson, Oakland.

According to police reports, someone placed a metal object in the spark advance line of Donaldson's 1977 Buick, causing damage to the motor.

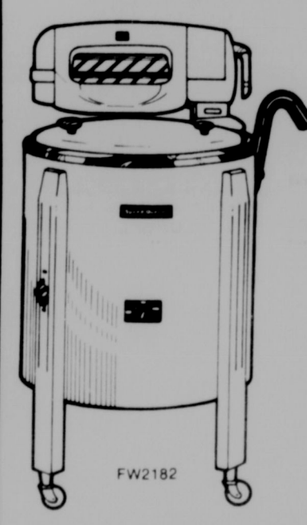

The report was investigated by Dep. D. Crossland, who reported that damages reached $800. There are no suspects at this time.

ATTEND MARYLAND SUMMER CENTERS — Three fifth graders from Broad Ford Elementary School recently returned from various Maryland Summer Centers programs. The students were selected based on test scores, teacher recommendation, and a written essay. Pictured above, front, is Meghan Price, who attended the two-week Mathematics and Technology seminar at Western Maryland College, Westminster. The group worked with problem solving, mazes, and puzzles. Price is the daughter of John and Karlyn Price, Swanton. Pictured above, left, is Adam Harvey, who attended the Mechanical Marvels program for one week at the Maryland Science Center, Baltimore. His group studied various types of machines, and concluded the program by building battery-powered machines with Leggo sets and participating in hill climb challenges. Harvey is the son of Dennis and Brenda Harvey, Oakland. At right is Sadie Gaster, who participated in the one-week parent-child program in Light and Photography at the Maryland Science Center with her mother, Beth. Each participant learned photography techniques, and also developed his/her photographs. Gaster is the daughter of Donald and Beth Gaster, Swanton.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

REUNIONS

The family of the late Elijah and Marion Bachtel will meet Sunday, August 14, at the Farmers' Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run, for their reunion to which they invite friends of the family. The picnic lunch will be shared at 12:30 p.m.

The annual Crossroads School Reunion will be held at the Farmers' Wildlife Park, Horse Shoe Run, on Sunday, August 21. All former students and teachers are urged to attend.

The carry-in lunch will be served at 1 p.m.

PICNIC RAINED OUT AGAIN

As last year, this year's planned "picnic in the park" for Union District Senior Citizens had to be held at the regular meeting place, the Aurora U.M. Memorial Building, rather than in Cathedral State Park because of rain. Although the rain is much needed, it seems to fall only sparsely and this time hit the wrong place at the right time. Only 27 were present for the meeting.

Ted Hardesty asked the blessing of the meal and the meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Ruth Snyder. Paul Stemple used Psalm 23 as his devotions. Mary Jane Hanline read "A Senior's Lament."

Ted Hardesty was elected as Union's representative to COLE which meets the second Thursday of each month in Charleston. Elmer Stemple was chosen Union Senior of the Year and will represent this chapter at the Buckwheat Festival among other things.

Seven cards were signed to be sent to those who are ill.

CELEBRATES 88th

A family dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Lantz at Brookside on Sunday to honor his uncle, Willis Harsh, on his 88th birthday and his aunt, Elva Lantz, who was visiting from California. Mr. Harsh and Margaret Stemple Case, a cousin, were brought from Cortland Acres to join the family. Miss Lantz had spent last week with a niece and husband, Ruth and Roscoe Teets, at Eglon.

OBSERVES 96th

Honored Sunday with a family dinner in observance of her 96th birthday, which is August 10, was Margaret Becker Myers of Aurora. Members of the family who were there for the dinner were Mary and Tom McMillen of Rowlesburg, Homer and Marguerite Myers of Aurora, Carola and Jim Myers, Herndon, Va.; Mary, Alan and Justin Teets of Springfield, Va.; Junior, Kathryn, Karen and Carla Myers, Aurora; Jim Myers and Pauline Border, Coral City, Fla., Joe Myers, Baltimore; Richard, Janice, Jeff and Douglas Myers, Shenandoah Junction, W.Va.; Louise and David Jones, Clarksburg, W.Va.; and Jessie Fedorow, with whom Mrs. Myers resides. Members of the family coming from a distance have remained for a longer visit.

METHODIST WOMEN MEET

On August 4 the Aurora United Methodist Women met in the U.M. Memorial Building with Ressie Conrad opening the meeting. Wilda Wilt presented "The United Methodist Church and Its Missions" as the study topic.

Mrs. Conrad read a letter from House of Carpenter thanking the group for a recent donation. She appointed the following committee to plan the worship for the September 18 services: Ruth Snyder, Betty Fint and herself. The group decided to buy either slides or video for use with the November meeting.

Officers for the coming year will be: Alma Snyder, president; Betty Fint, vice president; Wilda Wilt, secretary; Doris Adams, treasurer; and Alma Snyder, Pearl Stemple and Ressie Conrad, nominating committee. Seven members were present to conduct the business and election.

THOSE WHO ARE ILL

Reid Martin fell last week and as a result has a fractured leg. The present address of this former Eglon resident is 207 4th St., Mannington, WV 26582.

Both George and Mattie Hauser remain patients in Garrett County Memorial Hospital at this time.

Nina Layman underwent surgery there last week and is recovering satisfactorily.

Collas Jones of Stemple Ridge remains a patient in Garrett County Memorial since his admission last Monday.

Claud Harsh of Accident (Horse Shoe Run) is also a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

Harold White of Gortner was a surgical patient last week at Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

PEOPLE MEETING PEOPLE

Mrs. Virginia Rembold of Bethel Park, Pa., and Mrs. Mary Selders of Russell, Ky., were Saturday evening visitors of Mrs. Louella Fike near Aurora.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rembold of Pittsburgh, were weekend visitors in this area.

Gene and Thelma Simpson of Martin's Ferry came to visit her mother, Mrs. Mildred Wilt, in Eglon this weekend, but returned to their home on Sunday morning after Mr. Simpson became ill.

Ellis and Marie Teets of Silver Lake, were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ward at Zanesville, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lewis and daughters returned Saturday to Eglon from a week's vacation in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Mrs. Lydia Harsh returned last week to her home near Aurora after spending a few weeks with her daughter, Cleota Hoisington, in Ohio.

Visiting last Tuesday, August 2, with Melvin and Rose Ina Harsh, Stan, Mark and Donnie Frantz, a grandson, at Eglon were Mrs. Harsh's cousin, Clara Kay Veale, of Odessa, Tex., her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Veale, children, Kathy and Dave of Seabrook, Tex., her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen and children, Michelle and Doug, of Belton, Tex., and his mother Lorrean Allen, of Stigler, Okla. Joining them for an evening picnic were Frank and Betty Beckman, Oliver and Eleanor Beckman, Gary and Sylvia Beckman, all of the Oakland area, Claud and Brenda Hartsell and children, Eglon. Making short visits that evening were Don and Melvin Ray Frantz, who are visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Frantz, at Eglon, and Scott Harsh and Lyvonne Harsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Hauser of Temperance, Mich., visited last week with relatives in this area.

Visiting one day with Mrs. Maxine Hauser, Stemple Ridge, last week was a friend, Marguerite Haflin, of Parsons. On Sunday evening, Mike Knotts and his granddaughter of Crellin visited there.

Spending the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Galen Fike were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Judy Jr. of Greenwood, Del.

Many Fikes were visiting in this area this weekend for the annual Homer Fike Family Reunion to which other Fike members were invited. Among those were Darl and Rosemary Fike, of Illinois, his sister, Anna Lee, and her husband from Morgantown; Genevieve Fike and Bob and Madge Fike of Morgantown; Everett and Rose Fike, Esther and Coy Allen of Ohio; children of the above named, Viola Fike Gordon of Florida and son, Leland Gordon, of Venezuela. Many others from a more local area were in attendance at the annual affair held at the Stanley and Creola Jones barn near Red House.

Courses Offered At West Preston

Preston County High School seniors and adult learners can get a jump on their college education with English I, Composition and Rhetoric, offered at the West Preston High School campus, Masontown, this fall. Sponsored through Potomac State College of West Virginia University, the class meets on Monday from 6-8:30 p.m.

English I is designed to encourage the student's self-confidence and knowledge of writing techniques, particularly in the areas of description and exposition. This three-credit class transfers to most colleges and universities and is a direct transfer to WVU.

Instructor for the course is Jo Ann Dadisman, former high school English teacher in the Preston County School System who has also taught for Potomac State and Evans College. This fall marks the seventh year that Mrs. Dadisman has taught college-level English I at West Preston for PSC.

A minimum enrollment of 10 for the course is required.

For more information about English I at West Preston High School, persons may contact the instructor, Mrs. Dadisman, 864-6861; Potomac State College Admissions Office, 788-3011, Extension 226; or Donna Nine, guidance counselor at West Preston H.S., 864-5881 (after August 24).

Holtschneider, Phillips Top Winners In Western Maryland Tennis Tourney

Mark Holtschneider of White Marsh defeated Sean O'Neil of Gaithersburg and Janet Phillips of Hyndman, Pa., stopped Michele Pauli to become the champions of the Men's and Women's Singles of the 67th Annual Western Maryland Championship, held August 3 through August 7 at the Mountain Lake Park tennis courts.

Holtschneider topped O'Neil in the finals, 7-5, 6-1, while Phillips whipped Pauli, 6-4, 6-3.

The Mountain Lake Park Tennis Club released the final results of the event, which featured 110 players from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Florida, California, Virginia, and Washington, D.C. The local tourney is one of the few remaining clay court tournaments in the United States.

Fred McNair IV of McLean, Va., defeated Mike Barnes, Westminster, 6-2, 7-6, to become the Men's Singles Champion in the Junior Vets division. In the Women's Junior Vets division, the singles champion was Barbara Drilling of Bethesda, who defeated Joan Brisbin of Huntington, W.Va., 6-4, 0-6, 6-3.

Fred Drilling, Bethesda, defeated Skip Frelder of Hagerstown, 6-1, 6-1, to win the Senior Men's Singles Division (45).

Jack Dorsey of Wheeling, W.Va., defeated Larry Brisbin of Huntington, W.Va., 6-2, 6-0 in the finals of the Senior Men's (55) Singles Division.

Doyle Royal, of College Park, defeated Rex Mathews of McLean, Va., 6-2, 6-4 in the Senior Men's (65) Singles Division.

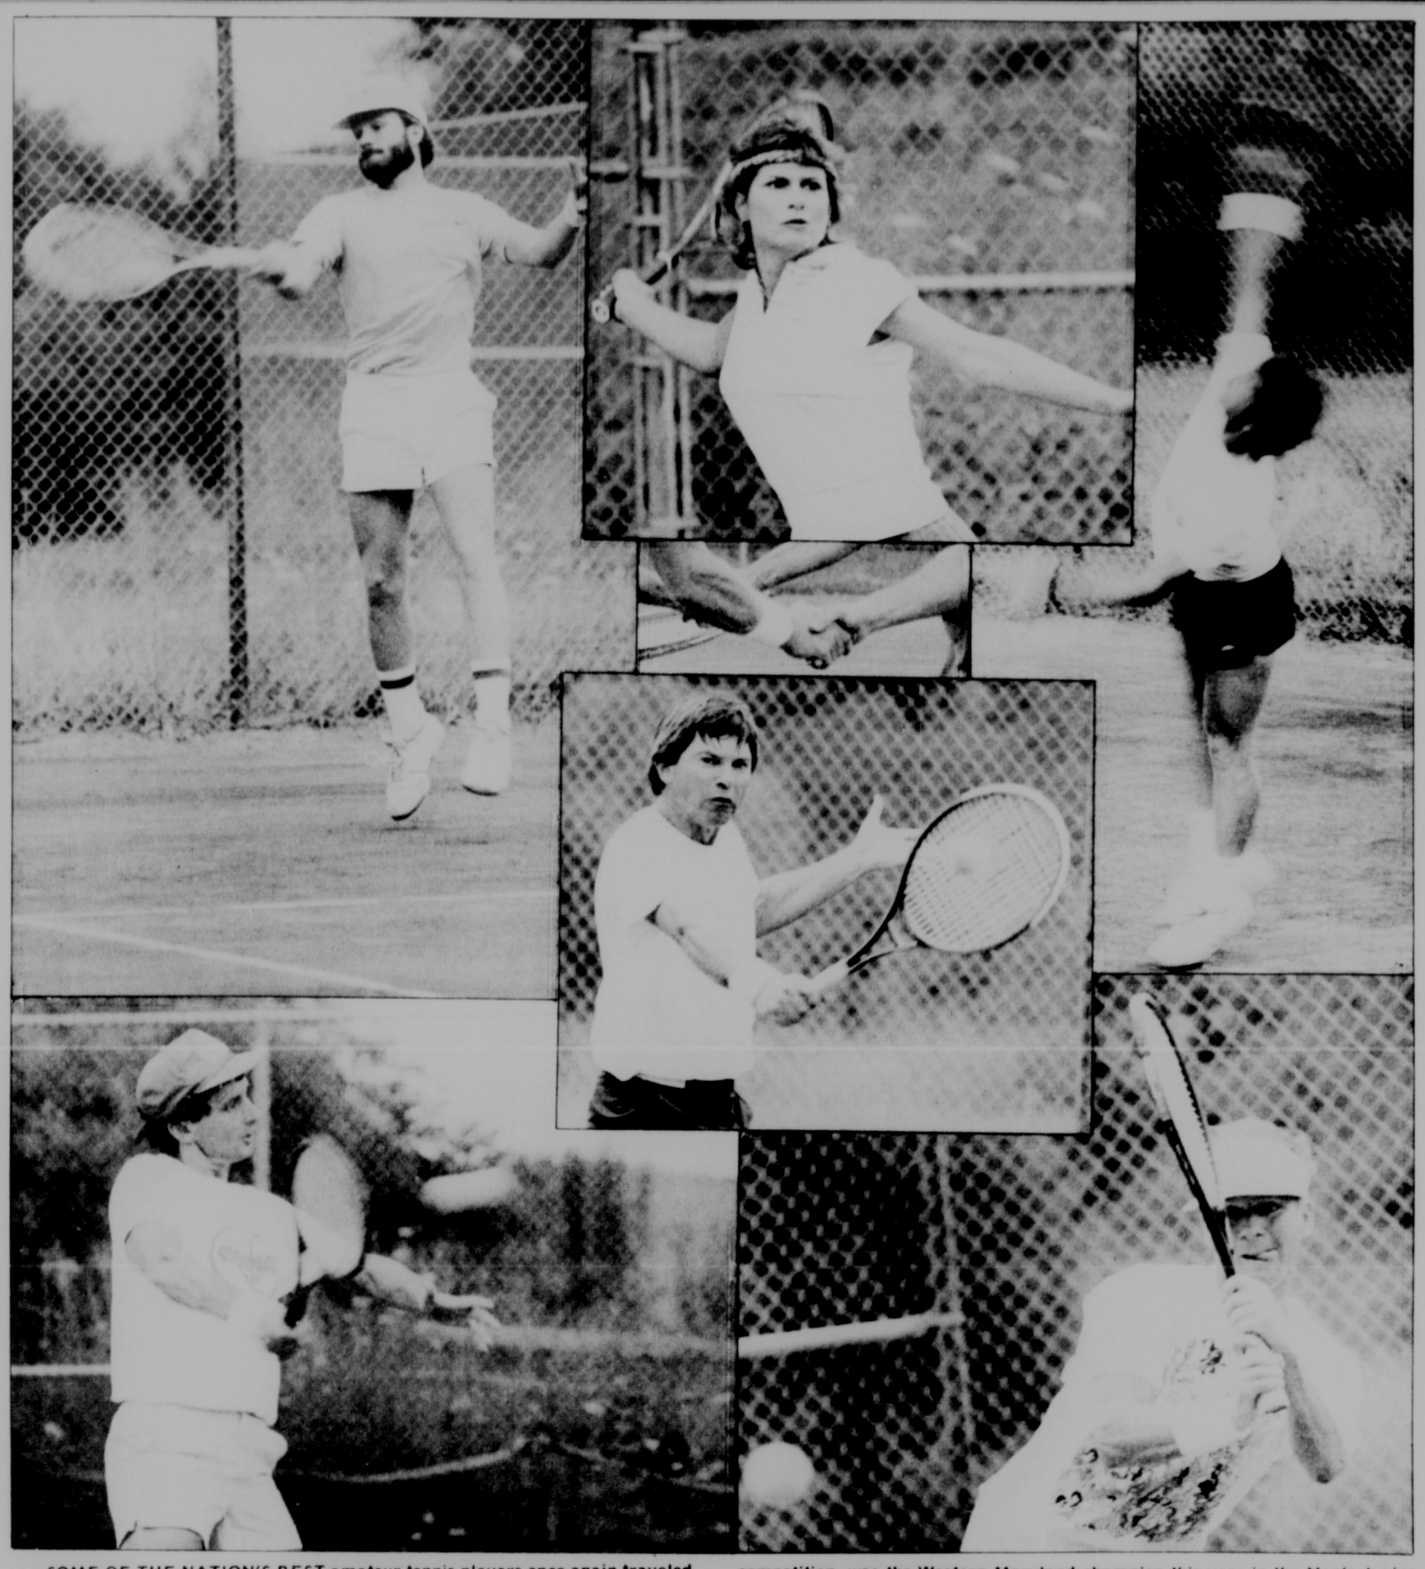

In the Junior Vets Doubles Division, Fred McNair IV and Eric Van Drillen of San Francisco, Calif., defeated Mike Barnes and his brother, Chuck Barnes, of Cheverly. McNair and Van Drillen rank nationally as doubles players and have won grand slam events in doubles tournaments throughout the world. Van Drillen has also played on the American Davis Cup Team.

In the Senior Men's Doubles (60), the team of Jack Dorsey and Bob Jenner of Pittsburgh, defeated Earle Brown of Potomac and Slater Clark of Bethesda, 6-3, 6-2.

Fred and Barbara Drilling of Bethesda won the Mixed Doubles Championship, defeating Fred and Linda McNair of McLean, Va., 6-3, 6-1.

Eileen Madden of Washington, D.C. won the drawing for the five-inch table top television.

"Excellent weather, court conditions and the number of participants made this one of the best tournaments in recent years. Many spectators filled the stands and the hillside as they watched a day of final events played in brilliant sunshine at the Mountain Lake Park Courts," reported Dave McGrafft, president.

SOME OF THE NATION'S BEST amateur tennis players once again traveled to Mountain Lake Park last week to participate in the 67th Annual Western Maryland Tennis Championships, which concluded Sunday afternoon on the Mtn. Lake clay courts. Among those on hand to capture some of the action was Lisa Rook, of The Republican Newspaper staff, whose work proves that making a good shot has a lot to do with the position of one's mouth when striking the ball. Pictured center is Mike Barnes and, beginning at upper left and moving clockwise: Sean O'Neil, Barbara Drilling, Jeff Bell, of Garrett County, Bill Moldoch, and Fred McNair IV. McNair, McLean, Va., who is a former French Open winner in doubles competition, was the Western Maryland champion this year in the Men's Junior Veterans Division, as he defeated Barnes, of Westminster, in the finals. McNair also teamed up with Erik Van Dillen, San Francisco, a former U.S. Davis Cup team player, to win the Men's Junior Vets doubles. O'Neil, of Gaithersburg, was the runner-up in the Men's Singles, losing to Mark Holtschneider in the finals. Ms. Drilling, Bethesda, won the Women's Junior Veterans singles title and she and her husband, Fred, captured the mixed doubles title. There were 110 players in the tournament, which is one of the nation's oldest sanctioned amateur events.

Kneeboard And Slalom Events Slated At DCL

Water-sport competition will be featured at Deep Creek Lake during the Western Maryland Slalom Championship and Kneeboard Contest, slated for Saturday, August 20, and Sunday, August 21, beginning at 8 a.m. daily.

The competition, which will take place at Paradise Point Cove, will feature divisions for Junior Boys, 12 and under; Boys, 13-16; Men's and Women's I, 17-24; Men's and Women's II, 25-34; Men's and Women's III, 35-44; and Men's and Women's IV, 45-54. There will also be an Open Division for experienced competitors.

Sunday's Kneeboard Contest will feature the latest form of watersport competition. It will include wake jumping and trick events. Awards will be presented to competitors of all ages.

The registration fee for this event is $12.00. Registration will start at 7:30 a.m. at Paradise Point Cove. Trophies and plaques will be awarded to winners following the championships.

Oakland Halts Tri-Towns' Streak Before Gaining Sweep At Buckhannon

Despite one loss, the Oakland Oaks enjoyed a successful two days of Pen-Mar Baseball League competition this past weekend, as they halted league-leading Tri-Towns' winning streak at 11 games on Saturday afternoon at Westernport and then swept a doubleheader over Buckhannon on Sunday, 10-6 and 9-8, on the West Virginians' diamond.

The win at Tri-Towns was by a 4-1 margin in the first game of a twin bill. The defending champions came back to take the nightcap from the Oaks, 8-4.

The 3-1 weekend left Oakland with a 14-8 record and third place in the Pen-Mar standings.

It was a two-out, three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth inning by Ed Wildesen that gave Oakland its big victory over Tri-Towns on Saturday.

Steve Sites went the distance on the mound for Oakland and allowed only three hits, while John Smith yielded eight. Both recorded seven strike-outs and were locked in a 1-1 duel until Wildesen's blast in the ninth.

Tri-Towns scored first, taking a 1-0 edge in the bottom of the third on an Oakland error. A sacrifice fly in the fifth by Oakland knotted the score and sent the game into extra innings.

Dwayne Hedrick led the Oaks' hitting effort with two doubles and a single.

The Merchants took control of the momentum early in the second game, however, and scored seven runs before Oakland could get on the board.

Don Rains and Craig Rotruck each homered to account for five Tri-Towns runs in the third inning.

Myrle Grose finished with a double and two singles for the Merchants, while Mark O'Reilly doubled and singled and Steve Sprinkler doubled in the 15-hit effort.

Oakland scored three runs in the third inning and another in the fourth, with three of the runs coming via solo homers by Hedrick, who also doubled, Phil Carr and Randy Cirillo. Manager/player Terry Helbig added a double and a single.

In the opener at Buckhannon on Sunday, Oakland recorded only five hits, but took advantage of five errors by the home team.

Jon Reneslacis smacked a two-run double for Oakland, while teammates Lawrence Nesselrodt, Wildesen, and Carr also rapped run-producing hits.

Pacing Buckhannon's nine-hit performance was John Fabbricatore, who finished with two hits and an RBI.

Mike Brady went the distance on the mound for the Oaks, gaining the win over Rod Kimble.

Steve Zumpano and Carr paced Oakland in the second game, as each went three-for-four, Zumpano with an RBI and Carr with two doubles and a single. Sites added a pair of singles, as the Oaks out-hit Buckhannon, 14-8.

Jeff Martin led the West Virginians' hitting with two doubles, while Burt Reed added a two-run triple.

In another doubleheader on Sunday afternoon, Tri-Towns swept a pair of games from Mount Savage, 9-8 and 11-1, to maintain a strong grip on first place.

Hedrick Player of the Week

Dwayne "Bubba" Hedrick was selected the Pen-Mar Player of the Week last week for having gone six-for-ten in three games the previous weekend and also excelling defensively.

The Petersburg High graduate led Oakland to a 13-11 win over Buckhannon, as he recorded two hits, stole a base, and scored four runs.

In a doubleheader the following day against Hyndman, he collected four more hits in seven at-bats, one of which was an RBI double.

Craig Cumberworth and Charlie Wilson, also of Oakland, were among the other nominees for the league award last week.

A SUCCESSFUL HUNT seems to be an inadequate description of a recent venture to Africa by a local father and son. Rev. J. Rogers Fike and his son, Andrew, recently returned from a 15-day safari in Zimbabwe, where they successfully bagged eight different species of wildlife. Above, Rev. Fike is pictured with a four-ton elephant trophy and an 1,800-pound cape buffalo. Below, Andrew displays a leopard and a zebra. Andrew also shot a three-ton elephant and Rev. Fike also bagged a leopard. They also harvested a male and female kudu, a bush buck, a clip springer, an impala, and a baboon.

This was Rev. Fike's second hunting trip to Africa. He said that the meat of the animals will be eaten by the natives of Zimbabwe and the mounted trophies will arrive at his home near Oakland early next year for display. Fike's trophy room already houses a sample of nearly every North American game animal. He said when the room is complete with the African game, local persons will be invited to stop by for a tour.

Aaron Zumpano, Former Northern Standout, To Play For FSU Bobcats

Former Northern High School baseball standout Aaron Zumpano has announced his plans to continue his education and athletic career at Frostburg State University.

Zumpano started all four years for Coach John Helmick's Huskies and developed into one of the area's finest players. He hit .409 as a freshman, .346 as a junior, and .392 his senior year. He was twice named Most Valuable Player for the Huskies and was the outstanding player of the Flintstone Easter Invitational. He led Northern in RBIs, stolen bases, and on-base percentage, while also providing outstanding defense.

"Aaron is one of the better products in baseball ever to come out of Northern," stated Helmick. "The last half of his senior year and his performance this summer with the Garrett County Legion team have shown the tremendous strides he has made. I think Aaron is a late bloomer and has the potential to be an outstanding college player and possibly a pro-prospect."

Zumpano played Little League and Bi-State Pony League for the Grantsville teams, and was named to four all-star teams during those seven years. Most recently, he concluded his fourth season in American Legion baseball for the Garrett County team.

Last year, in his first year as a starter on the Legion team, Zumpano hit .348 and led his team in RBIs and stolen bases. This past spring, he led the same team in hitting with a .438 average, 32 hits, including six home runs, 28 RBIs, and struck out only eight times in 21 games. He also again led in stolen bases.

Earlier this summer, Zumpano attended a special Pittsburgh Pirate try-out in Westernport, where, out of 50 participants, he was the only player selected to attend a second try-out in Winchester, Va. Although the Pirate organization did not offer him a contract at that time, he was told they will be closely following his collegiate career.

Zumpano will be the fourth Northern Husky to play for Coach Bob Wells' Bobcats, and his predecessors experienced great success. Craig Wengerd earned his way into the Bobcat Hall of Fame for his outstanding performance from 1973-76. Phil Carr recently concluded a two-year career of hitting over .300 and Steve Zumpano, Aaron's older brother, is coming off an incredible junior year at FSU, where he led the team in nine offensive categories, including hits, runs, RBIs, doubles, stolen bases, and batting average. He was named the team's MVP and to the third team All-South Region NCAA Division III. He recently completed summer play in the Valley League, Front Royal, Va., which is a very competitive collegiate league involving some of the top players in the country.

When Aaron Zumpano was asked why he chose Frostburg State, despite scholarship offers from Shenandoah, Towson State, and Garrett Community College, he said, "Because it gives me an opportunity to once again play ball with my brother, Steve, and to play for one of the top Division III programs in the country. I've known Coach Wells a long time and always hoped I would have the skills and the opportunity to play under him. It will also make it easy for my parents to see me play."

According to assistant FSU coach, Phil Caruso, Zumpano was one of the area's top prospects coming out of high school last year. "After his performance this summer for the Garrett County Legion team, he is going to be given a good opportunity to start right away for the Bobcats, probably as a left-fielder," Caruso said. "Coach Wells and I feel very fortunate to have a player of Aaron's calibre in our program.

"Besides his skills," he continued, "he is a fine person and that is important to us, too. We try to recruit top quality players who want to get an education and are good people, and Aaron certainly fits that description."

Zumpano also started for three years on Northern's varsity basketball team and led the Huskies in 12 of 17 statistical categories, including scoring (17 ppg), rebounding, assists, and steals. He was named the team's most outstanding player and, with his efforts on the baseball diamond, was selected Northern's male athlete of the year.

Zumpano is a son of Eugene and Pat Zumpano, New Germany Road. Eugene Zumpano played professional baseball in the San Francisco Giant organization.

WISP HOTEL TO SPONSOR TOURNEY — The Wisp Resort Hotel, McHenry, will sponsor a unique basketball tournament at Frostburg State University November 18-20. The invitational will feature a men's tournament and a women's tournament conducted over three days at Bobcat Arena. The men's event will include Washington College, Spring Garden College, and Baruch College, in addition to the Frostburg Bobcats. The women's tourney will include Trenton State College, Glenville State College, and Spring Garden College, plus the FSU women. Pictured left to right are Jeff Krone, FSU sports information director; John Holt, general manager of the Wisp Resort Hotel; Bill Thoman, manager of The Gathering and the Village Green Golf Course at the Wisp; and Loyal Park, FSU director of athletics. Not present for the photo was Beverly Eye, sales director at the Wisp Resort Hotel.

Soccer Club To Begin Practices

The Deep Creek Soccer Club will hold its first practice Wednesday, August 17, 6 p.m., at The Lions Club Field in McHenry. The team plays in the Western Maryland Soccer League and games are on Sundays starting in September.

Anyone who would like to play is encouraged to show up Wednesday at practice. For further information, persons may contact Jerry Herpel at 387-5300 during the day, or Dave Insley at 387-5832 during the day or 334-9767 in the evening.

Miss Rudy Among Swimming Winners

In a story which appeared last week concerning the Garrett County Manta Rays' results in the YMVA Swimming League Championships, the name of one local swimmer was omitted from the list of those who won first places.

Alison Rudy, who won a second place in the B Flight tyke girls 25-yard free style event, also won first place in the 25-yard breast stroke race.

The Manta Rays captured 22 first places in 30 B Flight events.

A NEW SCOREBOARD now graces the playing field at the Grantsville Park, thanks to the Grantsville branch of First United National Bank and Trust, who donated the required funds to the Grantsville Lions Club, park overseers. Beitzel Welding and Construction installed the equipment.

MUD BOG! — Twelve drivers in five classes of four-wheel-drive vehicles drove through more mud last Monday night than has been seen all summer in Garrett County, during the Garrett County Fair "Mud Bog," sponsored by the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Department. Adding to the excitement, 10 couples slogged through the mud in a "Dash for Cash," won by Anita Feather and Tim Lewis, below. Saturday night will see more excitement when the Deep Creek Fire Department sponsors the annual Demolition Derby. For the first year, the nights of derby and the mud bog were switched, causing a slight bit of confusion. However, the fire company felt the switch was important because of the debris left imbedded in the track after the derby and the length of time involved in a thorough clean-up. Many times in the past, this debris has caused damage to tractor tires during the tractor pulls. It posed a threat to vehicles and marching units in the parade held on the race track for the first time last year, and was a danger to horses and riders using the track as an exercise area throughout fair week. Scheduling the Demolition Derby at the end of the week will eliminate all threats of danger in that area, and allow the firemen ample time to clean-up. Winners of the Monday night Mud Bog were: Class A; Derick Cooper, first; Rabbit Frazee, second; and Kevin Beckman, third; Class B; Johnny Jones, first; Robert Hager, second; and Kenneth Murphy, third; Class C; Johnny Jones, first; Stoney Stonesifer, second; and Tim Lewis, third; Class D; Johnny Jones, first; Dave Scott, second; and Wes Massey, third; and Class X; Jock Jones, first; Dave Scott, second; and Raymond Jones, third.

Local Sailors Top Finishers In Annual Regatta

Sailors from the Deep Creek Yacht Club were top finishers in the annual Maryland Invitational Regatta held Saturday and Sunday on Deep Creek Lake.

Harry and Karen Carpenter took first place in the A Fleet class with Kevin Rissell and Ted Rissell finishing second. Bruce Spinneweber and Tom Bowling took third and Jack and Sally Carpenter, fourth. The winners were all local sailors except Jack Carpenter who is from Pittsburgh.

Top finishers in the B Fleet class were Pat and Tom Duke, first; and Marty and Iris Nahemow, second; third place went to Derrick Lonsdale of Canton, Ohio; and fourth to Greg Madzelomka and Kathy Kennedy of Pittsburgh.

Thirty-eight Flying Scot sailboats competed in the regatta. Regatta chairman this year was Richard Gregory of Swanton and Johnstown, Pa., where he is president of Cambria Business Machines, Inc.

Officiating commodores were Tom Duke of the club at Turkey Neck and Don Hott at Deer Haven.

Sentenced

Miller was sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail for the destruction charge and 90 days for the breaking and entering charge. The sentences will run concurrently.

The charges were filed by Detective L.E. Gnegy of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department following a June 29 incident in Oakland. According to police reports, Miller was found sleeping in an unrented apartment, and did not have permission to do so. A lock on the apartment door had also been damaged.

The judge ordered a presentence investigation for Kenneth L. Stinson, 29, Mtn. Lake Park, after finding him guilty of a battery charge.

The charge was filed by Daina R. Vanmeter, Oakland, following an April 30 incident there.

Judge Turney found Mark Whitacre, 19, Mtn. Lake Park, to be guilty of a charge of wanton trespassing. He was placed on six months unsupervised probation and handed a $100 fine, which was suspended.

A charge of intoxication was not prosecuted by the court. The charges were filed by Concetta Burns, Mtn. Lake Park, following an April 30 incident there.

Farm Queen

the contestants had to answer a standard question: "If you were left a fortune, and had to invest it in a farm, how would you spend it?" They also had to draw a "fishbowl" question and give an immediate answer.

Lori Dodge gave her farewell address, thanking the Farm Bureau for the opportunity to represent agriculture during her year as Farm Queen.

The judges for the event were: William Aiken, of the West Virginia Farm Bureau; Sharon Diehl and Jane Wagner, both Allegany County Extension agents. The judges were presented a thank you gift of maple syrup from the Farm Bureau Women's Committee.

Greetings were given by Garrett County Farm Bureau President William F. DeWitt, and Norman Astle of the Maryland Farm Bureau. Astle announced that with 228 farm families belonging to Garrett County Farm Bureau this year, it is the largest membership the county has ever had.

Special guests, Allegany County Farm Queen Jenille Leith and Garrett/Allegany Dairy Princess Rebecca Cummings were introduced.

The new Garrett County Farm Queen and her court will ride in the Fair Parade tonight, beginning at 7 p.m.

GCC Enrollments

turnaround."

Nine course sections have already closed out, Dr. Herman said, and the College is taking quick measures to open additional sections to accommodate demand. College officials encouraged prospective students to register as early as possible in order to have a good selection of courses available when they register.

Non-credit enrollment also did "exceedingly well" last year, Herman noted, almost equaling the record set the previous year. In fiscal year 1987, Continuing Education posted a record FTE of 294. Last year the figure was 290, just four FTE short of the record mark.

Continuing Education will be moving to new headquarters in McHenry this fall when the College opens the Community and Continuing Education Center, formerly the Mining Technology Center. Although Continuing Education will be headquartered in McHenry, it will retain an administrative presence in Oakland, and it will continue offering courses at the Center Street School. The new schedule of Fall Continuing Education courses has just been printed and may be obtained by calling the College at 387-6666.

Small Business Advisory Council Meets At GCC

The Garrett Community College's Small Business Development Center held its first meeting of the Advisory Council on July 18. The Advisory Council will meet periodically to advise GCC on the needs of the business community.

Attending the meeting were reprensentatives from a variety of small businesses; the banking, legal and insurance industries; and organizations committed to economic development in the county from Grantsville, Friendsville, McHenry and Oakland.

The Small Business Center will provide a free counseling service to small business entrepreneurs by coordinating the resources of the community; local, state and federal agencies; funding sources; the expertise of successful business owners; and the college.

Among the many current services offered by the Center are personal counseling by faculty and retired business owners, a library of materials for starting up a business or addressing particular problems in a current business, and management training for entrepreneurs and their employees.

Within the next year, the Center plans to offer enhanced services for clients including: meeting and training facilities, computer demonstrations, on-line computer database assistance for particular needs, and "incubator" opportunities for suitable business enterprises.

The center currently serves over a dozen clients and has the capacity to establish relationships with anyone interested in its services. Start up funding for the Center has been provided by a grant, the Mountaintop Chamber of Commerce and GCC.

Members of the Advisory Council are the Garrett County Commissioners; John Bambacus, State Senator; Milford Beckman, Garrett National Bank; Ralph Burnett, Economic Development Council; Dave and Mimi Demaree, Demaree Inflatable Boats, Friendsville; George Edwards, Maryland State Delegate; Robert Fousek, County Administrator; Denny Glotfelty, Deep Creek Lake Business Association; Tom Jones, Garrett County Development Corporation; Terry King and Jim Murray, Chamber of Commerce; Rob Michael, State Farm Insurance; Sue Shockey, Western Maryland Consortium; Dick Stanton, First United National Bank and Trust; Jean Swauger, Liberty Bank, Granstville; and Diana Wolfe, Promotion Council. Representatives of GCC are Dr. Stephen Herman, Lowell Bender, John Culp, John Gould and Marci McClive, Coordinator's of the SBDC, and Dr. Lillian Mitchell.

Anyone interested in beginning a business enterprise can contact the center at 387-6666. Members of the community are also asked to contribute suggestions regarding the Center's services. Any business person willing to offer a few hours of expertise is encouraged to become a part of the counseling corps and can register with Ms. McClive or Mr. Gould.

Applications For Project Grants Offered By Chesapeake Bay Trust

The Chesapeake Bay Trust invites local civic and community organizations to apply for financial assistance grants to support activities related to the clean-up of the Chesapeake Bay. Nonprofit organizations, community associations, civic groups, schools and others are encouraged to propose projects and activities which contribute to the restoration effort.

Projects considered for funding support include those which promote citizen participation in the restoration effort. The Trust has approved more than 30 grants and distributed $350,000 for activities ranging from beach clean-ups, shoreline enhancement projects and water quality studies to the development of bay education materials, teacher workshops and public service announcements about ways to protect the bay.

Organizations are encouraged to use their creative energies to develop project ideas, both large and small, that will directly help the bay or increase the awareness and commitment of others to the important task of restoring and preserving the estuary.

Application forms and other related information may be obtained by contacting the Trust at 301-974-2941.

B&L Announces Two Appointments

Dale Umbel

Walt Cooper

The management of the local Bausch & Lomb plant has announced the appointments of Dale Umbel to the position of manufacturing technician and Walt Cooper to the position of assistant department manager.

Richard Shick, plant manager, stated that Umbel will be responsible for conformance to tolerances and specifications, testing of tools, tooling and materials, training of all set-up to a standard conformance, planning and implementing of new projects, programs and other assorted technical duties.

Umbel joined the company June 14, 1971. Since then he has held various positions, including group leader for the surfacing department.

Umbel is a graduate of Northern High School. He and his wife, Sherry, also a Bausch and Lomb employee, reside in Friendsville with their two children.

Schick announced that Walt Cooper, in his new position, will coordinate all efforts within the Surfacing Department. He will also retain some of his present engineering responsibilities.

Cooper joined the company August 3, 1987, as a mechanical engineer. Originally from Washington, N.J., he attended Garnon University in Erie, Pa. He graduated with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering in 1985 and a master's degree in business administration in 1987.

Cooper and his wife, Cheryl, reside in Deer Park. She is an employee at Garrett Memorial Hospital as a radiologic technologist.

Jim McKay

programming in 1986. Jim McKay, who was the program's host on the very first day in April 1961, has been with "Wide World" ever since. He has traveled some 4½ million miles to cover events for the program, the most successful year-round sports series in the history of TV.

Over the years, McKay has covered more than 100 different sports in 40 different countries and from Maine to Hawaii in the United States. Jim McManus (McKay's real name) gave up his job as a reporter for the Baltimore Sun newspapers to join that organization's new TV station, WMAR-TV in 1947. His was the first voice ever heard on TV in Baltimore. He functioned as writer, producer, director, newsman, sports commentator and on-camera personality for WMAR-TV until he came to CBS in New York in 1950 as host of a variety show.

Through the 1950's, sports commentary more and more became his primary assignment for CBS. He was anchorman for the Masters and PGA Golf Championships and also covered college football, horse racing and other sports. He now appears as anchorman for ABC on its golf telecasts, as well as events like the Indianapolis "500", Kentucky Derby, Preakness Stakes, Belmont Stakes and others, in addition to his regular appearances on "Wide World."

McKay was honored for his coverage of horse racing, having received the 1984 Old Hilltop Award from Pimlico Race Course in Baltimore, for "his outstanding coverage of thoroughbred racing for more than 20 years." He also received the Engelhard Award from the Thoroughbred Breeders of Kentucky in 1978 for "his outstanding ability to convey the essence of thoroughbred racing to his TV audi ence."

Born in Philadelphia on September 24, 1921, he moved to Baltimore when he was 13. He was graduated from Loyola College there and then entered the U.S. Navy as an officer during World War II. At the war's conclusion, he was captain of a minesweeper. In 1981, he returned to Loyola College to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters. His biography is included in "Who's Who in America."

McKay lives with his wife, Margaret, in Westport, Conn. Under her married name, Margaret McManus, she is a nationally-known syndicated writer on Washington personalities. They have a son, Sean McManus, and a daughter, Mrs. Charles Fontelieu. When time permits, McKay enjoys playing golf, tennis and skiing. The McKays now operate a horse farm in Maryland, from which they breed and race thoroughbreds.

NOW ON DISPLAY at the Ruth Enlow Library, Oakland, is a collection of water color paintings by Ruth Smouse. The paintings will be on display throughout the month of August. Smouse resides in Accident with her husband, William, and is treasurer of the Garrett County Arts Council.

Good Food and how to prepare it!

Just "Peachy" Recipes

FROSTED PEACH SALAD

1 (29-ounce) can peach halves, drained
1 large banana, mashed
¼ cup chopped pecans or walnuts
1 tablespoon powdered sugar
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Lettuce (optional)
Whipped Cream Salad Dressing

Place peach halves in a greased muffin pan. Combine next 4 ingredients, and mix well. Mount mixture in peach cavities, and freeze until firm. To serve, remove peach halves from freezer, let stand at room temperature 20 to 30 minutes. Serve on lettuce, if desired, and top with Whipped Cream Salad Dressing. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Whipped Cream Salad Dressing
½ cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Beat whipping cream until foamy, gradually add powdered sugar, beating until soft peaks form. Fold in lemon juice. Yield: About 1 cup.

Portable peach pies make perfect desserts for outdoor eating.

Take-Along Peach Pies

Pastry (recipe follows)
2 cups coarsely chopped, peeled peaches
1/3 cup sugar
4 tablespoons water, divided
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon Argo corn starch
1 quart (about) corn oil

In 2-qt saucepan combine peaches, sugar, 2 Tbsp water and cinnamon. Stirring occasionally, bring to boil over medium heat; boil 2 minutes. In bowl stir corn starch and remaining water until smooth; add to peaches. Stirring constantly, bring to boil; boil 1 minute. Pour into bowl; cover surface and cool. Meanwhile, prepare Pastry. Place 1 Tbsp peach filling on half of each pastry circle. Moisten edge, then fold in half. With fork, press edge on both sides to seal. Pour corn oil into heavy 3-qt saucepan, filling no more than 1/3 full. Heat to 375°F. Carefully add pies two at a time. Fry, turning once, 4 min or until golden. Drain on paper towels. If desired, sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Makes 16.

Pastry: In medium bowl combine 2 cups flour and 1 tsp baking powder; cut in 1/2 cup margarine until fine crumbs form. Sprinkle 6 Tbsp cold water over mixture while tossing with fork. Work with hands until pastry holds together. On lightly floured surface, roll pastry, 1/3 at a time, to 1/8 thickness. Cut into 16 (5") circles.

PEACH BUTTER

1 (8-ounce) package dried peaches
2 cups water
1 cup sugar

Combine peaches and 2 cups water in a Dutch oven, let stand 5 hours. Cook peaches over low heat 30 minutes or until very tender. Remove from heat, mash peaches with a potato masher. Stir in sugar, cook over low heat 5 to 8 minutes or until thick, stirring butter frequently.

CREAMY PEACH FREEZE

1 (1¼-ounce) package whipped topping mix
1 (16-ounce) can sliced peaches, drained

Prepare whipped topping mix according to package directions. Combine whipped topping and peaches in container of electric blender, process until smooth. Spoon into 4 serving dishes, and freeze 2 to 3 hours or until firm. Remove from freezer 5 minutes before serving. Yield: 4 servings.

HONEY BAKED PEACHES

4 fresh ripe peaches
¼ cup water
⅓ cup honey
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash of cinnamon
Coconut (optional)

Microwave peaches on High (100%) for 15 to 30 seconds per peach, peel. Arrange peach halves in an 8x8x2 inch baking dish. Combine water, honey, lemon juice and cinnamon. Pour over peaches. Cover with a tight fitting lid or plastic wrap. Microwave on High (100%) for five to eight minutes or until peaches are tender. Stir halfway through cooking. Sprinkle with coconut. Serve warm or cold. Yield: 8 servings.

PEACH HAZELNUT CAKE

½ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour (all unbleached white or half white, half whole wheat pastry)
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg
1¼ cups buttermilk
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped peeled peaches, dredged with flour
½ cup ground hazelnuts

Preheat oven to 400 degrees F. Butter an 8-inch round cake pan, an 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pan, or a 9-inch tube pan. Cream together butter and sugar. Add the egg. Sift the dry ingredients together and add them, alternating with the buttermilk (dry ingredients in three additions, buttermilk in two). Add vanilla, peaches and nuts. Pour into prepared pan and bake until a toothpick inserted in the center comes out clean, about 35 to 45 minutes. Set on rack to cool about 20 minutes before removing from pan. Serves 6-8.

PEACH MELBA PARFAIT

2 (3-ounce) packages Raspberry Gelatin*
2 cups boiling water
1 cup cold water
1 (8½-ounce) can lite yellow cling sliced peaches, drained and chopped
1 (8-ounce) container peach or vanilla yogurt

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water, stir in cold water. Pour into 9-inch square baking pan, chill 2 hours or until firm. Cut gelatin into ½-inch cubes. In small bowl, combine peaches and yogurt. To serve, in 4 (8-ounce) parfait glasses, layer gelatin cubes and yogurt mixture.

*1 (.35-ounce) package Sugar-Free Raspberry Gelatin may be substituted. Makes 4 servings.

PEACH OR NECTARINE JAM WITH BROWN SUGAR AND RUM

6 cups coarsely chopped peeled firm-ripe peaches or nectarines (about 4 pounds)
2 cups (packed) light brown sugar
6 tablespoons strained fresh lemon juice
¾ cup dark rum, preferably Jamaican
2 cups granulated sugar

Combine the peaches with the brown sugar and lemon juice and about half of the rum in a large bowl and stir the mixture well. Cover it and let it stand overnight. Pour the peach mixture into a preserving pan. Bring it to a boil over medium-high heat. Cover the pan, reduce the heat, and cook the mixture until the peach chunks are beginning to be translucent, 15 to 20 minutes, stir it several times. If the jam becomes too thick before the fruit clarifies, add 2 to 3 tablespoons of water. Add the granulated sugar and cook the jam rapidly, stirring almost constantly, until a spoonful placed on a chilled saucer and refrigerated for a few moments wrinkles instead of running when the saucer is tilted sharply. (Remove the pot from the heat while testing). Stir in the remaining rum and cook the jam for 2 minutes, stirring. Ladle the boiling-hot jam into hot, clean pint or half-pint canning jars, leaving ¼-inch of headspace. Seal the jars with clean two-part canning lids according to manufacturer's directions and process for 15 minutes (for either size jar) in a boiling-water bath. Cool, label and store the jars. The jam is ready to use immediately. Yield: About 6 cups.

REDESIGNED BELLINI BY THE PITCHER

2 cups peeled, sliced, ripe and juicy peaches (reserve 1 peach pit)
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons lime juice
1 bottle (1 liter/33.8 ounces) seltzer water, well chilled
1 bottle (25.4 fluid ounces) sparkling white grape juice, well chilled
Fresh raspberries (optional)

In a bowl, toss the peaches with sugar and lime juice. Mash the peaches with the back of a spoon or transfer to a food processor or blender and puree. Place peaches in a tall pitcher. Add the reserved pit for flavor. Slowly add the seltzer water and the sparkling white grape juice. Stir with a long-handled spoon. Pour into stemmed glasses, using the spoon to distribute the pulp evenly. Garnish each wine glass with a few raspberries, if desired. Yield: About 2 quarts, or 10 8-ounce servings.

LOVE AND SECURITY

You don't need to know much about polar bears to get the message. This cub hasn't a worry in the world. But one day it will grow up to know all the frustrations of life in captivity.

Motherhood is security . . . but only for awhile. And the human mother is no more able to perpetuate the bond of total protection than is her wild counterpart.

Some parents today have abdicated their responsibility to guide their children. They have broken the family bonds too soon. Their children pay for this negligence: They age—but they don't mature.

Whims are fickle . . . and momentary. Churches and synagogues strive to replace such elusive goals with something more substantial, something more stable. The inner values of character and faith remain vital today as ever.

In our turbulent society, tranquility can only be found inside a person. Such stability and serenity could be your greatest gift to your child. Worship with your children this week.

NEUROSIS AND PSYCHOSIS
WHAT DO THEY MEAN?

Neurosis is defined as a mild emotional disorer in which you might experience feelings of anxiety, make compulsive acts and usually have physical complaints without specific evidence of disease. Psychosis is any major, severe form of mental illness.

Most everybody has a neurosis occasionally and sometimes a mild tranquilizer is prescribed to help ease the stress. With a psychosis, treatment calls for strong medication in many cases. There are hundreds of drugs available for mild or severe mental problems. We carry them all in our prescription stocks.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

REDEMPTION OR EXEMPTION?

August 14, 1988

Background Scripture: Numbers 14:1-25.
Devotional Reading: Exodus 33:7-16.

The Exodus took place more than 3,000 years ago. Yet, despite all those years intervening between their time and ours, the behaviour of the people of Israel seems surprisingly contemporary. The forms of their behaviour may be quite different, but the motivation doesn't appear to have changed all that much.

What could be more contemporary than the whining of the Israelites after having been challenged to take possession of the Promised Land! "Would that we had died in the land of Egypt! Or would that we had died in this wilderness! Why does the Lord bring us into this land, to fall by the sword?...would it not be better for us to go back to Egypt?" (Numbers 14:1-3).

THE SECURITY OF BONDAGE

It seems so strange when you think about it, but it is always a human temptation to want to go back when confronted by a challenge. It would appear that many of the Israelites would have chosen to return to Egyptian slavery, rather than take up the challenge of the Promised Land. The problem is that too many of us prefer the security of bondage to the uncertainty of faith. So the people of Israel believed more strongly in the might of the Canaanites than they did the power of the God who had already delivered them in so many ways. Strange, but not all that unbelievable, for we still sometimes respond that way to God's challenges.

Moses sought to persuade God to pardon the Israelites and we can't help being a bit amused at his attempts to argue with God, slyly suggesting that, if he destroys the Israelites, the neighboring people will think: "Because the Lord was not able to bring this people into the land which he swore to give to them, therefore he has slain them in the wilderness" (14:16). In other words, the death of the Israelites will look like a failure of God's power. Instead, he says, let God display the power of his love.

THE CONSEQUENCES

So, God does pardon Israel. Moses prayed for redemption and that's what Israel received. The people were all forgiven for their faithlessness. That, however, did not mean that they would be exempted from the consequences of their sin. Forgiven, yes! Exempted, no! "...none of the men who have seen my glory and my signs which I wrought in Egypt and in the wilderness, and yet have put me to the proof these ten times and have not hearkened to my voice, shall see the land which I swore to give to their fathers (14:22,23).

God forgave them and that wiped clean the slate of their covenant relationship. But it did not alter the consequences of their sin. Redemption brings us forgiveness, but it does not bring us exemption from paying the price of our own actions or attitudes. If I get drunk and drive down the street and kill someone in a traffic accident, I can be redeemed of my sin by God, but no amount of forgiveness on his part will undo the consequences of my sin. The person I killed will still be dead. The sorrow I have brought to other people's lives will not be whisked away with a magic wand.

What God promises us and gives us is redemption, not exemption. And that's the way it should be, for we can live with the consequences--hard and painful as they may be--but not without God's forgiveness.

Republicans convene in New Orleans

Networks cut cost of coverage with technology

By Jonathan Deeley

Since most of the suspense was taken out of the Republican National Convention when George Bush overwhelmingly led the pack during the presidential primaries, attention has shifted to how the convention will be covered. As delegates gather in New Orleans' Superdome Monday, Aug. 15, through Thursday, Aug. 18, some changes will be evident.

Once exclusive to only the major networks, convention coverage has become simplified and inexpensive—relatively speaking—with the recent developments in satellite technology and pooled resources allowing more local broadcasters the opportunity to bring it home live.

Among the networks, CBS has committed itself to the same prime-time coverage as the 1984 conventions, while ABC is employing a selective approach, letting the story determine the coverage.

The most visible evidence of satellite use is the number of mobile units present at the conventions. To accommodate the increased number, parking at the Superdome was expanded for some 75 newsgathering trucks that will be used to transmit satellite signals.

One benefit satellites offer is the ease of switching from a station's headquarters to its mobile units, enabling the networks to leave a large part of the video and graphics operations at home if needed. (ABC reported the most significant cut in staff from conventions past by leaving more than 300 members of its production crew in New York.)

In addition to making everyone's life easier, satellite operations are less expensive. Mobile units have replaced the series of control rooms that previously had to be custom built for each convention. NBC, using its N-8 mobile unit, reduced its staff by nearly half of what was sent four years ago, while other networks estimate savings of from $5 million to $10 million each.

Joining the major networks in growing numbers and financial commitments are local broadcasters who will be reporting on delegates and political leaders from their respective home states who are in attendance at the convention.

All but a few of the local stations covering the convention will be pooling resources in groups, or utilizing media packages produced by nationwide satellite newsgathering services. These cooperatives send reporters, camera crews and editors to the sites, where they produce their own material and relay the signals "home" via a satellite uplink. Even some international broadcasters are among the member stations receiving media packages.

Alternative news packages are also available without charge from both political parties, which produce their own coverage of convention business without commentary or narration.

Screeeeech!

Who says it's hard to draw a crowd in jaded New York City? Yes, a scene with Howard Hesseman and Ed Marinaro did go virtually unnoticed by rush-hour pedestrian traffic, during the recent filming of the upcoming CBS film The Great Diamond Robbery. But that's because a block away their co-star, Brooke Shields, was having her picture taken. The crowd of fans stopped in their tracks in seconds flat.

THINK BACK

It's time to take a letter

By Donna Gooch

As any boss can confirm, a good secretary is hard to find. The following TV characters are lucky in that respect. Their right-hand helpers were the epitome of efficiency. Okay, not all of them were, but at least they made us laugh. The secretaries were loyal as well, often getting into hot water to protect their employers. Now for some dictation: Match the following bosses and secretaries.

David Coulier: Joey in ABC's 'Full House'

By Jerri Hicks

BIRTHPLACE: Detroit, Mich.
BIRTHDATE: Sept. 21
EYES: Blue
HAIR: Blonde-brown
HEIGHT: 6'

David Coulier has kept people laughing all his life. Since he was a small child growing up in Detroit, Dave has enjoyed entertaining others. One of his first entertainment stints was putting on a puppet show for the kids in his neighborhood. In high school, he organized a show which attracted an audience in excess of 1,000 people.

At one time, Dave worked as a draftsman in Detroit, but had his mind set on making people laugh for a living. At age 17, he drove to Chicago where he checked out the action at the local clubs, including The Second City.

He returned to Detroit and began appearing in many clubs in that city. After he opened for fellow comedian Michael Binder, Michael talked Dave into going to Los Angeles to try his luck. It wasn't long before Dave was doing his stand-up comedy act at the Improvisation, the Comedy Store, and the Comedy Magic Club.

Through a lot of hard work, Dave has landed himself in a successful television series, doing what he does best—making people laugh. In ABC's Full House, he plays a young comedian who moves into a widowed friend's household to help him raise three young daughters, and the results are hilarious.

He has made television appearances on The Tonight Show and The CBS Morning Program. He starred in HBO's The Detroit Comedy Jam, and can be seen on Nickelodeon's Out of Control, which airs on weekends.

The multi-talented young actor wrote the voices of many popular animated characters for series including The Muppet Babies, The Real Ghostbusters and The Jetsons.

Raised in St. Clair Shores, Michigan, which is known as Hockeytown, USA, Dave has been playing that sport since he was 6 years old. He is a pilot, having received his private license at age 17. He also enjoys playing golf in his spare time.

Kathleen Sullivan credits early religion with success

By Diane Roberts

Q: I have developed a liking for Kathleen Sullivan who is on the* CBS This Morning show. I read an article in Golf Digest about her but would like more information—is she a Born-Again Christian, what are her favorite things to do and eat or anything else that is interesting. —Charlie Corothers, Tyler, Texas

Kathleen Sullivan.

A: Kathleen Sullivan was born in 1953 in Pasadena, Calif. An only child of divorced parents, she credits Sister Carlotta, her high school principal, and the nuns at Santa Catalina with shaping her life and giving her the fundamentals of being a successful woman. She was married to Mike Kiner, son of baseball star Ralph Kiner and tennis star Nancy Kiner, April 12, 1985. A commuter marriage, he in California; she in New York, they recently agreed to a trial separation. She finds relaxation on either the tennis courts or the golf course. Her favorite drink is an occasional gin and tonic. She says, "I never felt that I gave up anything for my career. I love television. I chose it."

Q: Some years back there was a TV series called* High Chaparral starring Leif Erickson. Is he still active? —Mrs. K. Wiley, Cherry Hill, N.J.

A: Leif Erickson never recaptured the stardom of that series. He had a few guest-starring roles in feature films and made-for-television movies before his death from cancer in 1986 at age 74.

Q: Back in 1978-79, I caught a glimpse of the ending of a segment of the program* In Search of... How can I view the entire program and/or get copies of the scripts to search out the segment that I am interested in? It would help if I could get a master index of the segments, as each 30-minute program had four or five segments. —James Grinnell, Lompoc, Calif.

A: I hope this answer will help end your search. Write to the executive producer of In Search of..., Alan Landsburg, 11811 W. Olympic Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90064.

Q: Please: What became of the handsome guitar player who sang with the Bill Monroe Bluegrass Band for so many years? He always stood to Bill Monroe's left and sang harmony with him. — Juanita Hurst, Madisonville, Ky.*

A: Bill Monroe and His Blue Grass Boys recently appeared on a Cinemax special, Country Music—A New Tradition. Appearing with Mr. Monroe were band members Mike Feagan on fiddle, Blake Williams on banjo, Clarence Tate on acoustic bass and guitarist /vocalist Tom Ewing (is he the one?).

Americans wage war over issues of public smoking

By Linda Sparkman

Cigarette smoking has become a major dilemma in America. Many homes, offices, buses, airplanes, restaurants and courtrooms have become the battleground between those who feel they have a right to smoke and those who feel they have a right to a smoke-free environment.

Showdown on Tobacco Road, airing Wednesday, Aug. 17, on PBS, examines the effects of the tobacco industry on society and the confrontation between pro- and anti-smoking forces.

Recently, landmark legislation has added fuel to the already intense debate over smokers' and nonsmokers' rights. On April 23, all domestic airline flights of two hours or less went completely nonsmoking.

In June, a six-member federal jury in Newark, N.J., ordered the makers of the Chesterfield and L&M brands of cigarettes to pay $400,000 in compensatory damages to a man whose wife had died of lung cancer.

Showdown explores provocative questions, such as "Do smokers have a right to light up in public places?" and "Why do 92 percent of the people who smoke say they'd like to stop?"

Diverse viewpoints are presented through interviews with pro- and anti-smoking activists, the U.S. Surgeon General, tobacco industry spokespersons, politicians, and advertising and legal consultants.

The Mohicans were a fictional tribe created by author James Fenimore Cooper. There was, however, a real tribe known as the Mahicans.

CABLE HOPPING

Nick offers comedy for grown-up kids

By Jonathan Deeley

Back in the days when Mom and Dad walked 10 miles to school (each way), movies only cost a nickel and movie houses were called "nickelodeons." Today, Nickelodeon refers to the basic cable station that caters to kids—kids of today as well as yesterday.

One film geared toward the latter features one of the great early comedians and airs Wednesday, Aug. 17, at 4 a.m. Eastern. Harold Lloyd stars in the original 1947 classic The Sin of Harold Diddlebock.

Probably best known for hanging precariously from the face of a giant clock in Safety Last, Lloyd began his film career with The Keystone Film Co. in 1913. In 1946, he came out of retirement to star in his last film under the direction of Preston Sturges and produced by Howard Hughes.

The film opens with the final section of Lloyd's silent classic, The Freshman, and takes the college football hero through 20 years as a bookkeeper for an advertising firm. Diddlebock's adventure begins when he takes his first drink, transforming him from a standard meek-mannered person to an aggressive "fireball."

Although originally released through United Artists, the film's limited success earned it a four-year rest, re-editing and a re-release under a new title, Mad Wednesday.

HOROSCOPE

August 14 through August 20

LEO

VIRGO

LEO (July 23 - August 22)
Leg work is important for finding the valuable answers you've been seeking. Don't let sentimentality be your only guideline.

VIRGO (August 23 - September 22)
A value you once considered sacred may prove disappointing. Being stern pays off as others make demands. Equals need to be treated as such.

LIBRA (September 23 - October 22)
Puzzlement results when a friend or acquaintance enters an unusual phase. Step aside temporarily and let others take the reins.

SCORPIO (October 23 - November 21)
Hold onto cherished values or mementos. A lack of energy presents unexpected problems. Keep temperament in check. Follow familiar paths.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 - December 21)
Cushion yourself from unfavorable influences. Solitude may be the cure for recent anxiety. Don't let others step over personal boundaries.

CAPRICORN (December 22 - January 19)
Permit others to elaborate on their ideas. Bold actions are expected. Periodic review of others' impressions of you is beneficial.

AQUARIUS (January 20 - February 18)
Forage through belongings to sort out unnecessary artifacts. Reluctance to cultivate new interests brings activities to an abrupt halt.

PISCES (February 19 - March 20)
Liberate yourself from outdated ideas. Solid trust provides the glue which binds an important friendship. Take a direct approach.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
An unexpected occurrence puts a damper on plans. Commitment is the key for completing tasks. Take the initiative to move forward.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Head toward civil relations with opponents. Double check all facets of a proposed agreement. Loosen up on domestic situations.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Confidence enables you to easily approach a tense predicament. Reasons that seem apparent on the surface may prove to be otherwise.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Keep gloating to a minimum. Think intently about how your actions may affect another's emotions. Stick firmly by steadfast rules.

'The Keep' makes network debut on NBC

Supernatural tale heavy on suspense

By Anne Wheeler

Supernatural mystery and intense danger surround the horrifying thriller The Keep, making its network television debut Sunday, Aug. 14, on NBC.

Written and directed by Michael Mann, executive producer for the network's stylized Miami Vice, the 1983 Paramount release revolves around an enigmatic stranger whose mission is to confront the evil power that dwells within a mysterious fortress in Nazi-occupied Romania.

Scott Glenn, Jurgen Prochnow, Gabriel Byrne, Robert Prosky and Ian McKellen star in the film.

The drama opens in a small town in Nazi-occupied Romania where Capt. Klaus Woermann (Prochnow) and his Wehrmacht unit enter The Keep, a strange fortification designed to keep something in—not out.

Hoping to end a series of murders in The Keep, S.S. Officer Kaempffer (Byrne) orders the ailing Dr. Theodore Kuzar (McKellen) and his daughter Eva (Alberta Watson) released from a concentration camp. Dr. Kuzar's mission is to remove a mystical object from the fortress, thus freeing the supernatural being that has been repressed for centuries.

But elsewhere in Europe, "the Watchman," awakens from a centuries-long slumber to begin his mission: the destruction of The Keep and the powers within it.

Annual Report Released By Education Agency

The Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland (RESA) recently released its annual report for fiscal year 1988.

Chairman of the board for RESA was Dr. Harold Winstanley, superintendent of schools for the Allegany County Board of Education.

Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, superintendent of schools for the Board of Education for Garrett County, served as vice chairman. The board of directors is made up of the chief executive officers of the member institutions of the agency.

In addition to Winstanley and Ryscavage they are Dr. Donald Alexander, Allegany Community College; Dr. Herb. F. Reinhard Jr., Forstburg State University; Dr. Norman Shea, Hagerstown Junior College; Dr. Wayne Gersen, Board of Education of Washington County; Dr. Stephen Herman, Garrett Community College; and Dr. Walter Hohenstein, University of Maryland (alternate to Dr. Toll, president, University of Maryland).

During the 1987 to 1988 school year, RESA established two new committees to address issues in education technology and to set in place a working model for local, county and regional science fairs.

It funded eight proposals at a total of $22,961 through the minigrants program; provided contractual services for the Maryland State Department of Education in the sum of $1,500,000; conducted its first annual retreat for the board of directors; and developed guidelines for its temporary employees assigned to the Maryland State Department of Education.

RESA also sponsored several education conferences and is planning a major conference for the spring of 1989, "Critical Thinking at the Post-Secondary Level."

Workshops were held for staff development including a spring retreat for educators, a guidance counselor's symposium and two field tours for earth science teachers.

The Cultural Affairs Committee received funding for three proposals in 1988 — "Programs Featuring Performers and Artists," "Performing Arts Workshops" and "Foreign Language Workshop."

New projects under development by the committee for fiscal year 1989 are "A Forum in Fine Arts for Teachers," "Instrumental Masters Classes With the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra" and "A Movement and Dance Workshop for Elementary Teachers."

A Peer Helper Training Program was conducted where students received six days of intense training in the skills of peer counseling and then returned to their schools and set up peer helper units. Guidance counselors and other school personnel also were trained in the administration of the program.

The total number of students trained should approximate 100 by the close of summer. The Drug Education Committee also assisted with Allegany Community College's Alcohol and Drug Awareness Program.

The nucleus of all RESA activity with business and industry in the region has been through the Roundtable for the Future of Western Maryland.

It met every other month to address issues which included a four-year college for Hagerstown, the transition of Frostburg State from college to university, the National Freeway, merging government services, the Washington County Progress Council, economic development, engineering studies via satellite and microwave, computer classrooms and a reciprocal agreement with Pennsylvania and West Virginia for tuition in Allegany and Garrett community colleges and Hagerstown Junior College.

There were two initiatives developed in cooperation with the Appalachian Regional Commission to provide extended services in technology transfer to business and industry.

Other miscellaneous activities included receipt of a grant to conduct a drop-out prevention program in Allegany County, initiation of contact with the Private Enterprise Market System of Pennsylvania to consider utilization of their materials in the county school systems and an informational session with members of the Maryland Banking Association and county math supervisors to consider the use of a personal economics program by the county systems.

Telecommunication Advisory Board To Be Organized

The Community Services Administration of the Maryland Department of Human Resources is looking for people to serve as members of a Governor's Advisory Board on Telecommunications for Disabled Individuals. The Department is implementing a program to establish a message relay system to provide disabled persons with basic telephone services.

An 11-member State Advisory Board is being created to provide guidance to the State in the development and administration of the dual-party telephone message relay system. The Board, appointed by the Governor, must include five representatives of the hearing-impaired community, four representatives of telecommunications providers, along with two representatives of government. Initial terms will be for one, two or three years, then members will serve staggered three-year terms.

Board members will deal with issues regarding the accessability of telephone network services for deaf, hearing impaired, speech impaired, vision and speech impaired mobility-impaired persons. The program will be developed in collaboration with other State programs serving disabled people, and with community agencies and organizations that already have established relay programs.

Persons interested in being considered for Board appointment should send resumes by August 26, 1988, to: Advisory Board, c/o Frank Blanton, Executive Director, Community Services Administration, Room 219, 311 West Saratoga Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

For further information, persons may contact J.C. Shay, Director of Public Information, at 333-0011.

DNR Says State Lands Need Help From Citizenry

Trees are a special resource and Maryland trees need help from The Free State's citizenry, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

Resource planning for the management of state forests and state wildlife management areas is the goal of Maryland's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service of the DNR, and foresters are seeking names of those Maryland citizens interested in assisting with this planning process.

To help the citizenry learn more about Maryland's forest land resources, all libraries across the state now have copies of the 46-page document which outlines forestry and forestry ambitions in the state. "Maryland's Forest Resources Plan" is the award-winning document available for reference. Citizens are urged by the DNR to visit their local libraries to peruse the forest resource plan. They are also urged to contact their local regional service centers for participation in this planning process of FPWS.

A mailing list is being developed by the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service. "Just as a forest is comprised of a variety of trees, an effective planning process will include a variety of interested individuals who will be kept informed of the service needs for the resource plan," a DNR spokesman said.

Citizens who register with their regional centers will be kept informed with news from DNR's Forest, Park and Wildlife Service on a timely basis.

The only American author to win the Pulitzer Prize four times was poet Robert Frost.

Colorado Blue Spruce Available

Ten free Colorado blue spruce trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during August, 1988.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit Foundation's effort to encourage tree planting throughout America.

"The Colorado blue spruces will have many uses in your home landscape," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said. "With their silver blue-green color and compact conical shape they can be used as individual ornamentals, an energy-saving windbreak, a privacy screen, or as living Christmas trees."

The trees will be shipped postpaid at the right time for planting in September or October with enclosed planting instructions. The six to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow, or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, persons must send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Blue Spruces, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by August 31, 1988.

New Horizons Gains Preliminary Funding Approval

The New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College has received preliminary approval of their 1988-89 grant from the Maryland State Department of Vocational/-Technical Education, effective July 1, 1988, with funds provided to serve single parents, homemakers, and displaced homemakers.

The New Horizons Program, which has recently been relocated to the McHenry Campus of GCC, provides career counseling, peer counseling, career assessment, career testing, skills identification, jobs skills preparation in the areas of resumes, interviewing and dressing, vocational training with tuition assistance in both the non-credit and credit divisions of GCC, child care and/or transportation assistance, and job assistance to eligible program participants.

The following categories are served by New Horizons:

A. Single parent (working or non-working) who is unmarried or legally separated from a spouse, and has a minor child or children for which the parent has either custody or joint custody.

B. Homemaker who is an adult, and has worked as an adult primarily without pay to care for the home and family, and for that reason has diminished marketable job skills.

C. Displaced homemaker, one who is separated, divorced or widowed and who must seek employment.

According to Barbara Frey, director of New Horizons, this funding year $10,000 will again be available for tuition and books assistance for eligible participants of the New Horizons Program in both the credit and non-credit field in vocational training, as well as approximately $1,500 to be used for child care and transportation expenses while program participants are enrolled in training programs.

To determine eligibility for the New Horizons Program, interested persons are asked to call 387-6666 Ext. 171 weekdays between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. to schedule an appointment to learn more about the program and how it can provide assistance.

Butcher, Singer, Wheat Create Holding Company

Wheat, First Securities Inc., of Richmond Va., and Butcher & Singer Inc., Philadelphia, Pa., have entered into an agreement in principle to form a holding company to operate the two firms. Financial details were not disclosed.

Under the terms of the arrangement, the companies will form WBF Securities Inc., a financial services and investment banking holding company with two separate divisions, having capital of $56 million. The firm will have about 2,000 employees including 750 investment brokers in 92 locations from Massachusetts to South Carolina. To retain the independent, regional identities which have contributed to the success of the two firms, the offices of both firms will continue to operate separately under their current names.

For the fiscal year ended March 31, 1988, Wheat reported revenues of $129 million. Butcher & Singer, which has an office in Oakland, had revenues of $87.5 million in its most recent fiscal year. Wheat has 54 offices in Virginia, the Carolinas, Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania and metropolitan Washington, D.C. Butcher & Singer has 38 offices in Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and West Virginia.

Wheat, First Securities was established in 1934 and Butcher & Singer was established in 1910. The combined company will rank as one of the largest broker-dealer firms on the east coast of the United States.

Numerous Court Cases Involve DWI Charges

Several cases involving charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol were heard by Judge Miller Bowen during recent weeks in Garrett County District Court.

David Craig Sloan, 30, was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to 10 days in jail. The judge then suspended the sentence, placing Sloan on six months supervised probation and fining him $240.

The judge found James Richard Shaffer Jr., 32, to be not guilty of the DWI charge.

Brian Gene Ayers, 40, was found guilty of the charge, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Richard Allen Wright, 30, was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The sentence was then suspended, and Wright was placed on one year supervised probation and fined $250.

The judge found Lawrence Richard Walter, 44, to be guilty of driving while under the influence of alcohol, placing him on six months unsupervised probation and fining him $150.

Marta Lynette Turney, 28, was found to be guilty of the charge and sentenced to 10 days in jail. Judge Bowen then suspended the sentence, placing Turney on six months unsupervised probation and fining her $250.

Russell Zane Foy, 30, was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The sentence was then suspended, and Foy was placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

The judge found Arnold Wayne Lipscomb, 23, to be guilty of the charge, sentencing him to 60 days in jail. The sentence was then suspended, and Lipscomb was placed on 24 months supervised probation.

The judge found Marvin Eugene Friend, 32, to be guilty of driving while under the influence of drugs, and sentenced him to six months in the Department of Corrections. The sentence will run concurrently with a one-year sentence imposed on Friend for a second traffic charge.

CHERRY GROVE YOUTH HOLD BIKE-A-THON — The younger members of Cherry Grove Church of the Brethren, located along U.S. Rt. 219 near Grantsville, recently held a bike-a-thon to raise money for the Church of the Brethren in Florida and for their own treasury. The youngsters, and two not-so-young "sters," raised $673.15. A featured attraction of the event was the riding of a tricycle by two fathers, Harry Sines and Tom Reese. Pictured left to right are: Mike Kelly, Ashlie Durr, Lori Sines, Doug Sines, Kelly Durst, Tommy Durst, Wendy Reese, T.J. Reese, Misty Bowers, Mike Sines, Kevin George, and Timmy Durst. Garrett County Joins National Pike Festival

The Laurel Highlands Tourism Office and the Washington County, Pa., Tourism Office, co-sponsors of the Annual National Pike Festival, held in May, along the 87-mile stretch of Route 40 in Pennsylvania, announced this week that three counties in Western Maryland will join the festival in 1989.

In making the announcement, Rita Balentine, Festival chairman, said, "We are very pleased that Washington, Garrett and Allegany counties, Md., have decided to join us (Washington and Fayette Counties, Pa.) in our endeavors to make the 1989 National Pike Festival the longest and best festival ever."

The inclusion of Garrett, Allegany, and Washington County in Maryland will give the festival an overall length of 200 miles.

The festival, which will be held for the 16th time on May 19-22, 1989, features events along its entire length, tied together by wagon trains crossing each county.

Maryland's portion of the festival is being coordinated by Washington County (Maryland) Tourism Director Bob O'Connor. O'Connor said, "Western Maryland is extremely excited to work with our counterparts in Pennsylvania to put on this event. All three counties have a rich history along the National Pike, which we are anxious to feature."

In Maryland, the festival will start at the top of South Mountain and will proceed through Boonsboro, Hagerstown, Clear Spring, Hancock, Flintstone, Cumberland, Frostburg, and Grantsville.

"Participation is expected in every town," O'Connor added, "with several organizations already making plans. We expect others to join in the next few months."

Others offering to participate include Penn Alps, Castleman's, Grantsville Lions, Grantsville Holiday Inn, Auction Square, Wilson Village, Hagerstown Speedway, Hepburn Orchard Market, Cracker Barrel Magazine, and Boonsboro Museum of History.

A new regional grant offered by the state of Maryland will be used to fund the advertising and printing for the event. That proposal has already been forwarded to state officials for consideration, according to O'Connor.

Anyone interested in further information on the Festival should contact Rita Balentine, The Laurel Highlands, P.O. Box 63, Hopwood, Pa. 15445 (412) 439-5611, or contact Bob O'Connor, Washington County Tourism, Washington County Courthouse Annex, Hagerstown, Md. 21740, (301) 791-3130.

Revco Receives Court Approval For Financing

Revco D.S., Inc. announced that the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Akron, Ohio, has approved a $50,000,000 interim financing arrangement between Revco, Wells Fargo Bank and Marine Midland Bank. Those institutions have agreed to lend Revco $25,000,000 immediately and an additional $25,000,000 upon receiving court approval of a full debtor in possession arrangement.

On August 23, Revco will seek that court approval to replace this interim agreement with a debtor in possession credit facility of $145,000,000 from its banks. This debtor in possession arrangement will provide financing needed for Revco's continuing operations — including holiday inventory — while the company works through Chapter 11.

Boake A. Sells, Revco chairman and chief executive officer, said, "This agreement will go a long way toward preserving Revco's assets and ensuring the future value of this company. Revco is committed to a vigorous holiday selling season. These credit facilities should structure the whole company very well over the period of the reorganization, and show our vendors the confidence of Revco's senior lenders in the management and direction of the company.

"Revco will reorganize and again be strong financially," he added. "Revco is in business to stay, and will come out of this process stronger than ever."

Revco, with 2,000 stores in 27 states, fills more than 65 million prescriptions annually and has sales in excess of $2.3 billion.

Southern Rescue Schedules EMT Training Class

Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad is currently recruiting new members to help provide emergency care in southern Garrett County.

In order to train potential new members, an Emergency Medical technician class will be held September 1 through December 20 on Mondays and Thursdays at 7 p.m. The class will meet at the squad headquarters on Oak Street in Oakland.

Interested persons may contact Southern Rescue Squad at 334-3000 for more information.

Participants must preregister by calling the Cumberland office of the Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute at 1-800-248-MFRI by August 25. Interested persons must be at least 16 years old to participate in the class.

Maryland Begins Counseling Effort For The Deaf

Maryland is joining the ranks of only a few states in the nation to provide services to treat deaf people who suffer from substance abuse. The Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH) Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration has awarded a $62,000 grant to establish outpatient chemical abuse treatment centers for the deaf in Baltimore City and in Lanham, Prince George's County. It is estimated that 11 percent of the state's 36,000 profoundly deaf citizens abuse drugs and alcohol.

The Mental Health Center for Deaf Persons (MHCDP) of the Family Service Foundation, Inc. was awarded the grant July 1, 1988, to provide outpatient addiction counseling services to deaf substance abusers.

"The program is unique in that it is not an adjunct to an existing addiction program for hearing persons," said Theodor Schwartz, LCSW, ACSW, Program Director, MHCDP. "Instead, services are targeted strictly to the deaf and their families and operate out of a program that is totally oriented to the deaf community.

"Access to addiction counseling for the deaf consumer is long overdue," said Schwartz. "Family Service Foundation is pleased that the state of Maryland has taken this first step permitting deaf citizens to take advantage of services that their tax dollars already support."

The FSF addictions program will employ a full-time counselor and a sign language interpreter/administrative assistant who will work out of both locations. The program will offer individual and group counseling and chemical surveillance testing. Each site will be open approximately 20 hours per week.

The outpatient program will also provide referral services to deaf persons in need of inpatient addiction treatment programs.

"Maryland is currently one of the only states to have a public-funded substance abuse program for hearing-impaired persons who can't afford the cost of private treatment," said Lloyd Sokolow, J.D., Ph.D., the new director of the DHMH Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration.

"Deaf persons have a right to treatment. I was pleased to have had a hand in the development of this program," said Howard B. Silverman, M.P.H., former acting director of the DHMH Alcohol and Drug Abuse Administration.

Schaefer Releases Report To Reduce Infant Mortality

Governor William Donald Schaefer released a report Friday challenging the public and private sectors to work together to improve the health of pregnant women and infants in Maryland.

"Infant mortality is a very serious problem in our state, causing too many children to suffer and jeopardizing their future," Governor Schaefer said. "We need to mobilize our efforts to decrease the number of babies who die in Maryland, because the lives of our children are at stake," he added.

The Governor's Council on Adolescent Pregnancy, the March of Dimes, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, the Southern Governors' Association and over 100 health care providers, policymakers, educators, religious leaders, legislators, and representatives of the business community assisted in drafting the report.

"We are pleased to have the assistance and support of the March of Dimes," said Schaefer, "an organization which has made children's health a priority."

The report, Reducing Infant Mortality: Maryland's Commitment To The Future, outlines a multi-faceted strategy to reduce needless deaths of more than 800 infants in Maryland each year. The infant mortality rate measures the number of babies who die before their first birthday. The report identifies the provision of affordable health care for mothers and infants, funding for medically underserved areas of the state, employer policies on maternity leave and day care, maternal and prenatal health education, and health insurance for newborns as areas in which policy and program development would impact on infant mortality.

"Babies born to adolescent mothers are more likely to be underweight and to die at twice the rate of babies born to adults," said Bronwyn Mayden, executive director of the Governor's Council on Adolescent Pregnancy. "Only half of the teen mothers in Maryland who gave birth in 1986 received adequate prenatal care," she added.

Members of the public and private sector came together to draft the report at the Governor's Conference to Reduce Infant Mortality in February. The conference was part of the Southern Regional Project on Infant Mortality, a project of the Southern Governors' Association. The project brings together individuals concerned with improving the quality and accessibility of health care to pregnant women and infants.

We're Hear To Help

by Pamela A. Martin, CCCA

POWER TOOLS AND SAFETY

Many of us don goggles and gloves when performing remodeling and maintenance tasks around the home. We pay no attention, however, to protecting our ears. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) has guidelines which say that the ears can safely endure 115 decibels of noise for only fifteen minutes. After that, there is increased risk for experiencing permanent hearing loss. When one considers that even a kitchen blender can produce 100 decibels of noise, other activities around the house come to mind. The lawn mower produces about 106 decibels for prolonged periods. Most power tools generate even greater noise at closer range. For these tasks, do-it-yourselfers should turn to ear plugs or headphone-type hearing protectors for hearing safety.

Your hearing is a precious possession . . . treat it accordingly. If a hearing check-up points out the need for assistance, then ALLEGANY HEARING & SPEECH ASSOCIATES is the place to come. We are concerned with your needs, comfort and satisfaction as well as the latest hearing instruments so that your hearing difficulties can be promptly and effectively addressed.

Although hearing damage due to noise may not be readily apparent, the cumulative effect will be noticeable later in life.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

UNITED METHODIST

Services for Sunday August 14, for the four churches of the charge will be: Pleasant Valley, 8:30 a.m.; Blooming Rose, 7:30 p.m.; Selbysport, 10:30 a.m., and Friendsville, 11 a.m. Each church of the charge will have one evening service a month; it will be on a rotating basis.

Bible study is held each Wednesday, from 6:45 to 7:30 p.m. at the Friendsville United Methodist Church.

Greeters for the service at 10:30 a.m. at Selbysport United Methodist will be Ervin and Dorothy Lowdermilk.

The Selbysport United Methodist Women met Tuesday, August 2, at the home of Mrs. Naomi Bowser with eight members present. President Connie Vitez presided. Final arrangements were made for a homemade ice cream social at the church on Saturday, August 20, starting at 5 p.m. Foods available will be sloppy joes, hot dogs, chili dogs, cakes, pies, coffee, cold beverages, and various flavors of homemade ice cream.

A floral arrangement had been sent to a member, Mrs. Virginia Lohr, when she was a patient at Monongalia Hospital, Morgantown, recently.

Vice president Olive Grove gave a prayer and read a short story and then had a multiple choice quiz of famous people of the Bible.

Mrs. Jill Fuller will be hostess for the September meeting.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. The gladioli arrangement used on her table was then sent to Mrs. Julia Skidmore.

LUTHERAN

Greeters for Sunday, August 14, at Grace Lutheran Church will be Janice Hileman and Geraldine Turney.

Church council will meet Thursday, August 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the church.

WELCA met Tuesday at the church with Lillian Bates, president presiding, with seven members and Pastor Yelovich attending. A $25 donation was given to Friendsville Fire Company. Pauline Faucett gave the topic on "Your Back Yard." Evelyn Jenkins and Dorothy Spear served refreshments. Jane Garletts will be hostess for the September 6 meeting.

At Friendsville Days on Saturday, August 6, the winner of the afghan donated by Evelyn Junkins to WELCA was Roy Johnson, Somerset, Pa. Pa.

A NEW PASTOR — The Glendale Assembly of God Church will welcome their new pastor and his wife, Rev. Robert L. and Oleda V. Vanmeter, Maysville, W.Va., with a covered dish dinner on Sunday, August 14, followed by a service featuring The King's Kids of Barton. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., and the afternoon service is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Rev. Vanmeter has been in the ministry with the Assemblies of God for 22 years. The Vanmeters are currently residing in Accident, and are the parents of three children.

ASHER GLADE BRETHREN

The Asher Glade Church of the Brethren Ladies Aid met Thursday, August 4, at the church with seven adults and two children attending. Mary Belle Lohr gave the program on Questions and Answers from the Old and New Testament. Laurna Umbel gave the closing prayer. The September meeting will be at the church with Jane Frazee having the program.

On Sunday, August 21, Sunday School will be at 9:30 a.m. and worship service will be at 10:30 a.m., and then the congregation will all go to Pleasant Valley Recreational Area for a picnic. This time change is only for Sunday, August 21.

Sunday, August 28, the Mt. Top Gospelaires will share a musical presentation at the church at 7 p.m.

BIRTH

Alan and Becky Skidmore announce the birth of their second child, Cassandra Lynn. She was born July 20 at Monongalia General Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va. She has a brother, Matthew.

REUNIONS

The family of the late Rev. and Mrs. S.E. Ryan will hold a reunion Sunday, August 14 at the picnic grounds at the Pisgah, W.Va., United Methodist Church. A program will be presented by the Ryan family at 11:30 a.m.

The late Bruce and Minnie Friend family reunion will be held Sunday, August 14, at the Grantsville Park with a picnic dinner at approximately 12:30 p.m.

CLASSMATES TO MEET

Classmates of 1951 of Friendsville High School will meet Saturday, August 20, at 5:30 p.m. at the home of Samuel Casteel on Big Run Road, Yough Lake. All classmates are invited and each is to bring a gag gift.

WOW

WOW Grove 6043 met Tuesday at the Blooming Rose United Methodist Church social room with 12 members attending. Final plans were made for booth and grab bags for Friendsville Days. Naomi Bartholomew won the 50-50, and door prizes were won by Nancy Arsenberger and Louella Hinebaugh. Dorothy Lowdermilk served refreshments. The September 14 meeting will be at the church at 7 p.m. with Nancy Arsenberger as hostess. The members will knot a quilt.

PICNIC

Forty-five relatives and friends held a picnic dinner on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Ray Friend following the Friendsville Day Parade.

ATTEND REUNION

A large number of Friendsville area relatives attended the Friend Reunion on Sunday at the fairgrounds at McHenry.

8,100-MILE TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Garletts and Lott have returned home from an 8,100 mile trip to the West Coast, going out by the northern route, visiting relatives and friends in Gary, Indiana, Minnesota and South Dakota; to Washington, Oregon on down the coast of California, Grand Canyon, and back home by the southern route, for a month's trip.

ROTARY NEWS

The Rotarians and Rotary Anns met at the home of Don and Anna Mary Fratz at Deep Creek Lake.

The District Governor was present and talked about the problems and projects for the club.

The Ladies each received a potted plant.

Lisa, their daughter, and Jeff, their son and his wife, served a picnic dinner.

Harry Savage will have the program on August 15.

Applications For C.G. Academy Being Accepted

The United States Coast Guard Academy has announced that it is now accepting and processing applications for appointment as Cadet, U.S. Coast Guard, Class of 1993.

Applications are being accepted for both men and women. Appointments as Coast Guard Cadets are tendered solely on the basis of an annual nationwide competition with no congressional appointments or geographical quotas. Applications for appointment must be submitted to the Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, prior to December 15, 1988. Candidates must arrange to participate in either the College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or American College Testing Assessment (ACT) prior to or including the December 10, 1988, administration for the ACT, and the December 3, 1988, administration for the SAT.

The competition for appointment as Cadet is based on the candidate's high school rank, performance on either the SAT or ACT, and leadership potential as demonstrated by participation in high school extracurricular activities, community affairs and/or part-time employment. Most successful candidates rank in the top quarter of their high school class and demonstrate proficiency in both the mathematical and applied science fields.

To qualify for the competition, an applicant must be unmarried at the time of appointment, have no legal obligations resulting from a prior marriage, and must have reached the age of 17, but not 22, by July 1, 1989. All applicants must be assured of high school graduation by June 30, 1989. Regulations stipulate that all applicants must have completed three units in English, and three in mathematics to include algebra and plane or coordinate geometry or their equivalents, and must fulfill basic physical requirements.

For further information, persons should write: Director of Admissions, U.S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, CT 06320; or call (203) 444-8501.

Rotary Accepting Applications For Exchange Program

Rotary Clubs in District 735 of Rotary International, which includes the Rotary Club of Oakland, are receiving applications for the 1989-90 academic year.

Students in grades 10-12 are eligible to apply for the program, which involves a year abroad, studying at the high school level and living with one or more host families under the sponsorship of a local Rotary Club. The applicants will be selected on the basis of a written application and a personal interview conducted by the Rotary Club in the area and the District 735 Youth Exchange Committee.

Presently, the Rotary Clubs of District 735 are hosting students from Japan, Brazil, South Africa, Norway, Eduador, Venezuela, Mexico, Belgium, Italy, Spain and West Germany. Students will be arriving in January from Brazil and New Zealand.

Applications must be received by Robert J. Shrift, Outbound Chairman, by October 15, 1988. For additional information, persons should contact their local Rotary Club or Robert J. Shrift, R.D. No. 2, Box 12, Hollidaysburg, Pa. 16648 (814-695-1370) or Carl E. Hill, P.O. Box 17, Blossburg, Pa. 16912 (717-638-2008).

Pre-K Program At Red House Now Recruiting

The pre-kindergarten class at Red House School, sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education, is now accepting applications for the 1988-89 school year, according to Gary Galloway, principal.

Priority will be given to children residing within the school's boundaries, however applications made by those outside the area will be taken. Transportation for out-of-area placements must be arranged by parents.

Only one of 330 sites validated by the National Association for the Education of Young Children, the Red House pre-kindergarten is operated as part of the Extended Elementary Education Program, and is directed locally through the Garrett County Board of Education by Dr. Charleen Evans-Thomas. A full-time certified teacher, Susan Lear, and para-professional, Patricia Wilt, work with a maximum enrollment of 20 children. The class follows the regular county calendar, and is in session during regular school hours. Children must be four by December 31, 1988, to register; there are no other entry restrictions.

Interested parties are invited to visit the school and observe the pre-kindergarten in session after school opens on August 29. Further inquiries may be addressed to Gary Galloway at 334-3654.

Angie Lewis Is Honor Graduate At Shenandoah

Angie G. Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Lewis, Oakland, was recently graduated summa cum laude (with top honors) from Shenandoah College and Conservatory, Winchester, Va.

Ms. Lewis earned a 3.87 cumulative grade point average, fourth highest in the college's School of Arts and Sciences. A gpa of at least 3.80 is required in order to graduate summa cum laude.

A graduate of Southern High School, she received a bachelor of science degree in elementary education with an early childhood endorsement and a psychology minor.

While a student at Shenandoah, Ms. Lewis was president of the Student Virginia Education Association and a charter member of the Shenandoah Honor Society. She is currently employed as a math lab instructor at Garland Quarles Elementary School and resides in Winchester with her husband, Ralph, and their son, Tony.

Shenandoah is a private, four-year co-educational college affiliated with the United Methodist Church. It offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs in 40 different fields.

Senior Center Adds Grantsville Phone Number

As of Wednesday, August 17, the Gateway Information and Assistance office at the Flowery Vale Senior Center, Accident, will have a Grantsville telephone exchange. This number is 895-3447. This number is in addition to the Accident exchange, which is 826-8824.

Seniors will still be able to contact the Gateway I&A Coordinator at the Jennings site by calling 895-5498.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

Aaron S. DeWitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen DeWitt, McHenry, and Angelo Oliverio, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Oliverio, Oakland, recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program, according to Tim Keener, Air Force recruiter based in LaVale.

DeWitt, a prospective 1989 graduate of Northern High School, is scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force on June 19, 1989. Upon graduation from a six-week basic training course near San Antonio, Tex., he is scheduled to receive technical training in the aerospace ground equipment mechanic career field.

Oliverio, a 1988 graduate of Southern High School, is scheduled for enlistment in the regular Air Force on April 20, 1989. After his basic training, also at San Antonio, he is slated to receive technical training in the general career field.

Both will be earning credits toward an associate degree in applied sciences through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Airman Stephen T. Dyche, son of Caralyn R. and James Rephann, Grantsville, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force graphics course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

During the course, students were taught the basics of art preparation, stretching, chart-making and layout for publications, displays and audio-visual productions. They also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

He is a 1987 graduate of Northern High School.

Spec Garey D. Bue Jr., son of Garey D. Bue, Tulsa, Okla., and Phyllis A. Kirk, Claremore, Okla., has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Sill, Okla.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to soldiers for meritorious service, acts of courage, or other accomplishments.

Bue is a missile crewmember with the 12th Field Artillery.

His wife, Janine, is the daughter of Linda and Carl Booth, Route 3, Gormania, W.VA.

He is a 1978 graduate of Claremore High School, Okla.

GCC Offers Many Vocational Ed. Programs

Garrett Community College offers vocational education programs in business management, secretarial science, building construction, wildlife management, hotel-restaurant management, human services, and agriculture management, all at the McHenry Campus of Garrett Community College, according to Lillian R. Mitchell, dean of Instruction and Student Services.

A Vocational Support Service Team is located at Garrett Community College to work with disadvantaged and handicapped students who need additional assistance in order to be successful in their vocational programs. Those students needing the services of the Vocational Support Service Team should contact Joan Sussman, instructor of English at the college.

Dean Mitchell said that Garrett Community College does not discriminate on the basis of sex, race, age, color, religious belief, national origin, disadvantaged or handicapping condition. Linda Fike is the Title IX Coordinator and the Section 5 Coordinator, and any inquiries concerning equity access to facilities of the college may be answered by contacting her at 301-387-6666, extension 149.

An annual update of the vocational education programs has been prepared and submitted to the Maryland State Department of Education for approval. The Annual Update 1989 is available at Garrett Community College for review and/or comment by the public. Interested persons should contact Dean Mitchell at 301-387-6666, extension 159.

S&H Retailer GREGG'S PHARMACY

THIRD STREET, OAKLAND 334-2197
GREGG'S PHARMACY

THE HARVEST CONTINUES — Although all of Garrett County is still in the clutches of a summer-long drought, and no rainfall was reported from any area of the county this week, the harvest continues. As these members of the Amish community in Pleasant Valley cut and shock this field of oats, another local farmer was reminded that his grandfather always said, "When the wind blows over the oat stubbles, fall is here." The severe heat the county has been experiencing certainly denies the coming of autumn, but this week is the Garrett County Fair, and many people feel that when the fair is over, summer is about gone, too. There's no doubt that autumn has arrived when school starts again, and that date is not so far away.

Farming In Maryland

Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Farm Bureau Urges President To Sign Final Drought Relief Measure

The American Farm Bureau Federation will urge President Reagan to sign the drought-relief package despite the inclusion of "some troubling provisions."

Said AFBF President Dean Kleckner: "The package as a whole represents a good faith effort to get drought relief quickly to those farmers who have been hardest hit. Congress has rarely acted this swiftly and lawmakers should be commended for their deep concern and prompt response."

The farm leader said the bill was "improved" by limiting feed assistance to livestock producers who grow their own feed. The Senate version would have extended aid to feed purchasers. "There was no equitable way of providing assistance to feed purchasers unless it was offered to everyone nationwide," noted Kleckner. "It also would have added $2 billion to the legislation's cost."

By deleting the expanded feed assistance plan, the conference committee removed the administration's major objection to the bill. It is now estimated to cost $3.9 billion, within an acceptable range as the annual Gramm-Rudman budget cutting exercise is about to begin.

Another positive feature of the bill, said Kleckner, is the additional assistance that will be provided, beyond the measure's basic payment rates, to crop producers who suffered losses of more than 75 percent. Instead of the bill's basic rate of 65 percent payments for losses of more than 35 percent, the hardest hit group will be eligible for payments of 90 percent of the target price for program crops or 90 percent of historical average market prices for non-program crops.

Kleckner also praised the "needed flexibility" provided by the bill in allowing additional plantings of soybeans, sunflowers and oats on base acreage next year without producers incurring any loss of farm program bases.

But Kleckner called it "unfortunate" that the House-Senate conference committee adopted a three-month increase in the dairy support price. Kleckner said the 50-cent dairy increase, which will go in effect from April 1 to June 30 next year, "undermines the concepts in the 1985 farm bill and extends relief to an entire industry without recognition of individual needs or losses." The bill will also cancel the expected 50-cent support cut that was scheduled for January 1.

Addressing the mandatory crop insurance issue, another Farm Bureau-opposed provision, Kleckner said the compromise reached by the conference committee is "confusing and cumbersome." The final bill will require farmers who suffer losses of greater than 65 percent to obtain coverage in 1989.

"The legislation ended up limiting the number of people this affects and provides for waivers, but there are bound to be problems," said Kleckner.

Kleckner also took "strong exception" to the bill's "gross revenue test" for determining eligibility for disaster payments. Basically, crop producers with gross revenues of $2 million and livestock producers with gross revenues of $2.5 million would be ineligible for payments. The measure sets a $100,000 limit on payments to any one farm operation.

"This measure discriminates against producers based solely on size without regard to actual losses suffered," Kleckner said. "This is the first time Congress has established a payment limit based only on gross income instead of using gross payments or level of loss in determining farm program payments. This represents a fundamental change that should have been debated more fully during a non-emergency situation."

He also expressed concern about the bill's provision to aid ethanol producers. "Our first priority must be to help livestock producers who have lost feed supplies," said Kleckner. "We support the ethanol industry and are sympathetic to its problems, but the conference committee declined to give across-the-board assistance to feed purchasers and the same principle should apply to the ethanol industry." The ethanol provision, which would allow smaller ethanol plants to purchase government-owned corn at below-market rates, would go in effect at the discretion of USDA, which opposes it.

Mercer, Pa., To Be Wild Horse Adoption Center

During the past 15 years, 84,000 wild horses and burros have been adopted by more than 35,000 people in the United States. Over 1,600 animals have been adopted by residents of Pennsylvania and the surrounding area. For the first time since the adoption program began in 1973, the U.S. Department of the Interior's Bureau of Land Management will bring wild horses to Western Pennsylvania. On September 9 through 11, 100 young, trainable wild horses recently rounded up from fragile western rangelands will be offered for adoption at the Mercer Livestock facility in Mercer, Pa.

To qualify to adopt up to four animals, applicants must have suitable facilities, transportation, and means for caring for the animals. The adoption fee of only $125 per horse is payable in cash or money order at the time of adoption. The fee helps cover the federal government's cost of roundup, veterinary care, transportation and administrative expenses.

Most wild horses are found in Nevada, Wyoming, California and Eastern Oregon. Before shipping, each animal rounded up by BLM is thoroughly checked by a veterinarian, coggins tested, wormed, and vaccinated for various equine disorders.

After an animal has been adopted, BLM Personnel will load the animal for the adopter and provide information on health care, feeding and training of wild horses.

For applications and more information about this event, contact John Winnepenninkx, Bureau of Land Management, P.O. Box 631, Milwaukee, WI 53203-0631, or call (414) 291-4417.

Horse Show To Be Feature Of County Fair

A horse show, sponsored by the Mt. Top Saddle Club, will be held Saturday, August 13, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry during the 32nd Annual Garrett County Agricultural Fair.

The show will begin at noon and will feature entries in five divisions of competition. Cash prizes, trophies and ribbons will be awarded to various classes including English, western, pony, youth and game classes. A special command class will be held, and the Gerald Glotfelty rotating appreciation trophy will be re-awarded to the winner of that class.

A nominal entry fee will be charged to participants. The competition is open to Garrett County residents only and the public is invited to attend, with no admission charge. For more information, contact the Mt. Top Saddle Club at 387-4550.

Grantsville Southern States Sets Annual Membership Meeting Date

Election of local board members and Farm Home Advisory Committee members, along with operations reports, will be among the highlights of the annual membership meeting for Southern States Cooperative, Inc., Grantsville Service, Grantsville, on Tuesday, August 23, at 6:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Grantsville Fire Hall, with the theme being "Southern States: Together We Set The Standard."

Bernard F. McKenzie, of Salisbury, Pa., will serve as chairman of the local meeting.

George Stewart of Winchester, Va., Southern States Cooperative's district manager, will report on Southern States supply and marketing operations for the most recent fiscal year. The report will also include a slide/tape presentation entitled "Southern States: Together We Set The Standard."

Local operations and services rendered to agriculture in the community will also be discussed by District Manager Stewart.

There will be a special recognition ceremony for local board and Farm Home Advisory Committee members who retire this year.

Nominees for the local board are: Martin Bender, Ron Brenneman and Wayne Schrock, all of Grantsville, and George Shawley, II, Bittinger.

Women nominated for the Farm Home Advisory Committee are: Mrs. Cleland Beitzel, Bittinger; Beth Brenneman, Grantsville; Helen Miller, Grantsville; and Mrs. Bernard McKenzie, Salisbury, Pa.

Assisting, serving as the Foods Committee, is the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary.

In 1950, about 15 percent of the population lived on farms. Today, the farm population is 2.2 percent.

UMDAIR CAN ASSIST YOU

In all likelihood, this year will not reflect your regular feeding program. The drought, high feed prices and somewhat depressed milk prices will force changes in many feeding programs. The Umdair Least Cost Ration Balancing Program can assist you with the following:

1. Suggest the best ration to utilize your farm grown crops over an established feeding period.
2. Can compare prices and nutrient values of different feedstuffs that can be used in a balanced ration.
3. Can assist you in purchasing forages such as hay on a nutrient dollar value.
4. Provide a balanced least-cost ration.

Since the cost of feeding counts for over 50 percent of your total expenses this is one area that I feel most farmers could improve net income. High production doesn't necessarily mean a higher net income. What counts is the dollar returned per hundredweight after the expenses are paid. If you need assistance in planning your feeding program, I am willing to help. At the least you will have an unbiased opinion to compare other programs with.

HAY SUPPLY SHORT

The list of county farmers who have hay for sale is still short. Only one more person since my last newsletter. Clark and Marvin Kolb, Accident, 826-8484 (10,000 bales and 90 round bales); Adam Lucas, 334-4441; Joe Swartzentruber, 334-9254; and Everett O'Brien, 387-5486. I also have an updated list of all Maryland farmers who have hay and straw for sale, available upon request. If you have hay for sale, let me know.

GRAND CHAMPION? — No, not this year. But when this photo was taken in 1957 or 1958, William DeWitt, current president of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, was the owner of the grand champion registered Holstein shown at the Garrett County Fair. This cow was one of the first registered Holsteins to be brought into the county, and was purchased by DeWitt in New York. Showing in open class, this cow also was named grand champion at the Allegany County Fair that same year. DeWitt has one son in the dairy business, and one of his granddaughters, Jennifer Barnard, is old enough to show a 4-H lamb at the fair this year.

Tucker County Agent Awarded Top Ag Honor

A West Virginia extension agent's leadership in flood recovery has earned him the U.S. Department of Agriculture's highest recognition.

James D. Stiles of Tucker County was one of only seven extension professionals or groups selected for a 1988 USDA Honor Award. Stiles received his Distinguished Service Award at a June 22 ceremony in the nation's capital.

Myron D. Johnsrud, administrator of the federal Extension Service, described Stiles as a strong leader "motivated by a love for the people with whom he works." The award cited his "outstanding contributions to the people of Tucker County and the West Virginia University Extension Service in rural development and agriculture."

The federal agency lauded Stiles' critical role in efforts to restore housing, waterways, sewers and water systems following the devastating flood of November 1985. The agent also coordinated the work of four extension agents temporarily assigned to Tucker County to help the agricultural community recover.

"Stiles' accomplishments go far beyond flood recovery," Johnsrud noted, "He is a leader in livestock marketing in the state, using video and electronic methods to improve marketing options. He has helped expand the utilization of forest products and has helped build tourism in the county. In addition, he is an effective administrator of the county 4-H and home economics programs."

Stiles received the WVU Extension Service's Outstanding Performance Award in 1986. In his 24 years as a WVU extension agent, Stiles served Calhoun, Tyler and Braxton counties before going to Tucker County in 1975. He holds the rank of extension professor.

State Gets More Moisture, But Still Not Enough

During the week ending August 7, rainfall was not sufficient to maintain moisture levels. Topsoil moisture deteriorated to average of 40 percent short and 60 percent adequate, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. Subsoil moisture averaged 70 percent short and 30 percent adequate. The number of days suitable for fieldwork averaged 6.3. The condition of pasture was fair. The current supply of hay was 30 percent short and 70 percent adequate.

The condition of corn remained 20 percent poor and 80 percent fair. Corn was 90 percent silked, equal to last year's pace. Corn was in the dough stage on 30 percent of the acreage, 20 percent less than normal. Corn borer and earworm were present in many counties. Due to the drought causing poor pollination, much of the corn was not forming kernels.

The condition of soybeans varied widely and averaged 50 percent fair and 50 percent good. Soybeans had bloomed on 50 percent of the acreage, equal to the normal pace. Fifteen percent of the soybeans had set pods, 10 percent less than average. Spider mites were present in the soybean fields of at least four counties.

The third cutting of alfalfa for hay was 50 percent complete, five percent more than normal. The second and third cutting of clover and other hays were 75 and 15 percent complete, respectively, 15 percent less than normal.

The condition of peaches and apples was 20 percent fair and 80 percent good. Peaches were 25 percent harvested, and apples were 10 percent harvested. Sweet corn was 60 percent harvested.

Weather

Maryland's weather for the week ending August 5 was warm with widely scattered showers. Precipitation averaged .15 of an inch, ranging from 0 across much of the state to .77 inch at Bell Air. Temperatures averaged 81.8 degrees, 5.7 degrees above normal. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the high 60s to low 70s, except in Western Maryland where minimum temperatures were in the high 50s. Maximum temperatures reached mostly into the mid 90s, except in far Western Maryland where the highs reached the low 90s.

Late Filed Crop Reports Still Being Accepted

William F. DeWitt, chairperson of the Garrett County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, says some farmers with wheat and feed grain bases have neglected to file a crop report this year. July 15 was the final day for farmers to report their 1988 planted acres.

DeWitt says late-filled crop reports will still be accepted, provided the farmer pays the cost of $20 for verifying the acreage, and there is physical evidence of production.

Farmers who do not submit a crop report will be credited with zero plantings for their future crop acreage base.

DeWitt says the acreage report determines the level at which farmers are eligible for program payments and other benefits.

For additional information, interested persons should call the Garrett County ASCS office at 334-1901.

Ritchie Serves Internship In Soil Conservation

David Ritchie, a graduate of Frostburg State University, recently completed his internship with the Garrett Soil Conservation District (GSCD). Ritchie is a resident of Deep Creek Lake, and graduated May 14 with a major in environmental analysis and planning.

According to District Manager Shaun Sanders, it is the overall goal of the GSCD to meet the needs of all county citizens in the management and wise use of soil, water and related resources, not only in agriculture, but also in urban related concerns such as the sediment control program and surface mine reclamation.

The Services include reviewing and/or approving sediment control plans, providing technical assistance in the design and supervision of installation of conservation practices such as ponds, stripcropping, diversions, underground drainage systems, controlling farm waste to reduce pollution, establishing and improving permanent vegetation cover, permanent open drainage systems, and livestock water facilities.

Ritchie was involved in conducting field surveys using instruments for the planning and construction of conservation measures such as terraces, ponds, waterways, drainage ditches. His project dealt with analysis of the problem, designing a control structure, and making recommendations to solve a flooding problem in the Grantsville area.

Ritchie's experience with GSCD related to his environmental analysis and planning major in that he was involved with environmental studies. Knowledge of surveying, interpretation of aerial photographs and maps, soils, and hydrology helped Ricthie adapt to the district's functions. His geographical background also allowed him to easily read and interpret engineering plans.

"The experience David had in GSCD taught him several important things," said Sanders. "First, he learned soil and water conservation practices and helped to design and supervise construction. Also, David learned the concepts, procedures, and methods of land use planning."

Sanders continued, "David considers several other items, also results of his internship, as being beneficial. The on-the-job training also gave him experience in learning the daily operation of the office, learning sound engineering concepts and principles, and learning the design process."

RAISE THE PRICE & BARGAIN?

When you sell your home, is it best to set a high price initially, then be prepared to bargain? That's a question often asked by homeowners.

The first step towards setting the price on your home is called a "Competitive Market Analysis." This analysis compares your home to similar homes which have already sold, and to homes against which your home will be competing for buyers. The purpose is to establish a price range at which buyers would be likely to purchase your home.

Let's say that price range will be $98,000-$101,000. Believing you will have to bargain, you ask $108,000, which invites buyers to "make an offer." When they do, it may be for $95,000! Here's what happens. The buyers, realizing the home is overpriced, and not knowing the suggested range was $98,000-101-000, assume you want to bargain. They don't want to lose in the process so they make an unacceptably low offer.

The entire process can be easily eliminated, possibly resulting in a full price offer. Ask your real estate agent for the list-to-sale ratio for your neighborhood. A 98.5% ratio means that buyers have been paying almost full price, thus by raising your price only 1.5% you could succeed in receiving the price you want without the frustration of making offers and counter-offers. Pricing your home properly from the beginning is an invaluable service offered by your agent.

Del. Edwards To Serve On New House Committee

Maryland House of Delegates Speaker R. Clayton Mitchell Jr. has announced the creation of a Joint House Committee on Economic Development Strategy. Appointed to that committee was District I-A Delegate George C. Edwards, who serves on the House Appropriations Committee.

Recognizing the importance of promoting and maintaining a healthy business climate in Maryland, Speaker Mitchell stressed the need to formulate long-term policies and strategies to promote economic development and business growth in the state.

The Joint Committee is designed to complement the efforts of Governor Schaefer in his drive to encourage economic development in the state and to carry forward the success and achievement in economic development made by the Schaefer administration. The economic development policies and strategies formulated by the committee will be used to guide legislative decision making on individual and administration economic development initiatives.

The committee will be comprised of members from all six standing House Committees and will be co-chaired by Delegate Charles J. Ryan, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and Delegate Casper R. Taylor Jr., chairman of the Economic Matters Committee.

Other committee members are: from the Appropriations Committee, Richard N. Dixon, Howard P. Rawlings, Samuel I. Rosenberg, and Delegate Edwards; from the Economic Matters Committee, R. Terry Connelly, George H. Littrell, Joseph V. Lutz, and John Wood; from the Ways and Means Committee, Mary H. Boergers, Norman Conway, and James C. Rosapepe; from the Constitutional and Administrative Law Committee, Michael Gordon; from Environmental Matters Committee, William A. Clark; and from the Judiciary Committee, J. Ernest Bell, III.

Delegate Edwards said that he was very proud to be appointed to this new committee, and felt that he could represent his district well by being a member of the committee.

"It's always advantageous for Western Maryland to have a legislator on any committee concerned with economic development and business growth," he added.

EXCELLENCE AWARD — The Governor's Salute to Excellence was presented to the Town of Friendsville at the 24th Annual Old Time Fiddlers' Contest last month. The award reads, "May this special salute serve as a fitting tribute in honor of a gala celebration whose vibrant roots trace back to Friendsville's bicentennial milestone in 1965...and which, under the joint sponsorship of the Friendsville Rotary Club International and the Friendsville Lions Club, continues to bring together some of the finest amateur fiddlers throughout the land in the spirit of harmony." The event was sponsored by the Rotary Club for the last 23 years. This year, the contest was co-sponsored by the Rotary and the Friendsville Lions Club. Pictured above, from left to right, are Harry Savage, Friendsville Rotary president; Walter Fearer, Friendsville Lions president; and Friendsville Mayor Spencer Schlosnagle, who presented the award on the behalf of Governor William Donald Schaefer.

Drought Won't Be The "Grinch" For This Season's Christmas Trees

Contrary to some recent reports, the drought is not going to be the "grinch" that will reduce the availability of fresh Christmas trees next December.

National Christmas Tree Association President, Fred R. Strathmeyer Sr., of Dover, Pa., reports that, while the drought has had serious impact on seedlings planted this spring, mature trees scheduled for harvest this Christmas season are in good shape.

Local tree farmers like Marshall Stacy of Swanton also say, while most seedlings planted this spring were lost to the drought, trees — those eight to ten years old — marked for harvest this November should be healthy and marketable. Stacy lost over 8,000 seedlings because of the lack of rain, but with irrigation and hopefully more rain, older trees should survive the severe summer weather conditions.

Strathmeyer said that a state-by-state mail survey is being conducted to get specific data on the drought's effect from the Association's 2,600 Christmas tree growing members in the United States.

On the basis of early reports and telephone calls to growers in drought-affected states, Strathmeyer said, the 1988 tree harvest is still expected to provide 35 million to 38 million Christmas trees. Last year, just over 33 million trees were harvested.

Strathmeyer explained that because of their substantial root system, mature Christmas trees, 6 years to 16 years old, have the ability to remain healthy despite drought conditions.

He pointed to recent drought experiences of Christmas tree growers in the Northwest last year and the South two years ago. "In both cases, new plantings were hurt, but market-ready trees reached consumers in plentiful quantities, good quality and competitive prices," he said.

"Even though this year's drought is more widespread, some relief has already occurred in the form of good rains and with 38 million trees available for next Christmas, we anticipate there again will be sufficient quantities of good quality trees at competitive prices this Christmas season," Strathmeyer said.

On the issue of this year's lost seedlings, Strathmeyer said that the usual practice of growers is to replant this fall or next spring. But, to reinforce his point about the availability of trees, Strathmeyer pointed out, right now, there are over 500 million Christmas trees in various stages of development growing on 12,000 Christmas tree plantations located in virtually every U.S. state.

"Growers are by nature a resilient group," Strathmeyer said. "Most have survived tough times from weather, insects, diseases and economic ups and downs. But they persevere.

"With 10 years of plantings in the ground, they have to," he concluded.

Christian Women's Club Sets Date For Teachers' Luncheon

The Oakland area Christian Women's Club invites all present, part-time, and retired teachers to a "Teachers Have Class" luncheon.

Sandy's, of Mid-Town Plaza, will present a fashion show, and Karen Scheermesser will present a musical review. Linda Ramsey, a teacher from Beckley, W.Va., will give her "ABCs For Living."

For free nursery and luncheon information, interested persons should call Evie Watkins at 387-4001 no later than Sunday, August 14.

All women are welcome to attend the luncheon at the Will O'The Wisp on August 17, at 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The cost for the luncheon will be $5.50, and all reservations must be honored. Each teacher present will receive a special gift.

BITTINGER-GLADES

CHURCH NEWS

This Sunday, August 14, Holy Communion will be celebrated in each church of the Bittinger Parish.

St. John's altar flowers were given on Sunday in memory of Wilmer Friend by his family. A new ceiling fan was recently installed in St. John's and was given to the church in Wilmer's memory. Pastor Louise Knotts had a special dedication of the fan during the worship service.

Serving as lectors on Sunday morning were Barbara Herbert, St. John's; Ralph Buckel, Emmanuel; and Bonnie Resh, Zion.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Mrs. Ferne Beachy, Betty Buckel, Linda Buckel and Lottie Brenneman attended on Friday and Saturday the convention of the Women of the ELCA from Emmanuel Church. Attending from St. John's were Barbara Herbert and Nickey O'Brien. The Convention of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod was held in the Holiday Inn, Clarksburg. Pastor Louise Knotts and the two other female pastors of the Synod served as chaplains.

VISIT SEA WORLD

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stanton and children visited Sea World and Geauga Lake in Aurora, Ohio, from Tuesday until Thursday of last week.

SCHROCK REUNION

The Schrock family reunion was held on Sunday at the Bittinger Fire Hall. There were 118 registered from many states. On Saturday evening, the Schrock cousins had a meal served to them by the Auxiliary. There were 50 in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Eric Thirtle, Kolona, Iowa, were Sunday morning breakfast guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brenneman. Joyce and Crystal Thirtle, Kolona, and Mrs. Stanley Schrock, Altoona, Iowa, were weekend guests of Miriam and Amelia Brenneman.

TAKE WESTERN TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Beitzel, Leora Yaste and Hilda Beitzel took an extended trip through ten western states. They left home on Saturday, July 2 and returned August 5. They visited Yellowstone National Park. Because of the recent fires, they had to enter the park by a different route, and visited the Black Hills of South Dakota. In Cody, Wyoming, they met Richard Yaste and his wife, who live in Seattle, Wash.

"I BETTER SAY GOODBYE SHIRL, I THINK HARRY'S GETTING IMPATIENT."

Returning, they came through Nebraska.

ANNUAL PICNIC

On Saturday, August 20, the annual Bittinger picnic will be held in the Brenneman Grove. It is sponsored by the Bittinger Firemen and Auxiliary. There will be barbecued chicken dinners for sale, all kinds of sandwiches, soft drinks, homemade pies and cakes. There will be music, games and entertainment.

ZION WOMEN MEET

Zion's Women of the ELCA met in the church on August 2 for their monthly meeting, with six members present.

The study theme "The Advocacy Side of Literacy" was introduced by Leota Baker. The principal endeavors of the program were: to help the group to become informed of the need for better ministries in the home area, examine scriptural basis for advocacy, and identify ways in which persons can become effective advocates for literacy.

Judy Stanton opened the business meeting by leading the group in singing "Amazing Grace."

Subscriptions for the devotional guide "Light For Today" were received.

Mrs. Joe Resh presented a birthday offering. Donations of washcloths for the Lutheran Home in Kane, Pa., are being received. This project will terminate at the end of August.

Information was shared concerning the Convention of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod Women of the ELCA which was held August 5, at Clarksburg, W.Va.

The next meeting is scheduled for September 6. Tentative plans for that meeting include a Bible Study from Lutheran Women Today.

PERSONAL ITEMS

Victor and Nicholas Caparella, Forrestville, are spending the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Legeer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keir, Fort Worth, Tex., are spending some time visiting in the Bittinger area. Their two children are with them. They all attended worship services at Emmanuel Church on Sunday.

Last week's visitors at the home of Martha Glotfelty were Mrs. Verna Glotfelty, Deep Creek Village, David Meese, a Lutheran Brotherhood representative, Mrs. Vesta Enlow, Virginia Brenneman and the young lady from Japan who is spending several weeks with the Brenneman family.

Randy Fink was a surgical patient last Thursday at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland. He has since returned home.

NOTICE OAKLAND PUBLIC ETHICS LAW

ORDINANCE NO. 1988-1

The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has recently adopted a public Ethics Law, pursuant to requirements of the State of Maryland. The following is an abbreviated version of the Ordinance. Any person desiring additional information or a copy of the ordinance in its entirety should contact the Oakland Town Hall at (301) 334-2691 Monday through Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Section 1: APPLICABILITY The ordinance shall apply to all employees and officials, whether elected or appointed.

Section 2: ESTABLISHMENT OF ETHICS COMMISSION The Commission shall be comprised of three members, appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the Town Council. Members shall be appointed for a three year term and shall elect a chairman for a term of one year. Members may not be employees of officials of the Town of Oakland. Members may be removed by a majority vote of the Mayor and Town Council.

Section 3: POWERS AND DUTIES The Commission shall, within sixty days of a written request, issue an advisory opinion concerning the application of this ordinance. The Commission shall adopt rules and regulations necessary to carry out the intent of the ordinance. The Commission shall enforce the provisions of the ordinance and make determinations regarding complaints filed by any person subject to the ordinance, or any resident or taxpayer of the Town of Oakland, subject to the requirements of Section four.

The Commission may exempt or modify the requirements of the Ordinance with good cause including 1) an unreasonable invasion of privacy and 2) a reduction in the availability of qualified persons for public service within the town.

All official findings of the Commission and all written advisory opinion shall be public.

Section 4: COMPLAINTS TO AND BY THE COMMISSION The Commission, any person subject to the provisions of the Ordinance or any resident or taxpayer of Oakland may file a written complaint, alleging violations of the Ordinance. The Commission may, with the advice of counsel, determine that the evidence does not merit further proceedings and discuss the complaint. If the complaint is not dismissed, the Commission shall hold a hearing within thirty days. If the Commission concludes that no violation has occurred, the complaint shall be dismissed. If the Commission concludes that a violation has occurred, the Commission may: 1) issue an order of compliance to cease and desist the violation 2) issue a reprimand or 3) recommend to the appropriate authority for censure, removal or appropriate disciplinary action.

Any person aggrieved by the final order of the Commission may request judicial review within thirty days of the written trial order.

Section 5: OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES - DISQUALIFICATION - Employees and officials of the town may not participate in any matter, except in an administrative duty, which to his or her knowledge, involves his or her spouse, parent, minor child, brother or sister. This section also regulates business relationships that may occur between employees and officials and the Town of Oakland.

No person subject to this section may represent any party or person before the town body for a contingent fee. Within one year following termination of town service, no person subject to the provisions of this ordinance may act as a compensated representative of another in any specific matter in which he participated substantially as a Town employee or official. Persons subject to this ordinance may not accept any gift of a value greater than $25.00 from any person that has or is negotiating a contract with the Town.

Section 6: FINANCIAL DISCLOSURE Persons subject to the provisions of this ordinance shall file an annual statement no later than January 31, disclosing any gifts received during the previous year from any person having a contract or doing business with the town. Candidates for elective office are subject to the same requirement at the time they file for office.

Any person subject to this Ordinance shall file a statement with the Commission describing any anticipated action that person intends to take which will or might present a potential conflict.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Mountain Lake Park-Loch Lynn Heights Water System.

Due to the drought conditions and the forecast of hot and dry weather conditions for the remaining summer and fall, the Sanitary Commission has imposed a water conservation order on the Mountain Lake Park-Loch Lynn Heights water customers. All users are encouraged to conserve water by any available means. The following restrictions are imposed and water shall not be used for these purposes.

1. watering shrubs or lawns
2. washing vehicles
3. filling swimming pools
4. any other purpose except for those necessary for personal hygiene, laundry, sanitary waste, cooking, and personal use.

Additionally, a surcharge will be added to water bills to cover the cost of water purchases from the Oakland system during the period when flows from the springs are inadequate to supply the towns' needs.

The Sanitary District is taking measures to improve the water supply. The District requests that all persons comply with the conservation order. Any person violating the restrictions may be required to pay a premium for water.

TRUSTEES' SALE OF VALUABLE RENTAL PROPERTIES

In Election District 8, Route 219 South of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County (Case No. 543 Civil), the undersigned, Trustees will sell at public auction, in the Rotunda of the Garrett County Circuit Courthouse, on:

August 26, 1988
At 2:00 p.m.

The properties will be available for inspection on Thursday, August 25, 1988 between the hours of 1:00 and 3:00 p.m.

ALL that lot or parcel of land situate in Election District No. 8 of Garrett County, Maryland, being part of Military Lot No. 2568, and a part of the 3.36 acre tract that is described in a deed from Cecil F. Snyder, dated April 30, 1963, and recorded in Liber R.L.D., No. 247, Folio 541, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, the part hereby conveyed being described as follows:

BEGINNING at a concrete monument, which is the beginning corner of said 3.36 acre tract, and running thence with part of the North line of said tract, along a wire fence, North 26 degrees East, 413.6 feet to a stake; thence South 47 degrees East, 328.58 feet to a point in the middle of U.S. Route 219; thence with part of the South line of said 3.36 acre tract with the middle of U.S. Route 219, South 56 degrees West, 375.2 feet; thence North 64 degrees West, 121 feet to the beginning, containing 1.92 acres, more or less, said property being also a part of the property in which the said party of the first part acquired by deed from Ruth M. Snyder, unmarried, dated December 6th, 1965, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. 268, Folio 59, one of the said Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, and includes, within its boundaries, the .4 of an acre parcel which was conveyed by deed dated September 15, 1964, and recorded in Liber R.L.D. No. 260, Folio 121, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The property is in fee simple and is improved by four separate single-story rental homes fronting on Route 219 South of Oakland.

The property will be sold in "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions, and agreements of record, if any, and with no warranty as to the description of the improvements. The Trustees do not guarantee or covenant to deliver or in any way obtain possession of the premises for any purchaser.

TERMS OF SALE: The Trustees reserve the unqualified right to withdraw the premises at any time before sale. If any dispute arises among the bidders, the Trustees shall have the sole and final discretion either to determine the successful bidder or to reoffer and resell the premises.

A deposit of $3,500 in cash, certified check, or some other form of exchange acceptable to the Trustees, will be required from the purchaser at the time of sale. The balance of the purchase price, together with interest on such balance at the rate of 10% per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement, must be paid in cash at settlement which will be held within five days following final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County unless said period is extended by the Trustees.

All state and local and valorem real estate taxes, other public charges, regular and special assessments and the like shall be adjusted to the date of the Trustees' sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. The purchaser shall pay all state and local transfer taxes, including the Agricultural Transfer Taxes, if any, recordation taxes and fees, title examination costs, attorney fees, conveyance fees, notary fees, and all other incidental settlement costs.

If the purchaser defaults, in addition to any other legal or equitable remedies available to them, the trustees may declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the premises at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser.
